Grads Concentrate On 'Education'

by Anita Dreiling

Marian graduated 68 lay students last year. These graduates of '59 can be found in various fields of endeavor.

The teaching profession has called 24 devotees. Mary Cleary, Joan Friday, Jane Gordon, Marlene Jasper, Anne Lane, Jane Le Feber, and Margaret Weyprecht are teaching in the Indiana public grade schools. Mary Joyce Hagemann and Mrs. Arthur Lapadt (Mary Angela Koers) are teaching in the public grade schools of Illinois and Kansas, respectively.

Teaching in public high schools are Dick Beck, Tom Hacker and Ed Hegarty.

Parochial grade schools have employed Nancy Brown, Bill Fisher, Roselyn Gerlach, Mrs. Larry Hammerstein (Norberta Mack), Sara Stroud and John Withem.

Indiana Catholic high schools have employed Martha Becker, Don DeHart and Carolyn Martin. Judy Hirn is teaching in a diocesan high school in Cincinnati and Marguerite Branday is teaching in Jamaica. The Jordan College of Music in Indianapolis has added

Bank Executive Fills Vacant Post

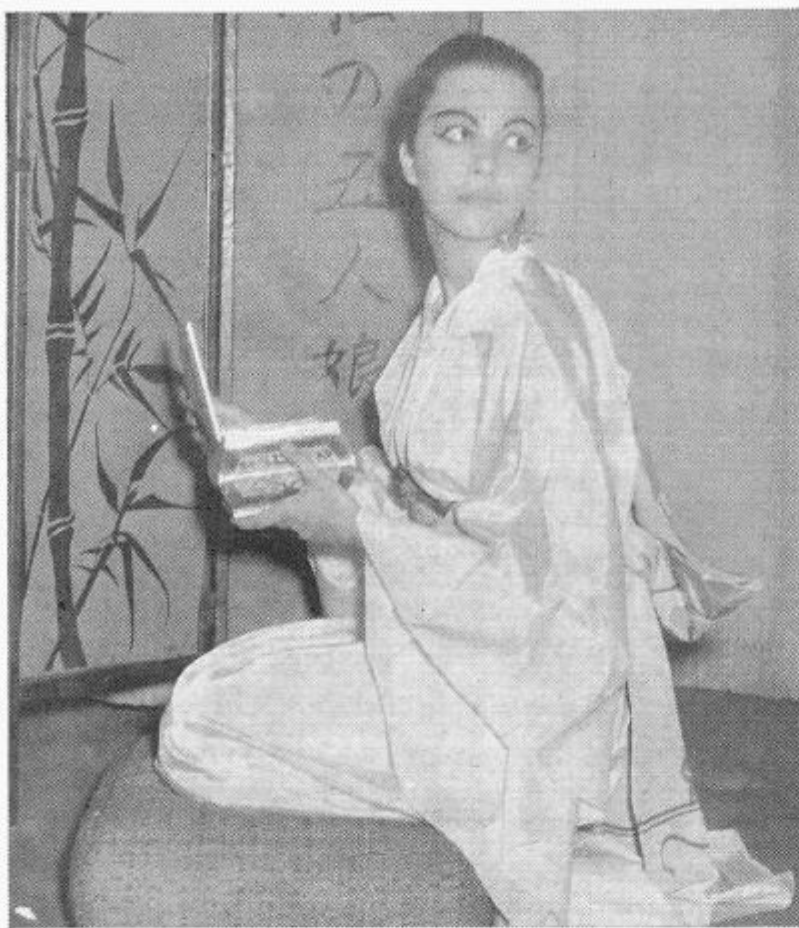

Mr. Sweeney

Mr. Robert E. Sweeney, Jr., executive vice-president of Merchants National Bank and Trust Company, Indianapolis, recently accepted appointment to the Lay Advisory Board of Marian College. He is replacing Mr. Hugh V. Brady who died last December.

Nominated by Msgr. Francis J. Reine, president, and a committee of the Advisory Board, Mr. Sweeney was formally appointed by Mother Mary Cephas, O.S.F., chairman of the college Board of Trustees. His three-year term began officially at the dinner meeting of the board on campus, Oct. 13.

A member of Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church, Carmel, Mr. Sweeney is married and the father of three children. He is a 1930 graduate of Cathedral High School and received his higher education at Dartmouth.

Mr. Sweeney's activities include being a director of the Boy Scouts of America, member of a dramatic club, and of the Controllers Institute of America. His principal hobbies are golf and boats.

Marie Mastruserio as Madame Butterfly

Fioretti, Anthologies Accept Manuscripts

The Fioretti, semi-annual student literary anthology, invites writers to submit original manuscripts by Nov. 1. Entries may be essays, poetry, or short stories. These should be left in Room 310.

