NATIONAL NEWS

ELECTIONS -

Major cities are facing bankruptcy, population loss, lower property values, racial issues and a high rise in crime. Still there are many new candidates seeking the office of mayor in these cities. The Democrat stronghold in these cities faces a good possibility that it will lose to the Republicans and independents. Some campaigners are advocating anti-crime measures and fear of the blacks, while other candidates stress a more compromising attitude.

PITTSBURGH -

A Democratic City Councilman, Pete Flaherty, is running independently and is a favorite of the people. His main issues are anti-bossism and harmony between blacks and whites.

His first serious Republican challenger in 25 years, John Taylor, is trying to appeal to blue collar workers by saying he will oppose right to work laws if they will yield slightly to black demands. He also promises to strengthen the police department.

DETROIT -

Wayne County Sheriff Roman S. Gribbs is a moderate who integrated his department, avoided simple solutions to crime problems and has eliminated brutality in a county jail.

Opposing him is County Auditor Richard H. Austin, the first Negro to run for the office. He is a moderate seeking a quiet race issue. It is expected that he will get the support of most blacks and possibly some votes from white liberals, and progressive union members.

ATLANTA -

Sam Massell, outgoing vice-mayor is a Democratic liberal versing Redney Cook, a personable Republican moderate who is a city alderman and a state legislator. Massell, a member of one of the cities' wealthy Jewish families has supported Negroes through his civil rights committee and local anti-discrimination efforts. He proposes a city income tax and he invites adjoining municipalities to join the city. Cook contends the city should be consolidated with the surrounding Fulton County to solve financial problems. Both candidates' policies toward Civil Rights has been adequate.

SETTING THINGS STRAIGHT

- Q. Why is the film "Blow-Up" allowed to be shown this year by the Fine Film Series when last year the film could not be on the agenda of the Doyle Hall Films?
- A. I was as startled as you were that the film "Blow-Up" was listed for the 1969-70 Fine Film Series. I had no knowledge that it had been selected for showing on campus after the discussion we all had about the advisability of scheduling it last year.

Dr. Guzzetta

- Q. Why are the two reception rooms across from the Cafeteria locked? Where is the furniture for them? Are the rooms available? Are they part of facilities provided for students by their room fees?
- A. The rooms across from the Cafeteria are locked because there is no furniture for them. The furniture has been put in other places of need, one of them being the women's recreation lounge in the basement of Clare Hall. The rooms originally were used for reception purposes for Clare Hall women. The large first floor lounge next to the reception desk was furnished last year and is now available for reception purposes. Those two rooms are not part of the facilities provided for students by their room fees.

Miss Whitman

- Q. Why, considering the artificial nature of any club or similar organization, do you think that the principle of racial segregation applies to UBI's request for black membership? Do you think this request is substantially different from the Federal Government's efforts to shift teachers on the basis of color? Or the busing of students on the basis of color are essential to the solution of racial problems and ultimate accomplishment of total integration. Comment.
- A. I think my acceptance and approval of UBI's constitution indicates my answer.

Dean Pille

Ed. Note:

Dean Pille asked that his note of approval for the UBI constitution be attached to this answer. That note was not available at time of printing. Therefore we offer the following adaptation of the note of approval to present the approval's general viewpoint:

"The UBI constitution is approved as an exception to the longstanding Christian tradition of the college policy as to non-discrimination toward race, color, or creed."

ATTENTION:

Fireworks ! ! ! $400 worth ! ! ! For 20 minutes (or is it 10). Let's say 20 $400/20 = $20 a minute. Sure I've seen my money go up in smoke, yes, smoke, but who ever got high on fireworks in November?

The Board squabbled about $30 for the moratorium and there has been such a great hassle over black studies. Does the Board in passing this inane motion actually believe that the majority is really being represented, and that this is what we want?

I, along with many of my fellow students are bewildered that such a great deal of money would be spent on what we consider to be a rather petty and questionable event, especially when the band costs only $400. Oh well, if that's what they want - it has snowed before in November.

Perplexedly yours,

Carbon:

Wednesday, October 22 was an unforgettable evening. The main event was the Dress Rehearsal for the HARKNESS BALLET at Clowes Hall. The program was excellently performed and executed, especially for the first run through. I am sure that the evening was a worthwhile experience for the capacity audience. The main source of joy was in the extremely and completely unexpected, audience from Marian, about 100. I am very happy that so many were able to attend this event. Also I want to apologize for the cramped room accommodations at time (I never thought that there would be so many attending and thus was not prepared.) I do want to offer special thanks on behalf of myself and over 40 some students who were given free transportation by: Gene Bourke, Tom Martin, Keith Raibley, Bill Templin, Herb Boehme, Craig Blattner, Dave Danks, John O' Kane, and Doug Huss, Carol and Gayle Steigerwald, and Pete Klostermann and others.

I Hope that possibly again there will be another such opportunity to enjoy, and that many more Marian students will be able to attend.

Sincerely,
Kevin M. Annarney

paper of the Midland
Sorobi Zoo...

Be it proclaimed,
fellow students,
"Hair that long
Must cover a mind
That is short."

