

Twelve Seniors Qualify for 1959 'Who's Who' Honors

Committee Nominates Candidates For Top Scholarship, Activities

A joint committee of faculty and juniors on the Student Board has chosen 12 seniors for Who's Who honors. Selected on the basis of outstanding scholastic achievement and leadership in activities they will be cited in the 1959 edition of Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges.

Cecilian Musicale Features Tribute To Grand Opera

In commemoration of the centenary of opera composer Giacomo Puccini's birth, the Marian College unit of the archdiocesan student chapter, National Catholic Music Educators Musicale, will present its Cecilian Musicale, Nov. 23 at 8:15 p.m. in the college auditorium.

Melotones, choral group, and soloists Martha Hess, Kay Urbanic, and Bernard Dever will contribute operatic selections from Puccini's La Boheme and Madame Butterfly.

Climaxing the evening, the Love Duet and the Death Scene from the latter will be reproduced in action to the accompaniment of recordings by famous singers.

Leads in the dramatic enactment will be played by Marguerite Brandy, Robert Kistner, and 8-year-old Jean Ann Cooper.

Under the direction of Mary Catherine Wetzel, unit vice-president, a repertoire of folk dances will be demonstrated, while Vickie Weston, freshman, will perform semi-classical ballet.

Instrumental numbers will include ensemble selections, a trumpet solo by Louis Sifferlen, and piano solos by Delores Seaths, Mary Beth Hughes, Joan Simko, and Rebecca Yarber.

Others in the program are: Carole Kerske, Karen Forzt, and Susanne Farny, voice; Sonja Wuen-sch, Kathleen Clairry, Nancy Jo Green, Carolyn Nichols, Brenda Hopper, and Patricia Glenney, piano; Margaret Cord, Mary Alice Chance and Judith Harritt, ensemble; Mary Ehringer, Shirley Martin and Judy Parrish, dancing. The public is invited.

RICHARD BECK, Indianapolis, an English major is on the education program. Organizer of the Veterans Club and its president two years, he was also freshman class president. He has participated in NCMEA programs and Sodality activities.

Emilie Clevenger, Brookville, Ind., winner of the George Rieveschl Award in chemistry, is regional chairman of American Chemical Society Student Affiliates, co-editor of The Carbon, and president of CSMC. She is also in WARA, Bel Canto, Players, and Third Order of St. Francis. Emilie plans graduate study in chemical research.

CLASS TREASURER during junior and sophomore years, Richard Delaney, Indianapolis, has also been Veterans Club religious chairman and member of the Society for the Advancement of Management, Current Events, and Latin-German clubs. College teaching, following a master's degree in business administration, his major, is his professional goal.

Fairview Park, Ohio, presents Miriam Gannon, English major, also on the secondary education program. Co-editor of the Marian and assistant editor of the Fioretti, she has been Board and sophomore class secretary, and a member of the Young Christian Students, Third Order, and World Affairs organizations.

STUDENT BOARD PRESIDENT Judy Hirn, Batesville, Ind., is also an English major in secondary education. Sodality prefect, religious representative on the Board, and volunteer worker at the Maria Center for underprivileged children are among her titles to recognition. Judy was also editor of the Fioretti and jun-

Archbishop Officiates at Patronal Observance Dec. 12; Feast Marks Silver Anniversary of Bishop Chartrand

Marian's patronal feastday, the Immaculate Conception, Dec. 8, will be marked this year by the silver anniversary of the death of Bishop Chartrand, for whom the college chapel is the only named memorial in the archdiocese.

Archbishop Paul C. Schulte will celebrate the patronal feast with Thanksgiving recess begins at noon, Nov. 26, and terminates Dec. 1.

Famed German Author To Speak at Marian, Conduct Local Forum

Gerhart H. Seger, ex-German author and newspaper correspondent, will be guest of Marian, Friday, Dec. 5.

