

Seniors Gain Nat'l Honors

Heading citations for academic achievement, at the Honors Convocation May 12, were 13 inductees into 5 national honor societies.

Delta Epsilon Sigma, a national Catholic honor society for students of outstanding academic merit, has accepted Evelyn Looney, Frances Walker, and William Willmering. The nominees were chosen by a faculty committee of chapter members on the basis of their general academic and intellectual qualities.

Kappa Gamma Pi, a national Catholic women's honorary, whose members must maintain a 2+ grade average and an outstanding record of extracurricular service, has selected Evelyn Looney and Frances Walker for membership.

In the field of music, particularly church music, Delta Mu Theta admits students who hold at least a 2.0 average. Constance Knoll has been accepted by this society.

Lambda Iota Tau, international literary society awarded memberships to: Dan Armstrong, Rose Walker, and William Willmering.

Inducted, May 14, into Iota Sigma Pi, national chemistry honor society for women, were: Joan Boersig '52, and Cheryl Grady, Nina King, Karen Lee, Helen Marshall, Melva Meisberger, and Carolyn Whisler, juniors.

B.A. or B.S. Spells Success

Commencement exercises, June 5, at 3 p.m., in the college auditorium will honor 114 seniors. Archbishop Paul C. Schulte, D.D., Chancellor of Marian College, will confer the degrees of bachelor of arts and bachelor of science. Monsignor Francis J. Reine, S.T.D., will present the candidates.

Processional and recessional will be accompanied on the organ by Marianna Stout '65.

A brief musical tribute will feature Mary Cronin, sophomore, as vocal soloist.

Candidates for the B.A. degree are:

Accounting: Daniel Bordenet, Jerome Fedders, Louis Jehn, Paul McAtee, David Whitsett.

Art: Mauna Butsch, Mary Ellen Hungate, Cecilia Stevens Kiley.

Biology: Beverly Freije, Carol Goldschmidt, Thomas Marshall, Judith Mollaun, Elizabeth Seufert.

New Doctorates Grace Faculty; 6 Granted Leave

June will bring two new doctorates to the faculty.

Sister Mary Giles, director of elementary education, will receive the degree of doctor of education at the University of Cincinnati, June 10. Sister's dissertation title is "Marian College, Indianapolis, Indiana: The First Quarter Century."

Mr. Gilbert Tutungi, of the English department, will receive his Ph.D. in comparative literature, June 13, at Indiana University.

His dissertation, entitled "Tawfig al-Hakim and the West," is a study of the work of this Egyptian novelist and dramatist, for the purpose of tracing the influence of West European literature, philosophy, and culture in his work.

On leave for doctoral study next year will be: Father Paul Dooley, in Asian religions and culture, State University of Iowa; Father Bernard Head, higher education, Indiana University;

Sociology: Josephine Buchanan, Jeanne Durrant, Mary Fitzgerald, Marilyn Foltz, David Jonta, Kathleen Lenarz, Judith Mazilausky, Sister Adalaide, F.C.C., Sister Christilin, F.C.C.

Spanish: Janice Rocchio McCracken, Rosalie Miller, Barbara Walsh.

Candidates for the B.S. degree are:

Biology: William Babcock, Eric Christen, Larry Clemons, Brenda Fancher, John Ford, George Gerencser, Rosario Guaman, Carl Hopper, James Nalley, Cecilia O'Bryan, Patricia Paterek, Sister Margaret Cortona, O.S.F., Dolores Stiglich, John White, Ann Wilson.

Chemistry: William Cronin III, David Davis, Paul Dynes, Joseph Hutchinson, Robert Irish II, Janet Kelly, Mathias Schneider, Jr., Frances Walker.

Mathematics: Maurice Bubb.

Dr. Langan, Fr. Juniper to Speak At Graduation Events, June 4, 5

Dr. Thomas Langan

Fr. Juniper Cummings

Speakers at Commencement, June 5, and Baccalaureate, June 4, will be Dr. Thomas D. Langan, chairman of the philosophy department at Indiana University, and Father Juniper Cummings, O.F.M. Conv., S.T.D., head of the theology department at Maryville College of the Sacred Heart and lecturer at St. Louis University.

