Marian College, for the second consecutive year, is playing host to foreign visitors in the form of Saudi Arabians. In and of itself, I see nothing wrong with this arrangement. What does concern me, however, is the inconvenience which has been caused to Marian students residing in Doyle Hall and dining in Saga operated Marian cafeteria.

Doyle Hall has never had the reputation of possessing floors which you could eat from. In the past few weeks, this situation has become even more deplorable. In the Pit, the trash bins within the restrooms for the disposal of paper towels have not been emptied on a regular basis. Instead of using soap and water to mop the restroom floors, the water which has leaked from the johns is utilized. The scum gathering on the shower curtains is also becoming a bit offensive. For a while I thought that we had new shower curtains because they were green instead of gold; unfortunately, this was not the case. Granted I don't expect to see myself in the reflection from the porcelain urinals, but it would be nice to see myself in the mirrors.

Since there are two additional wings in Doyle Hall which must now be cleaned, it is obvious that less time is being spent on the original wings which were in operation, resulting in less cleanly facilities.

Moving now to the cafe, the same catalyst has caused more problems. Early in the semester cafeteria serving hours were cut due to the small number of students coming through the line. This seemed to cause no problems since everyone was amply accommodated. With the influx of sixty new mouths to feed, it seems logical that cafe hours should once again be extended. It is natural that the Saudis should take longer to move through the line since they are unfamiliar with the procedure and there is a language barrier. I believe that this problem will always exist to some degree, and the lengthening of cafe hours is the only viable solution.

The point of this article is that the service staffs need to be increased in proportion to the increase in size of the Marian Community. Room and board paying full-time students should not be penalized so that the college itself can fatten its coffers.

Everyone, sometime during their four years here at Marian, has a serious complaint he or she would like to share with the college community. I, being a senior, feel I should voice my opinion before I graduate from this institution. My complaint concerns the availability of several facilities to the students. I have always heard that Marian exists for the students but in several situations it seems that facilities are available at the convenience of staff members only. For example, several weeks ago, a colleague and I wanted to practice our musical talents at the music building on a Saturday afternoon. We soon discovered that the building was locked and a sign-out key was placed at the Convent desk. However, upon inquiring at this office, we also discovered the key had been signed out by a student approximately 1½ hours earlier. So, we raced to the afore-mentioned building to determine if the student was still there. However, we found a deserted and locked building and a quick telephone search of the student with the key was in vain.

Approximately one week later on a Saturday I decided that a few laps in the indoor pool would be refreshing and relaxing. But I soon realized that if one's name is not on a certain list in the information office, a key is not issued. The availability of these students with access to the key was practically nil.

However, I do admit that I have seen several signs around Marian and Clare Halls concerning qualified students receiving access to the pool key by having their name placed on the list. I realize that this is a positive step in the right direction of a college for the students.

However, this same Saturday, upon realizing that swimming was ruled out, a few of us girls still had unbounding energy to be released and our next attempt was to run laps in the Clare Hall gym. I called one of my more favorite R.A.'s and was told she could not let us into the gym unless an R.A. stayed inside the gym the entire time we were in there. My conclusion to this is that it leaves the R.A.'s with 2 alternatives:

1. They can be under more pressure than they already are and every time a student calls them up and requests that they get into the C.H. gym, drop everything and open up the gym, or

2. They can refuse to accommodate the students wishes and continue their regular activities.

However, being the kind R.A. that she is, my friend stated that she would let us into the gym about ½ hour later. Upon finally reaching this treasured vault which seems so difficult to enter, I quickly noticed that the door in the gym leading outside was ajar approximately 4 inches. It was by no means locked. Now I realize that these extra measures have been taken for security purposes and to keep out unwanted persons, i.e., men from Doyle after hours and off campus visitors from entering into the gym. However, anyone wanting to break into the gym could have done so very easily and locking the inside door kept out only innocent students like myself. I also realize that this small mistake could have been an oversight on the part of the security guard and mistakes do happen. I have, though, recently found it increasingly difficult to use the C.H. Gym. The gym is supposed to be open from 7-9 pm on Tuesday and Thursday evenings. However, one Tuesday a couple of weeks ago I made the trek from White House over to Clare Hall only to realize that the work study person who was supposed to open the gym from 7-9 did not feel well and had closed it at 7:55. Also, on Monday and Wednesdays, Volleyball games have been held. I have attempted to run in the gym immediately following the last volleyball game, but have felt under pressure to get out as quickly as possible because the R.A. who happens to be in there at the time wants to leave and lock the gym.

I realize the predicament with security in the dormitory but I truly feel that the present availability of several facilities on campus leaves much to be desired, especially if this college is to exist for the students. I can only offer a couple of possibilities as solutions to these problems. A sign out key could possibly be placed at Clare Hall desk and only the Women could have access to it. This way men would not be wandering around the building at odd hours. Also, pertaining to the C.H. gym and the music building, these keys should only be issued at the submission of the student's I.D.'s. A time limit could be placed on the students so no one student could hoard the key.

