

Forty-Six Receive Baccalaureate Degrees

Message to the Class of 1947

by Msgr. John J. Doyle

The college every year faces the task of receiving a new group of students and making them to be a part of itself, contributing to its work, which cannot indeed be accomplished without their help. Each of these students is a unique personality, with her own special needs and her own special capacities. Each class has also an individuality of its own, which distinguishes it from every other one. The task of the college is to meet these various needs and to avail itself of these varying potentialities, to do full justice to every individual and to every group and at the same time to be true to its mission of seeking and transmitting truth without regard to persons, standing steadfast in its ideals and its principles.

Every year also the college awards its degrees to another group of students that have for four years been a part of it. These graduates are no more all alike than they were when they arrived. Each one has received the imprint of the college, but each one has received it in her own unique way and is even more truly herself as the result of what the college has done for her. And the college has been influenced by the graduates. At any time, it is largely what it has been made to be by the students that have sat in its classrooms and walked about on its campus.

Since on commencement day the college loses some part of itself, we cannot pass that day without some feelings of regret. We think that this is true of the graduates too. It is, however, a day of congratulations also for both the college and the graduates because it marks the accomplishment of a task done together. To the Class of 1947 and to each of its members go our wishes for continued success and happiness. Nothing that happens to any of them can fail to be of interest and concern to us that remain behind. In ceasing to be students they do not cut off all bonds with Marian College, for it is in the alumnae as well as the students and the faculty that the college has its continuing life. Each of us may take as spoken to himself the words said of old: "Fear not and be not dismayed; because the Lord thy God is with thee in all things whatsoever thou shalt go to."

Archbishop Schulte Presides At Commencement June 2

Degrees will be conferred on forty-six seniors at the annual Commencement exercises June 2. For the first time, His Excellency, the Most Rev. Paul C. Schulte, D.D., Archbishop of Indianapolis, and Chancellor of Marian College, will make the presentations.

The graduation address will be delivered by the Right Rev. Msgr. Henry F. Dugan, J.C.D., Chancellor of the Archdiocese.

The candidates for degrees will be introduced by the Very Rev. Msgr. John J. Doyle, Ph. D., college chaplain and head of the department of philosophy.

Degrees to be Conferred

Students who will be graduated with a Bachelor of Arts degree are: Doris Aiken, Rachel (Matthews) Booker, Margaret Braun, Mildred Daniels, Mary Jo Falvey, Mary Ellen Fox, Esther Frey, Mary Ann Gearin, Dorothy Gillman, Helen Gomez, Patricia Hagan, Julianne Jackson, Joan Kervan, Diana Magnus, Rebecca Martinez, Margie Mellen, Mary McNulty, Jeanne Stiens, Maryfrances Wendling, and Blanche Winans.

Two other degrees will also be conferred. The Bachelor of Science degree will be awarded to Mary Louise Alter, and the Bachelor of Science in Education to Eileen Busan.

Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Science in Education degrees will also be received by twenty-four Sisters of St. Francis of Oldenburg, Indiana.

Processional to Honor Candidates
The formal academic procession, beginning at 8:00 a. m., will be held in the college chapel at 8:00 a. m. (Continued on Page Seven)

Students Elect S A Officers

After all the pink ballots had been counted and tabulated, Tuesday May 1, Sara Jo Mahan smilingly accepted the joys and responsibilities of Student Association president for the year 1947-48.

Sara Jo Mahan

Sara Jo is an Indianapolis student and an economics major. Elected by an all student vote, she is vitally interested in school affairs and has confidence in the officers elected to help her.

(A tabulation of officers appears on page six.)

NSO Delegates Convene Aug. 30

The constitutional convention of the National Students Organization, University of Wisconsin, Aug. 30-Sept. 8, will mark the first concrete step in the establishment of this organization.

The ratification of the proposed constitution, prepared by the National Continuations Committee, and the acceptance of the suggested program of activities will constitute the main business. The activities program will include student welfare and international student activities.

It is expected that the first of these will be divided into four commissions to deal specifically with the following areas of interest: (1) the academic, cultural, social, and physical conditions of campus life; (2) students' rights, systems of student government, student publications, and student-faculty-

Fr. Moore Speaks At Baccalaureate

Baccalaureate services will take place in the college chapel at 8:00 p. m., Sunday evening, June 1.

Central feature will be the baccalaureate sermon delivered by the Rev. James E. Moore, pastor of Our Lady of Lourdes church, Indianapolis.

Benediction with the Most Blessed Sacrament will follow.

During the services the A Cappella choir will sing Veni Creator by Ravanello, Ecce Panis by Polleri, Tantum Ergo by Montani, and Laudate Dominum, by Grassi.