Dr. Langan received his A.B. in philosophy, summa cum laude, as well as his M.A. from St. Louis University. Studying with a Fulbright Fellowship, he received his Ph.D. at the Institute Catholique de Paris in June, 1956.

Four years on the St. Louis University faculty preceded his coming to Indiana University in 1960. In St. Louis he served as chairman of the Committee of Deans and Superintendents for Superior Education—a cooperative effort to set up a program for honors students.

A lecturer at five foreign universities, he is the author of three books and a frequent contributor to leading magazines.

Father Juniper, S.T.D., studied at Our Lady of Carey Seminary-College, Ohio, and at the State University of Fribourg, Switzerland, where he earned three successive honors degrees in sacred theology.

Besides filling important offices within his religious order, he has been a regular professor of theology, and a visiting professor at five colleges and universities in Kentucky, Indiana, and New York.

Past editor of Columbia Review, he writes for: The Thomist, Today, The Priest, and Franciscan Studies.

Ten seniors have earned fellowships or assistants.

Frances Walker, of Washington, Ind., has been appointed a Case Chemistry Fellow of Case Institute of Technology, Cleveland, in biophysical chemistry.

Evelyn Looney, of Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind., is the recipient of a National Science Foundation Fellowship for two calendar years of graduate study in the history and philosophy of mathematics at Indiana Univ.

Constance Knoll, Indianapolis, holds a fellowship in music history and literature from Northwestern University School of Music, Evanston, Ill.

A fellowship in physiology was awarded to John White, Indianapolis, and a service assistantship in the same field to George Gerencser, South Bend, by Indiana University Medical Center.

Maury Bubb, Fort Wayne, has accepted a National Defense Education Act Fellowship in statistics from the State University of New York, Buffalo.

Daniel Armstrong, Indianapolis, has been awarded a teaching assistantship in English at the University of Southern Illinois, Carbondale.

Teaching assistantships in chemistry are held by Paul Dynes, Indianapolis, at the University of California, Los Angeles, and Joseph Hutchinson, Indianapolis, at State University of New York, Albany. A chemistry research assistantship at the University of Dayton has been accepted by Mathias Schneider.

Workshop, Evening Classes Scheduled

Fred Waring Choral Workshop, June 19-24, will spark summer study opportunities on campus this summer.

Heading the nationally famous staff will be Fred Waring, outstanding choral director known as an "excellent orchestrator of the human voice."

The five-day concentrated course covers all periods and idioms of music as well as the techniques of successful choral performance and presentation.

In the regular summer session, evening classes, 7-9 p.m., June 13-Aug. 4, will be a "first."

Day classes meet Monday through Friday, June 15-July 24. Registration dates are: June 10, 11, and 13.

Ring Out Earlier, School Bell

School's out! Well not quite.

Although many schools are already out for the summer, dear old Marian is managing to stay in session one week later. Why?

One explanation is that graduation ceremonies have to be fitted into the Archbishop's schedule. This is understandable but not sufficient reason to make three-fourths of the school stay here an extra week.

There are several reasons why it would be advantageous to let school out a week earlier.

First, an important factor in determining whether or not a student gets a summer job is his availability date. Naturally the student who is available when the employer needs him, will stand a better chance of getting the position.

Also, the dilemma of studying for exams during race week confronts us. It is nearly impossible for a student to prepare adequately for three exams on May 31. Even if the student isn't one of those "wild" characters who trots to the track with a case of beer on his shoulders, it is still difficult to open those books because of the excitement of the '500' Festival.

I think that most students would agree that they would gladly trade a week in September for one in May.

Recap of '65-'66

It was a very good year

- for an unprecedented enrollment of 1066 Marian students
- for an enthusiastic, challenging faculty
- for an inhabited men's dorm
- for the largest freshman class in Marian's history with more than enough spirit to match their size
- for sophomores winning the Homecoming float contest
- for Homecoming Queen Bev Freije
- for the freshman basketball team
- for Kaleidoscope
- for the Marian Maids volleyball team
- for an Inter-Club Council Social
- for 'Carousel'
- for the pink champagne of the Junior-Senior Prom
- for Carol Goldschmidt in the double role of Christmas Madonna and Prom Queen
- for the Spring Concert
- for the launching of a tremendous development plan that promises to greatly expand the present campus

Summer Suggestions

by Barbara Dean

With the advent of bermudas, tennis shoes, and sun glasses, summer is in.

