The views of this publication are those of the individual writer and do not necessarily reflect those of Marian College.

TO THE MASSES:

There was a booklet passed out at the beginning of the year called Residence Life. On page nine of this booklet it states, "If a room and/or roommate change is desired, contact your Resident Assistant who will discuss the matter with the parties involved. Final Approval for any change will be made by the Resident Hall Director with the recommendation of the Resident Assistant."

Before Christmas break I thought I was getting along with my roommate. My RA let it slip that my roommate was looking for a new roommate for second semester. I was upset, because I didn't think the situation was that serious. When I confronted my roommate, she wouldn't talk about it, all she said was "it wouldn't work out." When I left for break as far as I knew the situation wasn't definite. However, when I returned, my name was on a list for room changes. According to the booklet I had received, I was supposed to have conversed with my RA and roommate. This never took place and still hasn't. My RD said that she knew nothing of a list and that I shouldn't have moved.

But my questions are these:

1. Was my RA going beyond her power?
2. If the booklet says the final decision is the RD's, then why could she have not known about the room change?

FR WIDNER CHOSEN

The Student Affairs Committee has extended the invitation to Fr. Thomas Widner's to be the guest speaker at this year's Student Recognition Dinner to be held on April 29th.

In light of Fr. Widner's new-found rapport with Marian College, we extended the invitation, primarily for two reasons. We hope Fr. Widner will be more fully re-acquaint himself as an alumni of Marian College, while at the same time allowing him the opportunity to assess the most positive asset of the college, the Students of Marian.

We, the Student Affairs Committee, are pleased that Fr. Widner has accepted the invitation, and are looking forward to a very interesting program.

Respectfully submitted,
Annie Hammond
Student Affairs Committee

SOUNDINGS: Continued from p. 5

On Wednesday at 9pm in chapel there will be a closing session with the Sacrament of Reconciliation, and a renewal of Christian Commitment. Plan now to attend--you won't regret it! The Renewal Program is sponsored and funded by Campus Ministry with additional funds from the Program Committee.

TO THE MASSES:

A group to help Marian become aware of its problems and find viable solutions to them was organized seven weeks ago by Mike Bauer. So far, members of the group have interviewed faculty members, some individually and some in groups, to gather their opinions as to the problems facing Marian College.

This information will be compiled into a workable format, along with information collected through interviews with the Administrators and through the Undergraduate Student Survey. From all these sources it will be possible to make changes that will be satisfactory to all factions.

The Undergraduate Student Survey, which every student received, will be used by the group to determine whether a more specific survey and/or personal interviews will be used to ascertain the opinions and attitudes of the students.

Anyone who would like to be a more active part of this process can contact Mike Bauer. The attempts made by all facets of the Marian populace to be cooperative, open and honest will not only be appreciated but also rewarded through the changes incurred.

HE DIED FOR US

The streets of Jerusalem were crowded with people. I was but a speck in the mob. Roman soldiers on their horses pushed the crowds back to make a path for the man carrying the cross. The soldiers whipped the man, yelling for him to hurry. I heard of this man many times. He was Jesus of Nazareth. As He came nearer, I could see blood dripping down his forehead as the crown of thorns He wore pierced His flesh. His back, bloody and caked with dirt and sweat, was barely able to carry the load He bore. Being moved with great compassion for Him, I stepped out in front of Jesus and wiped His bloody scarred face. As my eyes met his, He smiled at me. Not a sign of hatred or bitterness could be seen on His face. I saw only a radiance of love and gentleness. It was as though He was comforting me instead of I, Him.

The soldiers pushed me away violently aside and drove Jesus on; on to His crucifixion which ended not in defeat, but in victory and glory for all the world.

FRANTZ FANON AND THE BLACK EXPERIENCE

A talk - "Frantz Fanon and the Black Experience" was delivered by Professor H. Adele Jindau at Marian yesterday. Under the auspices of the Non-Western studies committee. Prof. Jindau is a distinguished Nigerian political scientist and is currently visiting professor at IU Bloomington. He has published extensively on the philosophy and influence of Frantz Fanon.