A reception will be held for the seniors, their parents, and friends, after the services. An invitation to attend has been extended to the junior class.

Dramatization of Genazzano Miracle To Prelude Alumnae Induction, Tea

"The Miraculous Madonna of Genazzano" an original dramatization by Mrs. Howard J. McDavitt, Indianapolis, will be one of the chief attractions of the Alumnae Induction and Tea, Sunday, June 1. The presentation, based on factual information supplied by NCCW national headquarters, will be enhanced by the display of a painting of this madonna loaned for the occasion by Mrs. Fred Gisler, also of Indianapolis.

DES Chapter To Induct Two

Induction ceremonies of Beta Eta chapter of Delta Epsilon Sigma, national honor society of Catholic colleges and universities, will be held June 1 in the Mary Room.

Rachel (Matthews) Booker and Patricia Hagan, candidates, will be formally presented by Sister Mary Kevin, chapter secretary, and received by Monsignor Doyle, president. The pledge service will be attended by faculty and alumna members of the college chapter.

Kappa Gamma Pi induction for Doris Aiken and Jeanne Stiens is being arranged through the nearest formally erected chapter of the society in Cincinnati.

Mrs. McDavitt, a graduate of St. Agnes Academy and Butler University, has been giving public readings in Indiana for the past twelve years.

Preceding the formal induction of the class of 1947 into the alumnae association, Margaret Ann (McCarthy) Fleetwood, president, will speak briefly on the significance of the ceremony. Members will hold lighted tapers during the official initiation.

Miss Victoria Montani, harpist, will play during the ensuing tea. Rosemary (Gueutal) Priller and Licia Toffolo will pour.

Co-chairmen of the event are Beatrice Hynes and Cecilia Mellen.

Summer Courses Begin June 24

Terrace Throne, Spring Musicales Exalt MC Queen

The annual Campus Queen Crowning and accompanying Musicales, first events of Commencement Week, were held Sunday, May 25.

Julianne Jackson, elected by an all-student vote, was crowned as Queen in an outdoor ceremony in which the entire student group took part.

Attendants of the Queen, also chosen from the senior class by student vote, were: Mary McNulty, Mary Jo Falvey, Mary Ellen Fox, and Margaret Braun. The court proper was completed by class representatives Gladys Gonzalez, Rosemary Doyle, Joan Coyle, Mary Jane Porter, Mary C. McCarthy, and Barbara Allen.

Royalty Salutes

Traditional feature of the preliminary academic procession was the national anthem sung in formation around the flag pole. The wind and percussion sections of the orchestra played the accompaniment.

In the court scene on the terrace, song tributes were paid the Queen by the Bel Canto, Glee Club, and entire student group, the clarinet quartet playing the accompaniment. The formal academic procession, beginning at 8:00 a. m., will be held in the college chapel at 8:00 a. m. (Continued on Page Seven)

Light and Shadows over Graduation

Alongside the joy of having achieved a goal directly sought for four years and the happiness that comes from the graduation wishes of our friends, we, the seniors, realize a somber quietness, a hesitation in going out into the realms that are beckoning us.

Each of us, since her enrolling at Marian, has taken pride in being an integral part of the college. We have become firmly rooted in Marian, and tearing away from her is due cause for regret.

The span of our college career has covered war years, the transition, and the dawn of peace. It has been fun. We have played, planned, and talked together; studied, worked, and prayed together.

It was especially as we did these things for the last time—attended for the last time the meetings of the clubs that we have been active in, sang for the last time, as a group, our lovely school song—that we came to a better understanding and a deeper appreciation of the standards and ideals of Marian and of the value of our college friendships.

The more firmly we have rooted ourselves in Marian, the more of her nourishing sod we shall carry with us as we become transplanted into a more spacious society. This thought is our "cheerio" at parting.

... And Incidentally

May has been among other things, picnic-time at Marian. Science Club led with its annual get-together on May 11, followed closely by the residents all-day picnic on Ascension Thursday. Legion of Mary picnics decided that a little rain definitely adds something to any picnic—even if it's only puddles. Resident seniors are planning a final end-of-May picnic.

Monsignor Doyle really "lost time" last week. Private sleuth, Doris Aiken, tracked down the missing issue, though. Congrats!

Nita Kirsch, accompanied by Jeanne Stiens sang Sanderson's Waltz Song at the May 18 meeting of the Indianapolis Matinee Musicale.

Junior class members are walking more carefully since two of their classmates suffered sprained ankles within a week. Sprainees Mary Sunderhaus and Mary Stieff report that hobbling isn't fun.

Annual play day at Marian saw a softball game in full swing on the front lawn . . . kick ball game on the side lawn . . . potential tennis champs battling it out on the court . . . boating enthusiasts rowing on the lake . . . sunburns everywhere.