Mr. Seger, who was a member of the German Reichstag (national legislature) from 1930-1933, spent almost a year in Nazi prisons. Escaping into Czechoslovakia, he came to the United States in 1934, and became a citizen in 1942.

Since then he has written several books about Germany and his experiences, and has lectured throughout the United States and Canada.

A Weekend Institute on Germany Today, sponsored by Indiana University Extension and Indianapolis Council on World Affairs, will be conducted by Mr. Seger at the Indiana World War Memorial, beginning Friday, Dec. 12. Main speaker will be the German ambassador to the United States.

Marian, Butler University and Indiana Central College are working in cooperation with the sponsors to conduct the event.

Msgr. Francis Reine, college president, will be moderator of a cultural panel at the Institute, to be conducted Saturday, Dec. 13 at the I.U. Medical Center.

Exact times of Mr. Seger's Dec. 5 lectures for students will be posted at a later date.

a low Mass, attended by the student body, Friday, Dec. 12. No classes are scheduled on that day.

Traditional Observance

Shared by the Archbishop since 1950, the patronal observance has traditionally been held on the eve of the feast, which falls on a Sunday this year.

A requiem Mass for Bishop Chartrand is tentatively scheduled during the same week, following the anniversary.

Bishop Chatrand was consecrated in 1910 and was head of the See of Indianapolis from Sept. 7, 1918 to his death on Dec. 8, 1933.

Promoted Communion

He was widely known as the "Bishop of the Blessed Sacrament" because of his work in promoting more frequent Holy Communion and devotions to the Blessed Sacrament.

He was also noted for his contributions to education.

Boosters Re-stage Tamburitzans; Announce Notable Club Program

Making a popular return appearance, the Tamburitzans of Duquesne University, Pittsburgh, will bring the color and gaiety of Slavic folk music to the college auditorium, Dec. 6.

The Tamburitzans, whose name is derived from an ancient Balkan string instrument, the "tamburiza", will portray the customs, music, and folk dancing of Eastern European countries, including Hungary, Bulgaria, Russia and the Yugoslavian nations.

Costumes Underscore Authenticity

The troupe members, all of Slavic descent, wear authentic native costumes.

This program, sponsored by the Parents and Friends Organization, is presented over the entire United States. The 24 dancers, all senior honor students, make their way through college with these performances.

Curtain time is 8:15 p.m. Tickets are on sale at $1.50 for adults and $1.00 for students, in the college bookstore.

Speakers Lined Up

Parents and Friends Organization has also announced the club's program for the year.

Planned for the Nov. 25 meeting is a presentation of classical and barber shop music by the "Henn House Octet Plus One", composed of member Mr. Carl Henn and sons.

Speakers scheduled for future meetings are Dr. Paul F. Muller, leading Indianapolis obstetrician, on "The Church and Medical Practices", and Father Thomas Commons, Society of Divine Word missionary, on leave after nine years in a New Guinea jungle.

Mr. Elmer Krueger, Indianapolis business man and traveler, will present films to the group, after a two month trip around the world early next year.

Fashion Magazine Sponsors Contest

Mademoiselle, leading national fashion magazine, recently announced its first College Newspaper and Magazine Contest.

A cash prize of $100 will be awarded by the magazine for the best student-written piece to appear in a college newspaper during 1958. The author and the newspaper each will receive $50. Entries may include editorials, columns, feature stories or "letters to the editor."

To be eligible, student entries must have been published in the Phoenix during 1958. New entries may be submitted in tear sheet form to the editor of this newspaper until Dec. 9. Mademoiselle deadline is Jan. 1, 1959. Winners will be announced Apr. 1, 1959.

Leader Type No Cause for Concern

National periodicals have had a heyday recently, speculating as to whether the new pope would be a "political," "spiritual," or "pastoral" leader.

The consensus reached with the election of Pope John XXIII was that we now have a "pastoral" pope.