The American College Poetry Society recently announced its second annual anthology of outstanding college poetry is being compiled for winter publication. Deadline is Dec. 1. Another announcement is made by the National Poetry Association of its annual competition. Closing date is Nov. 5.

Information on both contests can be found on the bulletin board in Room 310, publications center.

Seniors Award Prizes At Two Fall Mixers

Prizes for the most appropriate corsage and costume will be awarded Nov. 13 at the senior-sponsored Sadie Hawkins dance. Activity will take place in the Knight Club, 8:30-11:30 p.m.

Traditionally, the turnabout dance is held on the Friday evening of midterm-exam week, in the season made famous by Al Capp's 'Lil' Abner cartoons. Tickets will be available at the door.

The seniors' most recent project was the Muskrat Ramble Mixer, Oct. 9, at which Vickie Weston and J. J. O'Brien danced to triumph in the Charleston Contest.

Rudy Vallee and Al Jolson were in full voice and highlight of the dance was an entertainment program of Rita Jo Marsh and Mary Agnes Milharic singing a duet; Nancy Heiskell and Dick Simko pantomiming a song from the "Boy Friend"; Mary Rita Schlichte, as a torch singer; and a fashion show complete with Marilyn Beck as the Boo Boo Be Do girl.

A special surprise was the appearance of drummer, Denny Dutton, former Indianapolis showman.

Associates Schedule Notre Dame Alumnus As Dinner Speaker

The annual dinner meeting of the Marian College Associates will be held in the college dining hall, Monday, Oct. 26 at 6:30 p.m. Mr. James E. Armstrong will be the guest speaker.

Mr. Armstrong is currently serving as executive secretary of the Notre Dame Alumni Association. He has been assistant director of the Notre Dame Foundation since its inception in 1947, and is editor of The Alumnus, a Notre Dame graduate publication.

The Associates are composed of friends of the college who recognize the need for higher Catholic education. They contribute a minimum of $25 to the Associates' Fund which is used for scholarships, student loans, and athletics.

Presently, there are 179 members with a total amount of $5,641 in circulation. These figures represent a 57% increase in membership and a 38% increase in gifts over the 1957-58 figures.

The final report on the 1958-59 year will be given and new officers will be elected. Outgoing officers are president, Paul F. Muller, M.D.; vice-president, Mark Gross; secretary, Mrs. Richard A. Graham; and treasurer, Robert Langsenkamp.

Election Decides Varsity Cheerleaders

The student body has elected freshmen Mary Ellen Benedetto, Floyd Chamberlin, and Ruth Gutzweiler to the varsity cheerleading squad. They will join veterans Karen Forzst and Barb Kin, juniors, and senior Tom Senn.

Board Schedules Campus Tour Music, Drama, Sports Events

An 11 a.m. High Mass for both students and parents will officially mark the opening of Parents' Day, Sunday, Oct. 25.

Immediately following Mass at 12:30 p.m., a smorgasbord will be served. Reservations are necessary, and can be made by contacting dinner chairman Joanne Lintzenich. Football intramurals as well as campus tours are on the agenda for 1 o'clock.

Youth Week Plans Include Seminar, CURA Collection

"Spiritualize Youth Vitalize Nations," is the national theme of Catholic Youth Week, Oct. 25-Nov. 1.

Campus activities begin with 11 a.m. Mass Sunday, in the campus chapel. Since this opening coincides with Parents' Day all students are urged to participate and to invite their parents.

Under the chairmanship of Bob Moran and Betty Koppi, senior and junior delegates of the NFCCS, and Elaine Thomas, religious representative on the Student Board, plans have been completed.

At Mass on Sunday Father Humilis Soland, O.F.M., of Alverna Retreat House, will give the sermon. A collection for Catholic University Relief Administration will be taken.

A leadership seminar will be conducted during the week and Friday, Oct. 30, Benediction services at 3:30 p.m. will close the observance.

Arts Masquerade Features Halloween, Literary Figures

In keeping with the Halloween spirit, the Players are sponsoring their annual Beaux Arts Ball, Friday, Oct. 30, 8:30-11:30 p.m.

Halloween is traditionally associated with hobgoblins and witches, and masquerading in the Knight Club will be a collection of strange individuals who will receive awards for costume originality. Representing fact and fiction, these characters will remain anonymous in a "galaxy of stars" throughout the evening.

Those in a non-holiday mood will be welcome to attend in semi-formal attire.

Music will be played by the Pat McGuire Quartet. The dance is either stag or drag, and the tickets are 75c per person.

Those in charge of planning the dance are: Shirley Martin, general chairman; Ray Day, publicity; Betty Beard, decorations; and Gerry Matheny, band and refreshments.

