Editorial

In the fight for women's self-regulated hours several years ago, the rights of a minority segment of Clare Hall women were bargained away to insure speedy approval of self-regulated hours for the majority. Therefore Marian was left with one remaining vestige of descrimination against women- Freshmen women's hours.

The argument presented with the first self-regulated hours proposal for women was that women are just as mature and responsible as men, and since there should be no hours for Doyle Hall, there should be none for Clare Hall women. I believe this argument is still valid.

Then why do Freshmen women still have hours? It seems the institution still clings to the patronizing attitude that their weak and defenseless "girls" (why not the boys?) still need someone to play parent for them and make sure they don't stay out too late. What puzzles me is why Freshmen women passively accept this demeaning and inferior position. Maybe they are unaware that there are ways of trying to remedy this situation. If that's the case I hope they approach Clare Hall Board to do something - because it can be changed. But why has Clare Hall Board been negligent in instigating action on this matter itself? I would think the policy would be demeaning to every Clare Hall woman in every class for isn't it the implication that the Sophomore women are only as mature and responsible as Freshmen, Juniors as Sophomore, and so on up the line?

In this day and age I don't believe the right of women to be treated as equals to men can be challenged. The college should have the same confidence in the maturity of Freshmen women as they do the men. On the other hand if Clare Hall residents want to be treated as the responsible women they are, they must assert their right to this and stop submitting to the inferior role assigned to them by the hours policy.

Farah Boycott

Despite the publicity given to the struggle of Chicano farmworkers for the rights and dignity, the overwhelming majority of Chicanos who can find work hold jobs as unskilled or semi-skilled workers - and they are facing the same struggle.

The Farah Manufacturing Company has been exploiting Mexican-American labor and opposing all attempts by them to organize unions. In May, leading union activists were arbitrarily fired, and 3,000 Farah workers walked off the job. Farah tried to break the struggle by importing workers from Mexico. They also arrested 800 strikers despite the fact that there has been no violence on the striker's part. The Federal Government has found that Farah Company is guilty of unfair labor practices for firing union sympathizers however the company continues to flout the law - within a month after the strike was declared, 24 union supporters were fired in Victoria, Texas.

The Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America supported by the Citizens Committee for Justice for Farah Workers has launched a nationwide boycott of Farah pants. They are appealing to students to support the boycott since the students are a major segment of the Farah jeans consumers.

If you are interested in helping set up projects to help the strikers, contact Emily Penzell, Citizens Committee for Justice for Farah Workers, 112 East 19th St., Room 1104, New York, N.Y. 10003.

Dear Carbon Editors,

I see page six of Your Carbon paper Vol. 4 is empty. It seems like such a waste. One suggestion would be to make it into an opinion page, a forum for the discussion and criticism (which there are many) of ideas and issues of Marian College. There are many ideas on the campus! For example: Is the Carbon and Phoenix printed on recycled paper? Why is there no grievance committee on campus? Why are there no planned discussion days? Where is the Carbon office? I could only find the Phoenix office. How come the drop/add course fees so horribly high? Can't it be lowered? In conclusion, the Carbon wastes too much valuable room on each publication. Stop writing so big!! Please print this and write on!!

Thanx,
Cathy Mattingly

In reply,

Sorry about empty spaces, the Carbon is not on recycled paper (I wish it was), and I like the big writing. What does everyone else think?

I would like to have a large section in the Carbon be a forum for discussion and criticism of ideas and issues, but the success of this depends on the letters we receive from the students - so keep them coming.

The Carbon shares an office with the Phoenix (they have two). It is upstairs in SAC, the last room. Letters may also be placed on our mail shelf outside the Office of Student Services.

To All Students:

The Program Committee has a budget for the 1972-1973 school year for $2400. In a change from the past policy, the Committee has decided to have only two convocations during the year.

It is the intention of the Committee to stimulate interest and attendance in and at these convocations. Therefore, it is our desire to know whom the students would most like to see. We are open to your suggestions. Whether it be controversial or entertaining, please inform us. Contact either Dean Morgan or Vlad McNimery. Thank you.

STUDENT BOARD

At last Sunday's meeting John Felter was appointed Day Student Representative to the Board.

Nominations are still open for these positions:

Conduct Review Board:

- Junior Representative
- Sophomore Representative
- General Representative
- Alternate

Traffic Appeals Comm:

- Two Students

Political Action Comm:

- Democrat Vice-Pres.
- Republican Vice-Pres.
- Non-partisan Vice-Pres.