Actually, the Holy Father cannot be a good pastoral leader without being a good political leader.

Conditions in the world, whether they be social, economic, or political, vastly affect the spiritual welfare of those of our Faith. How very impractical would be a leader who concerned himself with the spiritual problems of those in his care, to the exclusion of the very conditions which caused those problems.

Then, again, the very Catholicity of the Church rules out a situation in which the Holy Father withdraws from participation in worldly happenings. Because he is the catholic head, he must be constantly exerting all the moral influence possible, on all aspects of life.

The question remains, will Pope John XXIII be a political and pastoral pope?

The Holy Father's first public message was significantly directed to heads of states in a plea for peace. Perhaps this is an indication he does not intend to reduce the respect in political circles which his predecessors have gained for the papal position.

Cafeteria Commandos

All is in readiness; the "armed camp" waits unflinchingly, positions assumed; hushed calm shrouds the determination, leaden within the breast of each combatant. Only the signal to arms needs be sounded.

Suddenly the shrill sound to battle is pealed and the rush is on. Shuffle of feet and gulps for breath precede the triumphant cry, "Here's my place in line!"

Ridiculous exaggeration, you say. Reality in the raw, we say. "Widitis" of the line is a ravenous disease, afflicting our college cafeteria.

When you as an individual append yourself to the width rather than the length of the dinner line, you may and usually do seriously inconvenience those who haven't the "brash" or thoughtlessness to rush to the head of the line. Those who have a 12:30 class or noon meeting find it next to impossible to get out of the cafeteria on time without literally gulping their food.

Give it up, "line campers." Retreat!

Order of the Day: Show Gratitude

Next Thursday is Thanksgiving Day.

Rather than thinking in terms of free days and homework, take a few minutes to review the actual meaning of the occasion—then do something about it.

It need not require too many seconds of your time to pause awhile and consider the good things that happened to you and yours during the past year. Recall the unforgettable events all the way down to those very minute incidents that you now take for granted.

Have you ever thought of the unwanted and unloved peoples of the world who are cold, hungry and in slavery? Then thank God that He permits you to eat, sleep and dress in comfort; that He allows you to love and be loved; that He sees fit for you to enjoy an education, luxuries and liberty.

Have you ever driven past scenes of accidents that left humans crippled,

The late Holy Father assigned Pope John to what has been described as "one of the most difficult assignments in Vatican history" — that of Apostolic Nuncio to France, in December, 1944.

Likewise, his appointment as official UNESCO observer suggests his capabilities and interest along these lines.

This hardly presents a picture of a man who, on becoming pope, would "concentrate on spiritual leadership and leave the political considerations to certain appointed cardinals."

Obviously, there is a great need for deeply spiritual persons with a grasp of the world's problems, in a position of influence. The past record of the new Pope John XXIII indicates that we again have such a man for our Holy Father.

Students Voice Concern Over Soviet Progress; Prefer U. S. Learning

The subject of American education vs. Russian education has been brought into sharp focus by the recent talk of Dr. Urban Fleege. Student reflection on the issue has resulted in a variety of conclusions, the majority in defense of American education. A conclusion generally admitted, though, is that "students in American schools should be made to study harder."

Below are student comments following the assembly:

Tony Stone, senior:
Dr. Fleege advocates education aimed toward the highly intelligent. That would leave out the majority of people, of average intelligence.

Judy Hirn, senior:
Dr. Fleege undoubtedly is correct in saying that we Americans are not using our potential. My question is, how can we see that the potential is made actual?

The Russians study longer and finish earlier. I think we learn as much — it just takes longer.

Don DeHart, senior:
I cannot help but think that while a competitive system is subtly enforced in the education program, this competition against the West is just as keen in every phase of Russian life — industry, agriculture, etc.

Jane Gordon, senior:
It seems more definite theology and philosophy taught in high school religion classes would help us against the Communist philosophy.

