Former 'Plumbers' head to speak at Marian

Egil Krogh, Jr., former Under Secretary of Transportation and Head of the White House Plumbers Unit designed to "plug leaks of national security information," will appear at Marian College on Thursday, Nov. 7, at 8 p.m. in the library auditorium under the sponsorship of the Program Committee.

The subject of his talk will be "Prison: The Great Equalizer."

Mr. Krogh was the first of those involved in the Watergate scandal to be tried and sentenced, and in June he completed his prison term at Allenwood Prison Camp in Pennsylvania. Mr. Krogh pleaded guilty to the charges against him before Judge Gessell and gave evidence freely.

A native of Chicago, Mr. Krogh joined the Nixon administration in November of 1968 after receiving his law degree from the University of Washington Law School. He later served as Deputy Counsel to the President, Deputy Assistant to the President for Domestic Affairs and Assistant Director of the Domestic Council Staff.

As Executive Director on the Cabinet Committee on International Narcotics Control for four years, "Bud" Krogh worked closely with all of the federal agencies in the development and administration of government policy, programs and legislation.

The lecture is open to the student and faculty community without charge.

Business club meets Tuesday, Oct. 29

Mr. Hank Taylor of the Indianapolis Business Development Foundation will speak to members of the Marian College Business Club on Tuesday, Oct. 29. The meeting will be held at 11:30 a.m. in Room 251 of Marian Hall.

Business Club members will be given the opportunity to serve as volunteers in the IBDF office, which assists inner-city residents to establish successful businesses.

Homecoming festivities outlined by Boosters

BY STACY VEREEN

It begins building up a year ahead of time, with teams vowing for revenge, coaches vowing for more power and people vowing for more fun.

A Homecoming at Marian College will never be a one-week affair. The intramural teams compete annually for the title of "champs" as veteran teams plan strategies after the season. The basketball players stay in condition year-round to continue as the great team they are. The rest of the school? Supporting them all the way.

This year, the Booster Club has arranged its festivities during Homecoming Week, November 10 through 16, around a Mardi Gras theme, highlighting the basketballers' future trip to New Orleans. As always, the week's kickoff is the final game between the top two intramural football teams, yet to be decided. This year's game will be held Sunday, Nov. 10. Another main event of the day will be the crowning of the 1974 Homecoming Queen at halftime.

The week will progress with a Rocking Chair Marathon to be held in the Perc, beginning Monday, Nov. 11, and ending (if they last that long!) sometime Friday, the 15th. Monday night will also be the date for the annual Monte Carlo night in the Intramural Gym. The Monte Carlo will be set up with games and attractions, holding the Mardi Gras spirit.

On Tuesday, the 12th, the annual Clare Hall-Marian Hall Circle Little 500 will be held. Each class will participate in this race of races to see whose legs pedal faster, ride smoother and glide easier.

That evening, the Faculty vs. the Booster Club in a basketball game in the Clare Hall gym. This spectacular sports event will be surpassed only by the Knights' season opener on Saturday.

Wednesday night, the 13th, there will be a Masquerade Ball in the Perc, with a special Jazz Fest by the Pep Band. Thursday is the day for the freshmen debut to Marian's Homecoming. They are sponsoring a pancake eating contest in the Perc. Bets will be placed on the person whose appetite appears to be the strongest. The person or persons guessing the correct "pig" shall be awarded a prize, with the rest of the proceeds going to the Drum and Bugle Corps. They, too, are heading for New Orleans this year!

On Friday, the 15th, the conclusion of the rocking chair marathon will relieve those whose reel in' and rockin' days were numbered. The Variety Show will be presented, live in the Marian Hall auditorium that evening, showing once again that there is talent hidden behind those friendly Marian faces.

Our big day will be the 16th. Prior to the game, a big parade will proceed from the campus to the Naval Armory. Complete with police escort, the parade shall be decked with floats, band and possibly some clowns (other than the usuals along for the fun!!) The game will begin at 4 p.m. at the Armory, bringing the team into action before its thousands of screaming fans.

After everyone has calmed down later in the evening, the Homecoming Dance will be held at Holiday Inn Southeast from 9 to 12 midnight.

The Booster Club has worked very hard for this week, having committees and individuals setting times, dates and places. The campus population is sure to appreciate their efforts and have a good time at the Mardi Gras. Sure do wish it was November 9th already!

