JUDICIAL PANEL - IN QUESTION

A committee is being formed to scrutinize the Marian College Judicial System, in hopes that it can be revised to the satisfaction of all those involved and to better serve its purpose.

In the second semester of last year, the judicial panel was forced to make decisions which were not always popular with the majority of the population of the college.

Bill Federspiel, the vice-president of the Student Board, is the student in charge of organizing the committee. He feels this is a good chance to revamp the system and perhaps amend any hard feelings that may exist between students and the administration. Federspiel served one year on the Judicial Panel and knows well the pressures and responsibilities that are entailed in the job.

Dr. Drew Appleby of Marian's psychology department feels there is a need to look carefully at the policies, procedures, and the judicial system as a whole. He thinks there are too many people involved in the decision-making process and that there might be too much due process integrated into the system.

Dr. Appleby also pointed out some discrepancies in the two judicial manuals, the Code of Student Rights and Responsibilities and the new Judicial Handbook, which were handed out to students. In one of the manuals, the rules state that a student can attend his/her appeals hearing, while the other states that a student cannot attend the hearing.

Appleby added that the system, as a whole, "frustrates the Resident Assistants and students and could be made a lot simpler, more consistent and more constant."

Prior to the 1972-73 school year, the judicial system consisted of two people, the Dean of Student Services and the President of the College. The Dean heard the alleged disciplinary cases and then made the necessary decisions. If the student was unhappy with these decisions, he/she could appeal to the president.

In that same school year, the Conduct Appeals Board was established by the Faculty Council. This Board has put another step in the appeals process, between the Dean and the President. It's first full year of operation was the 1973-74 school year.

Dean William Woodman, who came to Marian in 1973, was dissatisfied with the system and proposed the creation of the Judicial Panel. He also helped to compose the current Code of Rights and Responsibilities. These two components were approved by both the College Council and the Student Affairs Committee. They were adopted in the spring of 1974 and went into effect the following year.

In February of 1975, the final component of the system, the Administration Action Policy, was put into effect. This policy includes the assessment of fines and work penalties for disciplinary offenses. The student doesn't have to accept these penalties and can instead opt for an appearance before the Judicial Panel, a fact which most students seem to be ignorant of, according to Dean Woodman.

The Carbon... an Editorial

Once upon a time, a very long time ago -- too long ago to be exact, there lived a small group of people who were dubbed "unique." Remember uniqueness, Kiddies? It is that which forces us to be ourselves and, heaven forbid, to think!!

By today's standards, this small group would be considered an oddity. I'm sure you know the kind. They read the newspaper and actually understand concepts such as militarism, left-wing activity, and even "Doonesbury."

As if that weren't enough, these radicals resorted to watching the news, not the local news, mind you -- they expanded their minds much farther. Oh, these adventurous souls were known even to watch the network news!

Well, as the story goes, these scoundrels bonded together and formed an "underground rag sheet," as it were. This little ditty became affectionately known as The Carbon, the granddaddy of that which you are now attempting to read.

Of course, as is the case with all great legends, there are conflicting stories that surround its very beginnings. Yet, somehow, the Carbon became a tradition.

Before long, the little paper grew to become Marian's only newspaper.

Of course, our heroes and heroines became official members of the Marian Hall of Fame, and are now among the few, the proud, the forgotten....

Sad as it may seem, like many traditions, the Carbon was cast aside. The plight of our little paper was not a happy one. How sad everyone was when they discovered their old friend had departed for the world of forgotten literary giants!

But alas and alack, there came through the fog of questionable journalism a group of people so incredibly different in everyway. These people formed a unique little group of their own.

One said, "Let there be diversity," and there was.

Another said, "Let there be meaning," and there was.

Finally, the third chimed in, "Let there be tradition," and there was!

With this, Marian College got back their long-lost Carbon.

Hopefully, the end of our little tale will find us all living happily ever after. However, realistically speaking, or writing as the case may be, there will undoubtedly be those of you who will miss the good ol' Knight Times.

It is not the intention of the Carbon staff to forget the tradition of our previous paper. Rather, we hope to include all facets of our beloved institution of higher education, even those people not unlike myself who have somehow managed to escape undue notoriety.