"The Black Experience" the speaker observed, "according to Fanon is a form of race contact; here it is the Blacks coming into contact with the middle aged Europeans during the colonial days." They were exposed to a new world. The first, from Portugal, came to Africa as missionaries. They were followed by the French and British. Fanon observed that the Europeans denied that the Africans had culture.
Their colonialization was justified in terms of a "mission" that had to be accepted by the Africans.
This attitude gave rise to violence. Speaking of the Bible and Gun Theory, there seemed to be more guns than Bible. Violence stressed the speaker, was according to Fanon, "First physical, second, psychological and finally structural. To maintain a colonial system, force is inevitable. The police and army took care of the physical side. The brainwashing— that the Natives were inferior to their colonial masters—was the psychological violence; and different methods to prevent the local individual to develop fully was structurally violent. The colonists lived in luxury while the true owners of the land lived under very poor housing conditions.

All of this helped the minority leaders to maintain power till they feathered their own nests before they were forced out of most parts of Africa. But the independant states were unable to follow a steady political pattern in governing their land as there is conflicting experience of their traditional pattern and the European pattern.

SEE PETER.....

Hi! Margo here, for a change. Don't let See Peter know I'm writing this because only he is supposed to write the theater news, according to the contract.
Unfortunately, See Peter's out with a bad case of metronome's faloombwehbwah, as he calls it.
Personally I think he's just shirking. Of course, I also think that he is a fat, dumpy little klutz with no style and less taste, but that's one girl's opinion.

I attended rehearsal for the children's show (Concerto In A Major Dispute) by Susan Close and a cast of thousands, and I must say it is wonderful, joyous and the best show ever done. I must say this because there's a gun pointed at my left temple. Would you please get out of my light? See the show for yourself, kiddies. Then judge it.

Rehearsals have also started for the "Glass Menagerie".
There are no cast changes. No problems. Everything is fine. I don't even know why I mentioned it. I could have written something nasty about Prince Charles in that space. Oh well.

Got a letter from that no talent Bette (Blair). It was a pleasant surprise, since I didn't know she could write. Anyway she got to Sweden and met - of all people-- and I use the word loosely--Ben! He's there filming a documentary on Swedish idiots. I presume

PROM!!

The Prom will be held on Saturday, April 7 from 9:00 p.m. to 1:00 a.m. at the Indianapolis Athletic Club. The band "Promise" will provide the music. We have chosen a different format for the distribution of tickets this year. Seniors can pick up their complementary tickets in front of Marian Hall Auditorium on Wed., Mar. 28, Friday, Mar. 30 or Wed. April 4. Juniors may purchase their tickets for $6.00 per couple on the above dates. If you are unable to pick up your tickets at this time contact a Junior Class Officer. We hope all Juniors and Seniors will attend. Where else can you get such good entertainment for such a low price?

Prom Court nominations will take place on Wed., March 28 in front of the Marian Hall Auditorium. Each Junior and Senior will nominate 2 girls from their class. The top three will be on the court. Final voting will take place Wed., April 4.

BLOOD DRAW.

Spring is here bringing with it new life and vitality to the world outside. We all take so much out of this season to renew ourselves after a long winter of study and classes. But how many of you actually think to put anything back into Spring?

Well, here's your chance. A Spring Blood Draw will be held Thursday, March 29 from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the Clare Hall Lounge. Give some of your blood, it doesn't hurt and it is a good way to help someone else renew their life this Spring.

Sign up to donate March 26 in front of the Marian Hall Auditorium. If for some reason you can't give we also need people to type forms and pass out orange juice and donuts. Your help will be greatly appreciated. Have fun enjoying this great weather!!

FROM THE PRESIDENT'S DESK....

There will be an open meeting on Thursday, March 29 at 12:15 in room 251 to discuss Church-relatedness and Marain College. The basis for the exchange of views is material distributed to faculty, staff and student leaders following the November 30-December 1, 1978, Indiana Church-Related College Consultation, which was sponsored by the Indiana Office of Campus Ministry. All interested individuals are invited to participate.

