

PART I

As the hallowed grounds of M.C. fill after another summer, the CARBON extends a friendly hand to greet the new arrivals, and a firm hand to greet the "oldsters". After a summer lay-off of R and R (Rest and Rehabilitation) for some, and work and money for others, it might seem a pleasure to return to a different routine.

From the looks of the Freshman class so far, Miss Jeffers and crew deserve a warm round of applause. The frosh seem like a friendly and capable group that will help to further enhance the "new image" of MARIAN, that is if they can hold out through initiation.

But the Freshman class is not the only factor that has created the new air around MARIAN for with the acquisition of Park School the students now have what they have long awaited, a student center. Granted the Center is not finished and it does have a way to go, but still credit must be given the administration and the janitorial staff for completing what they have in the short time since the premises have been vacated.

With the changes and additions it looks like a great year for M.C., but changes and additions do not alone a school make. The challenge is now left to the students. It is how we accept this challenge that will improve or destroy the "new MARIAN image."

PART II

Changing with MARIAN this year will also be the "NEW" CARBON. What's new? First, almost the whole staff will be novices this year, excepting, yours truly, Sarah Motta, who moves to head typist and Mary Leahy, who just can't seem to leave this fine establishment.

The overall tone of the CARBON will remain light, but informative, recognizing that the students need a laugh and a temporary escape from the routine of study and seriousness. Each week the CARBON will strive to voice current student opinion, and to act as a communicative link between the faculty and the students. Criticism and satire will be used, but primarily as a constructive, and not meaningless measure. A sense of unity will also be attempted by having weekly articles and features designed in a more formal format. It is true that the success of the CARBON rests largely with the staff, but it is the students who will voice their approval. The staff will try, and we do hope that the audience will applaud, but if they don't, we hope the audience will let us know why they are silent.

IN MEMORIAM

It was Saturday when I last saw Doctor Tutungi. Most people don't work on Saturday, but Dr. Tutungi was. He was preparing for the start of school. I was in the Business Office when he walked in, with his little daughter, requesting some supplies. As he bid me hello and expressed interest in my summer, I could not help but focus my attention on his daughter clinging with one arm around her father's leg. Our conversation was short, and soon we both left.

I attempt no paragraphs of praise, no long eulogy for somehow they connote to me a cold sterility. I remember Dr. Tutungi as an exemplary Christian and as an exemplary family man. My eulogy is an image, a last image, as a small girl, one arm around her father's leg looked up and childishly smiled at me.

VET HARRIERS AWAIT STARTER'S GUN

The 1967 M.C. cross-country team awaits the gun for the start of what promises to be a banner year on the overland trails. Optimism about the coming season is well-founded in that the team is loaded with veterans who want to contribute to the rapidly unfolding M.C. success story.

Coach Larry Bridges expects another fine season from 1966 MVP and co-captain Jeff McQueen and faster times from co-captain Mike Mealy, Jim Revalee, and John O'Kane to chalk up the points in the coming meets. Ron Voegelé, Steve Klusas, George Nix, and freshman Steve Stafford are expected to help also.

The team is eager to correct the misconception of the casual spectator who confuses "C.C." and track. C.C. stresses endurance and a balanced team showing, whereas speed and individual effort are spotlighted in track.

In a cross-country meet, points are awarded on the basis of one's finish, that is, one point for first, two points for second, three for third, etc. The team finishing with the fewest points is declared the winner. The more teams there are in a meet, the more points there are. Sort of first come, first serve.

The harriers begin September 27 against Vincennes and Butler at Vincennes and finish with the first Marian Invitational at Riverside on November 13. Appearing on the schedule is (ahem) Indiana Central on October 3, and University of Louisville on October 17.

The team is pointing high in '67, so try to make the scene for a home meet and find out what it's all about. Encouragement is always welcome. Besides track doesn't start until March anyhow.

DRUM & BUGLE CORPS

Do you want to make your "Knight-life" more exciting? Today you have a chance to do so by joining the Drum and Bugle Corps (MC's version of a marching band only better)

Tryouts for rifle and flag positions in the colorguard will be held this afternoon at 4:30 in the Music Annex (the long Park School building with the "BlueKnights" sign on the front). Enthusiasm and spirit (musts for any Corps member) are the only requirements necessary for the tryout since all girls will be taught basic marching steps before the new members are selected.

In addition all musically inclined students are invited to the meeting to add their talents to the ranks of the Corps.

This year the Blue Knights will march their way through a field show on Parents Day, a Veterans Day Parade, an out-of-state festival parade and the 500 Festival parade in addition to other appearances.

So, all spirited students, don't miss the chance to step in line with the MC Blue Knights Drum and Bugle Corps.

The Corps.

OPEN LETTER TO MARIAN STUDENTS

Dear Marian Students,

During the latter part of August, Tom Turner and myself attended the controversial 20th National Student Association Congress held at the University of Maryland. During the two week duration of this meeting of 1200 student government leaders from over 300 member schools, there arose many heated debates.