Our purpose, then, is not much different than that of our forefathers. We will strive to present the opinions and ideas of everyone.

However, we do plan to stress one specific problem that we have already encountered during the brief school year: A lack of communication on nearly every level of Marian College.

It is this, then, that we feel we can improve upon, and hopefully solve, in some small, yet meaningful way...

ONCE UPON A TIME AT MARIAN COLLEGE

This is a story about communication, or perhaps we should say the lack of it. I'm sure by now most of the upperclassmen and some of the new students realize there is a lack of communication between students and the administration.

A very good example of this has been brought to the attention of the Carbon staff: the recent write-up of five female Marian College students. The students were caught by a Marian College security guard while leaving Doyle Hall after visitation hours.

It was not clear to the students or the Carbon staff what right the guard had in stopping these students; nor was the amount of his involvement in the write-up totally understood.

In talking to members of the administration and staff, we found that the security guards are allowed to enforce the Student Code Book of Rights and Responsibilities. (In case you don't know what that is, it's the little book handed out at the beginning of the school year, which every Marian student should have time to read, but somehow never can find the time.)

When the students were interviewed by the Carbon, they still had not learned the outcome of the decision made by the Dean and the R.D.s. (The interview was held eight days after the incident occurred.)

When the R.D. was questioned on the policy of write-ups, we were informed the decision had been made. Unfortunately, the R.D. had not had time to inform the students of the decision.

We on the Carbon staff think there is a certain amount of inconsistency in this procedure when compared with the appeals procedure.

As stated in the Residence Life Guide Book: If a student wishes to appeal their write-up before the Judicial Panel, the student must present the appeal within three days of receiving notification. We, the staff, feel that in both cases, students should be better informed.

The Carbon staff asks the administration to inform the student body of the rights of security guards pertaining to student conduct. We also ask the administration to review the current policy dealing with write-ups and definite guidelines concerning the amount of time allowed to inform the students of the consequences of their actions.

LUNCH AND LEARN program is again underway at Marian College. Sponsored by Campus Ministries and the Non - Western Studies Committee, the program is designed to bring speakers to present and discuss a variety of current topics and issues in an informal luncheon setting for students, faculty and guests.

David S. Mason, assistant professor in the Political Science Dept. of Butler Univ. was the speaker for this semester's first Lunch and Learn, held Sept. 6, in the West - Dining Room of the Marian College cafeteria.

"The Day Indianapolis Died," a fictional account of a nuclear holocaust, was the subject of Mason's talk. He chose Indianapolis because it is one of 15 American cities designated by the federal government to be a primary target in the event of nuclear war.

The presence of Fort Benjamin Harrison, Army Finance Center, Detroit Diesel Allison, and Naval Avionics in Indianapolis, places Indianapolis high on the target list.

The lecture was based on an article published by Mason and Gary Kyzr-Sheely, a professor at Franklin College, in the April 1982, issue of Indianapolis Monthly magazine.

Exercise Your WRITE

"EXERCISE YOUR WRITE"

What did you say? You've been written up for what?! There was a -- (yuk) in your salad? Your group activity has turned into a one man show. Well, believe it or not, we've heard it all before, in the halls, at dinner, or even, God forbid, during class.

Well, the Carbon believes that as a student publication we have an obligation to you. So, Marian College this "little" space has been dedicated to you, for better or for worse, to tell us and anyone else who cares, what's on your mind.

History majors and all other literates: Remember the Bill of Rights? Yes 1776 and all that. You have rights, one of them being the Freedom of Speech. Combine that with Freedom of the Press and you have "exercised your write."

We believe, honestly, yes we do, that most people think about a lot of things besides classes, grades, drinking, and the opposite. We also believe that most people here at Marian can read and write. So please, don't disappoint us!! Put your comments, editorials or what ever in the space, or forever hold your peace.

LET ME ENTERTAIN YOU...

This year's "COMING ATTRACTIONS" column will try to cover all aspects of the arts. If you have any questions concerning specific ticket information, please feel free to contact me.

General Cinema tickets are available in the Student Board room and sell for $2.75. They can be used at Lafayette Square Theatres.

If you know of any concerts, exhibits, or shows that you would like looked into, jot it down and slip it under the Carbon office door.

