

NO JOK(E) PART II

In today's tempo of specialization and large state universities, it is increasingly hard for small, private colleges to continue their existence, as is the case with Marian. Surely it is no quirk of fate that M.C. has been taken over by a new, primarily business oriented administration. If Marian is to continue to compete with the state universities and well-established private schools it must continue to grow and prosper which will take money, and a lot of it.

One of the new administration's main concerns is to provide the money for this expansion, most of which will come from small and large businesses, public and private contributions. But before they contribute, the businessman or citizen must be pleased with what he sees. He must like the product. This feeling of constantly putting that best foot forward has been previously seen in the past months on campus. Many times this consciousness has seemed to overrule student and even faculty concerns. Long hair, sandals, controversial films, etc. are frowned upon, advised against or not scheduled. The argument, very pragmatically, being that they might leave a bitter taste in the mouth of a potential donor. But then again, long hair students still live, some "controversial" sneakers like Malcolm Boyd and Dick Gregory are still scheduled and some "controversial" films are still shown.

Very practically, a middle ground must be reached on this issue if Marian is to have a future. M.C. needs money to grow and a large part of that money must come from local businessmen and citizens. However, it must also be understood that Marian cannot, and should not, prostitute its ideals in producing

"... graduates who have inquiring and honest minds, healthy bodies, worthwhile goals, high moral standards, sound esthetic tastes and a sharp sense of personal and social responsibility." (1968 Student Handbook)

When, and if, the atmosphere of questioning minds and academic freedom is polluted with green paper fallout, Marian will die or shrink into an automated, regimented indoctrination for citizen 009564.

In order then for Marian to grow and prosper a middle ground must be struck that allows enough space for the students to grow and mature in a community, not family, of academic freedom and excellence and likewise, for the administration to continue to finance this growth. This middle ground must allow understanding and, necessarily, concessions on the part of both students and administration. The students have been constantly making concessions, will the administration?

What's Happening at MC or The Vast Wasteland

We're about to undergo a painful experience--a weekend at MC. To help offset this condition the Junior Class is sponsoring a COFFEE HOUSE from 8 to 11 tonite at the SAC ML. Drag your bod over and for 75¢ listen to Kurt expound for 15 minutes on love and to Kent just expound. Other fine local entertainment (with the accent on local) will be featured.

PUBLIC SERVICE ANNOUNCEMENT: will some civic minded individual in the spirit of Christian charity donate a radio to the pub?

Saturday at 11:30--CROSS COUNTRY at Rose Poly.

SATURDAY night the scene is, well, there are two scenes. Manuah, god of Fertility (or is it fertilizer?), mascot of the men's dorm, will preside over a mixer in the old ML from 8 to 11. During this time Dr. Doolittle's Peruvian llama, made in New York, will be raffled off in Indy. (note international flavor of Manuah!)

And for the more discriminating--there will be cars going to I.U. for LeRoi Jones' play "Home on the Range." Tickets are $1.50-4.50 at the main aud at I.U. at 8:00. For transportation see JO'K before 6:00 p.m. Saturday.

SUNDAY at 4 p.m. mass there will be a special collection for the Tutungi Memorial Scholarship fund. And at 7:30 in the SAC lounge will be an "Up Beat" meeting. Anyone interested is invited to attend.

MONDAY is unofficial Social Studies in Action day. Voter Registration all day (9-4) in the Perc; important Republican meeting in 309 at noon; and a History Department Reception in 207 at 8:30 are planned so far. Are Demagogues meeting? Voter registration will continue Tuesday.

Wednesday is CLUB DAY from 9:30-4:30 in the SAC Lounge sponsored by the Inter-Club Council. All Campus clubs will have a booth and explanation of their group's activities. The purpose of Club Day (like the Carbon) is to

Sports Shorts

The Marian College Cross Country team running in its first meet of the 1968 season and also first under new head coach George Dickison gave way to experience Wednesday night and suffered its first defeat. Short on manpower, much needed in the sport of cross country running, Marian finished last of five teams with 140 points while Vincennes finished on top with a score of 23. Following Vincennes were Manchester, Butler, and Oakland City respectively. Number one man for Marian was Don Bruns, a very capable sophomore only lacking in experience, with a clocking of 24:29:00 over the hilly four mile course. Next for Marian was David White. Other members of the team include Bolla, Della-Penna, Brunette, Oliver.* The next meet is at Rose Poly on Saturday. These boys although lacking experience are making the sacrifice needed for this endurance sport and soon should give Marian something to cheer about. Get out and watch a meet!

