EDITORIAL

Eileen Mueller (Again)

Today, while throwing darts at the civil defense signs, I was struck by the appalling thought that Nov. 9th marks the advent of mid-term week. Knowing that it is the function of the CARBON to be a vehicle of intellectual thought, it seemed necessary to devote part of this issue to special hints which may serve as a help in making your grades.

- 1 For political science students: Mention in one of your essays that you think the marble in North Central High School is quite necessary.
- 2 For organic chemistry students: Tell Sister Rose that you don't believe in the carbon atom.
- 3 For psychology students: Write ten thousand pages of the Kinsey Report.
- 4 For Spanish students: Write an essay on Mariamela as the personification of dope addiction.
- 5 For bacteriology students: Describe the procedure for sterilizing Petri dishes upside down in the autoclave.
- 6 For Sacred Scripture students: Explain why Pharaoh's daughter was a great economist; because she drew a little prophet from the rushes on the bank.
- 7 For ethics students: Show why golf is forbidden by the Natural Moral Law.

This list is not quite as inclusive as the Sophomores list of eligible men to ask to the Sadie Hawkin's dance. But if these suggestions are followed there should be a nice curve of grades.

The CARBON condoles:
Konia Cassarcal on the death of her pet goldfish "Glabid."

The annual Yearbook drive to raise money will start Nov. 15th. Leaving the assembly, each student will be handed two patron blanks to help the Yearbook and his class. The drive lasts until Dec. 15 with each class receiving ten per cent of its total sales. The quota for each student is $4.00 or two $2.00 patron ads.

Not enough money was raised in a similar campaign last year. Out of town students did not receive their yearbooks by mail because of this lack of funds. If everyone cooperates with us this year, we promise that a similar situation will not arise.

Further information may be obtained by contacting the Yearbook staff members. Posters will also help to explain this better by the beginning of next week. Thank you very much.

Letters to the Editor Dept.

Dear Editors:

We consider precision of expression one of the goals toward which a college student must strive. In the last issue of the CARBON we noted two examples of lack of precision.

Primo, two members of the history faculty bear the initials J.D. Let us be precise by distinguishing between Rev. J.D. and Mr. J.D.

Secundo, a member of the history faculty was described as a "young history teacher." Let us be precise by describing him as a "young, eligible, handsome, history instructor."

Infallibly,

Mr. J.D.

For sale: One dead goldfish. Contact

We note with disgust the ever-increasing amount of inter-digitating, billing and cooing, etc... etc... going on in the public area of the Mixed Lounge. We hope that these "lounge lovers" will either grow up or find a more suitable spot for their activities.

The CARBON Hisses:

Homer Capehart for costing JDM $11.
Jean Sites for her lack of cleanliness.
NRK's cheap rose sponge.
Students who haven't paid their class dues.
Students who don't ever intend to pay their class dues--and we know there are many!

The CARBON Applauds:

The Student Board for putting up the picnic tables and obtaining a telephone for the Mixed Lounge.
Mary Ellen Stead for her patriotic actions toward her friends this weekend.
Mike Hughes' '52 Chevy for making it to the Great Lakes and back this weekend.
Donna Tatroe on her oncoming birthday November 16.

Jim McCann for helping to proofread this issue.

Players Present:

The Last Hurrah, starring Spencer Tracy, Basil Rathbone and a cast of millions, on Sunday Nov. 11 at 7:30, admission .50¢ -- Plus a color cartoon "A Feud There Was."

The NCMEA is interested in knowing students who play any band instrument. They would appreciate it if those students would fill out the coupon and deposit it in the box in front of the auditorium before 4:30 today.