Science club members now have a clear picture of careers in chemistry open to women. Thanks to Mr. Anderson, speaker, representing the Carbide and Carbon Chemical Corporation.

Bel Canto reveries of Notre Dame and the N.C.M.E.A. convention take them back to Washington Hall and convention sessions . . . the university church and the 1200 voice choir . . . a magnolia fragrant campus . . . a scenic grotto . . . a vast new stadium . . . a home-coming, tired but glad.

As we say "bon voyage" to all vacationers, we add a "happy birthday" to all who will be passing another milestone of years this summer—and incidentally we've posted the birthday calendar on the main bulletin board.

Ave Maria

An angel called you so.
Gratia plena
Diffusing grace, we seek from you.
Dominus tecum
The Lord of Heaven, the Lord of Earth is with you ever.
Benedicta tu in mulieribus
Above all women are blest
For the Son of God lay on your breast.
Et benedictus fructus ventris tui, Jesus
O Blessed Fruit of spotless Maid.
Sancta Maria, Mater Dei
Mother of Incarnate Word,
Hear our plea sent heavenward.
Ora pro nobis peccatoribus
We sinners in this world below
Rely on you, our refuge—heaven's portal.
Nunc et in hora mortis nostrae.
Barbara Hipp, '50

Non-senior-staff members have reserved this corner for the expression of sincere appreciation to the senior class for its hard-working support. To seniors on the regular staff they can say only, "You've done a big job well. We'll try to carry on."

College Pin Design Rich in Symbolism

Relieving the tedium of examinations the school pins arrived and with them a hurry of excitement as the sophomores eagerly awaited a chance to pin them on.

Beneath the proud boasts of their grandeur, however, lay a deeper appreciation of them as their significance was realized. Marking the completion of two years' study at Marian, each section of the pin symbolizes something relative to Mary.

The gold shield of faith against the cross of hope is engraved with an M for Mary and Marian, inside a circle symbolizing an unbroken, never-ending bond of love. The twelve stars crowning the Blessed Virgin and witnessing to her special virtues are suggested by the twelve pearls circling the pin.

Distinctively Marian this pin says volumes.

Planning Your Vacation?

—Here's an Idea

Will you be wanting "a pause that refreshes" and keeps you refreshed—for yourself? for someone you know?

A wealth of experience and fun could be stacked up along with spiritual profit by attending the Marian Congress in Ottawa, Ontario, Canada, in the middle of June.

Two days of the congress, dedicated to the Blessed Mother, will be sponsored by the Legion of Mary.

To accommodate persons who wish to attend these particular days, June 17 and 18, the Indianapolis Curia of the Legion of Mary has chartered a bus for the trip. Reservations are necessarily limited. For further information ask any member of the college praesidium.

The Indianapolis Chapter of the International Federation of Catholic Alumnae has arranged for four week-end retreats and two days of recollection for women during the summer months. The respective chairmen will be glad to give full details.

WEEK-END RETREATS

June 6-8—Ladywood School, Indianapolis

Director: Rev. Daniel J. Connors, O.M.I.

Chairman: Miss Madge Ginn, MA 8150

Aug. 16-17 and Aug. 22-24—The Academy, Ferdinand, Ind.

Director: Rev. Walter Courtney, T.O.R.

Chairman: Miss Ruth Ann Baker, HI 3855

Aug. 30-Sept. 1—Marian College, Indianapolis

Director: Rev. John J. Hynes, O.M.I.

Chairman: Miss Helen O'Gara, LI 1814

DAYS OF RECOLLECTION

July 20—Legion of Mary, Marian College, Indianapolis

Director: Rev. Joseph V. Beechem

Chairmen: Miss Agnes Datzman, IR 3431

Miss Margaret Widloff, CH 4710

Aug. 17—NCCW, Marian College, Indianapolis

Director: Rev. Louis Gootee

Chairman: Mrs. Gilbert Kahn, CH 5981

One of these events, tucked into your summer schedule, would stamp that schedule with an honest-to-goodness Catholic collegiate awareness of values.

Monument to Mary

Mother's Day, May 1, saw the country-wide drive for funds to complete our country's "monument to Mary," the National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception, Washington, D. C.

Since the corner-stone laying by Cardinal Gibbons in 1920 only the basement church or crypt has been completed. Its grandeur, however, is token enough of the magnificence of the entire Romanesque basilica envisioned by its founders, who planned that it should be "as beautiful as humanly possible."

In the center of the cross-shaped crypt is the gold-onyx Mary Memorial Altar, the gift of the International Federation of Catholic Alumnae and dedicated to the Marys of America. Surrounding it are fifteen altars, honoring the fifteen mysteries of the rosary.