Intramural football makes its 1968 debut Sunday with 10 of the 11 signed-up teams seeing action. These 11 teams will be divided into two leagues, National and American. This necessitates an odd number (5) of teams in the American League leaving one team with a bye every week. The only team not seeing action this Sunday will be the Big Ten, last year's champions. They have everyone back again this year and certainly are the favorites to repeat for the title. Schedule for this Sunday reads:

12:00 (A.L.) Lost Souls VS Nutty Nine Plus One

1:00 (A.L.) Fubars VS Captain Kangaroo

2:00 (N.L.) Dirty Dozer VS Gross National Products

3:00 (N.L.) Fruit of the Loom VS Gigantic Jenny Tell's

4:00 (N.L.) Intramural Team VS Grad Students

All games will be two hand touch. One note: Please respect the rule concerning dress in the cafeteria following games.

Basketball equipment will be distributed Sept. 30 and first official practice will be held Oct. 1 with colorful coach Cleon Reynolds once again at the helm following two successful campaigns.

An attempt is being made to have an inter-collegiate chess team here at MARIAN. There will be more about this next week. In the meantime, anyone interested should see Dean Pille.

During Club Day the M-Club will be holding a raffle and also selling tickets for the M-Club dance, Oct. 26. The first big dance of the school year is coming soon. Get your tickets Wednesday.

BOARD REPORTS

Last Saturday night a spaghetti-covered emcee announced that a pole had been taken on campus. At present Paul Kazmierzak, our Student Board President, must still be missing since the Student Board has not yet met. Obviously the purpose of this column is to report board news which at this time does not exist. Without this task there has been little work of any sort for this reporter. Thus all my invaluable time has been spent in attending campus social activities.

Initiation of the freshman class into elite MARIAN society culminated with the bang of the annual Beanie Bounce. The thud of last year's vulgar chaos during the same period was easily surpassed by the sophomore's humorous and orderly presentation this year. Fortunately, the aspect of good-natured fun was emphasized all during that week.

Admittedly there were some sensitive areas, but these were by far the exception. Especially intriguing was the entertainment that the event also offered, such as the word dance. Personally, the most annoying point was the reference that Hitler is not dead, but rather living in the White House. Our almost unique freedom of speech is easily misused in serious instances such as this.

Plainly our public officials are not always right in their policies. Individual maturity causes the realization that solutions to war and peace, poverty and law are not simple, nor easily solved. In short, life is complex. Members of this generation are not the only crusaders. Others who have come before us have tried and are trying to alleviate suffering. It is nice to dream dreams of ideality, but life is also conscious.

THURSDAY at 12:45 the frosh convocation is on "Student Government." P.K. (SB pres) will give the low down on anarchy at MC.

QUESTION: Where is Dick Gregory?

ANOTHER PUBLIC SERVICE ANNOUNCEMENT: For those of you who are wondering - the NEW Perc hours are Mon. - Thurs. 8 a.m. -4:30 p.m. and 7-10:30 p.m.; Friday 8-4:30 and 9-11 p.m.; Sat.-Sun. 1-4:30 p.m. and 9-11 p.m.

AND yet one more PSA: the placement office will be putting notices in the CARBON concerning campus interviews by industry and branches of the Armed Services. Notices will also be on the Main Bulletin Board and department heads will be notified several days in advance (shock!) of the scheduled interviewers.

BOYCOTT STAR AND NEWS

Please do not patronize the newly installed machines on campus. These newspapers are an abortion to journalism. Their pages are covered with one-sided reporting and one-sided editorializing. They influence and exert a great voice in concert with these reactionary views. If you want the sports or news that bad, read the papers that the dorm purchases or subscribe to the Louisville Courier, that we hope will soon be publishing an Indianapolis edition. Hopefully, soon we will have Courier machines on campus.