'PUMPKIN TIME' AT MARIAN—Mike Emming and Mary Clare, sophomores and members of the Marian College Drum and Bugle Corps, show potential customers the wide variety of pumpkins available for sale at 30th and Cold Spring Rd. The corps is trying to raise money to help finance its trip to the Mardi Gras next February.

Pinching pennies

In these days of 50-cent gasoline, $15 blue jeans and 75-cent Big Mac's, penny pinching has become quite an asset. Inflation's effects have been widespread. Contrary to popular belief, Marian College has not been able to escape the grips of this pitiless monster.

Complicating rising upkeep costs is an inverse trend in the college enrollment of the past four years. The current statistics reveal 613 full-time students and 256 part-time students, totaling 869. Of these, only 404 live in the dorms, which also reduces revenue.

Perhaps the biggest blow to the economic standing of Marian was the 25 per cent "no show" record of the new freshman class. Roughly $70,000 that was counted on when planning the budget simply didn't make it to 3200 Cold Spring Rd. This resulted in various budget cuts.

As President Gatto stated at the recent Faculty Council meeting, "With regard to the financial status of the college, we are not in a situation of crisis, but we do need to evaluate and act on the present economic situation."

Certainly Marian is not "under water" at this point, but if current trends continue, some changes are foreseen. Among these are increasing class size and teaching loads, and setting limits on the present "open-ended" scholarship plan.

At the present we are fortunate, in that the direct effects of the money-crunch are not in evidence. Both the student-teacher ratio and tuition rate are the lowest of any private school in the state. The former is also true when compared to the state universities.

How long can this continue? Marian's future can be brightened with our help. Efforts in the direction of conserving energy greatly cut energy consumption last year. It is hoped that our cooperation will continue. Also Col. Wagner is open to any comments or suggestions you might have in regard to the M.C. economy.

I have one suggestion for any organization to sponsor. When tax refund time rolls around in early spring, and our pockets are full of "green," a voluntary Marian College campus tax form could be issued to all students, faculty and possibly alumni. Such a tax form would include a voluntary rate for various possessions (i.e., if you own a calculator, 30 cents, or a TV, 25 cents). Total cost even for the "man who has everything" would not exceed $5.

If all students and faculty participated at an average of $2.50 per person, we could raise $2,700 (not including the aid of the alumni) without creating a burden on anyone.

This might seem trivial to the amount lost through the "no-shows", but at least it shows we care about Marian.

Questions 'Black Soundings' views

To Curtis Goar, O.S.B.:

I almost cried when I read "Black Soundings" in the Phoenix of October 14th — partly out of anger, but mostly out of sorrow. Your article was so full of hate, and I do mean HATE, that I couldn't believe it. How can you profess to be a Christian, to espouse the teachings of the man who said "Love others as I have loved you," and still write something like your article?

You wrote that you went to pray, looked up, and "there was this snow white figure staring down at me." It's too bad that all you could see was the color of the figure rather than the pain symbolized in that face and the love that was behind that pain. Yeah, Curtis, God loves you. It doesn't make a damn bit of difference whether you're black or white or purple with pink polka dots — He loves you anyway.

I will agree with you on one thing, though. You were in the wrong place at the wrong time. If you can't open your heart to other people, regardless of color, then you can't open your heart to the Lord, and trying to pray is just a waste of His time and yours.

I feel so sorry for you Curtis, because if your God isn't anything more than Black, you're out of Luck.

Thanks, folks

To the Editors:

I would like to thank those "responsible" for the Gene Cotton concert. It shows that at least someone here has a good taste for music. I enjoyed the concert and would love to see more in the future. After all, it's easy to get your money's worth out of something when it's free. (How well I know!)

Also, thanks to my fellow audience for being generous to this well deserved musician, a better group of listeners would have been hard to find, except one that was larger.

Finally, with regards to the "Apple Scraps" get together, due to the rain, the lack of attendance, and the lack of entertainment, I thought the show came off pretty damn good. Thanks Greg Rodick; and Steve Whitsitt, Dan Walker, Kevin Huston, and Kevin Horn, you guys are a pretty good "back-up band." (How's that for ego?!)

LETTERS TO EDITORS

'Occult Corner' draws criticism

To the editors:

In the September 30 issue of The Phoenix, I noticed an article called "The Occult Corner". Since readers were told that the next issue will bring us "a look at Libra", I can only assume that "The Occult Corner" will be a regular feature of The Phoenix. I hope that this isn't the case, since I, personally, question the value of such a feature.

