Red Cross Plans Visit For Blind

Marian's Red Cross Unit, with assistance from five other campus organizations, has arranged for the Apr. 8 visit to our campus by the blind of Indianapolis from four organizations, Indiana School for the Blind, Indiana Association of Workers for the Blind, Happy Hour Club, and Marion County Council for the Blind, Inc.

Included in the day's program will be a book review, the Autobiography of Genevieve Caulfield, by Sister Clarence Marie and musical numbers by NCMEA members.

Refreshments will be provided by the Home Ec Club members, while Sodalists, Legionaries of Mary, CSMC and Third Order members will act as receptionists and guides.

General arrangements and transportation are under the direction of general chairman Claire Schirmer, secretary of the Red Cross Unit.

AUFS Nigerian Expert Lectures Here Apr. 4-6

Reuben Frodin, American Universities Field Staff expert on West Africa will be on campus

Reuben Frodin

Apr. 4, 5, and 6 to conduct lecture and discussion sessions on Nigeria, former British colony, which attained independence in 1960.

A nation of 40,000,000 people, now experiencing a social, political, and economic evolution, it is the 99th member of the UN.

Internat'l Commission

Before joining the AUFS in 1961, Prof. Frodin was a member of an international commission invited by the Nigerian government to study its educational development. Two extended trips to Africa acquainted him with the country's problems.

Awarded the Ph.D. in 1933 and the J.D. degree in 1941, both by the University of Chicago, he served as teacher and administrator there for 12 years. As executive dean of the State University of New York for 6 years, visiting professor of law at New South Wales University, Sydney, Australia, and at the University of California, he further extended his contacts with education.

Journalism Career

His background in journalism includes editorship of the Journal of Education and The University of Chicago Law Review; Pacific coast editorial representative for Time, Life, and Fortune; and an array of contributions to leading periodicals. He is co-author of The Idea and Practice of General Education (1950).

At the Student assembly Apr. 5, Mr. Frodin will speak on "African Leaders." Topics for special classes will include "Pan Africanism" and "Social Justice in West Africa." Aspects of education will be presented for the faculty.

Alumni Chapter Plans Breakfast

The Indianapolis Chapter of the Alumni is planning a Communion Breakfast, Sunday, Apr. 8. Msgr. Francis J. Reine will offer the Mass at 10:30.

Brunch at 11:30 will be followed by a Language Laboratory demonstration by Sister Mary Edgar and a campus tour.

Chairmen are Marianne Lauber '48, and Janice Gaughan O'Hara '53.

Marian Models Show Styles In Annual Fashion Review

Home Economics Club will present a fashion show Sunday, Apr. 15, at 7:30, in the Knights' Club. All students are eligible to model garments they have constructed.

Admission price of 75 cents is intended to help pay the transportation expenses for a delegate to the national convention of the American Home Economics Association in Miami this summer. The campus club is a unit of the Association.

Style show chairman Jane Schwacke has appointed as her assistants: Lucinda Hubbard, publicity; Dottie Lanzafame, costume; Mary Ellen Benedetto, tickets and programs; Mary Jo Boyle, refreshments; Mauna Butsch, decorations; and Jean Ann Rossi, lighting, staging, and music.

The public is invited.

Jane Schwacke, style show chairman (center), and Dottie Lanzafame admire Mary Ellen Benedetto's attractive creation.

SEA president, Ronald Bornman, sets TV at Channel 72 for "Wonderful World of Numbers" while Jane Deters and Norma Leising prepare to take notes.

SEA Donates TV Set For Airborne Classes

As a gift for Marian's 25th year the Student Education Association is presenting the school with a television set adapted for using the facilities of the Midwest Airborne Program.

The Midwest Council on Airborne Television Instruction was formed as a result of the concern of educators in the Midwest with the challenge facing American educators today. Airborne television was chosen to provide sufficient quantity and quality of educational opportunities within reasonable costs because it could reach a greater number of students at less cost than is possible by ground-based transmitters.