More than twenty countries have contributed the thirty-nine varieties of their choicest marbles for the pillars and floor mosaics. Popes Benedict XV and Pius XI have presented a marble mosaic of Murillo's "Immaculate Conception" destined for the main altar of the completed cathedral.

The foundations of this work have been laid by the sacrifices of many and it will rise to completion by the generosity of millions more. The smallest gift will not be too small to add to Our Lady's glory.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Donald E. Cooper (Phyllis Rohyans) on the birth of a son May 22.

'Dear Diary'... a disclosure of four years' jottings faithfully kept

Dear Diary

Sept. 7, 1943—Registration day... fifty bewildered freshmen, from all parts of the United States, two from Cuba and two from Ecuador.

Sept. 13, 1943—Oh how our backs ache. Never have we carried so many books or made so many beds. Yes! Freshman Initiation has come, complete with huge signs, coffee-jar purses, ill-mated shoes, and those horrible stocking caps that wouldn't stay on. Wait until we can plan initiation!

Oct. 22, 1943—We just had a grand Day of Recollection. It gave us a chance to become more familiar with Marian's spiritual life and with Christ living in our own tiny chapel.

Nov. 7, 1943—Now that our parents have seen our campus, it's twice as lovely. Rosemary Oldenburg, our president made her debut as committee chairman.

Dec. 11, 1943—Our first college dance. From the Naval Armory came lots of dates and fun for all—(the war is on, you know).

Apr. 1, 1944—A nice rainy day for the NFCCS regional meeting held at Our Lady of Cincinnati College but this couldn't dull the enthusiasm of Marian's bumper delegation.

Apr. 30, 1944—"The Swan," dramatic presentation and a chance for us freshmen to exhibit our talent.

May 1, 1944—Devotion to Mary became more a part of us after the impressive May Crowning held outdoors in academic cap and gown.

May 2, 1944—High School Day kept us busy today serving punch, entertaining the college-bound seniors.

May 7, 1944—Campus Queen Crowning. Licia Toffolo, illustrious senior, made a charming and gracious queen. Oh to be a senior!

June 1, 1944—Graduation day. Happy thoughts of vacation, sad to see the seniors leave. Good-bye, Marian, until Sept.

Sept. 7, 1944—It was great to see the old crowd again but we miss the grads.

Oct. 28, 1944—We began our social life tonight with a Sailor Dance. The only trouble—there was a slight mix-up and not many men showed up. Nevertheless we had a good time.

Nov. 16, 1944—Tonight our class went to the Homestead for dinner. Chicken, chicken everywhere—even in our purses to take home with us.

Nov. 21, 1944—At last our sophomore pins arrived. To celebrate the occasion we had a dinner in the cafeteria. Mary Jo Falvey, our president, raised a toast to the class.

Mar. 19, 1945—Oh me! my poor brain is completely worn out. Today we had sophomore achievement tests. They never told me college could be like this.

May 7, 1945—Today the whole world is rejoicing and sending up a prayer of thanksgiving to God. It's so hard to believe that the war in Europe is over. Yes, this is VE day.

May 27, 1945—Tex Gaden made a beautiful Campus Queen this afternoon. It's times like this when one really appreciates the beauties of Marian College.

Oct. 30, 1945—That's what I like about us progressive Juniors—we know how to start things out right. Tonight we had a class dinner at the Canary Cottage and afterwards went to see the "Desert Song" at the English. It's still a toss as to which was the more enjoyable. Mary Ellen Fox is proving herself a good leader.

Mar. 11, 1946—Today a great honor befell Marian College. Our own Father Doyle was invested as a Monsignor. I know we'll like that added touch of fuchsia around the campus.

May 8, 1946—Field day for everyone but the Juniors and for us it was an afternoon of toil. If you had entered Clare Hall, you would have come face to face with pink elephants and laughing clowns. Yes! you guessed it—we were working on the decorations for the first post-war Junior-Senior Prom.

May 10, 1946—At last the night of nights—our Prom. It was a huge success, and if I say so myself, one of the biggest affairs held at Marian in many a moon. Gertrude Schroeder, our Prom Queen, looked like an angel.

May 26, 1946—Campus Crowning and Patricia Winship, our queen. Marian Hall's main entrance made a good "rainy-day" substitute for the terrace.

Sept. 11, 1946—Once again registration day, but now, confident, the seniors sign up for classes and take over the responsibility of leadership—Rachel Matthews heading Student Association and Jeanne Stiens directing class activities.

Oct. 16, 1946—Marian Hall is the scene tonight of the clergy's farewell to Archbishop Ritter. We didn't get to see him but we know he left a blessing for us with the faculty.