Representative Speaks On Wardrobe Planning

"Wardrobe Planning" will be Miss Helen Wright's topic when she visits campus Thursday, Oct. 29, 10:30 a.m. Miss Wright is special field representative of the educational department of Simplicity Pattern Company, New York.

All students are invited to attend her lecture in Clare Hall Assembly Room.

Light Entertainment

Under the direction of Ann Marie Holleran, the freshman class will present a comedy skit. The Mellotones will offer vocal selections from "Show Boat" and "South Pacific."

An all-male cast will present a second skit.

Finale will be a dramatic pantomime of Puccini's "Madame Butterfly," produced by Bernie Dever. Excerpts include the Love Duet, singing of "One Fine Day," and the Death Scene.

Mme. Butterfly Cast

Leading performers are: Marie Mastruserio as Madame Butterfly; Anita Dreiling as Suzuki, the servant; Jack Borchertmeyer as B. F. Pinkerton, U.S. Naval Officer; Marilyn Beck as Kate Pinkerton, his American wife; Mike Sifferlen as Sharpless, the lawyer; and nine-year old Jean Ann Cooper as the child of Butterfly and Pinkerton.

Sponsored as a Student Board activity, the committees in charge of the day are under the general co-chairmanship of Peg Delaney and Elaine Thomas. Ferd Keller is heading publicity.

Home Ec Meeting Draws Observers, Marianite Officers

Chicago junior, Rosemary Sikorski, state president, and Sister Joan Marie, state advisor, attended the Indiana college chapter of the American Home Economics Association Oct. 22.

Members of the Home Economics Club accompanied the group to the Butler University campus.

Following registration and a coffee hour, Alexander E. Jones, Ph.D., dean of the school of liberal arts at Butler, welcomed the assemblage. During the ensuing business meeting, delegates, of whom Rosemary was one, reported on the AHEA convention held in Milwaukee in June. Theme for the all-day meeting was "Fifty Golden Years."

Mrs. Mildred Ditzel, who is associated with the home service department of the Dayton Power and Light Company, spoke on "The Magic of Light and Color." Father William Stineman of the Marian faculty, luncheon speaker, told some of his current findings in parent-child relationships, the subject of his doctoral dissertation.

In the afternoon conference Miss Margaret Buchan, director of the Home Service Department of Indiana and Michigan Electric Company, Fort Wayne, discussed "New Horizons for Modern Living."

'Spiritualize Youth, Vitalize Nations'

Beatniks of today represent organized confusion, organized disorder. Pius XII called them "disembodied spirits." Their concept is the nothingness, the futility, the meaninglessness of an unmitigated materialism against which they rebel but in no direction. If they found direction, it would mean hope for them which they would also respect.

They reject us because we have a hope, the Church. Do we reject them? Do we rebel against them? Shall it be said of the Catholic youth of America that we have not been able to meet the challenge of hard and dangerous times? Shall it be said of us that we have lost the spiritual capacity to revitalize our nation?

Dean's List

7 Score All A's

The 1958-59 second semester Dean's List was achieved by 37 students.

Approximately 16% of the senior class achieved this honor. Among the 11 seniors were Louise Diver, 3.00, Lawrenceville, Ill.; Emilie Clevenger, 2.80, Brookville; Barbara Libs, 2.66, Evansville; Martha Becker, 2.64, Fort Wayne; and Carole Kerske, 2.50, Detroit. Seniors from Indianapolis were Patricia Jeffers, 2.87; Sylvia Johnson, 2.81; Richard Delaney, 2.66; Ray Osburn, 2.64; Jim O'Donnell, 2.57; and John Withem, 2.53.

Three Perfect Scores

Juniors had 8½% of their class on the Dean's List including: Sister Emilie, 3.00, Oldenburg; Mary Jo Metzger, 3.00, Indianapolis; Elaine Thomas, 2.71, Richmond; Judy Parrish, 2.64, Decatur; Donald King, 2.63, Brownsburg; Jerry Williams, 2.53, Indianapolis; Marilyn Beck, 2.52, Marion; and Mary Rita Schlichte, 2.50, Connersville.

Three high-scoring sophomores, representing 3½% of their class, were: Louise Manny, 3.00, and William Daley, 2.70, of Indianapolis; and Ruth Kozlik, 2.64, Chicago.