SETTING THINGS STRAIGHT

The purpose of this column is to serve as a means of clarifying issues with confront the college community. It is open to all reasonable questions which any member of the college may feel important. Questions should be submitted to any CARBON staff member or placed on the CARBON desk in the Publications Office. The name of the person submitting the question will not be revealed.

Q. Why was the Doyle Hall open house on September 22 cancelled?

A. "The open house scheduled for September 22 was postponed rather than cancelled due to a conflict in commitments previously scheduled without coordination with the Doyle Hall Staff. The open house activities as planned by Doyle Hall were of such a significant nature that the Dean of Student Services felt he should make a greater contribution to the planning and involvement than was permitted by the early pressures of starting a new school year. The laudable purpose of the open house will be fulfilled." Dean Pille

Q. Is the fact the Blow-Up is not being shown on campus at this time an indication of institutional policy concerning other movies of this genre?

A. "No, it is not. After consultations with various members of the student body, faculty, and the administration with regard to community reaction to this particular film, it was the consensus that the interests of the college would be better served by selecting another motion picture." Dr. D. J. Guzzetta

Q. Last semester, applicants for RA positions were informed that RA's were not allowed to hold any office on campus. Why? And why is one RA allowed to hold the office of editor of one of the campus newspapers?

A. "A search has failed to reveal any individual who informed RA applicants in specific wording "that RA's were not allowed to hold any office on campus." The applicants may have been referred to paragraph 9 of the RA contract which states:

9. 'Any possible conflict in relation to student involvement and the assumption of this administrative position must be discussed with the Dean of Student Services preliminary to declaration of candidacy or student activity. (Publications, Student Board, Intercollegiate Athletics are examples where conflict can arise.)'

The one RA holding the office of editor of one of the campus newspapers did discuss the declaration of his proposed student involvement as an editor prior to the assumption of the RA position. The discussions disclosed that this particular RA had the capacity to serve in administrative and student involvement situations with equal competency and that the possibility of a conflict deleterious to MARIAN COLLEGE would be remote. It will be the policy of the Student Services Office to consider any question of policy on an individual basis." Dean Pille

INSIGHTS

I abhor those students who protest against the Establishment, the administration, campus officials, and cops merely because they are authority symbols. But I heartily praise the minority in this country who protest peacefully for causes that a greater justice may be rendered.

Unfortunately, our legalistic-minded courts and justice department are currently defeating the very goal of the democratic system which they espouse. A case in point presently being the recent "justice" afforded Dr. Benjamin Spock.

It seems that certain considerations should have been dealt with in such a case which would not be covered in normative law texts. The first consideration in such a case would seem to be a question of what social good arises from incarcerating a man like Spock who does not present immediate danger to his fellow citizens. It would seem that his passive resistance to the government would be that type of conduct society could most easily withstand. Was not the "law" much too defensive of following its dictates here? Was not Spock's an action of ringing to the awareness of the public an issue of vital importance for serious consideration by citizenry and public officials alike? Where a protest is dealing with an issue of such impact on all Americans, it seems that a degree of tolerance should be rendered to the symbolism of a so-called crime, rather than weighing the act entirely on its adverse impact on the state. This is not to suggest that even passive resistance should be exempted from the sanctions of the law, but that action taken in such cases should be more relevant to the situation (a symbolic punishment or fine for a symbolic re- crimination).

Rather than this, a focusing upon the legality of the situation is tending, in our society, to blind us to our obligation to meet our judgments in a humane and fair way. One begins to question a system which is so defensive of its system of justice that arbitrarily follows precedents and laws in the interest of the common good. After all, Spock's draft-card incident was in the interest of what he thought would cure a greater wrong - the war in Vietnam.

How can we call ourselves a democratic state if the justice we meet out is not individualized, but rather dictated by strict codes which allow not human intervention or interpretation? Aren't we intellectually and physically capable of such action in the interest of a truer justice?

PERRY PERCEY

As we left off last week, Perry had just waved down a Wallace cab driver to (he hoped) take him to MARIAN. By some strange fate, the cabbie knew where MARIAN was and proceeded there-to-fore, after Perry had put his bags in the cab trunk himself. In the course of the 7.3 mile trip to the 4.3 mile away campus, Perry

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

It is with much pride and honor that I announce to you and your readers that "Black Is Beautiful." And this is what UBI (Union for Black Identity) is all about.