Oct. 20, 1946—Practically Marian's entire student body appeared at Sts. Peter and Paul Cathedral for the installation of Archbishop Paul E. Schulte. Even more fortunate were the seniors who helped welcome His Excellency at the airport. Who will ever forget the parade afterwards?

Nov. 2, 1946—Aspiring student teachers have begun teaching at St. Mary's, Sacred Heart, and Holy Trinity. What hilarious stories they tell.

Jan. 17-18, 1947—A busy week-end for the Senior-Alumnae Dance and Homecoming. The decorations committee are still seeing blue notes and sparkles in their sleep.

I stood and watched and wondered...

I stood by the window and looked out over the sprawling driveway, each arm making a graceful arc as it leads to nature, the world, or God. The pines swayed softly as a tolerant breeze toyed with their branches.

I watched from the art room window as students reveled in the spring day's sun and then withdrew to leave a scene of faultless beauty. The Japanese mulberry bowed in mock adoration as the spirea bent low to trace the terrace. A squirrel scampered across the lawn in an obvious attempt to reach its young. The elm did not resist its eager climbing but seemed

Testimonial

... of the Senior Class of 1947

We, the Senior Class of 1947 of Marian College in the County of Marion and State of Indiana, being of sound mind and memory, and considering the uncertainty of this frail and evanescent life, do therefore ordain, publish, declare, and sign this to be our Will and Testament.

We, the Senior Class, will our lofty position, our wealth, talent, popularity, and good looks to the Junior Class.

First, we order and direct that our Executors hereafter named pay all our just debts and expenses as soon after our departure as conveniently may be.

Second, after the payment of such expenses and debts, we give, devise, and bequeath the following:

I, Doris Aiken, give my famous history notes to Joan Dippel and my boundless energy to Joan Baumer.

I, Mary Louise Alter, will my class pin to Jane Costello, Rita Taske, and Pat Ward.

I, Rachel Matthews Booker, endow the junior class with my home.

I, Margaret Braun, gracefully wave my artistic ability to Lillian Lieland and my interest in music to Elaine Thomas.

I, Eileen Busam, will my patient teaching to Eileen Gaughan and June Vachon.

I, Mildred Daniels, entrust my drawl to Jeanne Gallagher.

I, Mary Jo Falvey, present with joy my short lunch periods for study to Jane Gaughan.

I, Mary Ellen Fox, offer my double responsibility as a big sister to Pat Filcer and Shiela McAndrews.

I, Esther Frey, pass on my easy-going way to Joan Fischer.

I, Mary Ann Gearin, relinquish to Mary Stieff my beaten path to the library.

I, Dorothy Gillman, arise from my place in philosophy class and offer it to Marianne Lauber.

I, Helen Gomez, tip my height to Catherine Gardner.

I, Patty Hagan, will my jitterbugging to Marjorie Gulde and the Red Cross to Dot Bersch.

I, Julie Jackson, dispense my Campus Queen thrills to Mary Sunderhaus and to Mary Jo Doherty.

I, Joan Kervan, bequeath my Spanish talent to Antoinette Pangallo.

I, Diana Magnus, ruefully hand over my collection of plaid shirts to Rosemary Doyle and my place in history class to Lois Tenbieg.

I, Rebecca Martinez, pass on my interest in history to Joan Wolff.

I, Mary McNulty, give with glee my parking place to Sara Jo Mahan and my pride in my Irish name to Gladys Gonzalez.

I, Margie Mellen, tearfully surrender my love of red hair to Margie Davey.

I, Jeanne Stiens, confer my abilities as a pianist to Kathleen Holtel.

I, Maryfrances Wendling, bestow all my activities except Jess to Joan Casler.

We, the Senior Class, appoint the Class of 1948 as executors of our will, and have hereunto subscribed our names this twenty-sixth day of May, in the year one thousand nine hundred forty-seven.

Senior Class of 1947,
M. M., M. McN.

Graduate's Prayer

As I leave a familiar stepping stone
In the glistening brook,
So I leave now, my school.
God guide me,
Lest I dash my foot on jagged rocks,
And falter in midstream.
Guide me to the fair meadows,
My final goal.

Marian Alumnae in Current News

From near and far these bits of news of Marian alumnae have been gleaned.

Havana, Cuba, sent first hand news through Maria (Carballeira) de Cubas, who visited Marian last week-end on her way to New York City. Emma Gronlier, Maria reported, is doing secretarial work at the Pan-American Airlines office in Havana.

Another recent visitor to Marian was Mary Jane (Lang) Reichsman, who with her husband stopped on her way from New York to Texas. Having completed the establishment of a social service center at Sun Mount, she will now carry on a program of social service in the Veterans Hospital Dallas.

