Winter lingered so long in the lap of Spring...

AS WE SEE IT

The CARBON this week turns its circumventing eye to consider one of the major problems students, particularly those living in the dorm, face on weekends. It is well known that Marian most certainly doesn't have a nationwide party school reputation and we probably don't want one either. But recently this has been pursued to the point of the absurd as our social calendar has been completely void of any social event for one month. Yeah it's really been dead. Good old cool, quiet, calm weekends. I guess everything stops for Hoosier Hysteria.

The student government is well aware of this situation and at a recent meeting took steps to try to improve the present situation and avoid it's reoccurrence in the future. The first piece of legislation passed set up the class officers as the standing social committee of the Student Board. This action has resulted in three major changes. 1) The class officers are now given a definite responsibility thus providing some real meaning to their otherwise honorary positions. 2) The load placed on the vice-president of the Board was given to some other school leaders thus involving more people in the scope of a student government. 3) The social calendar should look a lot better with 16 people working on it rather than just one. However the real effects of this action most probably won't be felt until school again convenes in the fall. Nevertheless it most certainly is an attempt at improvement.

Probably the most significant step the Board took, and possibly the most significant one they've taken all year, is aimed at immediate action. This was contained in a motion directed at opening the Perc in the evening during the week and in the afternoon and evening on weekends. It obvious to us that the campus snack bar should be open quite a bit more now than it is to provide, if you can believe this, the college atmosphere other institutions like this one have. Furthermore the opening of the Perc would provide students a social spot on campus where they wouldn't feel out of place if not accompanied by a member of the opposite sex. Just remember the unwritten rule of the jungle says you don't go to the MCML by yourself. This need is further enhanced by the fact that the closest place to get some groceries is seven blocks away.

Probably one of the biggest objections by the administration to this legislation will be the necessity of unlocking the Ad Building for all these extra hours. Heck yes. The doors might get worn out if they're used too much. However we can use Marian Hall and Scotus Hall for classes, lectures, play practice, meetings, etc. in the evening. If the hallowed halls can be opened for these necessary functions it seems that the Perc could be open while all the other problems of the world are being solved in the center of camp activity.

This proposal has been presented to the Student Personnel Officers who seemed to respond favorably to the Boards action. Monday or Tuesday the question will be presented to the administration whom we hope will be just as responsive. The necessity of such action is evident to us.

RED CROSS

During the week of March 11-19, the Red Cross will take a collection for some under-privileged families of the city. Donations of money, old clothes, china, blankets, and miscellaneous articles will be wholeheartedly accepted. Watch for the nearest pick-up stations in the perc, mixed lounge and the two dorms. If you've found that your Lenten Resolutions have gone to hell, maybe a sacrifice of a few cents, a pack of cigarettes, or an old sweater will help pick you up from the depths of modern living.

I come from Indiana, the home of more first class second rate men than any other state in the union.

DOLLAR DAYS

Since the social calendar is so fun-packed with wow things to do this week-end, the two Saturday night competitors for your, let's face it, money, are offering a two-for-the-price-of-one deal. First at 7:30 P.M. the English Dept. will try again. This time it's poetry reading. It's all known as Kaleidoscope I, which insinuates there will be Kaledoscope II. Then you can take your season ticket (which you purchased for a $1.00) and go to the YCS Mixer in the Mixed Lounge. The mixer will feature the Bent Scepters; just the thing after poetry reading.

Individual admission rates are 50¢ for Kaleidoscope I and 75¢ for the mixer. The mixer begins at 8:00 P.M.

Aumm!!! The CARBON this week pauses to philosophize a little bit in offering a salute to our very own Monsignor. Before pursuing this proposition any further, we wish to warn our readers not to mix the subject up with the college President. No, this is THE MONS, the logicians logician, the Aristotilian's Aristotle, the existentialist's existentialist, Marian College's veteran professor, Monsignor Doyle. An Irish wit, a Bible, a dictionary, and the omnipresent volume of Shakespeare mark this founding father of our school as he storms about the class room kicking over wastebaskets and pondering the pertinent philosophical questions. What's more, as he covers the existential view of modern philosophy at the blackboard, he also covers himself with shavings of chalk till his black cassock looks like the Pope's. We think he'd make a good pope. But his students, more or less, begin to see the light of logic as he fights the crusade for truth tables, Venn Diagrams, syllogisms, and all that is good and true, and, of course, logical. And when the point has been lost in the course of the discourse, he pursues it further until all is lost when he then says, "Gee whiz kids, I can't understand why you don't understand this."

Yes, this is Marian's Curae of Ars, the man with a kind word for all. But we wonder if it's really true that Monsignor takes the square root of license plate numbers when driving. We leave you with just one last proposition, his honor's own Octagon of Compatibility not to be confused with the Square of Opposition.

All students who walk are good.

Monsignor walks.

Therefore, Monsignor is good.

All students who drive are bad.

Monsignor is good.

Therefore, why don't you people walk instead of driving.

"Now put that down in your notebooks."

THEY SAID IT:

E. Forrest Scarborough on the Bent Scepters: "Hmmm ... It sounds like another phallic symbol."

Mr. David Gilsinn on the rhumba: "You move the knee the same way a camel moves the second joint of his leg."

BIFF - POW - POINT

Intramural Volleyball (Marian Hysteria) starts Mon. evening at 7:00 P.M. in the Marian College double-court Fieldhouse. There are only nineteen teams this year- 10 in the West Coast division and 9 in the East Coast division.

