

Nov. 15, 1968

Across the rolling waves of the vast Blue ocean, near the frosted peaks of the Brown mountain, in the fertile valley of the Great river, thrived the prosperous country of Usa. Lead by diligence and perserverence, the people of this land had made Usa into an important world-wide power. But to perpetuate this great country, a plan had to be devised to educate future leaders.

One day, all the great brains assembled in the capital city and devised a huge, intricate machine which they soon called "College." The College machine was to take the capable Usans and after a period of time turn them into educated, responsible citizens and leaders. The machine was placed in the central city and became the source of "higher education" for all Usans.

Students soon came from miles and miles, from small towns, from other large cities to enter the machine. They came for many different reasons--some because their parents said they had to, some because they wanted to learn, some because they didn't have anything else to do, some because they didn't want to serve in the Usan army, some because . . . To get into the "College Machine" each student had to have a membership card. For awhile only certain students could get these cards but then more and more were able to secure the cards. But still some capable students could not secure the cards.

As the first crop of students passed into the machine, the great minds watched with eager eyes. The great minds predicted that the students should come out of the machine in four years, no more, no less. At intervals after the first crop of students were sent in, the great minds sent in more and more students.

At last it was time to view the finished product, the great minds waited excitedly at the exit door. In order to get out of the machine, the students had to secure the skin of an animal. It did not matter how they secured this skin so long as they could secure it and present it to the guard at the exit.

As the first crop of students started filing out, the great minds were taken back. Some of the students came out just as they went in, only four years older, some came out with beards and moustaches, one came out as the bridge champion, some came out spouting off formulas and some, not too many, came out "educated"--but not as the great minds had planned. Some did not even come out; they like it too much in there.

The scientists and great minds could not figure out what had happened. They thought they had devised such a foolproof and adequate machine, yet it turned out this motley and diverse group of, of . . .

WHAT'S HAPPENING AT MC OR THE VAS WAISTLAND

With the accent so much on the great and wonderful new caf dinners and Barry -- Mr. Lloyd has soul (fillet of ?) -- we thought it fitting to alter the title of this piece ever so slightly. Also because the movie tonite in the Fine Films Series is about food "One Potato, Two Potato." (It's not really.) It's on an interracial theme: the friendship between two lonely people of different racial background which deepens into love. That's tonite at 8:00 in the aud for 50¢. After the film will be a discussion by members of UBI and the film society.

TOMORROW there are lots of little goodies to do. There's a beautiful Knights vs Oaks Basketball game at Reynold's Fieldhouse at 2:30. This is the first home game so let's have a great turnout as the Knights splinter the Oakland Oaks. We've had a slow start, but since we're home this week and it will be great; just great!

TOMORROW NIGHT from 9-12 the Sophomore Class (THE GREAT CLASS) is sponsoring an Intercollegiate Hootenanny. Participating in this -- a first! -- are The Town Travelers from Purdue, Howard and Burt from IU, the After Hours from Butler, and our very own Pass Tymes featuring Mary PASS, Eileen Fleetwood, Ted Allen and Mike Hohl. The admission is $1.00 and it's at the Intramural gym.

Following the hootenanny in the chapel at midnight is Midnight Mass (and it's not even Christmas!). It's a rock mass (bring your own...) and women can wear slacks. (the Pope would have a heart attack if he knew our very own MARIAN maids were going to wear slacks to a mass on Sunday Morning!)

At 7:00 p.m. in room 157 Dr. Don McCarthy and Dr. Mary Ellen Babcock are presenting "The Physiological Effects of the Pill" (or "should you be safe or sorry?").

MONDAY is all blah except for an Athletic Committee meeting at 10:30 a.m. in room 315 (what can I say?)

TUESDAY at 12:05 is the "moon recital" with Mary Pass and Marilyn Ernstes on piano and Alex's Vocal Octet.

WEDNESDAY from 10-3 is a convocation in the SAC and by Clinton Marsh on "Ecumenical Outlook on Missions in Africa" (or "How to Win friends and Influence People.")

At 11:30 in the Chapel is a memorial mass commemorating the anniversary of Robert F. Kennedy's Birthday.

Decisions! Decisions! Decisions! There are three "Happenings" on Wednesday night and the student is forced to choose which intellectual

SPORTS

The basketball season started out on a sour note Monday evening when MARIAN went down to defeat at the hands of Huntington on the opponents home floor 88-81. MARIAN, in the first half took a seven point lead but soon were caught and finally ended up on the losing end by the same point spread of seven points. MARIAN was led by Bob Herricks, Steve Drake, and Randy Stahley with 18, 16, and 15 points respectively. John Hendricks contributed 8 points to the losing cause.. Martin of Huntington was leading scorer in the contest with 27 points. The next game and also first home game of the season is Saturday at 2:30 when Oakland City invades. Come, cheer, and help make this MARIAN'S third winning season in a row.