Jan. 28, 1947—Too tired to write much. First semester exams are over. Just think, one more semester, and then no more tests!

Feb. 19, 1947—Lent has come and we seniors seem to be always hungry. Remember the dispensation granted to eat at the shower given for Rachel Matthews?

May 6, 1947—The long dreaded comprehensives are over — not so bad. We're dining at Sheffield Inn tonight.

Dear Diary,

June 2, 1947—The great day has come at last! 10:00 A. M.—caps on straight, the organ peels out lustily "Pomp and Circumstance" and seniors solemnly and proudly approach the finale of four years of scholastic achievement, lasting friendships, and memories of Alma Mater.

Good-bye, dar, faithful dairy,—it's time you rested.

Doris Aiken and Julie Jackson.

News closer to Marian is Doris Ann Becker's taking up graduate study at Indiana University School of Law, extension division. She is still a statistician at the Bell Telephone Company, Indianapolis.

Other "Hoosier" news includes Erna Santarossa's teaching junior high school music and English in Indianapolis. Mary and Licia Toffolo recently spent a two weeks vacation in Florida and Cuba.

Rosemary ("Happy") Glaser and Jane Swengel are serving the public by maintaining law and order. "Happy" has the distinction of being one of the two women on the Cincinnati police force, while Jane, as part of her social work assignments, is truant officer in Indianapolis.

Career-minded graduates are following their professional interests. Betty (Spencer) Leone is assistant in the psychology department of Purdue University. Beatrice Hynes, as a stepping-stone in her journalistic career, is reporting for the Sheridan News, Sheridan, Indiana. Her side-line is book-reviewing for the Indianapolis Star. Rosemary Mackinaw is combining teaching and library work in the Edinburg public high school. Catherine Pangallo is exercising her literary talents on radio-scripts.

From Cincinnati comes news of two brides-soon-to-be. Rita Krekeler and Frieda Meiners are planning weddings in August.

There is news, too, of Marianites who have "chosen the better part."

Louis McCoy, received the white veil at the Convent of the Good Shepherd.

Senior Close-ups . . .

Careers and ambitions, although revealed by the graduates in advertisement form over a year ago, have persisted with few changes.

As she desired, Eileen Busam will step into a room full of kindergarten youngsters next fall, and in Cincinnati too. The elementary schools of the West are calling Helen Gomez.

Esther Frey is still intent on entering a nursing school, but as yet is undecided as to which one or where.

It seems that Rachel Matthews Booker benefited from Margaret Braun's ad desiring a "vine covered cottage in which to practice interior decoration." Margaret will, for the time being, continue working at Ayres. Another dream fulfilled, Mary Louise Alter has secured a position in the bacteriological laboratories of the Indiana State Board of Health.

Eli Lily's will receive the benefit of Mary Ellen Fox's college and Cuban study of Spanish, when she begins work in their Foreign Department. Joan Kervan will also capitalize on her knowledge of the language.

A hint that one of Maryfrances Wendling's graduation gifts is in the form of a precious stone fosters the thought that her yearn to illustrate fashions may give way to another art.

Post-graduate study in the field of Occupational Therapy will certainly occupy Dorothy Gillman's next few years.

Rebecca Martinez, the social worker who "wishes to work among Mexican laborers" will probably get her chance soon. Her work in connection with the Legion of Mary has given her a start.

Her sociology major, supplemented by her scientific interests seems to ably qualify Mildred "Peewee" Daniels for service among the Lebers. "Maybe at Carville," states Peewee.

Patricia Hagan can find all kinds of jobs, but not the one she wants. Who knows, maybe her only true desire is still just a "gentleman, Catholic, handsome, rich, a good dancer."

The right job hasn't fallen into Mary Jo Falvey's hands yet, either, but she is holding out for technical work in a laboratory.

Instead of high-school teaching, Jeanne Stiens, may decide to give private instruction in piano and organ.

Other teachers, Margie Mellen, Doris Aiken, and Diana Magnus are still unsettled as to their teaching locations next fall.

Julianne Jackson will soon be taking more examinations; this time they will lead to a position as airline hostess, so hopes Julie.

Mary McNulty surprised us all when she announced her ambition to enter law school in the fall.

Mary Ann Gearin will continue working at Ayres as she has been during her college career.

This is the immediate future of the seniors. Next year look for us in the alumnae column.

Social Events Dot Senior Calendar

Comprehensives, final exams, Phoenix planning and financing, and many social affairs have played hop-scotch over the senior calendar.

An all-out drive to finance this eight-page issue of the Phoenix was triumphantly directed by Eileen Busam. The editorial burden was shared by all members of the class.