STEP Appraise Sophs' Stature

Sophomores passed an academic milestone in the Sequential Tests for Educational Progress, administered Mar. 22 and 23. These tests appraise the student's achievement in reading, writing, social studies, science, and mathematics.

Results, compared with those of sophomores throughout the country, will be interpreted for each student by Monsignor John J. Doyle, testing program chairman.

altitudes over central Indiana, educational courses at the elementary, secondary, and college levels are broadcast on videotape to schools in Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Michigan, Ohio, and Wisconsin.

At Purdue University, host institution, 19 programs have been outlined, drafted, planned, and produced. The Purdue Aeronautics Corporation provides aircraft maintenance and hangar facilities.

Future to be Planned

A conference, at which Msgr. Reine, president, will represent Marian, will meet at Purdue, Mar. 30 to chart future developments.

This new television set, donated by the S.E.A., will be part of the professional laboratory equipment of the students in the education division. To observe and evaluate this medium of instruction and to learn how to integrate television with regular teaching will be part of their preparation.

Students to Choose New Board Officers

Wednesday, Mar. 28, the school-wide election for the president and secretary of the Marian Student Association will be held. Ballots may be cast in the Reading Room from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

The candidate for presidency of the Board must be a senior who has served on the Executive Board at least one semester. He must have maintained a 1.5 scholastic average.

Candidates for Presidency

Gerald Zore, an Honors Program student from Indianapolis, is treasurer of the Student Association. This history major's interests include the Latin-German Club, dramatics, and the Fioretti.

Joseph Kempf, also a local student, is editor of the Fioretti and a member of Lambda Iota Tau, national literary honor society. He has served as president of his freshman class and of the Booster Club and has carried the lead in several plays.

John Nonte, former sophomore class president, is a mathematics major, also from Indianapolis. John is active in intramural sports, varsity baseball, and SEA.

Secretary's Qualifications

The office of secretary is open to anyone who has a 1.5 average.

Judy Farmer, freshman representative on the Clare Hall Board, is from Madisonville, Ky. A member of the WARA, Judy is on the Marian Maids basketball team.

Laura Fitzpatrick, a member of the WARA, Latin-German Club, and Booster Club, is a junior biology major from Detroit, Mich.

Peggy Knoll, a junior from Indianapolis, is an English major and Honors Program student. She has participated in activities of the Choral Club, Legion of Mary, and CSMC.

Marian Rivas, a biology major from Bronx, New York, has taken part in the Honors Program. Active in the WARA, Marian also holds membership in the Latin-German Club, ACS-SA, and Aesculapians.

Nomination Procedure

Two weeks preceding elections the nominations are drawn up by the Student Board members. The choice of nominees is made by secret ballot from the nominations submitted by members of the committee. This slate is then submitted to the Administration for approval.

Nominations for vice president and treasurer will be Apr. 3, and the election Apr. 16.

Activities Keep Faculty Busy

Seminars, meetings, and speaking engagements have been planned by faculty members for March and April.

At the faculty seminar, Mar. 14, Dr. Kennard W. Rummage, associate professor of geography at Iowa State University, spoke on "The Geography and Economics of China."

"Glimpses of a World Tour" was the topic of Sister Hortense, dean of women, addressing the NCCW of the Lawrenceburg Deanery at Batesville, Ind., Mar. 20.

On schedule for Sister Olivia, dean, is attendance at the annual meeting of the North Central Association the last week in March.

Monsignor John J. Doyle will serve as workshop discussion leader, Mar. 26, for a seminar on Pastoral Counseling for Mental Health, sponsored by the Marion County Association for Mental Health, local interfaith groups, and the state department. He will also attend the Indiana Philosophical Association meeting at Purdue University, Apr. 7.

Speaking to the P.T.A. at Our Lady of Victory Parish in Cincinnati, Apr. 3, Sister Florence Marie, of the mathematics department, will present "The Revolution in Mathematics."

