EDITORIAL

Two years ago, Student Board and a number of others began to formulate a policy which would allow visitation hours in both Doyle and Clare Hall. Last year, Guest Hours became a reality due to the hard work and dedication of these people. Those who worked on the policy believed in it and knew it could work through the total cooperation of residents in both dorms. Although there have been violations of the Guest Hours regulations, they have been infrequent and not of a serious nature. On the whole, I believe the student body has shown the Administration and the Board of Trustees that this policy is workable and that students are capable of cooperating with its regulations.

Hence, many have expressed the desire to see Guest Hours expanded to include Saturday afternoons and Sunday nights. Presently, Student Board is working on a proposal of this nature. It will be submitted to the Board of Trustees after the committee work is completed, along with a request to remove the present policy from the probationary period. I would like to compliment Student Board and all those connected with this present effort for their initiative in pursuing changes in this vital policy. Students can help this effort by adhering to the present policy and also by filling out the questionnaire now being distributed by the Board.

FROM THE MASSES:

If you will give just a little of your time, you can preserve and extend a chain of brotherhood and concern which could release many American families from incredible torture. Most Americans think the POWs are home. More than 50 known POWs were neither released nor accounted for. Their capture was evidenced by pictures in captivity, propaganda broadcasts, and even a letter home.

The failure of the Communists to account for these men has left over 1,200 other families wondering if their loved ones, still listed as MIA, were or are still prisoners. Public opinion is credited for having influenced the Communists to improve the treatment of our prisoners. It is the only weapon left which may release the families of these men from the torture of not knowing.

Please send this chain letter to ten friends so that they may recognize the problem and vow along with you to mail on March 27th, one year from the date all POWs were supposed to return, two letters: one to our President expressing your concern and one to Premier Phan Van Dong of North Vietnam, expressing your insistence for an accounting. Please address your letter to Premier Phan Van Dong, Democratic Republic of Vietnam, Hanoi, North Vietnam, and affix a 21 cent stamp.

You will not receive a million dollars if you keep this chain going, you will simply have helped a less fortunate human being.

Sincerely,
Kristin Millies

It may appear to be a relatively small event, but I have to believe that my playing for the Marian College Junior Varsity was unprecedented in the history of Marian College. For once one of the organizations on campus allowed itself to be infiltrated by an outsider. The basketball team appears to be one of the only organizations on campus that is not bogged down in the egotism of elitism. They realize that without an incorporated Marian College effort, they will never succeed. Ask any of them, they'll tell you.

It's really a shame that the other organizations on campus can't admit this. For too long there has been a separate and elitist view contained within nearly every sector of Marian College. This elitism has caused many groups to commonly compete with each other, rather than interact toward any common goal. Maybe we should follow the lead of the basketball team and try to work together as a unit of Marian College.

Maybe Student Board should begin working together with others in their attempt for changes. There are many times when the R.A.'s, the R.D.'s and other clubs could be very helpful in the discharge of duties but they are seldom asked to participate simply because some people refuse to ask them. Why? Are these people worried about what gets done or are they worried about whether they get all the credit. Why do organizations like the Drum and Bugle Corps have to be so damn independent? Why can't they ask other clubs to help them in their drive for funds? Why don't they ask Booster Club for some support or better yet, why doesn't Booster Club ask them if they need any? Why does U.B.I. insist on playing it's separate but equal number? Why is there so much rivalry between the Business Club and Student Board when they have never even had a chance to react to each other yet? Maybe one of these days people will come down off their ego trips and realize we need each other. Maybe we'll get together one day and all get a chance to score some points for M.C.

Dear Carbon:

I think, therefore, I am. Well, at least, that is what I supposed and yet I am not sure anymore because things are decided for me. Life at Marian could be a frustration-thinking is obsolete-decisions for students are made by the older and more wiser. I am speaking of the latest decision made by Faculty Council defeating the smoking proposal for the west end of the cafeteria. Previous to the result, I had no feelings in regard to the outcome of the vote. Presuming that the general consensus of the students was in favor of the proposal, I thought it would pass. I was wrong.

I, a non-smoker, would like the privilege to become a smoker if the fancy should so ever strike me. And rumor has it that the best time for a grit is for dessert. So why not? It's almost as American as apple pie. The tobacco smoke has no ill effects on this non-smoker and I would like to see my fellow students comfortable. A nicotine withdrawal fit is not too conducive to the eating atmosphere and digestion of the surrounding people (smokers and non-smokers alike). Yet what I think is more important is the principle is broken. I feel the necessity for the individual to choose for himself. Whether it be one theology course over another, hot dogs or baked beans, to study or to procrastinate, to smoke or not to smoke--a question to be answered by oneself. Options, decisions, choices--that is the outside world. It's understandable that the elders want to cushion and coddle us, to shake a warning finger and to point to us the better way. But we have the need to stretch our legs and run and leap. And even wreck our lungs or at least to have the option to do so.