Carol Johnson, freshman:
Dr. Fleege's talk makes you want to get out and pull a little harder.

Letters . . .

In answer to a wish expressed by many readers in the recent poll taken by the Phoenix, a "letters-to-the-editors" column will appear beginning with this issue.

Because of space limitations, a maximum of two letters, chosen for their conciseness, clearness, and value to student readers will be published in each issue.

To the Editor

In my opinion, the rock 'n roll article appearing in the last issue of the Phoenix needs some clarification.

In the first place, rock 'n roll is not "dissonant" or "shocking." Granted, it is loud, but rock 'n roll in its pure form is basically the same two-beat jazz that people have been enjoying since the blues came out of New Orleans at the turn of the century. A prominent early 20th century music critic has phrased it in a most appropriate manner: 18th century music was music for the head; 19th century, music for the heart; 20th century, music for the feet.

The author says a high standard should be set in order to accept only the "first rate" but here again, who is to say what is first rate?

He also states that rock 'n roll is commercial music. This statement is absolute-

Point of View

Role of Comedian Attainable to Select Few; Talent and Timing Combine To Make Laughter

by Bob Moran

Inherent in each one of us is an urge to make people laugh. To some of us this urge is strong and its satisfaction is important. We may assume that this latter situation is present for one of two reasons, or both: 1) a demand for recognition and 2) an innate talent for comedy.

As regards the latter, we will distinguish between one who has a definite comic talent and one who thinks he has a definite comic talent. If he actually has the talent then his ability to make people laugh is almost unlimited. On the other hand, he who is the pseudo is a "real loser" and should either choose his comments with care or, frankly, "shut up."

Let's concentrate on the talented comic. How does he get his laughs? What goes on in that seemingly "wild" mind of his? We will consider three channels to the laugh. . . . But first, here's an important word from our sponsors. . . . Before we advance, the importance of timing should be realized.

Timing can be defined as making the funniest statement at the funniest exact second with the proper emphasis on the proper words. Again, this is an inborn quality and seems necessary for a quick wit.

Meanwhile, back at the first channel to the laugh. Ridiculousness places its importance on the impossible. Example: Three cars leave a parking lot while we are standing at the exit. The driver of the first car smiles and waves as he passes. The second car passes. The driver shouts a goodbye.

The third car passes, but has no driver. The comic is the driver. He has crouched down in the seat, making himself invisible. Here we have ridiculousness and

by Joe Hertz

"A plume of smoke emerged from the stovepipe atop the chapel at 5:07 p.m." (UPI)

Thus on October 27, 1958, history recorded the election of Cardinal Roncalli, the Patriarch of Venice, as head of the Roman Catholic Church. Moreover, it was a noteworthy day for the present generation, in view of this particular election being of a first time nature in their memory.

Pope John XXIII has a tremendous task ahead, for just as his predecessor came into reign during the dark and fearsome days of Nazism and an approaching world war, so does His Holiness assume leadership in the midst of a rapidly spreading Communist reign of deceitful diplomacy and terror.

He also acquires the unenviable and Herculean job of replacing internationally loved and respected "Pope of Peace." The eyes of the world are upon him: God-fearing and peace-loving nations fervently praying for success, and atheistic and war-bent nations coveting failure.

It is indeed a troubled and turbulent world that faces our newly-elected Pontiff, but by the grace of God, he will confirm the confidence of the Sacred College of Cardinals and fulfill the expectations of his people.

ly true. It is equally true of swing, most jazz, radio and T.V. music, Broadway productions, background music for movies, etc.

The author claims this is "noise." To him it might be, but to someone else, depending on background, mood, and intellect, rock 'n roll is definitely not noise.

The author has projected himself into this article and for such violent criticism, an objective view must be taken.

Frank Stites

surprise. Surprise? Yes, especially for the comic who, since he cannot see, drives into an oncoming car.