Work, study and just relaxing will probably take the largest share of vacation, but here are a few further suggestions.

Cities throughout the country have children's hospitals which need help during the summer months. If you live near one of these, perhaps you could volunteer. Summer camps, too, need counselors, crafts workers, and other aids.

Your parish church would welcome help in dozens of projects.

Of course the quiet summer days are perfect for catching up on your reading.

Be active, stay healthy, and have fun!

Wholeness verses Narrowness

by Mary Minder

Dr. James G. Clague, theology professor at the Christian Theological Seminary, Indianapolis, speaking at the Honors Convocation, May 11, noted a gap between generations, making easy the loss of touch.

New ideas and outlooks which can help mend the gap are born on college campuses. Students, and all men, have to move "from the past to the present and into the future, and still remain themselves." They must learn to integrate ideas new and old, to look at both sides of a question before making a decision.

Students attending a liberal arts college must choose a profession with which they will take their place in society. But they too often concentrate their energies on the task at hand and become absorbed in

Retiring: Our Man From Washington

At this time, when Mr. David L. Gilsinn, chairman of business administration, is retiring from active duty, it seems fitting to say a few words of tribute.

During his long years in the foreign service, he has worked in many countries including India, Pakistan, Brazil, and Uruguay. Primarily, he represented his country in the role of administrator; secondarily he gave example through practice and dedication as an upstanding American citizen and leader.

At Marian during the last six years, Mr. Gilsinn has been a guiding light in the darkness for many an otherwise unenlightened student. He has continually demonstrated his willingness to assist any student at an hour of necessity. He has been a source of inspiration to his students, to say little of the sharing of his vast experiences.

The ways, the actions, and advice of David L. Gilsinn should be an example to all of us in the achieving of greater ends.

Journey's End

We Seniors

Well we've made it now. We're almost through

We've finished the job. That's so hard to do.

For four long years we've sweat and toiled,

We've burned the candles and the mid-night oil.

But now, it's finished. Now we can say too We're done, We've made it, We're almost through, —We Seniors!

To you, Freshmen, grim and shy,

The road is long, the peak is high.

There's many an exam you've yet to pass; Keep up your head with the rest of your class.

Then one of these days you can say too, We're done, We've made it. We're almost through, —We Seniors!

Then to the Sophomores, sad and worn, We know it's tough, the load you've borne.

You're on the hump, now start back down.

You'll make it now—Wipe off that frown.

Then one of these days you can say too

We're done, We've made it, We're almost through, —We Seniors!

To the Juniors comes the best of all—

The Senior class, it's yours, we leave these halls.

Take up the standard, hold it high

For on your shoulders the burden lies.

Then in a short while you can say too

We're done, We've made it, We're almost through, —We Seniors!

BILL KOCHER demonstrates his winning "teaching machine" as Msgr. Reine prepares to present the bronze plaques.

Projects Combine Practical, Creative Aspects of Math

by Eileen Butkus

The first-year calculus students set a precedent this month in the designing and constructing of teaching aids. Competing on the basis of the originality, teachability, and creativity of their devices, these students could be found experimenting with compasses, light bulbs, protractors, and even marbles as they raced to finish their projects before the May 4 deadline.

Section A students chose Bill Kocher's integration game as the best project in their section, while Section B chose Pat Harper and Chuck Welch's sine-wheel and posters as their winning entry.

The heated competition ended, May 11, with the selection of Bill Kocher's project as the most valuable teaching aid. Receiving first honorable mention, were Larry Brodnik and Joe Bittlemyer, while Barbara Dean and Kris Ronzone merited second honorable mention.

Before the awarding of the two Knight plaques to Bill, Professor Schultz was quoted as saying, "I hope this will become a tradition here at Marian." He himself constructed a binary computer to add to the exhibit.

Far Away Places Call MC Coeds

by Sally Shikany

Would you like to study for a year at the University of Hawaii or travel to Spain this summer? For Sue Picker and Mary Drazer these wishes will come true.