YOUR OPINION MAY BE WORTH A $1,000 SCHOLARSHIP
IN REED & BARTON'S
"SILVER OPINION COMPETITION"

During the months of February and March, Reed & Barton, America's oldest major silversmiths, are conducting a "Silver Opinion Competition" in which valuable scholarships totalling $2,500 are being offered to duly enrolled students at a few selected colleges & universities. Marian College has been selected to enter this Competition in which the First Grand is a $1000 scholarship, Second Grand Award is a $500 scholarship, Third Grand Award is a $300 scholarship, and seven Grand Awards of $100 each. In addition, there will be 100 other awards consisting of sterling silver, fine china and crystal with a retail value of approximately $100.00.

In the 1974 "Silver Opinion Competition", an entry form illustrates twelve designs of sterling with eight designs of both china and crystal. The entrants simply list the three best combinations of sterling, china and crystal from the patterns illustrated. Scholarships and awards will be made to those entries matching or coming closest to the unanimous selections of Table-Setting editors from three of the nation's leading magazines.

Miss Linda Kreutzer is the Student Representative who is conducting the "Silver Opinion Competition" for Reed & Barton at Marian College. Those interested in entering the "Silver Opinion Competition" should contact Linda at 291-1169 or (at Clare or Doyle Hall desks) for entry blanks and for complete details concerning the competition rules. She also has samples of 12 of the most popular Reed & Barton designs so that entrants can see how these sterling patterns actually look.

Through the opinions on silver design, expressed by college women competing for these scholarships, Reed & Barton hopes to compile a valuable library of expressions of young American taste.

MEN

This past week saw a couple of upsets and some shuffling in the standings. The Physiocrats who until this time had played sub-par basketball upset All the Marbles, 52-45 behind Curt Stoll's 20 points. The Underdogs lead by Keith Childers 22 points, upset Omer's Bar and Grill 58-50. The Underdogs only previous win was overwinless White Lightning ball club. The Remaining Few is now the only undefeated team, although they did have trouble with All the Marbles, beating them 48-44.

The Stoned Rangers defeated the Golden Nails 52-45. The loss dropped the Nails into third place in League B, while the Rangers remained in a first place tie with Wazuri.

This week's games will see a showdown between the leaders in League B. Look for Wazuri to take full possession of first place. In another big game, The Remaining Few and the Golden Nails, the two top ranked teams at the start of the season, will battle it out. The Remaining Few should remain unbeaten. In a toss up, All the Marbles and Omer's Bar and Grill will battle over second place in League A.

WOMEN

Teams win and teams lose but the Women's Intramurals keep on going. After the past two weeks of play there are three potential teams still in the race for "the championship"

The Team minus one athletic injury -- (Angelini), General Electric - sparked by Clay, that fast shooting left-handed forward and the Beaver Shooters who just- keep on shooting- are three potential contenders for championship play.

Champions are always mentioned, described, criticized, etc. It is now time to mention the real champions of intramural play- after all aren't intramurals for fun???

Such teams that fall under this description are teams like "The Virtuous Pagans" (did you say you got the name from Humanities?) and "The Amazons", who make up their own definitions of champion. Really, have you ever seen Pa-quin shoot, -Auberry rebound or Bird dribble? --or, have you ever tried to dribble around Schlegel's feet, watch Joyce catch a pass (as in basketball-Joyce) or see Bruns try to find the right basketball hoop?

These teams display the real meaning of sportsmanship. It is easy to win a game by 50 points - but is it as easy to be beaten?

This is Starkie, Little Wap and Main gazing through the looking glass or was that the hoop?

Carbon Applauds:

- Sr. Francesca applauds the cast and tech. crew of Black Vignettes, who carried on so admirably in spite of distractions, difficulties, and "unfixed things" in a true, professional "the show must go on" tradition (I bes real proud!)
- Dave Vocke - for not being proud
- Godspell
- The Crispy Critters of 127

Carbon Hisses:

- The absence of our "true blue" typist and artist - get well Theresa!
- Masochistic chess player who tries to draw (what's up, Bill?)
- J.A.D. and his flunkies who laugh at a true master when concentrating. Eat my shorts!