On to insult. Here is a field of comedy that must practice temperance. It is easy to hurt people when this method is used. Comical insult must be used for laughs and not for attack. Even so, there still must be caution so as not to offend. And since we are not sure what hurts whom, we make ourselves judge, and some of us are pretty poor judges. Example of this type of humor: "You're fat."

What goes on in the mind of a comic? At times the mind doesn't seem to have any use. Some lines appear to originate in the vocal chords. Others are carefully thought out to timing, taste and worth.

One final thought: Bear with the comic. Remember, all kinds of people make up the world. . . .

Freshman Takes Fancy to Biology; Jamaican Senior Chooses Dramatics

by Joni Yauch

Ronald John Francis Ignatius Roman Ealey, better known as "Ronnie," is Marian's freshman representative from Washington, D. C.

When asked why he traveled so far to go to college, he proudly claims, "I wanted to be more independent for one thing. I found Marian listed in a catalog and had heard about it from a Trinitarian brother."

Cats, Snakes

Not quite sure about his major, Ronnie is seriously thinking about going into biology.

"Animals fascinate me," he grinned as he set about dissecting a cat for anatomy class. "I take care of Sister Adelaide's snakes for her."

But animals are not his only interest. "I like sports," Ron assures, "especially track. I'm hoping Marian will have it soon."

In comparing Indianapolis to Washington, Ronnie is naturally a little prejudiced, saying that Washington is a "beautiful city."

Climates, Accents

Aside from the cooler climate here, he notices one difference, which is in politics. Capitol city people, he believes, are more politically-minded.

"Another thing is that I can hardly understand the people in Indiana," said Ronnie, perplexed. "They all have accents!" Then he added thoughtfully, "Or could it be me?"

One person on campus with a charming British accent is Marguerite Brandy. Jamaica, British West Indies is the faraway home of this senior.

How does one from Jamaica decide to come to Marian?

"That's not really too difficult," begins Marguerite in her best British. "I wanted to continue to study but could not do so without a scholarship." Marian was the first institution of higher learning which offered sufficient financial assistance. "So that solved my college problem," she concluded.

Senior in Three Years

It is interesting to note that Marguerite became a senior in three years. She explains that her school system is a little different from the American in that students are graded according to merit, and the age of high school graduation may vary as much as seven years.

"You may frown on the length of our school year," laughed Marguerite. "We begin in January and finish in December."

Jamaica and America

About Americans, Marguerite has decided, "People are the same the world over; only circumstances are different."

Always interested in dramatics, Marguerite is majoring in English, minoring in speech. Her ambition is to "combine teaching English and dramatics," for as she confesses, "I'm such a ham at heart."

Art Dept. Initiates Hand Operated Press, Gift of Fr. McShane

by Ann Marie Heggi

"It's nice for art work as you can vary pressure, and work at your own speed," says Sister M. Dolorita, of Marian's newly-acquired printing press.

The hand-operated machine is a legacy of the late Father John F. McShane, former pastor of St. Bridget Church, Indianapolis, and chaplain to the Little Sisters of the Poor. Father had printed prayerbooks, holy cards and pamphlets during his long career.

However, the press is not limited to this type of work alone, as various kinds of work can be done: sophomore Paul Page, an art student, is making his own Christmas cards, with the verse in Old English-style letters.

"Handbills, letterheads, and programs in Modern Type will be printed for the school as soon as the type is sorted," added Sister. This is quite an assignment, as there are 27 cases to be separated.

Advent Symposium, Bermuda Vacation Head NF Schedule

Notre Dame is host for the annual NFCCS Advent Symposium Dec. 8. Aims of the NF group are to stimulate inter-collegiate relationships and aid students in understanding current issues.

Planning the Marian delegation, which is open to all students, are Miss Mary Haugh, senior delegate Barbara Libs, and Billie Burke, junior delegate.