Sue, a busy sophomore on the Student Board, was selected to be one of thirty participants to study Chinese at the University of Hawaii this summer and next year on a grant from the Indiana Non-Western Studies Project. Sue leaves the United States mainland in June, bound for the land of pineapples, surfing, and hula girls.

Once in our 50th state, Sue will reside in a dormitory overlooking Diamond Head and will begin an extensive and intensive program of study equivalent to four years of college work. Also in conjunction with her study of Chinese, she may choose electives in many other fields—art, music, philosophy, history, and religion—to supplement and complement her language studies. These too will emphasize the culture and tradition of the Orient.

Mary, a freshman, will journey to the land of bull fights and gay senioritas under the auspices of the 4-H International Exchange. She is one of four Indiana participants who have been awarded trips abroad in recognition of outstanding 4-H work.

Miss Drazer will live with a family in a village in Spain and assume the responsibilities of a family member. The purpose of the program is not only to develop international understanding and to foster a cultural exchange but also to provide educational opportunities and afford young people the chance to develop citizenship and leadership responsibilities.

On completion of the six-week visit, Mary will tour several other western European countries, adding her name to the tourist registers in France, England, West Germany, Switzerland, Denmark, and the Netherlands.

To lei-laden Sue Picker and mantilla-clad Mary Drazer congratulations—Adios and Aloha!

Campus Leaders Assume Positions

Elections for Student Board and class officers are now completed.

Student Board vice-president will be Chuck Welch, junior; treasurer, Ed Ottensmeyer, junior; secretary, Sue Mailloux, sophomore; and Kris Ronzone, junior, will be Interclub Council representative. Also serving on the Board will be the two dorm presidents: Chuck Calleia, junior; and Judy Rexing, junior.

Class officers, the presidents among them to join the Student Board, have also been chosen. Leading the senior class will be Don Busby, president; Elaine Zimmer, vice president; treasurer, Tony Holzer, and Lynn Bocknik secretary.

Junior class officers are: Steve Jones, president; Vic Thompson, vice-president; Patty Able, secretary; and Tom Wilson, treasurer.

Sophomore offices will be filled by: John O'Kane, president; Cindy Cook, vice-president; Ann Ziska, secretary; and John Brown, treasurer.

The Good Old Summertime Brings New Adventures

by Judy Covelli

As the count down begins and the number of classes for the year dwindles, dreams for the summer take on real qualities. For Lynn Bocknik, this dream will be realized in her job as a cocktail waitress at Ocean City, Maryland.

Diana Herbe, next year's residence assistant, plans to get her fun in this summer as a soda jerk at a resort day camp. In this pursuit, Diana has decided to move away from dear old Cincinnati and head East—Moodus, Conn.

More intellectual pursuits have drawn students not only to the hometown college or university for courses but some like Sally Meyers, John Chlopecki, Sally Shikany, and Mrs. Lela Hicks will travel even further by taking a trip to France. In Paris they will study at the Sorbonne for six weeks.

Carol Kawsy, Pat Otten, Mary Cronin and Mary Fran Beckman will head "south of the border", spending ten weeks in Bogota in a Colombian exchange program.

Ambitious Evelyn Looney, senior, doesn't add up quite as much mileage as she travels to Indiana University, but her mind will have to make a few leaps while she studies Russian at the Slavic Institute.

The Indianapolis Division of I.U. Law School has attracted Chris Weber for study. To keep from getting bored, however, he plans to be a Claim Adjuster for the Aetna Life and Casualty Co.

Jack Welchans will "take off" for Quantico, Va., to train for U. S. Marines aviation in preparation for a commission upon graduation, while the Peace Corps headquarters, Washington, D. C., is calling Ellen Scanlin to a summer internship there.

Meanwhile, Barbara Schlamp will work for eight weeks with the Catholic Social Services as a result of her appointment to the Careers in Social Work program.

Pete Hilliard is moving West but not just for the summer. His new home will be Pasadena, Calif., and Los Angeles his new "winter hangout" as he continues his studies at California State College.

Intellectual pursuits per se are not Ann Wilson's goal this summer, but no one doubts she'll learn something as she spends three weeks in Europe.