Reginald and Gladys Laubin, world acclaimed for their authentic American Indian dances, in colorful costumes worn at assembly.

Laubins Display Skills In Indian Dance Form

by Lois LeFeber

Ancient Indian Dances key-noted the assembly program of Mar. 15. At that time the student body witnessed the splendor and excitement of the age of the American Indian as recreated by Reginald and Gladys Laubin. Called "the Indians' dancing envoys," the Laubins are the first to present authentic Indian material on the concert stage. However, one does not need to be an Indian lore enthusiast to enjoy their performance, as was evident during their presentation at Marian.

The Laubins have actually spent much of their lives among the Indians, adopting their ways, absorbing material for their delightful and fast-moving concert. Chief One Bull, nephew of the famous Chief Sitting Bull, adopted the Laubins into his family and taught them more about the past life and dances of his people than many present-generation Indians know. The dances which they have learned and perfected are accompanied by ancient chants, little-

Biology Expert Proves Point

Biological warfare is an effective means of breaking down an enemy's resistance by planned disease and infection. In a just war, biological warfare is as morally acceptable as complete nuclear devastation.

These are two of the many points made by Charles Wilber, Ph.D., dean of the graduate school and professor of biology at Kent State University, in his lecture series at Marian, Mar. 12-13.

He also pointed out that nutritional conditions could be improved in the famine-stricken Asian countries if only the people would learn to use the many food sources available in their locale. Use of species usually unthought of for research was noted in a talk on exotic animals.

According to Dr. Wilber, students from a small college applying for admission to graduate school have an advantage over applicants from the large university because the former are better qualified to do work on their own.

AEC Donates 8 Isotopes

Eight radioactive isotopes, valued at $1200, have been presented to the biology department by the Atomic Energy Commission.

The presentation was a result of Sister Marie Bernard's participation in an eight-week summer institute at the University of Michigan.

Isotopes of carbon, iron, phosphate, iodine, sodium, sulfur, zinc, and cobalt arrived in mid-January. Two more are expected in March.

Botany students will employ the isotopes in making observations of the absorption properties of algae.

At present, Cynthia Stokes is studying elements traceable in plants through the use of audio-radiographs for an honors program project.

Thai Art Prints On Exhibit Here

The third campus Southeast Asian art exhibit, featuring Thailand, was on display Mar. 1-16. Borrowed from the statewide project for the promotion of non-Western studies in Indiana Colleges, this exhibit included historic sites, monuments, and art works of the kingdom better known as Siam.

Originals for the 80 large-scale prints were supplied by the Archaeological Survey of Thailand and by Ewing Krainin of New York. The exhibit was assembled by Theodore Bowie of Indiana University, with supplementary descriptive notes supplied by M. C. Subhadradis Diskul, National Museum, Bangkok.

Third Order Members Attend Annual Convention in Minnesota

by Billie Shinn

Returning to Indianapolis Feb. 26, from Winona, Minn., six Marian College delegates wished that their fellow students could have joined in the excitement and activity of the seventh annual Third Order Convention. The previous weekend had been filled with meetings, tours, and making friends.

3 Attain Awards

Recipients of the mathematics and science outstanding achievement awards are Laura Schaefer, mathematics, Mary Jo Boyle, chemistry, and Carol Roell, physics.

Laura received a handbook of Standard Mathematical Tables, while Mary Jo and Carol were awarded a Handbook of Chemistry and Physics.

Each year the Chemical Rubber Company makes possible these awards to outstanding freshman students in the scientific field.

The College of St. Teresa and St. Mary's College were hosts to nearly 130 collegiate Third Order members from Wisconsin, Illinois, Iowa, and Indiana.

Theme of the convention, "The Writings of St. Francis as Guides", was presented in studies of various aspects of St. Francis' way of life. Tom Molnar, representing Marian College, spoke on "Writings of St. Francis as Guides to Devotion to the Holy Gospels."