The chess rankings of MARIAN'S first inter-collegiate chess team have finally been determined. After many matches and much careful study here they are:

Carl Zapfe, Aaron Goldsmith, Dominic Phung, Dan Roderer, Steve Swerchek
Right now the leader of the new Chess team and coordinator of the matches, Steve Swerchek is trying to get his club recognized on campus. Also the first meet is coming soon and that will be at Ball State with mostly central Ind. colleges participating. The big Midwest Tournament is almost out of the question for this year because there is a need of at least $300 and the chess team has no way of raising those funds. But there will be other less costly tournaments this year Steve points out and the brand new MARIAN college chess team will be there.

Regular season play ended this past Sunday in Intramural football action with Dirty Dozen and Nutty Nine Plus One notching the National and American, divisional championships respectively.

The Dirty Dozen finding itself behind 14-7 late in the first half soon knotted the score and then went out to win 28-14. Fruit of the Loom, led by the passing combination of Bob Heitz and Mike Wichman, played an aggressive game in the first half; but in the second half the manpower of the Dirty Dozen began to take its toll. The passing and running of Dave Haire sparked the winners with Tom Zakowitz also contributing very heavily with two touch-down catches.

In the American League the Nutty Nine downed the Big Ten 14-7. Taking a 14-0 lead early in the second half the Nutty Nine withstood a late surge by the Big Ten to cop the division title. Larry Hornback, scoring on a runback of an intercepted pass and Tom Knoll scoring on a 60-yard pass play led the winners. A Dan Radtke to Bill Zeller pass the only score for the losers.

This Sunday at 1:30 the championship game will be played and next Saturday (Nov. 23) the champions of the Alumni league will meet this Intramural champion at 2:00 p.m.

In other games last Sunday it was Gigantic Jenny Tell's over the Grad Students, the Fubars skunking KKK, the Lost Souls gaining a forfeit from Captain Kangaroo and in the infamous Cellar Bowl Game, what else but a 6-6 tie between the Intramural Team and GNP. Incidentally GNP, John O'Kane, intramural team quarterback, said you were very lucky time ran out.

The final standings for the year is:

National League		American League
Dirty Dozen	5-0	Nutty Nine Plus One	5-0
Fruit of the Loom	4-1	Big Ten	4-1
Gigantic Jenny Tell's	3-2	Fubars	3-2
Grad Students	2-3	KKK	2-3
Intramural Team	0-4-1	Lost Souls	1-4
GNP	0-4-1	Captain Kangaroo	0-5

BOARD REPORTS

The Student Board meeting opened to a relaxing sea breeze, as we sat in the main ballroom of H.M.S. Queen Elizabeth on her final voyage last Sunday. The elegant meeting was attended by toga clad members who lounged around the table decked with the fruits of feast. Waiters stood ready to assist the gout diseased members of the deliberative body.

A servant rapped the gavel beacuse this task was too exhausting for the president. The meeting was opened. The members sat back and sipped the wine, there was no discussion of problems. Every measure passed unanimously without question. The slaves raised their hands to vote for the masters for fear a master might come to harm in the strenous activity.

The great queen listed as it turned right at the White River; agents came aboard and confiscated all the grapes. Hardly an hour after beginning, the president had the meeting adjourned to the grand foyer, where legislation was to be completed. The dancing girls twirled down the grand staircase . . . then I woke up. I realized I missed the real meeting. I got up and ran over to find that it was cancelled.

SETTING THINGS STRAIGHT

- Q. Has Dick Gregory been secured for a convocation yet?
- A. Dick Gregory will appear if the dates that have been submitted to him are acceptable. These dates are March 20th or March 27th. However, no final date has been selected.
Sr. Francesca
- Q. Is parking permitted around the football field during the football games on Sunday?
- A. No. Students are asked to park on any paved section, except the sisters' driveway, near the field. Continued parking on the soft ground will eventually tear-up the area and detract from its appearance.
Col. Wagner
- Q. There are many students who would like to see the Perc open between 4:00 and 7:00 p.m. during the week. Is it possible for it to be open at those times?
- A. "Yes, it is possible and I took the matter before Dean Pille and Col. Wagner (both of whom have a voice in this matter) and as a result of our consultation the Perc will be open from 8:00 a.m. continuously until 11:45 p.m. during the week. However, there are two factors which enter into this matter: 1) it is necessary to get employees to work, because it would have to be run by the students; the second factor is that if it does not prove successful, then the provision should be left open for further study. Starting Monday, Nov. 18 these new hours will go into effect on a trial basis."
Barry Lloyd
- Col. Note: This question was presented to Barry on Thursday and by that evening, the decision was made. I want to thank Barry for the quick action and ask that the students please support these new hours. Now all of you day hops will have the chance to eat supper before night classes. SUPPORT PERC POWER!

INSIGHTS

ARMISTICE DAY REVISITED

Does the contemporary political scene take on more significance in light of the recent observance of the 50th anniversary of Armistice day--the day to make the "world safe for democracy". In retrospect Winston Churchill said of it: "Authority was dispersed . . . the weak became the strong, the sheltered became the aggressive . . ."