Donna Kelsey hopes to do a bit of touring in Florida and the surrounding states. Trips cost money, though, so she'll also settle down to a job in the passport and visa office of the Federal government.

Dennis W. von Pyritz leads the list of ambitious adventurers, and he doesn't even plan to leave the home front. How will he get his thrills? Dennis plans "to write a novel, or, at least, start one."

'Tribute' in Oil Climaxes Exhibit

Mauna Butsch . . .

Senior art exhibit, by Mauna Rae Butsch, of Indianapolis, will extend through commencement.

Miss Butsch's favorite medium is oil. Eleven oils are being displayed, many illustrating her interest in water and city scenes. Also on exhibit are works in watercolor, still life, figure drawing, design, fashion illustration, and lettering.

On the Secondary Education Program, Mauna plans student teaching in the fall.

"Tribute to Marian", an oil painting in the cumulative mode of design is on display in the auditorium lobby. Mauna's senior project, showing an arrangement of campus facades and vistas, will be left for the school.

Honors Projects Provide Firm Basis For Future Success

This spring saw an inspiring composer and a mathematical historian emerge as honor graduates.

In the field of music, Connie Knoll composed "A Fugue in E Minor" consisting of a basic theme to be played alternately by a quartet of instruments.

The piece "premiered" May 10 in the auditorium, with Joe Arimitsu on the flute, Bob Kessler and Steve Miller as first and second clarinets, and Carolyn Whistler at the cello.

Connie wrote the piece for these instruments, and not for her own instrument, the piano, because they can sustain a long musical note and because they are her favorites. She looks at her project not as the culmination of her college achievement, but as "merely a beginning, making me want to do more composing."

Next year at Northwestern University, she will study the history and literature of music in preparation for a teaching career.

Evelynn Looney, continuing in the versatile vein which has marked her entire college career, combined the fields of mathematics, history, and philosophy in her project.

Entitled "Descartes: A Historical Interpretation," it examined Descartes as a person as well as a mathematician and a philosopher. Evelyn enjoyed the "opportunity to read material and synthesize it in a personal way."

Like Connie she views her work as a "stepping stone" to future investigation. Next year will find her at Indiana University studying the history and philosophy of science.

Sociology Classes Acquire Insight In Parish Survey

by Eileen Witte

Social problems students have demonstrated a new found respect for the countless statistics they have encountered and memorized this semester after conducting their own survey of Holy Angels Parish, Indianapolis. Under the direction of Father Boniface, O.S.B., assistant pastor, 62 students worked in teams of two to canvass their assigned sections, including the more elite Golden Hill as well as some of the most deprived areas of the city.

Two surveys were taken. The first was a community survey with questions designed to produce an overall indication of attitudes, likes, dislikes of the community, as well as specific areas of possible improvement. The second was a confidential parish census of the Catholic families. Some of the more thought-provoking questions included in the survey were: "Can you give a definite instance of job discrimination?" and "Is prejudice keeping you from the kind of work you would like to do?"

Specific purpose of the project was to study the foreseeable effects of the construction of Interstate Highway 65 which will divide the parish area.

Survey results will also be used to evaluate the community in relation to its eligibility for assistance from an Office of Economic Opportunity unit of the War on Poverty.

Student reaction to the project has ranged from delight at the pleasant co-operation they experienced to dismay at the deplorable living conditions they discovered.

Individual Talent Highlights Track Throughout Year

Gaining experience and showing marked improvement during their first year of intercollegiate competition, the Marian track team should develop into a winning squad in the next few years.

Only one member of the team, Marty Liddy, will be lost by graduation.

Marty turned in several fine times, including a 52.2 in the 440 yard dash in the triangular meet against Rose Poly and Oakland City. He was also clocked in 2:02.4 in the 880 during the Ohio State Relays.

Another outstanding athlete on the squad was junior Tony Holzer. Tony's "bests" this season were a toss of 146' in the javelin and a heave of 38' 5½" in the shot put.

Also returning will be sophomore Dave Walker. Dave, who has shown much improvement this year in the 440 may be pressed into filling the gap left by Marty Liddy. Other sophomores returning will be: Chuck Smith (440), Larry Turner (220), Jeff McQueen (880), and Ray Stuck (javelin).