Eight Juniors

Among the 15 freshmen attaining Dean's List were: Gayle Hosse, 3.00, Evansville; Sally Pohlman, 3.00, Lawrenceburg; Juliana Simmons, 3.00, Seymour; Ellen Burnett, 2.83, Wheaton, Ill.; Kathryn McGowan, 2.81, Cranford, N.J.; Ann Garand, 2.73, Muncie; Carolyn Nichols, 2.66, Tipton; Dorothy Megel, 2.53, North Vernon; and Richard Moeller, 2.50, Hamburg. From Indianapolis were: Joan Simko, 2.94, Carla Speth, 2.88, Peggy Knoll, 2.88, Sharon Feeney, 2.84, Ronald Bornman, 2.73, and Judith Williams, 2.62. These students were approximately 6½% of the freshman class.

Catholic youth can save the country, the world, not on their own power, not through the freshness and vigor of their ideas but as members of the Church. Personal holiness is essential to any kind of apostolic vision or leadership, because youthful power, energy, and ideas are as empty as Beatnikism if they are not taken over, directed, and regenerated by Christ.

We ask the students of Marian College to seek, claim and capture the grace needed to spiritualize themselves and to vitalize others by participating in Catholic Youth Week, Oct. 25-Nov. 1.

Understanding Chinese Eases World Tensions

"What's this? Learn Chinese in school? Why, we don't know our Russian yet."

A recent news release comments that the school child might soon be oriented to the Chinese language. With the tremendous growth of Eastern population, the Great Leap Forward now projects itself into the American classroom.

True, China is a world power, even, as some speculate, a world threat to her communist neighbor and cause for existence, Russia.

We can try to understand the Chinese culture and people through a possible exchange-of-visits program, similar to the one now in progress with Russia. Many people feel the ease in world tensions is because of these visits—not only by heads-of-states, but by the ordinary American citizen. It is agreed that world powers today must have more personal exchanges.

What better way to understand a people than through investigation of their writings? In translation, much of the original significance can be lost. So, perhaps this language experiment will prove a valuable new peace instrument.

Announcement . . .

Phoenix staff will meet Monday, Nov. 2, promptly at 12 p.m. in Room 310.

CATHOLIC YOUTH WEEK

OCT. 25 | NOV. 1

NATIONAL COUNCIL OF CATHOLIC YOUTH | WASHINGTON, D.C.

Outside Activities Help, Hinder Leadership?

The Knox College Student, Galesburg, Ill., ran this senior's view of American undergraduates:

"I feel the present status of the undergraduate college is unfortunate. With graduate school comes a serious recognition of the terms 'individuality,' 'maturity,' and 'accomplishment.' With graduate school comes the end of a thousand-and-one 'outside' activities — committees, boards and the like. So the college remains as either a finishing institution for high school or a preparatory institution for graduate school . . ."

This point of view deserves thought and comment by every American student.

First of all, "individuality," and "maturity," are essential. But, can they not be attained, to a degree, by participation in "outside activities" and the like? Student, and consequent adult-life, leadership is a valuable result attained by just such participation.

Many clubs also present challenges associated with the member's major field. By "belonging," one can therefore learn while gaining social graces, as well. Cooperation, promptness, sacrifices — all teach development of character.

As for activities' interference with academic work, isn't it probable that a student will not neglect work if he is a true student? That he will manage to channel his efforts in advertising his school through clubs and socials, as well as through academic achievements?

After all, it isn't really fair to take everything from college and contribute nothing in return.

Fellowship Competition

For Danforth Foundation

Applications for Danforth Graduate Fellowships are being accepted from now until Jan. 31, 1960. Open to college seniors and recent graduates preparing for a career of college teaching, these Fellowships carry a promise of financial aid within prescribed conditions.

Qualifications of the candidates as listed in the announcement from the Foundation are: men of outstanding academic ability, personality congenial to the classroom, and integrity and character, including serious inquiry within the Christian tradition.

The committee in charge of nominations at Marian include Msgr. Francis J. Reine, Msgr. John J. Doyle, Sister Mary Carol, and Sister Mary Karen.

Editor's Notebook

We've been asked to stress the fact that all students and their parents are invited to the entire Parents' Day program. There seems to be a bit of confusion on this point, especially among the day students.

We hope to see everyone at Mass and the smorgasbord brunch. See page one, column five, for details.

Also, the Players hope for a big turnout for the Beaux Arts Ball. This year it's to be a Halloween masquerade, as well as literary-costume mixer, stag or drag. Read about it, too, on page one.

While on the subject of giving organizations a boost, the Pep Club wants you.

Catholic Youth Week offers many NF-planned spiritual and temporal opportunities. Take advantage of them. Bob Moran's doing a fine job coordinating NF activities this year.

His rotation plan for daily participation at Mass by club council member deserves praise, too. Let's see more people try to attend.

Did you read last week's Life magazine coverage of Hal Holbrook's Mark Twain impersonation? Described as a "one-man stage hit, soon to be seen coast-to-coast," Mr. Holbrook's act was highly praised. Students will remember it was brought to Marian two years ago for an assembly program.