The initial issue of the early sessions concerned NSA's long term involvement with the CIA (Central Intelligence Agency). The breaking of the February article of Rampart's Magazine exposing CIA funding of NSA International Youth Projects in Europe, Asia, and some Iron Curtain countries, triggered world reaction and criticism of the organization. The disclosure cast a shadow of suspicion on American and foreign students, seriously damaging the credibility of U.S. projects abroad. It seems that over $3 million has been funneled into NSA since 1952, using a network of obscure private foundations as a cover.

The first breach in a fifteen year wall of secrecy was made by Paul Sherburne, NSA President 1965-66, to Michael Wood, NSA's director of development, at the time. Sherburne began fighting for NSA autonomy in international programming. His fight was carried through by this past year's president, Eugene Groves. The final break with the CIA was made under the Groves administration, when he publicly admitted to the world the NSA-CIA connections.

The pressures inflicted on Sherburne, Wood, Groves, and many others cannot be fully grasped by those of us on the outside. There were many lives of unknowing students in foreign countries at stake as well as the future of NSA itself. Many people had been deceived and used, this of course cannot be excused. I must, however, admire the courage and the integrity of those responsible for the break. The long range effect of this scandal is anyone's guess. Will NSA prevail after the loss of respect it has suffered nationally and internationally? Will NSA have the funds to continue worthwhile social, educational, and cultural youth programs needed in many foreign countries? Only time will tell.

At my disposal I have several articles which reported the NSA-CIA ties and several statements made by the National officers at the Congress. These will be made available in the Student Board Office to anyone who is interested. I urge all of you to read at least Rampart's article since Marian is a member of NSA. I am anxious to hear your comments and answer your questions.

Sincerely,
Ann Massa
NSA Coordinator

Ed. note:

Another letter will appear next week offering further insights into the NSA Convention.

THE CARBON WANTS TO KNOW: Is the brick and block exhibit on the campus mid-section the senior art project?

The CARBON extends a warm welcome to the fifteen new faculty members. Speaking for the student body, we wish them happiness, success and no bodily harm.

The new members include:

Mrs. Brenda Dorsey: B.S. Marian College; Biology Dept. and Alumni Dept.

Mrs. Dorafaye Hershberger: B.S., M.S. Ind. University; Home Economics Dept. and Clothing Dept.

THE CARBON APPLAUDS:

- the rush by the administration and janitors to ready "ye old Park School".
- the campus telephone system.
- Mr. and Mrs. Pedtke on the birth of their son.
- cooing pigeons and ivy-covered walls on mid-campii.

THE CARBON HISSES:

- rain during orientation and initiation
- campus phone pranksters.

Appearing next week or the week after, or maybe the week after that in the CARBON -- a full page exposition on "where to park on Campus"-- places Mr. Tuttle can't find, fold-out maps. Subscribe now!

"She was only a photographer's daughter."

"Yes, she sits in a dark room and awaits developments."

"What is a college Censor?" "A censor is a per-with admission $3.00 for students and $3.50 son who sets 3 meanings to a joke that has only 2 for outsiders."

AN APPEAL FOR THE CONTINUATION OF THE SPECIES.

As the NEW CARBON makes its 67-68 debut, we find the editor in a frenzied search for a dependable and capable staff. On the present staff there are only three returning lettermen with room for approximately 6-8 additional rookies. Terms of contract, salaries, vacation, sick leave and other fringe benefits will be discerned upon application. Anyone who has the time and is willing to make a responsible effort is promised instant fame and fortune. All applicants please leave their names on the list in the CARBON office by Wed., Sept 27, and watch the main bulletin board for further details.

PREVIEWS OF COMING ATTRACTIONS.

Decorating the pages of the new CARBON will be several controversial as well as poorly written articles. Held over from last year will be: instant sports coverage, inside Board reports, the weekly campus calendar, letters to the editor, sick jokes, the CARBON applauds and hisses, and not lastly--in fact usually firstly-- thoughts from the editor.

Appearing weekly as new and radical breakthroughs in the fields of journalism will be a club news and activities column, a column featuring happenings on other college campii and NSA news, a column focussing on interesting off-campus events, a column answering student questions about student gov't, authority of personnel--all meant to aid student-faculty communications and possibly a column on world news comment.

Filling in the blank spaces will be: the CARBON predicts, campus cartoons, the CARBON button for the week and inside tips on how to get high. The staff hopes that you, the students and the faculty, will enjoy the make-up of the paper, and that you will let us know if you do, or do not like it. And please, no threatening calls.

PAGING ONE FOR PAGES II ON PAGE THREE

The MC Pages will appear again this basketball season with new spark in their drills and routines. Monday, September 25 at 11:30 A.M. in the Student Activity Center Auditorium (above the Perc) a meeting will be held for all past members and all those girls interested in trying out for vacant positions. The degree of success that the M.C. Pages achieve depends on you!