The schedule will run for 9 weeks-March 14 to May 16- with a week off for Easter vacation, April 11. Be sure that this little venture gets off to a good start by being on time with full teams every week. Teams can play without 6 members at their own risk. Consistant shortages of players may cause forfeits. The time-honored rules of good sportsmanship and proper conduct will govern all contests.

- 7:30 Twilight Zoners vs. Salamanders

FREE COFFEE

Mon. evening at 7:30 P.M. in the Women's Lounge, the Marian C.S.M.C. unit will present a coffee hour for your edification. Speakers for the evening will be Jan Green and June Obert, M.C. students, and Mr. D.R. Kelly of the Philosophy Dept.. Topic for discussion will be the summer mission works which these people conducted in the Kansas City urban area under the direction of Fr. Flanigan, frequent visitor to this campus.

Last summer's experiences in urban social work will be related, along with opportunities for you this summer. Interesting, challenging, self-rewarding--these are some of the adjectives describing summer mission work. Through the years, Marian has had an enviable record of volunteer help. Learn how you can keep the record alive--spend an enjoyable evening this Mon. in the Women's Lounge. Java is on the house--some will be in cups!!

FOUR DIFFERENT WAYS TO LOOK AT A RAPE

The Fine Film Series finally did it! At eight tonight, for our viewing pleasure, the English Department will present that rare treat - an adult movie. Rasho-Mon has everything: violence, murder, rape. Pack the auditorium, lust fans, and escape for a few fleeting moments.

Back in reality, slurp coffee in the woman's lounge, and discuss profusely.

INDERMEN ON THEIR MARKS!

Marian's 1966 edition of trackand field will journey to the I.U. Open tomorrow. Swelling ranks of previous participants and incoming frosh give Mr. Bridges an optimistic out look his first year here. As the weather warms and the romantic breath of spring beckons, the cindermen will be showing their stuff. Stay tuned to the Carbon for further details. Check the schedule and catch a meet or two this year for yourself.

HE'S EVERYWHERE! HE'S EVERYWHERE!

Marian's own dirty old man made the big move this week with Willomena Feeney, thus leaving Ed Arzman the innocent victim of an eternal triangle. Trotting off behind the library, the new campus couple broke up the existing examples of hanky-pank loitering there, and sent them all home. With the area free of "refuge", they began their own method of passion which the Troll picked up while on a corruption campaign in Alaska: eskimo nose-to-nose combat. Willomena Feeney, an anti-New Morality supporter, fled the scene for the safety of Clare Hall. Details to follow.

THE BOARD REPORTS

The Student Board met Wednesday night in the Men's Lounge because the seniors had to study for comps on Monday night.

Money was the main topic under discussion. The Board has $2,000.00, and doesn't know what to do with it. If anyone has any suggestions, they better keep them locked in their hearts. The Board will not grant the library the money because the purchasing of books is the responsibility of the administration.

The tower on campus will not be sending out a beam this year as the cost for establishing a radio station on campus was too great. This will be looked into again next year. Jake Fedders is now looking into the possibility of hiring a lifeguard for the last month of school. This will not cost $2000.00. Larry Turner is organizing a committee which will look into the possibility of using the money in the Student Union, which will make its debut on campus next year.

The first meeting with the Deans was held this week, and topics under discussion ranged from the Perc to the Book Store. I guess that's not too much of a range when you consider they're so close together. However, Book Store hours have been extended as posted on their new sign. The Library remains a problem as the administration feels that no need for extension of hours has been indicated.

The Board has motioned for a telephone on the North Campus which will accept anyone regardless of sex. Chuck Welch is making the necessary investigations -telephones, not sex-

NOBODY ASKED ME BUT ...

The Perc has refused to perk' past the 4:30 mark, and students are beginning to toss coffee beans at the administration. The Student Board, a Duncan Hines with fourteen heads, has recommended that the Perc be opened at night. Let's be realistic; ther's nothing to do here, so we might as well sit around and drink coffee. We won't get tired doing nothing, and there's no sense in not doing anything if your half-asleep.

Someone has been asleep too long, and we are finally beginning to wake up. It's in our nature, that is boys and girls, to want to get together. Students need to socialize and it's bad for the morale to sit in your room every night. Cars are just not available for the majority, and if you don't have one, you'll just sit around and mope while the lucky boys and girls are getting fat. Now, a moping student might come up with some evil plan and get into trouble. That's bad stuff!

The Student Board is trying to do something for you. Unite in this modified version of the Boston Tea Party. Stand behind the Board, and if it's big enough you won't get seen anyway. They're going out on a limb, as you always have to do around here, to get something done. Their task is formidable, kind of like trying to jump into a donut-hole from a ten-meter platform. But if their plan works (and it's top secret), the doors to the administration building will be open a little while longer. In essence, isn't this what we all stand for. An educated man can't get educated so good if he can't drink coffee in the campus Hot Spot, with his favorite girl sitting by his side in a building with open doors.

BOARD REPORTS (continued)

Evelyn Looney reported on the Little United Nations Meeting which she attended at I.U. She suggested that the college send a representative each year so as to stimulate interest in foreign affairs on campus. The motion was tabled.

BERNIE'S ON VACATION! COLBY TAKES OVER!

Saga's final survey for the '65-'66 school year will be a repeat of last December's Student Acceptance Survey. Bernie has scheduled dinner on March 14 for the short, six-question opinion poll on such items as choice and preparation of food, service and temperature.

We have attempted, with the first acceptance survey, to get a measurement of student satisfaction in several areas of our service. Since receiving the results from Saga's head office, we have attempted to improve in every area, such as hot rolls, opening for dinner earlier for faster service, more garnish, more choice of foods offered etc. Bernie is trying to measure the effectiveness of his organization. He would like a response from each student and their comments for improvement.