The first assembly of this year, Pacini's concert group, was favorably received. The assembly committee is attempting to bring high-caliber programs all year.

We just couldn't resist commenting on autumn. Is the season really that short, or does the threat of midterms approaching rush it by so quickly? The campus is especially attractive with the trees in full color. This should be another reason to show-off Marian to our parents Sunday.

Speaking of midterms, tests are scheduled for the week of Nov. 9, but we hope to sneak off to New York with yearbook editor Rita Jo Marsh to the Associated Collegiate Press Convention. You can read about it here next month.

FRESHMAN SEXTET of seniors' brothers and sisters: Jim McCann, Jane Metzger, Bob Carter, Martha Ginther, Carol Hungate, and Jerry Zore.

Six Frosh Continue Family Tradition, Follow Brothers, Sisters to Marian

by Becky Yarber

Six freshmen have chosen Marian College for their studies, mainly because of the example of their senior brothers and sisters.

Mary Evelyn Carter, elementary education major from Indianapolis, is happy her brother Bob chose Marian. "I feel he can get a good foundation here, and can develop good study habits before going on to law school."

Also from Indianapolis are Mary Jo and Jane Metzger. Freshman Jane looks very much like her sister, a biology major. In Jane's words, "We haven't been in school together for several years, and we are rather enjoying it now."

Attractive Campus, Wishing Bridge Await Wanderers

by Becky Yarber

Sixty-four acres of beauty—that is Marian!

The present site of Marian College, once the James A. Allison estate, has undergone many changes since the Sisters of St. Francis bought it in 1936. New buildings and new landscaping have added to the scenic beauty of the campus.

In the rear of the library are steps that lead down to the lake, formerly a chain of five lakes, stocked with many varieties of fish, and surrounded by flowers and shrubbery. These were artificial lakes, fed by springs common to the whole area. Today students walking along the stone path around the lake stop from time to time to watch the squirrels and rabbits scamper through the wildflowers and greenery.

Early Layout

The original estate was served by more than four miles of roadway, besides bridal paths and walking paths. Some of these paths still exist, while others have become near-obsolete.

Behind the west end of the lake is a cobblestone bridge which spans a wide creek bed. The bridge, now overgrown with trees, vines, and bushes is fondly referred to by Marian students as the "Wishing Bridge." Many idle hours have been spent at this favorite campus spot.

Stone Ruins

Also on the west end of the lake are found the "Roman Ruins." Even Caesar himself would be proud of them. Actually, these stone pillars, now lying on their sides, were once part of an enormous grape arbor in the estate.

Marian has many interesting and beautiful spots, only waiting to be discovered by the straying foot, the roving eye, and the aesthetic mind.

Big Sister Proud

Pre-law is the choice of Jerry Zore, brother of Nancy Zore, senior English major. When asked how she reacted when Jerry decided to come to Marian, she proudly replied: "I kinda like him. I'm glad he's here." They are from Indianapolis.

Ann and Martha Ginther both attended St. Agnes Academy here in the city. Says Martha, "Ann seemed to enjoy her past three years at Marian so much. I've only been here a month, and I love it too. I hope I profit from my education here as much as my sister has." Martha plans to major in home ec, and Ann in a senior elementary education major.

From Spencer, Ind.

Freshman Jim McCann plans to major in Spanish, but at present he is "majoring in Mixed Lounge." Jim finds it convenient having an older sister in school with him. It makes it easier and faster to make friends and get acquainted with the campus in general.

His "big sister," Sheila, a biology major, encouraged him to come to Marian primarily for the advantages of a Catholic education. Both are graduates of Spencer High, where there is no Catholic school.

Sister Relays Info

St. Paul, Indiana is the hometown of Gene and Carol Hungate. Gene, a senior majoring in mathematics, teasingly says, "I like the idea of having my sister here, but she knows too much about me, and even tells it sometimes just to play a joke on me." Information-bureau-Carol is a home economics major.

Library Acquires 150 Volume Set

The library is currently receiving a series, The Twentieth Century Encyclopedia of Catholicism, edited by the French Catholic author, Henri Daniel Rops. This set of 150 volumes covers every aspect of Catholic faith and thought.

Individual volumes are being published at the rate of two a month, each including bibliographies and scholarly annotations. The series is divided into fifteen sub-series on such general topics as belief, faith, the nature of man, and the Bible.

Books are placed in the library browsing room where students may read at their leisure, or may check volumes out for a two-week period.