Following the delivery of each paper, time was spent in discussion, debate, and exchange of ideas. Father Albert Nimeth, O.F.M., manager of the Franciscan Herald and Forum, instructed the delegates further in the understanding of the Franciscan spirit.

Theme of the 1963 convention will be taken from Pope John XXIII's recent encyclical Mater et Magistra. Site will be Marian College.

Frosh Require Recognition For Record

by Judy Tishaus

How is a freshman class considered? As almost nothing. How does a freshman class consider itself? As almost everything. How does a freshman class wish to be considered? As really something. (And, after all, this year's freshman class of Marian College has a right to expect recognition of its achievements.)

Contrary to popular opinion, freshies need not be the traditional unenlightened, backward segment of a college population. Take Marian's freshman class for example.

Michael Brown, class president, and other members of a committee initiated the "Peninsula Campaign" in an attempt to provide an attractive outdoor meeting place on campus.

In athletics, too, the youngest group has left its mark, by means of Chuck Federle. Although only in his first year of college competition, Chuck has greatly helped the Knights during the '61-'62 basketball season. Another freshman achievement was Mike Leonard's winning the school ping-pong tourney.

Upholding the high standards of the college, the freshman class can take pride in its academic performance of the first semester, for 14 students were on the Dean's List, 6 with averages of 3.0.

Yes, this year's lowliest class has proved its school spirit in every meaning of the word. From carrying logs for the Homecoming bonfire to contributing articles for the Fioretti, the endeavors of the freshman class cannot be ignored.

Three cheers for the class of '65.

Plays Receive Warm Tribute

by Mike Hughes

Six colleges and three little theater groups participated in the tenth annual one-act play festival Mar. 3-4. It would be impossible to present a full criticism of each play, and therefore I mention only a few of the high points.

our own Pygmalion and Galatea undoubtedly presented the most effective use of comedy. The performance of Charlotte Van Noy would surely win an award for best actress in a supporting role.

For the best individual dramatic performance I commend James Loula of Notre Dame, whose portrayal of Folial in Escorial was the high point of the festival.

Linda Leydorf of St. Mary's College, Notre Dame, earned my best director award for bringing out the true meaning of Tad Mosel's Impromptu.

On the social side of the festivities, George Carse of St. Joseph's College provided the accompaniment for an hour of group singing at the Saturday night mixer.

ACS-SA

Apr. 6 and 7 more than 20 members of Marian's ACS, with Sr. Mary Rose and Sr. Marina, will attend the Chemical Convention to be held at Western Michigan University, Kalamazoo, Mich. Several students will deliver papers at this convention.

SODALITY

An evening of recollection for Sodality members was held Mar. 11 with Father William J. Schmidt, S.J., as speaker. Bonnie Johnson and Sally Myers served as committee heads. A meeting of sodalities at Xavier University is planned for April.

YCS

Sunday, Mar. 11, a combined meeting of the YCS and YCW was held at Marian. John Day, representing the YCS and Ernie Schnipple the YCW, aimed to acquaint the members of the Marian chapter with this joint program.

A series of talks, given by YCS "Full-Timers" is scheduled for the week of Apr. 9.

NCMEA

Oriental music will be treated at the NCMEA meeting Apr. 3. An invitation is extended to all interested non-members.

Red Cross

Answering the Red Cross' call for A positive blood to be used for the heart operation of Bernard McPeck, 14 years old from Granger, Indiana were: Dan Brown, Deardra Cancilla, Bill Drew, Mary Ann Drew, Steve McCracken, Judy Newt, Beth Sutherland, Gayle Wernke, and Jerry Zore, with Mary Ellen Timm as substitute.

NFCCS

Lay missionaries are needed for the Summer Volunteer Program in Arizona, Colorado, Georgia, Mississippi, North Carolina, Oklahoma, and Texas. Those interested should see details on the main bulletin board.