Highlighting their social life was the class dinner held at the Sheffield Inn, May 6. The occasion celebrated the finish of comprehensive examinations.

Also enjoyed was the open house held on the evening of May 12 by Rachel (Matthews) Booker.

Margie Mellen entertained the class, May 22, at her home. This preluded a final period of "last minute cramming" for the seniors.

May 29 will find the seniors once again at the Sheffield Inn. This time the dinner will be given in honor of the class by Mary McNulty.

Luncheon to Mark End of Guild Year

Marian Guild will combine a covered dish luncheon with the last regular meeting of the school year, June 3.

Each member is to bring sandwiches and a covered dish. Friends of Guild members are also invited.

Meetings will resume in October.

Campus Queen

mal crown-presentation was made by Mary McNulty.

Following the Queen's speech of acknowledgement, the court adjourned to Madonna Hall as guests of honor at the Musicale.

Ave Maria Opens Musicale

The A Capella choir opened the program there with an Ave Maria by Murphy. The String Ensemble contributed La Spagnola by Chiara; the Bel Canto Ensemble, Cantantibus Organis by Ravanello and Song to the Virgin by Marx.

Vocal soloists were Nita Kirsch, Mary Helen Kuzma, Rosina Menonna, Jeanne O'Brien, and Jane Spencer.

Instrumental soloists were: Joan Baumer, Kathleen Holtel, Ann Kuebler, Mary P. McCarthy, Sara Perera, Geraldine Schloeman, Jeanne Stiens, Elaine Thomas, Wanda Toffolo, and Margaret Yirga.

Closing the program, the Glee Club sang The Angelus by Rubenstein and Our Flag by O'Hara.

administration relationships; (3) educational opportunities and discrimination in student life; (4) academic freedom, educational standards, and college and university curricula.

A schedule of nine days is expected to leave ample time to debate fully any points of argument. The representation will be in proportion to the college or university enrollment, on the same basis used for the Chicago Students Conference.

Mary Jane Porter and Mary P. McCarthy will represent Marian as voting delegate and alternative delegate respectively.

N.F.C.C.S. Region Elects Officers

Election of officers and the laying of plans to draft a regional constitution were the leading achievements of the regional NFCCS meeting held at Mount St. Joseph, May 11.

Duties of the new officers will include an activity calendar for next year and a plan of rotation of council meetings.

Charles Hogan, Xavier, was elected president. The remaining officers are: James Beckman, University of Dayton, vice-president; Patricia Burns, Mount St. Joseph, recording secretary; Mary Jane Porter, Marian, corresponding secretary, and Martha Ann Yarber, Nazareth, treasurer.

The assembly gave a rising vote of thanks to the retiring officers including Mary Sunderhaus, Marian, past president.

It was voted that the new president appoint one member from each college to form a constitutional committee. This committee will meet during the summer to draft a constitution which will be proposed at the first regional meeting of the year 1947-48.

Tentative plans were made for a regional workshop to be held in September.

Fioretti Sponsors Year-End Dance

The Fioretti Staff sponsored the last dance of the school year. Mary Jo Falvey, business manager, became general business chairman with all staff members as committee.

An added attraction was the opening of the dance to former students. From 9-12, the night of May 23, couples danced to the music of the Rhythmairs in Madonna Hall, decked with spring flowers.

ginning at 10:00 a. m., will escort the candidates for degrees to Madonna Hall. Ruth Bill, as maid of honor, will directly precede the candidates. Elgar's "Processional" will be played on the chapel organ.

The Bel Canto Ensemble will open the program proper with the cantata "Saint Mary Magdalene" by Vincent D'Indy, modern French composer (1851-1931) and pupil of Cesar Franck. Soprano soloists will carry out the part of the narrator, while the entire ensemble will sing the three-voice choral sections.

Jeanne Stiens, music major, will play a piano solo, Debussy's "The En-gulfed Cathedral."

Members Ratify Club Constitution

At the final meeting of the World Affairs Club, May 21, the document of organization, constitution, and by-laws, were read and ratified. Specific purposes outlined are:

1. to discuss intelligently the economic, political, and social aspects of current world trends.
2. to derive from such discussions knowledge that will enable students to become international citizens.
3. to correlate academic subjects and to apply classroom theory to practical situations.
4. to provide a student board for political opinions.
5. to further carry out the purposes of the NFCCS international relations commission.

Constitution features ratified include the substitution of the name "World Affairs" for "World Politics" to allow for expanded interests of the club, and the nomination of Monsignor Doyle as honorary president and official sponsor.

Fashion Projects Enroll 9 Students

Marian coeds will have a chance next year to hold their own in the world of fashion. Nine girls have been elected by an all student vote to fill positions in the three leading department stores of Indianapolis.