Student Teachers Enjoy Campus, Learn Outdoor Life Environment

by Dee Metzner

"Outdoor Education" was the theme of the Oct. 10-12 trip to Brown County State Park made by Marian seniors majoring in education. Anita Dreiling, Nancy Heiskell, Rose Ann Eaton, Mary E. Carter, and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Davis accompanied a group of 6th grade boys and girls from St. Therese and St. Philip Schools. Biology major, Mary Catherine Wetzel, also participated.

'59 Graduates . . .

Delores Seaths to its staff.

Med Tech, Grad Work

Rose Marie Kuhn and Sally Marshall are medical technologists at St. Vincent's Hospital and Karen Cunningham, also a medical technologist, is employed at the Indiana University Medical Center.

Thirteen graduates are continuing their formal education. Rose Chan and Ruth Ramsdell are attending Fordham University; Emilie Clevenger and John Hanley, the University of Florida; Dick Delaney, Harvard; Louise Diver, Catholic University of America; Sylvia Johnson, University of Illinois; George Waning, Butler University; and Jim O'Donnell, Indiana University's Graduate School of Social Work.

While undertaking graduate study at John Carroll University, Miriam Gannon is also teaching there. Carole Kerske is working for Catholic Charities in Detroit and attends graduate school at Wayne University. Barb Kuhn is a student at Indiana University's Graduate School of Social Work and is employed by Catholic Charities in Indianapolis. Malcolm Lewis is enrolled in dental school at Indiana University.

(To be concluded)

Club Corner

SAM

The campus business club known as the Society for the Advancement of Management has tentatively scheduled trips to the following plants: Inland Container Corporation, Western Electric, Cummins Diesel Corporation, and Eli Lilly and Company. Any interested business student should contact either Tom Ensch, president; Jim Ashcraft, vice-president; or Bill Brady, secretary-treasurer, to arrange for membership necessary to make these trips.

Latin-German Klub

Sale of Christmas cards by club members was decided at the meeting of Oct. 18. Social features of the meeting were a songfest and a Latin-German bingo game, with candy bars for prizes.

A movie will be presented at the November meeting.

Bill Heede, sophomore, is club president.

ACS-SA

"Life in Other Worlds" will be the topic of Mr. Robert Kryter at the American Chemical Society, Student Affiliates' meeting Nov. 15. Mr. Kryter, a consulting engineer by profession, has a distinguished record for achievements in science.

This year's series of guest lectures, open to all who are interested, was begun Oct. 18, by Dr. William Seger, research chemist with Reilly Tar and Chemical Company.

Mellotones

Mellotones entertained the local unit of the National Council of Catholic Women at the Community Center, Oct. 22.

The student teachers participated in science and nature camping projects to gain experience in helping children to apply what they have learned.

Outdoors Interest

The "Outdoor Education" movement in local Catholic schools was begun by Mr. J. Earl Owen to stimulate interest in science, nature, health, teamwork, and citizenship. To obtain these goals, Mr. Owen, has planned camping trips at Rancho Framasa, the CYO camp.

Curiosity of the children plays an important role in outdoor knowledge. The sixth, seventh, and eighth grades have been chosen, since curiosity is at a very high level at this time.

National Environment

While the pupils benefit from this program, the student teachers are also helped. In the environment of nature, they obtain a deeper understanding of the problems of the children.

A field trip, in which the juniors in education may participate, is scheduled for Oct. 22-25.

News Briefs

Anti-freeze sale, Oct. 19-Nov. 2, is being sponsored by the senior class.

Father Charles Frazee, of the history department, will direct the Regional Day of Recollection for the Christian Family Movement unit of Indianapolis Oct. 25. He will speak to Ball State Newman Club on "Evolution" Nov. 4.

Sister Clarence Marie, librarian, will review Madame de Lafayette by Constance Wright for the Seton Literary Club of North Vernon, Ind., Oct. 26.

Msgr. John J. Doyle, philosophy department head, will present a paper, "The Relations Between the Empirical and the Philosophical Study of Man" at the annual meeting of the Indiana Academy of Science, Butler University, Oct. 30. Other faculty members will attend.

The Legion of Mary will conduct an Information Day on campus for all interested non-Catholics Nov. 8.

The St. Thomas Discussion Club, a group of Indianapolis men and women under the direction of Jesuits from West Baden Seminary, will begin this year's bi-weekly meetings Oct. 28.

Indiana Conference on Higher Education meeting at McCormick's Creek State Park will be attended by Msgr. Francis J. Reine, president, Nov. 12-13; Indiana Teacher Education Workshop at Turkey Run State Park, by Sister Mary Olivia, dean, and Sister Mary Giles, director of teacher education, Nov. 8-10; Indiana Philosophical Association at Valparaiso University, by Monsignor Doyle and Father Albert Ajamie, of the department Nov. 7. National and state business officers meetings were attended by Sister Mary Esther and a registrars meeting by Sister Mary Rachel in October.