Class Shares I.U. Field Day

Sophomore, junior, and senior sociology majors will take part in the 15th annual field day sponsored by the Indiana University Division of Social Service, Mar. 27.

Visits to Indianapolis social agencies will occupy the morning. From 3 to 4 p.m. there will be a panel discussion on the different types of social work at the Division's headquarters. One of the panelists is Betty Burnett, an Alumna of Marian, now in her second year of graduate study at Indiana University.

Arrangements for Marian students, attending the field day were made by Miss Mary Haugh of the sociology department.

Apr. 2 Judge John Christ of the Indianapolis Municipal Court No. 5 will speak to the criminology class. The topic is "Structures of the Courts".

Narrow Margin Fate Accompanies Hardwood Five to Season's Climax

by Larry Zimmerman

Villa Madonna captured a close contest by a score of 86-80 with our Knights on Feb. 19. Marian slipped to a 16-point deficit at the end of the first half.

The Knights gained their second wind in the third quarter. They pulled within 3 points of Villa Madonna; then their comeback was stymied.

Top Scores Match

John Gross hit 26 points and Frank Emmerich 24 points for Villa Madonna. For Marian, Mike Noone connected for 26, Pat Sabelhaus 16, and Steve McCracken 15.

In the final game of the season, Marian encountered the champion of the Hoosier College Conference, Anderson, Feb. 24. Anderson's superior height enabled them to forge ahead early and claim a 13-point lead at halftime.

Narrow Margin

During the second half Marian chipped away at this lead only to lose in the final moments by 93-89.

Balanced scoring featured the attacks of both teams. For Anderson, Ken Strawn and Barret Bates each netted 24 points, and Bob Leach tossed in 19. Mike Noone led the offense for Marian with 23 points. Pete Dattilo collected 20 and Pat Sabelhaus added 19.

Marian Maids, Jan Brouillette and Carol Roell, display the skill that gave them a winning season.

Marian Maids Boast Fine 6-1 Record Despite Injuries

by Lois Daniels

The close of the Maids' Basketball season finds them boasting a 6-1 record. Following the leadership of their captain, Mary Otten, the girls showed enthusiasm and sportsmanship.

Giving Mike Noone a run for the money, Charlotte Isaac averaged 22 points per game. Jan Brouillette with 9 points per game in spite of a sprained ankle, and Carol Roell, with 11 points despite a knee injury, were in a starting line-up that proved indestructible. The substituting forwards were Mary Margaret Turk, Betty Bogeman, and Carolyn Schelle.

Contributing their efforts to this fine offensive team were: Mary

Marian Slates Triple-Barrel Threat in Spring Sports

Mike Werner takes his first swing of the '62 baseball season.

Faculty Wins First Victory

Led by Father Smith's 24 points, the faculty team routed the flying Tigers of Larry Bowman. After jumping into an early lead, the faculty team continued to widen the gap to achieve their first victory in three annual attempts. The Tigers, outscored in every quarter, were defeated by a score of 70 to 46. Jack Essling led the hapless Tigers with 15 points.

The M-Club will donate the $52 in proceeds from the game to a fund organized to produce a promotional film on Marian College.

March, at Marian, signifies not only the re-awakening of nature but the pre-season practice sessions for baseball, golf, and tennis. Although few in number, our men are high in spirit.

When the baseball season commences Apr. 3, the Knights will pair off with Indiana State. Mr. Fields has lost the hitting power and experience of last year's team, which compiled a 5-12 record against stiff competition. Mike Werner, a .400 slugger, and Ron Strange, co-captains are the only two returnees from last year's team.

Walt Fields will definitely field a young team which he has whipped into shape in the last month.

Golfer, Mike Noone, prepares to tee off for '62.