Instead of its intended objective the 50 year period witnessed more ravaged cities, subversion of laws and the repudiation of traditional morals and mores culminating in WW II.

The current situation of the Paris Peace talks is reminiscent of the hopes of the 1918's except on a more intensified scale. Intensification is due to the evolution of military power of the major factions and the more complex world situation in which the conflict is set. Many small and emerging nations (notably the African states) wait in abeyance realizing the decisions at the conference table will affect them as such conferences have never before affected man universally.

The inherent difficulties in attempting to reach agreement with individuals whose interests and cultures are so diversified is now complicated by the fact that dissension is mounting between former "sympatico" factions. The recent walk-out by the Saigon delegation is not so much a stand against the U.S. speaking directly with the Communist factions, but that the NLF will be recognized at the conference table.

Though admittedly, we would like to see some positive ramifications of these meetings, it is too much to hope that such meetings alone will be able to negotiate terms acceptable to all in the super-complex situation. It would rather be better to work for realistic terms rather than the idealistic terms propagandized by the armistice 50 years ago. Or do the majority of our citizenry still need to be fed a pabulum of lofty sounding plans for world peace instead of a realistic evaluation of our present situation at the talks and prognosis for its outcome??

LETTERS continued

The showing of Georgy Girl was also late because somebody did not return the Audio Visual room key. By the time we got the projectors it was late. Compounding our problems was the fact that one of the projectors was malfunctioning.

The task of merely organizing and showing a series of films is near monumental, considering that it is not our only task. We are not asking that you be patient forever. We do expect a mature audience who can sit without hand-clapping, and other teeny-bopper activities.

El Cid seemed most annoying with a steady narration by one freshman girl. We ask that if you do not go to our movies for entertainment, please keep your comments to yourself so that others may get enjoyment.

Sincerely,

Mike Izzo

Members of the Student Body:

The Drum and Bugle Corps has been invited to participate in the Festival of States Parade in St. Petersburg, Florida April 6-13. We feel that this invitation presents Marian College Blue Knights with the unique opportunity to represent the state of Indiana and to gain greater prestige both within the state and at a national festival.

Our unit is unique in that we are the only college drum and bugle corps in the country. This position has been beneficial in procuring invitations to perform in many out of state festivals including Mardi Gras, Kentucky Derby Festival, King Cotton Festival, and Niagara Blossom Festival plus the local 500 Festival. Our balanced instrumental section has enabled us to overcome numerous musical obstacles and we feel confident that we are prepared again this year to top ourselves in our fifth year of performance.

We would like to enlist student support of our car raffle which we are planning to be kicked off soon. We hope that this raffle will defray the cost of trip expenses. Student and faculty encouragement has been greatly appreciated in the past and we hope that this support will continue along with any aid you can give us in our drive. Tickets will be available next week and we can with your aid make the drawing in January a successful climax to our campaign.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To the Editor:

The majority of Marian students have certainly heard about the national movement to boycott table-grapes in support of migrant workers in California. However, they may not know that an active group has been organized here in Indianapolis to encourage local support. This group, officially named the Indiana Committee to Aid Farm Labor, includes representatives from many local and out-of-town organizations, the U.A.W., the National Farmers Union, and the S.D.S., among others, and even has several members from here at Marian.

I feel that this is a worthwhile endeavor and offers an opportunity to become really involved in activity directed toward needed social reform. Anyone who might be interested in more information about the ICAFL or its goals should contact Father Frazee or Mike Quinn.

Dear Editor:

Christmas is coming around the corner fast preceeded by all the horn-blasting, bell-ringing catchy slogan clantrash that becomes associated with any meaningful event. And ringing the loudest bell will be the M.C. Mental Health Unit. Yes, we'll be clapping the trash along with everybody else with something to sell. But our product is different. It isn't anything you splash on to keep the girls away & the flies near, and you can't swap it for an overcooked tenderloin, but its guaranteed to make you feel needed. And you are. By some 18,000 people from infant to adult who need to smile. Help them. Buy a new toy or gift for a child, adolescent, or adult & put it in one of the collection boxes that will be set up in Doyle, Clare and the Ad building soon. Then bring a toy for admission to the Mama Mia's Pizza Party, Dec. 6.

What's the magic product?

A chance to love.

Dear Editor:

Clare Hall has been having a "stamp drive" in order to purchase a television for the dorm. We have collected TV and S&H stamps and, as we are nearing our goal, we have the problem of exchanging our S&H stamps for TV stamps. We would appreciate help in trading these stamp books. Our plea is especially to the day-hons for we would like to make this exchange before Thanksgiving so we can possibly order the television during vacation. If you have a book or so that you are willing to trade please call extension #354.

Thank you.

Dear Editor:

On behalf of the Doyle Hall Films, I would like to apologize for the late start of the last two movies. I would like to add that the delays were unavoidable on our part. For instance, El Cid was suppose to begin at 7:30 p.m., but the Star & News and the Clare Hall bulletin board reported the time at 8:00 p.m. In order to accomodate the misinformed, we began at 7:45 instead.