The author states that, "On the other hand, the study of mysticism without the use of the tough-minded and elegant methods of modern science ignores our greatest tools for learning and developing and reduces our potential for advancement as individuals and as a race." If this is intended to mean that the scientific method should be employed in the study of mysticism, I can only conclude that: (a) the author is unaware of the definition of mysticism, (b) the author is unaware of the scientific method and its assumptions, or (c) both.

Not too long ago, people believed that "mental illness" was caused by demons or evil spirits in the head. One "cure" was to drill holes into the skull, thus allowing the demons or evil spirits to escape. (This cure was remarkable effective, since the afflicted, after holes were drilled into the skull, were usually not "crazy" anymore — they were dead.) Looking to the stars, the signs of the Zodiac, etc., will, perhaps, lead us to the same level of understanding of human behavior as that attained by those who drilled the holes.

Disenchantment with science is understandable, but is a feature called "The Occult Corner" an appropriate alternative?

—Randall Adams

Columnist replies to Dr. Adams

To Randall Adams:

In reply to your comment on the so called article, "The Occult Corner" I would like to enlighten you. First of all, "The Occult Corner" is not an article, or a feature. It is a weekly column, which is written to provide interesting information to those students involved in, or curious about the occult, and other related subjects. A column is not always vital to all the readers of a paper such as The Phoenix, but it provides a variance in subject matter for the paper and creates a more cosmopolitan content.

Also, I am sorry that you misinterpreted some statements within the article. It was not intended to imply that science is not necessary and effective in our duration on earth, but simply to state an opinion of science.

By the way, Dr. Adams, what is YOUR astrological sign?

THE WICKED MAN FLEES, ALTHOUGH NO ONE PURSUES HIM; BUT THE JUST MAN, LIKE A LION, FEELS SURE OF HIMSELF. PROVERBS 28,1

Last week on WNTS-Radio, Indianapolis, a woman caller boasted of the great Christian country of America. She stated that we were "a nation deeply rooted in the fundamental truth of the Word of God." When I reflected on the above Proverb, and the statement of this Christian woman, noting the realities of this nation, the Proverb should read, "The just man flees, although no one pursues him; but the wicked man, like a lion, feels sure of himself." To say we are a nation under the message of God, when we see social injustice, gross poverty, institutional racism, and political disenfranchisement, one is either insane or totally aloof to the state of American society. Parents weekend slated Nov. 8-10

BY BOB MELEVIN

Fund-raising and expositions will highlight this year's Parents' Weekend on November 8, 9 and 10. The Drum and Bugle Corps will sponsor a Rummage Sale on Saturday and Sunday and a Spaghetti Dinner in the Perc on Saturday afternoon. Proceeds from both activities will be used for the corps' trip to New Orleans. Art and fashion will also be a part of the weekend. Marian students will display their artistic talents in an art exhibition, while the Home Economics Department will host a fashion show in the Library Auditorium. There will even be action for the sports enthusiasts when the Marian Soccer team will meet head-on with Xavier on Saturday afternoon. On Sunday, the Intramural Championship Football Game will take place, where there will also be a flag presentation by the Drum and Bugle Corps' Color Guard. Finally, Marian's finest girl will be revealed to all in anticipation at the Intramural Championship Game when the 1974 Homecoming Queen will be announced. The plentiful activities of this weekend should help make Mom and Dad feel a part of the Marian Community.

throng of people hearing the Word proclaimed weekly, where is the spirit which excited the first Christians to proclaim the Word daily? What America and the world needs are some gut level Christians, men and women of God who will stand as pillars, to utter the Master's four point plan of liberation. "The Spirit of the Lord is upon me, He has annointed me, He has sent me to bring glad tiding to the poor, to proclaim liberty of the captives, recovery of sight to the blind and release to prisoners, to announce a year of favor from the Lord." Luke 4, 18-20 We need people who will take up the burdens of messiahship, and are willing to march into hell for the cause of justice and right. Whether hell is Ford's office in Washington, Lugar's office in Indianapolis, the welfare office, or the Church, the truth must be proclaimed. 'Dark of the Moon' is next production

It's "Mountain-legend time" at Marian. An entertaining American legend is about to be recreated. "Dark of the Moon," written by Howard Richardson and William Bernèy, has been selected by the Theatre Department as the next production. It will be given November 22, 23 and 24 in the college auditorium. According to Sister Francesca Thompson, the director, "Dark" is an old legend that still carries a modern message in this day of "The Exorcist," interest in devil worshippers, and small, petty minds who are never able to escape the trappings of all that make for the worst in us as humans. Portraying lead roles are Greg Rodick as the "witch-boy", Susie Disbrow as Barbara Allen, and Mr. Joseph Kempf as Preacher Haggler.