And with that concept
the keeper of the midlan Sorobi Zoo began to cage his animals. Those with longer hair were kept under "closer surveillance" as one of the cage directors said.
Of course that's natural for long hair makes one feed the head and not the body. We wouldn't want the "feed your head movement" take over and stampede the herd, would we? Long hair, short mind. It all fits, right?*

Then of course, you have black animals who are, of course, the same as white animals.
Black animals are black from living in the dark caves to hide from forest fires. White animals look too pure for the fires to burn
so they had no fear. They lived in the sun.
But when the zoo brought the two together black and white were treated as the same for both are animals. But it will be allright
if you just keep a close eye on the animals with long hair. For you see long haired animals aren't afraid of the zookeeper's boys or herding cane. They won't even wash.
Lord, what a problem! We taught the black animals how healthy water is.

Soution:

Stop capturing animals in Eastern Sorobi
and go to Southern and Western Sorobi to find the short haired animals we all love. What a nice herd it will make!

*The "feed your head movement" may have nothing to do with stampeding but how could a zoo keeper say "Stampedes are started by long-haired animals who do not believe they are caught and owned by the zoo because of a fence."

LETTERS...

Dear Editor,

As students at ~~Clar~~ are attempting to establish a sense of responsibility and maturity a few students feel that this is not a necessity. The student leaders have been taken a step backwards by the actions of some very uncaring and unconcerned students. Tuesday night they took it upon themselves to paint the Art Annex and the Intramural Gym with the words "Eliminate Allee". The Student Board feels that disagreement is necessary for discussion and progress but when property is destroyed and other students and administrators harmed
then the act is unintelligible. I regret that we still have students who have not grown up and who do not respect people's property. I hope too that this is the first and last incident of this nature.

EDITORIAL NUTS!!

The Student Board was introduced to the freshman
as "in favor of going nuts."
Well they have. They have gone nuts.

In striving for the bazaar they have unthoughtfully blown $400.00 on a firework display. Homecoming will be enhanced by 20 minutes of explosive mania.

This proposed boost to Homecoming activities is the result of social council's inability to restrain their quest for the ultimate exoticism.

I have offered to run nude across campus with a sparkler for 30 minutes at $1.93 an hour, but still the Board has approved the social council's heaving $400.00 high into the air. I disapprove.

Dear Carbon Reader,

Saturday at the Clare Hall mixer, the dressing rooms were raided. It wasn't the same kind of raid that students were upset about last week - but the results might interest you.
When the band returned, their clothes, money,

SPORTS...
Intramural football...

Game I of last Sunday's Parent Day special saw the "Social Diseases" attached and spread over the "Wolf Pack" defeating them by a 6-0 score.

"Dave Flights Team" defeated the Intramural team by a 14-6 score despite Bill Scholl's dazzling run giving the "Intramural Team" their first score of the year.

Game III was a very important game; as far as league standings are concerned. The "Lost Souls" who were undefeated into this game met the "Detergents" who also entered Sunday's game with a flawless record. The "Lost Souls" led by David Haire and Bob Bittlemeyer, scored an impressive 14-0 victory over the "Detergents" led by Jack Adams and "Beaver".

Game IV saw the "Athletic Supporters" win by forfeit as John Yanney tallied the 2-0 score. Also the "God's of Hell Fire" won as forfeit.

Game VI was probably the best played and hardest hitting game in intramural play to date. "Big Ten" did overcome the "KKK" by a score of 13-12. All the players on both teams were playing at their best and it would be impossible to single out any individual as outstanding. This game left the "Big Ten" with a perfect season to date while the "KKK" now have two losses.

This Sunday the "Athletic Supporters" meet the "big Ten" and it looks to be the game of the week.

To the Editors:

The Faculty apologizes to the other members of the Intramural Football league players for our games this season. We are aware of the frustration this incites. But our players are unusually scattered in residence this year. We will make every effort to play our remaining games. Next year we hope to return to our first two years performance.

A WEEK TO REMEMBER

MY DEAR CARBON:

Marian College is going to "pot", maybe? The morality of its students is quickly declining with panty raids and the removal of the dress code. There's no telling what the young ladies might have had on as those dirty old men of Doyle Hall dared to penetrate and disturb the virginal resting quarters of the Marian maids. Those poor women must have been totally embarrassed. And I know that all of those "hussies" that dared invade the men's residence must have been led by some unknown diabolical force. I'm sure they really did not know what they were doing.

Did you know that some of those bold coeds are wearing pants to class ! Gee whiz, my eyes are jumping out of their sockets. I didn't realize how healthy some of those "sluts" were. I came to this institution for higher education, the mind?), not the body. But not I seem to be led astray. My my something must be done to curtail the falling moral standards of this administration and school or school and administration.

What is the most disturbing thing is the colored kids we have on our campus. They're demanding all black membership, black studies, black this and black that. If we don't watch out they're going to take over.

You know, of course, that their constitution was passed as an exception to Christian tradition. Why I always thought that God was white and that Holy Mother Church had the right to keep blacks out of their white churches. I thought the Christian tradition was groovy. I overheard one of those left winging, radical blacks say, "Breaking tradition with the racist practice is the real Christian act." The heretic! We (The KKK) ought to tar and feather the pagan. My goodness, Marian College is really going to "pot," maybe?

The dirty nasty Commies will take and have your heads shaven to be used in gracing the heads of such unforgettable celebrities, as Nicky Kruschev, Arnold Wascek, and the corpse of Nicky Lenin. Thank you logical newspaper for scaring the hair out of us.