Patricia Filcer will be in competition to represent Catholic girls' colleges on the Ayres' College Board, while Colleen Jones, Marjorie Markham, Mary McCarthy, and Eileen Gaughan will take part in Ayres' Fashion Show.

Jane Costello will serve in an advisory capacity at the Wm. H. Block Company.

Mary Sunderhaus, Jane Peters, Ann Kuebler, and Jane Lanahan will model for Wasson's photographic advertisements.

Home Economicists Attend Career Day

Heib Career Day, sponsored by the Home Economics in Business Club in Ayres' auditorium May 9, brought representatives from fourteen colleges and universities.

In attendance from Marian College were Sister Joan Marie, Mary Ellen Fox, and Mary Ann Gearin.

Speakers, representing industries in which home economics majors may find careers, discussed such subjects as institutional management, home service and equipment, interior decorating, and industrial feeding.

A visit to radio station WISH was an added attraction.

The day ended with four o'clock tea.

Field Day Dawns in Rain— Accommodates Sportsters at Noon

After a solid morning's tiff over "rain or shine," the sun pushed through a cloud covered sky. A fun-filled Field Day was on. (We don't know exactly who was doing the tiffing up there but we have our suspicions.)

An over-all vote for softball resulted in the organization of two teams with Mrs. Lohse as umpire and Virginia Nordmeyer as chairman. Wet grass proved to be only a humorous obstacle in an eventual 'slide for home.'

Variety, in the form of kickball and miscellaneous dodgeball games, demonstrated the versatility of Marian sportsters, while sun-seeking spectators watched the tennis matches. Ruth Bill and Jeanne Kessling ended the single finals with a 6-2 victory for Ruth. In the doubles Margie Mellen and Mary Ann Gearin vied with Ruth Bill and Marjorie Davey for the Blue Ribbon.

Laurels for doubles finally rested with Ruth and Marjorie.

Awards for ping-pong victors went

Tennis Champion, Ruth Bill

to Jane Gaughan who defeated Emily Bosler in the singles, and Lois Jackson and Emily Bosler in the doubles. The feat was not unusual for Jane, who has won five CYO trophies and three Marian championships.

Collegeville Host To Philosophers

The Indiana Philosophical Association, senior and junior divisions, met Apr. 26, at St. Joseph's College, Collegeville, Indiana. Monsignor Doyle and four students—Doris Aiken, Anna Catherine Dean, Dorothy Fox, and Mary P. McCarthy—represented Marian.

The morning session of the junior division was devoted to three papers, each followed by a discussion period. The topic—"The Philosophic Values Implicit in the System of Soft Socialism," "A Glance at Beauty," and "Genesis and Validity of the Cartesian Theory of Knowledge"—were presented by Richard McCormick, S. J., West Baden College, Liliana San Juan, St. Mary-of-the-Woods College, and Carl Burlage, S. J., West Baden College, respectively.

At the business meeting following luncheon, officers were elected. Election results are as follows: president, Marilyn McCluskey, St. Mary-of-the-Woods College; vice-president, Paul Hardwick, S. J., West Baden College; secretary-treasurer, Robert Cressman, S. J., West Baden College.

"An Exposition of Kant and His 'Critique of Pure Reason'" prepared by Nancy Adams, St. Mary-of-the-Woods College, completed the junior session program.

Touring Companies, Geometric Terminology Discussed at Purdue

Coincidentally, a conference of Indiana college speech teachers and the spring meeting of the Indiana section of the Mathematical Association of America were held May 16-17 at Purdue University.

Newest movement projected at the speech conference, as reported by Sister Mary Jane, was the organization of touring theatre companies for high schools and colleges. The plan, inaugurated by Lee Norvelle, Indiana University, is that high school and college graduates of outstanding ability be periodically formed into a company, coached in the performance of some high-ranking play, and then tour the country or region, offering their production not only to the colleges and the universities, but also to community theatres.

On the recommendation of the Chicago University Workshop, Indiana University is to make the initial experiment. The Theatre Guild has promised support since it recognizes in the project a mean of salvaging dramatic talent and promoting good drama.

"Geometries and Their Terminology" was the subject of a paper given by Sister Gertrude Marie at the mathematics meeting. The term "geometry" and the current names for twelve leading types of geometry were critically evaluated.

Other speakers on the program were the national president of the association, Professor L. R. Ford, Illinois Institute of Technology and professors from Indiana, Notre Dame, and Purdue Universities.

LOTUS LAKE . . .

Boating has come into its own. Quiet drifting, exercising at the oars, transporting supplies to the island—all top-fun. With a group of trained boatwomen schooled by Mr. Charles Sumner, of Red Cross, in rescue work and water-safety generally, all's very well.