Marian College has been an institution on the move. But up until now the particular needs and desires of its black population have been overlooked. Perhaps, it might be better stated this way. It has been assumed that the needs of Marian's entire student body have been generally taken care of regardless of race, creed or religious belief. This has been a mistake.

We, the members of UBI, have not had a completely satisfying and fulfilling experience at Marian. It's not easy to accept the fact that a young lady denies you a date because your skin is darker than hers. And you get tired of hearing someone tell you that he or she has a good Negro friend at home. But, on the other hand, it's somewhat flattering to know that everybody knows of you. After all it would be difficult to miss seeing us especially during the day.

The purposes of UBI are: 1) to meet the general needs of Marian's existing black population; 2) to establish better rapport between the races; 3) to be an attractive and active incentive for present and prospective black students; and 4) to be an instrument of identity for Marian's black students.

UBI is where the happenings are going to be. We expect to have a number of events, happenings and speakers capped off with our big event of the year, Negro History Week (Feb. 16-22). We welcome all comments and suggestions and look forward to enjoying a happy and integrated year.

Dear Editor:

The 1968-1969 Academic Affairs Committee has as its goal the betterment of the academic environment at Marian College. But if Marian is to have the dynamic academic life which she deserves, it is then imperative that the student body become interested in the development of academic policy and be willing to make demands upon the administration when a change in the "status quo" is deemed necessary. This year, for example, the Committee plans to look into the idea of establishing the pass-fail system for certain courses. And in addition the members of the Committee will always be open to any suggestions that the students may have. However, the Committee will only be strong and vital if the student body is prepared to give enthusiastic support to the notion of academic reform.

Finally, the cab rolled into Doyle Hall after breaking two axles and a transmission on the Doyle Hall speed bumps. Perry paid the hairy, fat man $7.50 and presented him with a 35¢ tip to buy a new issue of True Life to re-

OPERATION UP BEAT

Last spring a unique community involvement program was initiated on the Marian College campus and dubbed Operation Up Beat. As a result, an eight week in-residence summer experience was implemented for fourteen sophomores from Wood and Attucks high schools. These students, college potential but from low economic and "culturally deprived" families, lived with Marian students in the Green and White Halls. They participated in a full program designed to favorably introduce them to the advantages and experience of higher education. Classes were taught by Marian faculty and ranged from mass media to mathematics lab. Other activities included sports, discussions on social problems, field trips to points of interest in Indianapolis, movies, and community service with Headstart and retarded children at Noble School.

All who worked with the program this summer were pleased with its apparent success. The close living situation was particularly fruitful in helping the students learn how to relate to each other and to the counselors. Constant individual attention and the sincere interest of teachers, volunteers and counselors increased each student's realization that he is important as an individual. Also stimulated was an interest in higher education and the desire to "make something" of themselves.

Marian students will continue to counsel and tutor these high schoolers this year. They will be invited to spend a second summer on campus and will have the opportunity to continue in the program until they have graduated from high school. In addition new students will be included in this summer's program.

The Project Director of Operation Up Beat is Mr. William Pedtke; Project Administrators are Susan Mailloux and Paul Kazmierzak. Counselors for last summer's session were Dick Gardner, Judith Logel, Roger Lyons, Kenny Rogers, and Anne Zishka. The Tutorial Program this year will be headed by Ann Carr.

place the outdated issue on the cab dash.

On the circle at the men's dorm, before Perry could get one foot out of the cab, no fewer than thirty-seven guys surrounded him and asked if he needed any help. Only having two bags, Perry felt ashamed whereupon he proceeded to hand one pair of fruit of the loomers or one unwashed T-shirt and/or other articles to the astounded good Samaritans.

By the time he got to the main door of Doyle, fifty-five men had introduced themselves to Perry. And by the time he got to the desk to register, he had met 2/3 of the dorm population. At the desk they asked him for five dollars before they would resume talking to him. Paying the five dollars, the silent stares were transformed into chattering tongues.

Will Perry ever get a room so he can break his forty-seven hours without sleep or will he meet the rest of the dorm before he gets his room? Tune in next week for more in ---- c.l.

A belated welcome is extended to Mrs. Majors in the Business Office.