The golfers will take to the links Apr. 7 against a well-balanced St. Joseph's team. George Schmutte, Mike Noone, and Denny Mercier form the nucleus of the team which hopes to improve on last year's 3-10 record. Since Father Patrick Smith has three returning lettermen, he will have some talent to work with.

Apr. 7, too, the tennis team, under the supervision of their new coach, Father John Elford, will attempt to defeat the Pumas of St. Joseph. Experienced talent from last year's team are Geza Horvath and Joe Kempf.

As of now, that's how things shape up for the Knights, who are looking forward to the spring sports activity. Time will soon yield the results of their long hours of practice.

Geza Horvath readies his racket for coming tennis tournaments.

NFCCS Offers Trip to Bermuda

Marian's unit of the National Federation of Catholic College Students has announced that it netted $80 in the tour-of-Bermuda project. Sponsored by the Ohio-Kentucky region of the NFCCS, the tour will take place Apr. 23-29.

The expense-paid trip consists of jet transportation from New York, accommodations at the Princess Hotel, meals, and use of the Princess' pool, tennis courts, and private beach.

The winner, soon to be announced, has the choice of the trip or $215 in cash.

Frosh Receives Ping-Pong Prize

Mike Leonard, freshman, was awarded a 15-inch trophy for defeating Harry Fekkes, senior, in the final games of the ping-pong tourney.

Although not a favorite to win, Mike displayed superior skill throughout the tournament. He won most of his games by a respectable margin and demonstrated particularly superior talent in defeating senior Fred Peterson in the semi-finals. Harry, who was presented a 10-inch trophy, defeated flashy Tom Carroll in his semi-final games.

Also placing in close to the finalists were: Mike Noone, Joe Kempf, Charlie Robinson, and Mehdi Tehrani.

Variant Viewpoints Stimulating

Controversy — the story of our times! The contrasting viewpoints of the liberals and the conservatives exist even on the American college campus.

Conservative thought by definition exemplifies preservation of the existing order and strict interpretation of the Constitution. Some advocate gradual progress and reform. The principles of conservative philosophy are socially and economically based upon the upper class, which appears to be its foundation.

In contrast, Liberalism upholds individual and political nationalism. Liberals have no fear of bureaucracy nor of a loose interpretation of the Constitution. Social legislation and the use of governmental power as a reforming agency are employed as means by the liberals.

These two factions aid in creating an atmosphere of well being. Both philosophies have staunch believers. Followers try to influence others to profess and believe their particular viewpoints. There lies controversy and debate. The aim, however, is not to publicize the faults and disadvantages of the opposing groups but to prove the political awareness existing on our campus. Are you an interested party?

Lent Presents Time to Prepare

Beginning a series of Lenten Devotions at Marian were Ash Wednesday Masses in the college chapel, followed by the traditional distribution of blessed ashes.

In addition to the regular 7:15 and 11:30 Masses six days a week, during March, the month devoted to St. Joseph, there is Benediction at 5:15 p.m. The Way of the Cross is scheduled for 7 p.m. Fridays and 5 p.m. Sundays.

Besides attending public devotions, all students are urged to pray privately, especially the Way of the Cross, which may be said outside when the weather improves. Lent is a time to prepare . . . prepare to give . . . give to God. Have you been preparing as you should?

Sympathy

The faculty and students extend their deepest sympathy to Mr. William Sahm, speech instructor, on the death of his father and to Patricia Richardson on the death of her mother. Prayers will continue to be offered for the repose of their souls.

Space Race Worth Risk?

by Nora Fitzpatrick

The Friendship 7 has completed its historic journey and Col. John Glenn himself said, "Not every flight can come back successfully; we will have failures, we will have sacrifices." Americans have been asking themselves: Is the race for space worth the risk of human lives?