Also on the agenda of NF programs is an Easter Week-Tour of Bermuda for Catholic college students, extending from Mar. 30 to Apr. 5. The all-inclusive price of $215 will feature reservations at the Princess Hotel, and an opportunity to see the island by bicycle or cruiser.

Interested students may contact senior, Emilie Clevenger.

The Oct. 25 NF workshop at St. Francis College, Fort Wayne, was attended by a delegation of Miss Haugh and 10 students.

Danforth Foundation Creates Fellowship

Men planning to become college teachers are eligible for a fellowship from the Danforth Foundation, St. Louis, Mo.

Msgr. John J. Doyle, philosophy department head, has been named liaison officer to nominate two or three candidates among seniors and recent graduates for the fellowship.

Students wishing further information may contact Msgr. Doyle.

Catholic Adults Attend Lectures

The fall series of Chartrand lectures, sponsored by the Office of the Superintendent of Catholic Schools, is in progress at Cathedral High School.

The program, lasting eight weeks, is for Catholic adults who wish more information about philosophical and theological topics.

Subjects and speakers for the present series include: Metaphysics, Fathers Charles Koster and Albert Ajamie; Psychological Forces in the Human Personality, Monsignor James Galvin; History of the Old Testament, Father Charles Frazee; and Mariology, Father James Doherty.

Father Paul Courtney is moderator of a panel on Current Social Problems covering such subjects as alcoholism and juvenile delinquency.

Educator Sees Inside Russia; Finds 'Crack in Kremlin' Myth

by Margaret Harmening

Marian College students experienced an abrupt awakening to the fact that the youth in the Soviet Union have surpassed the American youth in education.

In an address to the entire student body, Nov. 6, Dr. Urban H. Fleege, chairman of the department of education at DePaul University in Chicago, reported that during his recent visit to the Soviet Union he had expected to find a "crack in the Kremlin wall." Unfortunately, he was mistaken.

Students Are Serious

"I have never seen such serious-minded students in any country I have had the pleasure of visiting as I have seen in the Soviet Union," Dr. Fleege admitted. He stated that the Russian students possess a "burning desire" to prepare themselves for the future.

"The first of September over there is like Christmas over here," he added; "it is a festive occasion."

As a member of an American team of educators, which spent five weeks in the Soviet Union recently, Dr. Fleege received a good picture of the Soviet Union. In February, he will host fifteen Russian educators in Chicago.

Further Communist Cause

Dr. Fleege pointed out that "high demands" are made of Russian students. As a result, they extend themselves to the uppermost of their ability so that they can further the Communist cause. "The entire school system is behind the regime," he declared.

Appealing especially to the students at Marian, Dr. Fleege warned that philosophy must be "rooted in religion."

Beaux Arts Ghost (Larry Bowman) fails to excite bridge players, Mary Beth Hughes and Larry Sweeney.

CSMC Supports Aim: 'Know Your World'

Current events discussion group has been revived on campus under the auspices of the CSMC.

Meetings are planned every other Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Student Board room.

World State, Communism, labor unions and segregation are some tentative topics scheduled.

At the first meeting Oct. 29, participants concentrated on the Mid-East.

Sister Margaret Ann, CSMC advisor, and Sister Mary Carol are moderators.

Phoenix To Present Two Awards For Arts, Science Achievement

In fulfillment of plans laid by the 1957-58 editorial staff, the Phoenix announces the re-opening of an Achievement Award contest, planned for students in fields of Arts or Sciences.

Gold engraved plaques — one in the Arts division, one in the Sciences — will be awarded to the student who has made the most outstanding contribution to his major field the past two semesters. Candidates may be submitted by department heads only.

Entry blanks have been submitted to faculty members. All candidates' names must be returned

The Phoenix offers apologies to Emilie Clevenger and Bob Moran for having omitted their names as editors of the Carbon in the previous issue.

Director of Bel Canto, Carole Kerske, Detroit, has been in that organization four years, and in Mellotones and NCMEA. Class vice-president in junior and senior years, this sociology major is also Sodality prefect.