The returning freshmen will include: John Brown (100, 440 relay); Dave Ellsworth, who scored for the team several times in the high hurdles and also ran on the 440 relay team; John Hendricks, who placed several times in the high jump; Steve Miller (broad jump); John O'Kane (2 mile run); and Jim Revalet (440, 2 mile run).

Two members of the team, Marty Liddy and Tony Holzer competed in the Little State meet at Indiana University, May 7, although neither placed in the competition.

Club Keyhole Unlocks Door

by June Obert

M.C.'s fabulous Keyhole Swim Club recently resumed operation for its second splash season. As membership is limited to only the socially elite, the pool has assumed the position of the campus glamour spot.

For those social climbers who are contemplating joining Club Keyhole, a few suggestions are offered.

Poolside wearing apparel may be chic and daring as long as 19th century standards are maintained. One word of caution however for men: black tennis shoes, as well as any type of socks, are currently passe.

It is thoroughly inadvisable to venture within the Club confines unless you have acquired a tan, or at the very least a pinkish glow. This leaves the impression that either you have a lot of leisure time, or that you have spent the Easter vacation in Florida.

Since the intelligent individual is gaining in prestige, social acceptance can easily be attained by casually studying from a water-proofed textbook while afloat on a rubber raft. The bookstore is presently taking orders on Do-It-Yourself Waterproofing Kits.

Above all you must remember never to swim in the pool. Play games, float around talking, or merely tread water, but never display any aquatic skill.

One further suggestion to those who aren't quite able to cut it at Club Keyhole. Every afternoon stick your head under the shower. With your hair all wet, no one will ever realize that you are only a lowly peon.

MVP LARRY RAMSEY retrieves a shot in the match with Southern Kentucky.

Ramsey Leads Racketmen Through Trying Campaign

Although the Knights' tennis team had the home court advantage for 4 of their last 5 matches, they were able to pull out only one victory, finishing the year with a 2 and 6 mark.

On May 1, the men from St. Joe's invaded Marian's courts, handing the Knights a close 4-3 loss. Three individual play losses coupled with a loss in the doubles thwarted the chances for a victory.

Two days later, May 3, Marian netmen made their finest showing of the season against Kentucky Southern College, defeating them 7-0. The Knights displayed their abilities in sweeping every match in straight sets.

Playing their third straight home match against Butler May 6, the Knights went down by a 6-1 count to their Indianapolis rivals. Larry Ramsey continued his winning ways, chalking up the only victory.

In their last home meet of the 1966 season against Rose Poly, May 10, Marian was handed their second straight defeat at the hands of the Engineers by a 5-2 count. Bernie Schneider and Mario Rivas were the only winners for the Knights in the individual matches.

The match with Wabash May 13 was cancelled because of rain.

Marian closed out the season on a winning note by defeating Kentucky Southern for the second straight time by a 7-0 score.

Senior Larry Ramsey stood out as the year's best man, finishing the season with a 6-1 record.

Freshman 'Ballers' Cop V-ball Crown

Fighting their way into the final round by defeating last year's winners, the Bods, in a playoff match, the Ballers rolled on to take the 1966 Marian intramural volleyball crown, May 20. They toppled the East Coast winners, the Thinkers.

In the West, the Ballers and the Bods both finished the regular season competition with identical 6-1 records. The playoff game, May 16, saw the Ballers take the title in two straight, very close and hotly contested games.

Lacking one player, but keyed up after their win over the Bods, the Ballers cinched the championship. The "Thinking" seniors' placement shots were not as effective as they were earlier in the year mainly because of the speed and height of the Baller team. The Ballers jumped out to an early lead in the first playoff game, and the Thinkers were unable to recover. The second game was a tight contest but the Ballers came out on top.

The champs dropped their only game of the season to the Asebinops, who finished second in West. In the East league, the Thinkers finished the season with a perfect 7-0 record to gain their berth in the playoff round. Finishing second in the East were the Gutter Snipes with a 5-2 mark.

Making up the freshman powerhouse this year were: Mary Ellen Finn, Jeanette Ralston, Susie Stocker, John Hendricks, Bob Hericks, and John Takach.

Summer Affords Faculty Chance for Study Tours

Travel and study this summer will take faculty members to Africa, Europe, South America, and widely separated states.