Mr. William Thompson, head of the business department, will journey to Chicago for the American College of Life Underwriters Management Conference Nov. 2-3.

Typical Veterans Differ in Outlook—Join Vets' Club?

by Nan Heiskell

SPC3 Hill, otherwise known to us as Juanita Hill, relates her Army background with enthusiasm.

Juanita, originally from Chattanooga, Tennessee, was graduated from Crispus Attucks in 1953. In October of that same year she joined the U.S. Army and took her training at Ft. Lee, Virginia. After basic training she was transferred to Ft. Sam Houston, Tex., where she enrolled in classes for medical training.

J. Hill

Her training completed, she went to Wm. Beaumont Hospital Reservation in El Paso, Tex., where she dealt mainly in the obstetrics field.

Explaining why she joined the Women's Army Corporation, Juanita said "I had planned on becoming a nurse with the financial aid offered by the G.I. Bill, but after seeing so much disease and suffering I'm afraid my heart wasn't in it."

A sociology major and a psychology minor, Juanita hopes to do something in the field of social work after graduation in 1961.

Her interests include reading and movies, and plays at Avondale.

About attendance at vet meetings Juanita added, "I went to one meeting but never again." But then, one can't blame her for not wanting to be the only girl there.

The head of this famous organization known as the Vet's Club is a 6-foot senior who bears the brunt of the actions of these men.

Jim Jenks, an English major and a history minor, plans to teach in the secondary schools after graduation. He was married Aug. 8, to Carol Welsh ('58).

Jim was stationed in Germany where he was with the Army infantry for two years.

J. Jenks

About Army benefits he commented: "Through the Army I saw many states I probably wouldn't have seen otherwise. It broadened my interests by necessity and it gave me financial aid for a college education through the G.I. Bill." He added, "It's tough that this Bill went out."

Besides being president of the Vet's Club, Jim is editor of the Floretti.

His off-campus activities include coaching baseball and basketball at Holy Trinity.

"Last year," stated Jim, "Carol and I co-ordinated a play for Holy Trinity C.Y.O."

As far as athletics here on campus go, Jim says, "I play at them."

Homecoming Committee Meets Tuesday Night

Homecoming committee is scheduled to meet Tuesday, Oct. 27, in the Reading Room, 7:30 p.m. Committees will be set up, and plans for the weekend of Jan. 31, 1960 will be discussed.

Lettermen to Crown Queen Tonight

Knight Time

by Dick Simko

After two seasons of intensive building and planning, Walt Fields has the pleasure of directing basketball practice sessions with what is considered to be a college-size squad. The Marian Knights, losing only center George Waning from last year's team, is deep in experience, shooting, and personnel depth. With intensive drilling on speed, passing and defense, Coach Fields hopes to round the varsity into a winning combination.

The outstanding player in practice thus far has been boundin' Bill Swatts. Moving into the center position from his old forward post, Bill has displayed a variety of fakes, shots, passes, and moves that are a sight to behold. Although limited for room in the cramped confines of the keyhole, Swatts moves with the grace and alacrity of a Bob Cousy. His tremendous rebounding should more than compensate for the loss of Waning.

At the forward spots, there is a tight battle for starting honors being waged. Jim Schott and Bob Ayres have the edge in height, but the shooting and rebounding of Jerry Williams and Co-captain Pat Cunningham make it a wide-open race. Newcomer Jim Stokesberry also figures to see plenty of action this season on the basis of a deadly jump shot.

At the guard positions, Coach Fields is blessed with an abundance of top-notch ball players. Co-captain Bill Murphy is back for his fourth season as a Knight. Bill has a shot that can only be called uncanny, defying any description other than that it goes in the hoop. Rudy Jansen is an excellent defenseman and a fine outside shooter. Dave Field possesses the speed and driving ability which marks a good guard.

Freshman Joe Kleeman, from Tell City, has already won the praise of Coach Fields for his excellent ball-handling and hawking of the ball. With an outstanding group of freshmen to push the older boys, and keen competition for each starting slot, the 1959-60 version of the Marian Knights appears to be one which will bring to the college a winning record.

With this almost unexpected acquisition in depth, Coach Fields will be able to substitute freely at any position without weakening the team. The team, as a whole, has suddenly shown an amazing new awareness of the system which Walt Fields has brought with him from Tony Hinkle.

The individual players are using their own initiative to operate inside the pattern without upsetting the basic design. Realization of their own strengths and weaknesses and anticipation of moves on the part of teammates has added up to a smoother ball-handling and more efficient team.