Judy Tishaus, freshman and Dean's List student, believes a human life means more than a country's prestige. The race for space is always faced with two alternatives: either continuing the race at top speed, possibly risking human lives, or permitting the Communists to dominate the outer atmosphere. Judy questions whether anyone has considered the mid-point of these two extremes. "Take it slowly," she advises. "We should never consider the time element as having higher priority than

My mind was utterly void of inspiration: a barren desert, an empty house, a college wardrobe without knee socks. I crossed my legs, scratched my ear with my pencil, and uncrossed my legs again. I threw a scornful look at the stacks of books and cards piled around the room. Whoever it was that invented this so called "term paper" was causing me discomfort! Then in a final attempt at inspiration, I hurled all one hundred and fifty note cards at my roommate, who had suddenly taken on a striking resemblance to my English professor.

Horrid English! Why did he require footnotes for every quote? Now I have to make up titles and authors for all the quotes I invented!

"I'd love to help you out", my roommate assured me, "but I charge 85 cents a footnote. Okay?"

"I should say not," I indignantly replied. "Besides, that's cheating."

I caught the hurt look on her face and decided to appeal to her sympathy. "It's not that I don't like your book titles and all, but with semester grades coming and my scholarship falling through . . ." I decided to wait it out, having confidence that in the end Toodles would come through.

Stooping to retrieve my note cards, I let out a stifled moan. (At least to Toodles is sounded stifled).

She jumped to her feet. "Your back, you should never be bending like that. You will get one of your headaches."

"My head has been bothering me all evening," I assured her. I had invented the pains as a joke, but she had taken me seriously. Now I dropped into an act without a pang of conscience.

"Let me make the footnotes for you."

"Oh, no, don't bother," I pleaded, as I tried to lift my pounding head from the pillow. (Really I think it was my pounding heart . . . the thrill of victory).

"No," she insisted, "I've several titles and authors made up already." It struck me that she had taken the bait rather quickly, but I dismissed the thought completely. Smiling wickedly, she set to work on the footnotes.

Today my English professor returned my term paper. "Conditional A," was inscribed across the title page, "providing you can find your quotes in Betty Crocker's Cook Book as your footnotes suggest."

Do you notice something excitingly different about this issue of the Phoenix? No? Well, read on! We freshmen found it a most worthwhile experience to display our unlimited talents in editing this month's Phoenix. Find time to support your future Phoenix staff by reading every word. We have sincere hopes that you will enjoy our efforts.

Have you noticed the recent improvements around school? The stage floor was refinished and there is a new bulletin board in the Auditorium lobby.

A hearty welcome to the 26 new students enrolled at Marian this semester: eight freshmen, eight sophomores, two juniors, two seniors and six special students. May your stay be a pleasant and profitable one.

Congratulations

. . . to Caroline Combs for winning the $100 scholarship awarded by the Loretta Young School.

. . . to all the "players" who participated in making the Play Festival a huge success.

. . . to the Student Board for positive action concerning the Lounge.

. . . to the basketball team for another year of fine sportsmanship.

. . . to members of the choral groups who worked so diligently in making the Choral Festival successful.

Good Luck

. . . to Frank Hogan and the students organizing the Current Affairs Club.

. . . to Phoenix and Marian staffers attending the Fourth Annual ICPA Convention at Taylor University, Mar. 31, especially to Marie Jochim, one of four nominees for ICPA first vice-president.

It's About Time:

We have another Coffee Hour.

Work is renewed on the Peninsula.

Students cease to come late to classes.

Spring comes to our campus as well as to our calendar.

Ask Yourself

A good question for college students to ask themselves periodically is whether they are taking advantage of opportunities presented them.

For example, how many women students took time to attend the assembly with Mrs. Coleada Kerr of the Loretta Young Finishing School, when she came to offer advice on personal appearance? How many men could be raising the school's prestige by participating in athletics but just don't bother? How many more students could be going to daily Mass and Communion? How many students are merely going to school instead of actively participating in the campus organizations, which could use so much help?

Why not stop to ask yourself now, "Am I doing my part to become an ideal Catholic intellectual, or am I just another cog in the educational machine?"