West, Central, and East Africa will be outposts for Miss Mary Haugh, as a visiting scholar sponsored by the State Department and Non-Western Studies Project of Indiana.

Sister Marie Pierre, recipient of a grant from the Goethe Institute in Munich, will attend an institute in contemporary German language, literature, and culture at the University of Nuernberg and travel throughout Germany.

Western Europe will be the travel ground of Father Charles Frazee after eight weeks of research in Eastern Christianity at the Library of Congress.

Father John Elford will exchange the CYO camp site for a glimpse of Ireland and other British Isles in early September.

Mrs. Annamaria Coonrod will spend the summer visiting in France.

Dr. Arturo de Hoyos has been named a Fulbright scholar to Uruguay, where he will teach at the University of Montevideo.

Sister Florence Marie will participate in a National Science Foundation Summer Institute for College Mathematics Teachers at San Jose State College, California, while Sister Marina, under a grant from the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, will attend the Summer Institute on Nuclear Reactor Experiments and Instrumentation, at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, New York.

Sister Mary Carol, will engage in a three-week faculty seminar on East Asia at the University of Michigan, as the recipient of a fellowship from the University's Center for Japanese Studies and the Ford Foundation.

Indian music will be studied by Sister Vivian Rose at the American Society for Eastern Arts center, Berkeley, Calif., while the Matthey Festival and a piano workshop will call Sister Ruth Ann to the University of Maryland.

Rain Shrinks MC Season; Home Games Washed Out

After the Franklin game was cancelled on account of rain, the Knights' baseball team traveled upstate to Taylor University. There they suffered their third straight defeat, 10-5. After trailing 5-0 in the early innings, the Knights exploded to tie the score. However, they could not sustain the opponent's resurgent attack.

The weather again took its toll when the second meeting with St. Joe's was cancelled.

On May 3 the Knights traveled to Terre Haute to play a re-scheduled doubleheader with Rose Poly's Engineers. In the first game the Knights with some timely hitting and good pitching chalked up their second victory of the season. They were never behind as they took the lead in the first inning and went on to a 7-1 victory.

In the nightcap, however, the Engineers knocked the Knights off by a 6-5 score. After the Knights had taken the lead in the early innings, they fell behind and could not catch the Engineers. Marian rallied in the ninth inning, but could score only one run.

In the game with Anderson, May 5, the Knights again were defeated by a single run. The score was Anderson 5, Marian 4. With some poor clutch hitting the Knights lost their chance for another victory.

The Knights returned home, May 10, to play their cross-town rival, Indiana Central, under the lights at Riverside. The Greyhounds of Indiana Central walloped the Knights by a score of 13 to 3. The Knights trailed from the outset and never really were in the game.

The games with Xavier University and Earlham College were postponed because of bad weather.

The Knights ended their season with a sweet victory over Butler, May 19, by a 5-3 count. Freshman Roger Cesnik went all the way for the Knights. Little Larry Hornbach drove in the winning runs with a bases-loaded single in the last inning. Marian finished the year with a 3-7 record.

Golfers' Hopes up After Fair Season On Link Circuit

The golf team closed out the 1966 season with a respectable 5 and 6 record, finishing strong in their last two matches.

The Knights traveled to Rose Poly, May 3, for their first away meet of the season, only to be blasted by a 15-3 score.

Next meet was against Indiana Central on the Greyhounds' home course. After being down at the half way point the Knights came on to win 10-8. Larry Schmalz was low man for Marian with a 79.

A re-match against Butler, May 9, saw the Bulldogs victorious. The match was decided by total team score.

Cool and rainy weather hampered play, May 13, at the 36-hole NAIA Tourney. Marian finished fifth. Jack Holtel was medalist for the Knights with an 81-79-160.

Final encounters were two victories, both against Kentucky Southern College. At home, May 17, the Knight linksmen whipped the Blue Grass boys by a 12-0 score. Larry Schmalz was medalist for the meet with a fine 75.

In their second encounter in Louisville, May 19, Marian won by a 10-2 count. Jack Holtel took the honors for the Knights with a 77.

By closing out the season with a 5-6 mark, the team bettered last season's record by 4 victories.