NEW FACULTY

Marian College, meet the new faculty and staff of 1983-84.

This year we have 26 new members of the faculty and staff in several different areas. Included are Joseph Ryan, Jim McKean and Jacquelyn Felter.

Joseph Ryan, the new Business Manager and Controller, is from New York. A graduate of Fordham and Central Michigan Univ. Ryan is a retired colonel in the United States Army.

When asked what he liked about Marian Ryan replied, "its people."

Jim McKean, the Director of Public Information, grew up in Terre Haute. He graduated from Indiana Univ. where he earned a double degree in English and Religious Studies. McKean said the size of the school and the commitment of the liberal arts education is what appealed to him about Marian.

New Carbon co-advisor, Jacquelyn Felter is also a member of the English Dept. Mrs. Felter, a 1978 graduate of Marian with a degree in English, is the Promotion Coordinator for The Indianapolis News. "The size and small teacher to student ratio is what interested me about Marian," said Mrs. Felter.

From the ATHLETIC DIRECTOR

The new Physical Education Center is now in operation and is a very "active" building on campus.

We -- the athletic staff - appreciate the way you -- the students and staff -- are using the Center. Everyone seems to be taking great pride in the Center and not abusing the excellent equipment that has been provided for you.

For a school the size of Marian, this Center is as fine a facility as can be found in this state, with the possible exception of two other institutions.

We believe that as long as you, the students and staff, continue to take pride in the facility and do not abuse it, the Center will continue to be a facility that Marian College can be proud of for many years to come.

A copy of the Rules and Regulations, and hours of operation can be obtained from the Athletic office. Please be aware of the type of shoes you wear on all the wood floors.

I would like to give a special Thank You to the administration and the Board of Trustees for the long hours and hard work that went into making this Center a reality.

The Fall Sports Program is underway at Marian College, with students participating in volleyball, golf, baseball and cheerleading.

Volleyball

The women's volleyball team started their season this week under second - year coach Audrey Satterblom. The team lost their first game to Franklin College on September 13.

Parent's night, sponsored by MCAHPER, is tonight in the new Physical Education Center. The women will take on Indiana Central and Oakland City beginning at 6:00 p.m.

Major competitors this season will be Franklin, Oakland City, Indiana Central and Butler.

Coach Satterblom said, "I expect that we should be as good or better than last year due to depth and power." The team has nine returning letter winners and at times, a front row over six feet tall.

This year, along with a new gym, the women received new gold warm - ups and blue practice jerseys.

GOLF

The golf team has a new look this year. Mike LaFrance, a golf pro at Fort Benjamin Harrison, is the golf coach.

The Butler Invitational was the first golf match and the team took a respectable ninth place finish. The team then placed fifteenth in the Indiana Central Invitational.

One of the big tournaments this season will be the Indiana Collegiate Championship. Teams participating include Notre Dame, Purdue, Indiana State, Butler, and Franklin.

The team is required to practice daily at Fort Benjamin Harrison. With the improvement from last year and many talented freshmen, this year should be a building season for the future.

BASEBALL

The baseball team is starting its fall tryouts under the direction of Coach Lynn Morrell. Thirty - two men are vying for a place on the roster.

Looking ahead to the spring baseball season, Coach Morrell said, "Maintenance has promised to put up new bleachers behind the backstop."

The team will play scrimmage games against other colleges starting September 15.

CHEERLEADING

Cheerleading tryouts are scheduled for Tuesday, September 20. Results will be included in the next issue of the Carbon.

SOCIAL PLANNING

Would you relish the idea of being on the social planning committee for the 1983-84 year? If so, there will be a meeting on Tuesday, Sept. 20 at 2:30 in the Student Board room. If anyone can not make it, but would enjoy being on the committee, call Kim at ext. 525. All help will be appreciated.

HOMECOMING '83

The Booster club needs your help in the selection of themes for Homecoming week. We need:

- 1) a theme for the Homecoming dance,
- 2) a Homecoming theme song, and,
- 3) ideas for five dress-up days.

Any student submitting the winning ideas for the above three items will receive two free tickets to the dance! Please return all ideas to Sally Lorenz or Laura Burkhardt by Sept. 23. Help make Homecoming '83 the best ever!

GOOD LUCK!!!