How did Plymouth scream when the Pilgrims landed?

Dear Carbon,

This letter is in reply to your so Called "response" in the last edition of the Carbon. We want to make it clear that our earlier letter was written as constructive criticism of the Carbon and not a personal insult to either of the co-editors. Our previous letter was not "disjointed", "incoherent", and "nearly unintelligible". If it simplifies matters, we will respond by enumerating our points.

- 1) Our letter was a criticism of the Carbon as a rag sheet. Admittedly this role is necessary but to complain because there is nothing to complain about and to consider this apathy is absurd. This was evident in a past editorial. Instead of concentrating on the negative aspects of Marian perhaps commenting on the positive events would be more beneficial.
- 2) For example, the following improvements have been accomplished through the proper channels:
 - a) revision of the pass/fail procedure through academic affairs.
 - b) a successful Parent's Weekend by Social Planning Comm.
 - c) Clare Hall and Doyle Hall renovations through Col. Wagner and Maintenance
 - d) the cheerleaders receiving financial aid to attend away games via Student Board (and Ken Elmendorf)
 - e) that visiting groups must abide by college policy due to Student and executive Board actions.
- 3) We apologize for stating that some articles are put into the Carbon as fillers and that letters submitted to the Carbon are not printed. Possibly due to our own bias we feel that some of the articles printed are ridiculous. Also, we were misinformed about some letters not being printed. These were not letters but announcements of events, advertisements, and assorted hisses and applause.
- 4) Perhaps we were too harsh in criticizing the Carbon for not printing certain announcements and etc., but if future sincere articles about the Carbon are received with such undue sarcasm as ours, then the "literary contributions" you do receive will dwindle even more.

ISA

The Indiana Student Association is an organization made up of Indian colleges and universities. Its primary purpose is lobbying for student interests at the Indiana General Assembly. Work is also done on issues at the federal level which relate to students or higher ed. This year probably the biggest issue ISA will be lobbying for is the lowered drinking age. Another issue they will be involved with is the expansion of financial aid programs. The ISA does not support political candidates in any way.

Marian College is a member of ISA as a whole but individual memberships are also available. As a contributing member you get a membership card; TEMPO, The ISA newsletter, free weekly legislative report during the General Assembly's next session and an 8% discount on the price of any ISA Travel Service vacation tour. Membership is $2.50 and Marian will be conducting its drive the week of November 29. If you have any questions contact Dave Record or Alice Mattingly.

Thank-you

Alice Mattingly

Marian Rep. to ISA

When was the last time that you gave of your own money to help those less fortunate than yourself? Last Christmas? Last week when you bought APO- raffle chances? Great! But now you have a chance to participate in the national CAMPAIGN FOR HUMAN DEVELOPMENT sponsored by the U.S. Catholic Conference. There will be a collection at the 6:30 Mass Sat., Nov. 20 for this purpose. The money is used to make possible self-help projects for the poor and all over the country. In past years this Campaign has helped 1000's of poor through projects of economic, social development, legal advocacy, health clinics. BE GENEROUS. Contribute to the CAMPAIGN by contributing to the collection Saturday night. If you are unable to be there, bring your contribution to the Campus Ministry Office. THANKS!!!

MEMO

REGISTRATION OF Student/Campus EVENTS

Recently, some problems have arisen with respect to the registration of Student Organization Events. For various reasons, some organizations have not completely followed through with event registration procedures. College policy on this topic is as follows:

"All events of student organizations are to be approved by the Office of Student Services and calendared in the Office of the Coordinator of Facilities Scheduling (Mr. Fox)."

The purpose for approving and calendaring events are fairly simple and straight-forward.

1. To avoid or become aware of conflicts in dates and places.
2. To receive assistance in planning programs.
3. To inform the appropriate people (Campus Security and Maintenance) who provide equipment and set-ups necessary for holding an event.
4. To obtain information about College policies which affect the planned event.
5. To record events for future reference as to its success, turnout, failure, etc., to help in planning of future events.

We feel that events will be more successful and fewer problems will occur if the appropriate procedures are followed. These procedures are outlined on pages 43-44 of the Student Handbook and in the Student Activities Handbook which was distributed to organization Presidents and Advisors last September. We also feel that Presidents and Advisors should be familiar with these procedures and take an active role in helping their organization follow the appropriate steps. We request that you take some time to re-familiarize yourself and your organization with campus event registration guidelines so that problems do not re-occur.

Thank you for your cooperation

An incoming freshman was introduced to Dean Woodman and, having heard of his youth in the backwoods of Ohio asked, "Dean, is it true you were born in a log cabin?" "No", replied the Dean, "you are thinking of President Gatto. I was born in a manger."