BOOSTER CLUB

The meeting was called to order by Lisa Mailloux at 12 noon on Feb. 21st. The main issue discussed was Field Day, which will begin after the 10:30 classes on Wednesday May 2. There will be lunch first, provided free to students and faculty without caf numbers by the Booster Club. Then the Intramural trophies will be awarded. After that it's all fun and games, with famous activities like the mackerel slap, egg toss, and tug of war. We're planning on having a Happy Hour at Georgetown as well as a big party that night at Westlake Arms. Directions will be posted later. Anyone interested in being on a committee to help plan the games should contact an officer or representative.

DO YOU HAVE A STUDENT BILLING NO??

If so...Operators have not been coming in on long distance phone calls and these calls are being charged to the College number. If this situation occurs please notify the Business Office. Any "unclaimed" calls (long distance calls) will be traced to the individual who placed the call. (It can be done and it will be!)

Kim LeSage has a list of "unclaimed" long distance calls. Contact her to claim yours. If you come forward no fine will be assessed. Anyone who fails to notify either Kim or the Business Office is subject to a $25 fine plus payment of the calls before any of the grades will be given to those with outstanding bills in the Business Office.

SOUNDINGS— CAMPUS RENEWAL PROGRAM
March 24-28.

Do you sometimes feel like a donut without a center? that your'e being "devoured" by the many demands on you? that you need time and space to develop your inner life and reflect on your relationship with God? Then it's time to get your SOUNDINGS by participating in as many sessions as you can of the Campus Renewal program. It begins at Sat. night Mass, March 24 at which the renewal team, Father Steve Luebbert and Father John Hilgert will introduce the program. The team has led similar programs at many campuses throughout the country. The renewal program is for everyone at Marian--students, faculty, staff, administration, and office personnel, regardless of their particular religious denomination.

SOUNDINGS is a series of multi-media presentations and discussions around the theme of one's relationship to self, others and God. The sessions are scheduled for noon each day (Sun. in Ministry Cen.; Mon-Wed. in the chapel). The two daily sessions will be repeated and combined into one each evening at 9 (Sun. and Mon. -Clare and Tues. -Doyle).

The Martians came to earth one day
In spaceships blue and green
They used their magic heat rays
And made the people scream.

The people all were frightened
And tried to get away
The Martians said, "We'll get you!"
And that's all they had to say.

Now the earthlings dug great deep holes
And some lived underground
Others went in the ocean
But Most of them drown.

The earthlings all were dying
There seemed to be no hope
Then Tommy said, "I have the answer!"
And held up some dope.

We'll get a great big pot plant.
And light it towards the sky
The Martians will take a whiff
And soon they'll all be high.

Now Tommy was a hero for
He saved the world from desolation
But the LAPD came around
And busted him for possession.

DIRE STRAIGHTS

And now for something completely different. Sorry to use such a cheap cliché but it was so appropriate....because to my recollection I have never read a record review in this weekly..... Enough with my opening paragraph and on to the body of my critique.

Dire Straights is something of what is called a new group. However I don't like that cheap description of four brilliant performers. Their names are Mark Knopfler, on guitar and vocals, who has a very interesting voice. I will also refuse to compare his voice or guitar to anyone else, because frankly, I think it is stupid and most important, an insult to him.

On rhythm, his brother David, Bass is played by John Illsley; drums brilliantly executed by Rick Withers.

The first thing that comes to my mind about their sound is that it is very clean; without 20 or so other instruments or overdubs. Just two guitars, bass and drums, which at a loud level makes one think of a live performance.

The song most of you would be familiar with (It's the most played album in the U.S.) is "Sultans of Swing." I like it...but there are others, "Down to the Waterline," and Water of Love."

If you don't know by now, I'll spell it out. This is an excellent album, sonically, musically and lyrically. It will broaden your musical horizons, something Disco will never do!