BARBARA KUHN, Indianapolis, sociology major, is head cheerleader, a veteran on the squad, and has been active in WARA. Co-chairman of the Easter Seal Campus Drive last year, Barbara is Student Board treasurer and on the faculty-student assemblies committee. Government personnel is her goal.

Home economics major, Phyllis Larson, Vincennes, is president of the Home Economics club. Four years in Bel Canto and three in Mellotones, she has been a constant contributor to musical programs on and off-campus. A Third Order member, Phyllis is also senior class secretary.

BARBARA LIBS, Evansville, a sociology major, is senior NFCCS delegate and a member of the Student Board and Clare Hall house committee.

Cast in a supporting role in The Heiress, major 1958 production of the Players, she has also a record of several years' performance with Bel Canto, Mellotones, and Choral Club. She was freshman class vice-president.

Phoenix editor, Norberta Mack, Indianapolis, has a four-year record of journalistic ventures, including membership in the News Bureau and authorship of the words for the school's pep song. She has been junior class secretary and a member of the Choral to the Phoenix editors by Nov. 21. Deadline for entries is Dec. 1.

Non-partisan judges will be announced at a later date. Entries will be returned to the owners by the end of the semester.

As explained in the Phoenix, last November, the purpose of the award is "to encourage greater and more serious intellectual study by recognizing the achievements of the student."

Club Corner

French Club

The French Club held its organizational meeting Nov. 5. The club is to meet every two weeks, alternating off-campus meetings at the home of Mrs. J. Hart Lyon with those on campus. Sister Mary Karen, Sister Mary Adelaide, and Mrs. Lyon, department instructors, will serve as moderators.

Activities include listening to French records, singing French songs, discussing culture, with special emphasis to be placed upon French conversation.

ACS

Emilie Clevenger and John Hanley, senior chemistry majors, have received the Marian College American Chemical Society Student Membership Awards for 1959. The awards go annually to the senior man and woman voted as outstanding ACS student affiliates by the chapter members.

These awards are made possible by Dr. George Rieveschl, Jr., of Parke-Davis.

NCMEA

Classes in folk dancing — its history and techniques — sponsored by the National Catholic Music Educators Association unit are currently being directed by the club vice-president, Mary Catherine Wetzel.

Club, Players, CSMC and Current Events Club.

ALTHOUGH JAMES O'DONNELL, Indianapolis, has attended Marian only two years, he was elected senior class president and as such is on the Student Board. Phoenix staff member, he was also chairman of High School Day. Majoring in philosophy, he intends graduate study in social work.

Ruth Ramsdell, Cincinnati, a sociology major, is looking ahead to a master's degree in psychiatric social work. Prefect of the Third Order, and Bel Canto member four years, she has also been student director of the News Bureau, assistant editor of the Fioretti, and reporter for the Phoenix.

Basketball Season To Open Tonight

Knight Time

by Dick Simko

Against powerful Anderson, Marian College will open its sixth, and probably most successful, basketball season in the City of Richmond Tournament at Earlham College. Coach Walt Fields is highly optimistic of improving on last season's 10-15 record. The Knights have lost star playmaker George Dehart through graduation, and Herm Struewing, a starting forward, has transferred to Ball State. However Coach Fields has six returning lettermen and an able group of freshmen from which to select his squad.

Senior center George Waning, who led the team in scoring and rebounding last year, will return with an excellent array of inside and outside shots. For those who lack confidence in Bill Swatts' faking drive-ins, there are several pairs of Converse basketball shoes at Seccina gym which were left by opponents who are still wondering where Bill went on that last drive-in. Bill Murphy appears more accurate than ever with his running, leaping, twisting, eyes-shut jump shot, and Packy Cunningham is a steady shot from either guard or forward.