The season opens with the City of Richmond Tourney Nov. 23 and 24, so set those dates aside and plan to be there for the opener of the hoop season. You can be assured that you will see a speedy, fighting, scrappy, and victorious ball club.

After you have finished studying history for the evening, be sure to grab two dollars and a suit and a girl and come out to the M-Club Semi-formal dance tonight. We can assure you of an enjoyable evening, dancing to the music of the Squires.

Bears, Rams Lead Intramural League; Vie for First Spot

After four weeks of play in the intramural football league, two teams stand out above all the others. The Bears and the Rams have both rolled unchecked to 3-0 records.

The Rams won a big game when they upended the previously undefeated Giants, 19-6, after Packy Cunningham's spectacular 30-yard dash had thrilled an overflow crowd of twelve, giving the Giants a 6-6 half time tie. The running and passing of Tom Kelly sparked the Rams to a last-ditch rally and they emerged from the game with their record unblemished.

The big win for the Bears was the 19-0 victory over the Cards. Dan Kallmyer, Bob Ayres, and Tom Mehaffey led the Bear surge past the running threat of Larry Sweeney and impressive line play of Big and Mike Sifferlen.

Mike Corcoran continues to lead the scoring parade with 24 points garnered in the first two games for the Rams. Close behind are Dave Zeyen and Mike Foster of the Packers, and Jerry Williams and Mike O'Connor of the Giants.

The final game of the season will probably decide the championship when the Rams play the front-running Bears.

Radiology Session Inaugurates Series

To teach students the operation of technical materials in case of atomic warfare, and the care of radioactive-fallout victims is the target of the Radiological Instruments Operators' Course.

Recently inaugurated by the American Red Cross at Marian, instruction classes meet for two-hour sessions once a week for five weeks. At present, students have mastered operation of both a geiger counter and dosimeter — instruments utilized to detect quantities of radiation.

QUEEN CANDIDATES (seated): Shirley Bill, Dodie Urban; Katie Armington, Sharon Sweeney, and Karen Forzst.

Lucky Candidate Reigns at Dance, M-Club Functions

Reigning over tonight's semi-formal dance sponsored by the M-Club will be one of five candidates: freshman, Katie Armington; sophomore, Sharon Sweeney; juniors, Shirley Bill, Karen Forszt, and Dodie Urban. Jim Schott, M-Club president, will crown the queen and present her with roses and her tiara. Throughout the year, she will be guest of honor at all M-Club functions.

The first dance ever to be sponsored by an all-male group, its purpose is not only to raise money for athletic programs but also to make students more aware of the athletic organization and activities.

General chairman for the dance is Mike Sifferlen assisted by Bill Sherman, Mike Budenz, Louis Firsich, and Jerry Williams. Decorations for the nightclub atmosphere are being handled by Phil Allen. The event was publicized through posters drawn by Marie Krebs.

Music for the 8:30-11:30 affair in the Knight Club will be provided by the Squires. Tickets, priced at $2 per couple, can be obtained from Jim Schott, Mike Sifferlen, Dick Simko, Phil Allen, or in the Perc.

WARA Announces Volleyball Season

Women's volleyball intramurals are played every Tuesday and Thursday evening, 7 p.m. in the gym.

WARA also discloses plans for a social event after the Christmas holidays. President Sheila McCann said announcement will be formally made when plans are completed for the affair.

Pep Club Organizes, Proposes Ruling Body, Rallies, Transportation

Preliminary meetings are underway in anticipation of a Pep Club for the basketball season.

Junior Beverly Eckstein, Student Board vice-president, is organizing plans for a governing body of 11 to head the group. They will be: a man and a woman student elected by each class, and representatives from WARA, M-Club, and the cheerleaders.

"The purpose of this organization will be to promote school spirit and enthusiasm through athletic events and social functions," said Bev. "Mr. Fields and Mrs. Clarke will serve in an advisory capacity."

Tentative objectives include provision of transportation to local and out-of-town games, and sponsorship of events in the Knight Club afterward.

Formation of a cheering block and organization of pep rallies are planned, and posters announcing all athletic events will be distributed. The group will also work with the homecoming committee.

It is hoped that all students will join in the efforts. Further details may be obtained from Bev.

Mr. Allen Donates Stereophonic Player

Most recent eye-catching addition to campus facilities is the hand-rolled mahogany stereophonic radio and record combination obtained through the instrumentality of senior Phil Allen. Donated by his father, Mr. Howard Allen, Jr., formerly with Magnavox, Inc., the floor console is complete with speakers and diamond stylus.

Used in music appreciation classes, the set is available to nearly 100 students, and, as the record collection increases, students will be able to derive even more pleasure from the gift.
