TO THE MASSES:

It's only 9 p.m. and we are happy to report that our first carbon is nearly ready for print!!

We hope to establish a few minor changes within this publication which after a summers thought and our advisor's consent, we will outline more clearly next fall. Generally we want all students to feel free to contribute any and all opinions and expressions in the form of articles, poetry, artwork and shorts (applauds, hisses, confidentials). We wish that all past and present columnists will continue their their very much appreciated time, humor and talent to 78-79 Carbon. And to all the artists, we look forward to more of your humorous and creative endeavors.

We will be grateful for Dr. Appleby's direction as Carbon Advisor and even possible therapy.

Pam Wetula, Mike Davis, and Sue Sommer, we pat you on the back for a job well done!!

TO THE MASSES

We would like to take this opportunity to announce the upcoming plans for the Fall Semester of Drum and Bugle Corps.

Activities that we hope to participate in are performances at half-time shows for several high school football games, the annual homecoming show, and marching in the Veterans Day Parade here in Indianapolis.

Making a new appearance next fall will be the Marian College Drill Team, an auxillary unit to the Marian College Drum and Bugle Corps. The drill team will consist of flags and rifles who will perform with the Drum and Bugle Corps and at the Marian College basketball games. This is open to both men and women, and in addition to flag and rifles twirling, MAY include dance in some routines. Plans have been made to purchase new rifles, hats, and drill team outfits.

On behalf of the whole Drum and Bugle Corps, we would like to invite you to sign up for Drum and Bugle Corps next semester. A reminder that Drum and Bugle meets Mondays and Wednesdays at 4:30 and Friday at 12:30 subject ot change. Drum and Bugle is offered for one hour credit, and all equipment is supplied at no charge to the student. Scholarships are still available to those students who show desire and willingness to work.

If you have any questions, please contact us. We're looking forward to seeing you next year!

Betsey Huffman, Rifle Captain, ext. 439
Chris Noel, Drum Major, ext. 339

FIELD DAY '78

It was Wednesday, the third of May
Sunny'n pleasant spring day
Nationally the Sun-Day
At Marian was the Field Day.

Fun was the order of the day
None did stay away
Music filled the air for us to sway
The food was right to eat away.

All went wild and gay
But all in a mild way
Those who tried to get away
Were pushed in the mud anyway.

The climax was the party at night
Tanglewood was the destination of the flight
There they danced with all their might
To say that they are alright!

THE SUN DAWNED BRIGHTLY...

on Field Day 1978. Students who didn't have class were up bright and early rushing to make their 9:00 "class" at Georgetown Happy Hour. Those who were in class could smell the aroma of Saga burgers and dogs roasting on the outside grill. Then at 11:30 students, faculty and administration joined together for a picnic lunch on the Drum and Bugle Field, entertainment by Disc Jockey Tom Philpot. As the last of the potato chips and popsicles were consumed, the intramural winners were honored with trophies along with Maid Pam Gialanella and Knight Jim Dossman. With the formalities out of the way, the fun began. The air was filled with cheers of victory and anguish as people tossed, wrestled, and raced their way through the afternoon. Not a clean T-shirt was to be found by the end of the day. The activities were closed with powder puff football finals between the Frosh and the Seniors. The Seniors won 19-8 making the final class scores Seniors-49; Juniors-41; Soph-30; and Frosh-30.

Tired and dirty from the days events, students dragged themselves to dinner and then to the showers to prepare for Field Days Finale-the Party. By 8:30 Tanglewood Apt. Clubhouse was hopping to the tunes produced by Don St. Peter's and Tom Doherty's sound equipment. Over 170 "Spirited" Marian College students attended proving MC students endurance is second to none.

SO LONG!

This certainly is the last issue of the CARBON for this academic year. We know how eager we were to reach for a copy of the CARBON every Friday morning (This year it had come out every week). Today, while we read this popular paper of every Marianite, let's pause to think about those behind this affair. Editorship demands leadership. Leadership requires patience, prudence, tolerance and, above all, the tact to track down all the obstacles without hurting anyone. There are a number of opportunities available at Marian to develop these qualities. CARBON is one such field.

Many of us dread responsibility. Some of us go for it for mere name and fame but often end up in shame when we find that we are 'lame' for the 'game'. I am sure that the rest of the Marianites would agree when I say that this year's editing trio, along with the artists and typists, have lived up to the expectation. I join the rest of the Marian community to wish the new editors good luck.

Seniors, the road you had travelled has come to an end. Now, it's time for you to part to start a new life. We wish you all the very best.

All of us will be facing the final hurdle next week before we have fun in the sun. I wish you the best of luck. Take care not to burn as you tan, for you got to return. So, till we meet again...so long!

Now that Pat Price is graduating, who will be the head of the French Department?

CO-ED VOLLEYBALL

The co-ed volleyball season came to an end Monday night when the final three matches were played. At 7:30 pm, I Aeta Thi was forced to use all three games to defeat the Rowdies who played with only two men. The Rowdies won the first game 15-12, but Thi rallied to win the last two 15-7 and 15-8 to move into the final match.

In the other semi-final match, the Mutts & Jeffs battled I Tappa Keg for a spot in the final match. I Tappa Keg won the match in two very close games, 15-13 and 15-13, to move into the finals. Tom Gillespie and Pat Back officiated the semi-final matches. THANKS!!!

The final match was between I Aeta Thi and I Tappa Keg. The match went full three games with Thi winning the first game 15-6, but I Tappa Keg came back to win the second game 16-14. The final game of the season ended 15-0 with Thi as the Co-ed Volleyball Champions. CONGRATULATIONS!!! To the other teams—better luck next year.

SEE PETER

Grayson stood staring at the carpet, a wine-dark shag. Wine-dark? No. Think of something else. The economic picture. Murphy's law. Ecuador. Anything. No. But-No! No wine-darks. No pretzels, no snitzers, no anything he'd find in a bar. Just-no. He'd been off the sauce for a month now. Correction: one month, two days, five hours; he looked at his watch. And 12 minutes. He coughed nervously. Then, he saw it. A small flask, three-quarter empty, above the kitchen cabinets. Oh, God. One drink. Just one Please! No! Can't—mustn't. The phone—that's it. He crossed to the phone. Up went the receiver. 2-9-9-4-6-8-1. A.A. They'd said to call if—Hello. This is Grayson Mills. Listen, I don't know what to do. There's some liquor in the house. If I touch it, I'm dead. You know that. What do I do? The voice answered slowly. This is your test, Gray. You can do it. Take the bottle, open it, and pour it down the sink. You can't hide it forever. Good luck. Click. He was alone again. Get a ladder. Easy—don't break anything. Climb up slowly, reach, got it! Down! Carefully! Okay. Take off the cap. Pour it. Hurry! Oh, God...one drink.... It's half gone... Please...a sip... A couple ounces left... A drop...one stinking drop... Gone. All gone. Sigh. Grayson went back into the parlor. To stare at the wine-dark carpet. And to sigh...

Iwent with 3 of my colleagues from the University of Tennessee philosophy department to play golf. On the first tee we found a foursome of psychologists just about to tee off.
One of my colleagues quipped, "You fellows must really have a terrible time trying to play golf while you psych each other out!"

"At least we don't argue," one of the psychologists replied, "about whether or not the ball is really there!"