Anyone interested in any of of these positions should see a Student Board member before next Sunday. It would be advisable to attend the meeting (Sunday, 7:30, in the Social Council Rm.) to answer any questions.

Intramural Football:

The "Pure Funk" rock concert provided the musical score for the Intramural Football Show last Sunday. Once again two of the four games (or half) were decided by forfeits. The Elders won on a forfeit from Hobbits Heroes in game 1 and War was awarded a forfeit from Butt in game two.

In the third game, the Lone Rangers shut out the Mother Truckers 32-0. The Truckers were seldom in field position, due to the power kicking of John "Smiti" Smith. It was the third consecutive time the Rangers defense held the opposition scoreless. The scoring was paced by two Ken Aust to Heebie Hayden passes, and two touchdown passes from Ken Tyrrell, one to Ken Aust and the other to Dean Morgan. The other score came on a Chris Everett interception. Louis Gomez has assured us that the Mother Truckers will be vastly improved this week.

In the final game of the day, the Gods of Hellfire had enough players show up for their loss to the Vice Lords 28-6. Recovering from an off-week, Stubby Farrell caught three touchdown passes to lead the assault. Ed Jerin scored the other touchdown on the fourth scoring pass of the day from Pat Zapp. The Gods lone score came on a Bill Doherty to James Herbe pass, showing the old-timers still had it in them.

This Sunday's schedule:

- 12:30 Butt vs Mother Truckers
- 1:30 Vice Lords vs War
- 2:30 Lone Rangers vs Gods
- 3:30 Elders vs Hobbits Heroes

The Old Master predicts:

- Mother Truckers drive over Butts
- Vice Lords end War
- Lone Rangers pacify the Gods
- Hobbits Heroes edge Elders

So sports fans, until next week this is the old lefthander rounding third and heading for the 13th Green.

WAA Volleyball

Upsets characterized the third week of women's Intramural Volleyball as only three teams remain in the undefeated column: Volumptuous Vollies, 8 Pak Plus One for the Road, and Wazuri.

Monday night the Blue Yarn roasted Marsh-mellows and handed them their first loss after three well played games the last one having the score of 16-14. Both teams now hold a 4-1 record.

Wazuri stretched their victory mark to 5 as they labeled Brand X with a defeat. The Snatches maintained a three game winning streak by beating L&M. The big upset of the night was the defeat Main Ingredient suffered at the hands of Fleschel's Farm Outs.

Pak continued their winning ways as they exploded to take the Indiana Bombers. Couldn't be that 8 Pak has a secret weapon in Eliason? Gagon's Gangsters stretched their victors to five as the Gangsters ambushed the Raiders.

Squatty and friends, with the help of the looming and muscular Agnes, handed the Red Hot Momma's (Momma's not Mamma's) another defeat. Frosh skills were matched in the battle between 3M Co. and East Wing with Company getting the best of it.

The big battle of the week took place on Wednesday night as the defending champions Wazuri faced the Gangsters. Gagon's Gangsters couldn't pull it together while the Wazuri team played like pros. When Gagon's Gangsters finally calmed down in the second game, it was too late. It was all around beautiful team work on the part of Wazuri as they marked up their sixth.

The second undefeated team, Volumptuous Vollies (how this team ever arrived at that name I'll never know), defeated Fleschel's Farm Outs while the Blue Yarn received their 5th victory by stringing the Snatches along. This defeat broke the Snatches winning streak, and rumors have it that their morale is low again. (What does this team do to raise its spirits??) 8 Pak Plus One for the Road made it 6 "biggies" as they defeated 3-M company.

The upset of the century occurred when The Marsh-Mellows were handed a humiliating defeat by the Main Ingredient. As this unbiased sports writer looks back on this game, it is still hard to understand how this Ingredient team ever managed to overcome the expertise, skill and maturity of the Marsh-Mellow squad.

Other Wednesday night results were the Bombers of Indiana demolishing the Volley of the Dolls; L&M defeating Squatty and Friends; the Red Hot Momma's (watch your typing in this sensitive area, please) branding X for a loss; and 3 East stopping Bruno's Raiders.

So as another fun-filled week of women's sports comes to a conclusion, this is the old Wap rounding the 13th and heading for home.

But why

Good men, and they are the

these things truly as they happened.