Three freshmen, Rudy Jansen, Jerry Williams, and Charles Ricketts, have added speed and depth to the team. Others competing for varsity berths are: Joe Sullivan, Bill Rathz, Mike O'Connor, Dick Havens, Bob Ayres, Jim Riczo, Larry Krepps, and Don King.

Jim Schott, out with a broken ankle sustained in practice, should be ready by mid-season to bolster the Marian attack. His bone-crushing boardwork should aid Waning and Swatts in controlling the rebounds, a department in which Marian was deficient through most of last season.

The Knights have a rugged schedule which includes Villa Madonna, Bellarmine, St. Joseph, Indiana Central, Earlham and Hanover in addition to their tournament foes at Richmond.

With the apparent marked increase in defense and passing, it should be an interesting, exciting season, especially if all Marian students go to the games and back their team.

Intramural Football

Lions Win Thriller in Last Seconds

by Joe Hertz

Sunday, Oct. 26, the Lions nailed down the championship of the Intramural Football League, defeating the Packers 14-12, in a cold and steady rain. They came from behind twice on the strength of an alert pass defense, accurate passing, fine deceiving, and two big extra points.

The Lions had entered the decisive contest leading the 2nd place Packers and Cards by the slim margin of 1/2-game, so it was a case of win-or-tie-or-else.

The Packers scored first on a pass play from Sullivan to Kelley, only to see that lead wiped out on a 60-yard TD run by Murphy via a pass interception. Field ran the PAT. The Packers regained the edge, when Pangallo returned the kickoff 60 yards, to lead at half-time 12-7.

Late in the second half, the Lions ended a Packer scoring threat deep in their own territory by a pass interception, and proceeded to drive the length of the field. The sustained drive moved mainly through the passing of Kelsey to Moran and Laub, with Murphy catching the winning score in the end zone. The Lions could not be denied and the Packers lost a heartbreaker.

Congratulations to the squad of Champions Lions: Bill Murphy, Dave Field, Dan Laub, Bill Kelsey, John Swisher, Bob Moran and Tom Myers.

Varsity Volleyball Balances Record; Girls B-Ball Begins

by Rita Jo Marsh

The Marian Maids have shown prowess in their volleyball schedule this season. In the varsity volleyball games, the Maids have defeated St. Vincent's in two out of three games; and won a single and lost two in competition with Indiana Central College and Indiana Normal School, respectively.

The "B" team was victorious in two out of two with Indiana Normal.

At press time, the intramural team captained by Joyce Hagemann was leading the league race, with the final Nov. 18 game to make the decision for championship.

Attention is now turned to ushering in the basketball season. The WARA has tentatively scheduled Nov. 25 as opening night for women's basketball.

Officers of WARA are Sheila McCann, president; Sue Leuvelink, secretary-treasurer, and Sue Farney, corresponding secretary.

The PHOENIX expresses thanks to Paul Hughey, former sports editor, who has been unable to continue in his position, and welcomes Dick Simko, new sports editor.

Knights Engage Anderson Team In Opening Tourney Skirmish

Top ranked Anderson College will meet the Marian Knights in the opening game of the annual City of Richmond Tournament, Thursday, Nov. 20 at 5 p.m. (Indpls. time).

Pep Rally Nov. 20 To Introduce Team; Cheerleaders in Action

The first pep assembly, launching the '58-'59 basketball season, will be held on the opening day of the City of Richmond tournament, Nov. 20, 10:30 a.m., in the college auditorium.

Among features of the rally will be introduction of cheerleaders Barbara Kuhn, Barbara Kin, Karen Forszt, Carol Lukasik and Tom Senn, who will lead practice of old cheers and introduce new ones.

Team members will be presented by coach Walt Fields, who will also review the past season.

A theatrical production by representatives of the "Players" will be staged.

Msgr. Francis Reine, college president, will be opening speaker. Collaborating with Ferd Keller, master of ceremonies, on assembly production plans are Bob Moran, Dan Dufour and Barbara Kuhn.