WHY COMMIT YOURSELF TO THE PRIESTHOOD?

Why be a priest? Certainly, in times as difficult as these we live in, being a priest is a lot harder today than it was in years past. And committing oneself to anything for any amount of time seems to be one of the conflicts of our modern age. But the priesthood is a challenge. A big one. Today, more than ever before in history, men and women, young and old, are searching for religious meaning, for withdrawal from isolation and alienation to joyful community experiences, for Good News in the midst of discouragement and hope in the place of pessimism. The Paulists are trying to minister to these needs. As a contemporary religious community serving the American people, our mission is to communicate the love of Christ to people. Every Paulist is a missionary: in the pulpit or the parish house . . . on campus or in the inner-city . . . with the spoken or the printed word . . . he is communicating to people. His mission is to all of America. His message is love; the love of Christ for all people. It isn't easy but the Paulist welcomes commitment. Welcomes the challenge. If you are interested in the Paulist way of life, send for the Paulist Papers. Write to: Father Don C. Campbell, Room 101

Potential champs prepare for games

BY PAUL KERN

Every year, one regular season game stands out above all the others in majesty and drama. Games like... Ohio St. vs. Michigan; UCLA vs. USC or P.S.#5 vs. Fulton Memorial Junior High. Here at Marian the big game occurred on Oct. 13, when the Stoned Rangers played the Bad Josés.

The Rangers, picked as seven to twelve point underdogs before kickoff time, came out fast when Jerry Kretchman caught a touch-down pass from quarterback "Hop Along" Doherty; followed quickly by a Masten extra point making the score 7-0. But the Bad Josés, not to be outdone, responded with a Zidron to Bazeley T.D. Aerial, however they missed the extra point and the halftime score was 7-6.

Pre-Homecoming clinic Nov. 6

BY DEB MACKEL

The Marian College Booster Club, in co-ordination with the Marian Knights, will present a special pre-homecoming clinic, to be held on Wednesday, November 6, at 7:00 p.m. in the Clare Hall Gym. The purpose of the clinic is not only to give you a chance to meet the Knights before the season begins, but also simply to find out who you're going to be cheering for.

Earl Brinker, last year's captain, will make a special appearance to officially "pass the ball" to this year's captain, Andy Krakowiak.

Speaking of Andy, the drawing for the BIG DATE will also take place at the clinic. (Get your ticket from any Booster Club member.) The film "Walking Tall" will be shown following the clinic in the Library Auditorium at 8:00 p.m.

The team needs our support both financially and vocally (at the game), so be an "athletic supporter" and make tracks over to the gym, November 6th.

After the crowd had thrilled to an exciting halftime show, in which the grass grew an incredible one-hundredth of an inch, it was back to the game. The Bad Josés went ahead 12-7 on a second Zidron to Bazeley peg, but the Rangers struck back quickly when "Hop Along" himself scruffed over the goal line on a quarterback keeper making the score 13-12 Rangers, with just bare minutes to go. The crowd moved to a dead silence and the only noise was that of the convent garage door opening as the Bad Josés faced a fourth and 22 miles with less than two minutes remaining. Then a huge break for the Josés... Tom Sluss is called for passing interference by ref Bob Cannon when Zidron's pass falls short and the Josés have a first down. From there they scored a touchdown and won 18-13; but it makes the next Rangers-Josés game a must to see.

The final two games were 1) anti-climatic and 2) forfeitures as the Harvey Wallbangers, having obviously banged their heads too hard on the wall the night before, didn't show up and the Bootstrappers, although having the spirit willing, had too little flesh and were forced to hang it up.

FIXED was the big word going around at last week's game...FIXED was the word on everyone's mind and lips...even the player's admitted a FIXED game, and it was true. Just by looking you could see that someone had just recently fixed up the football field; and the players responded well.

The Bad Josés, with their quarterback Kenny Aust returning (See Dork Award), came storming onto the field to play the hippity Hops. For the better part of the first three minutes it was a good game, but after that the Josés began to assert themselves.

Jeff "Eggs" Zidron scored two (count 'em), two times and the rout was on. The Hops were still somewhat close at the half, 12-6, but Steve Barrett, "Commissioner" Schroth, and a rampaging Jerry Stockrham all chipped in six points, and even a Becher touchdown for the Hops wasn't enough to offset the final score—35-12, Josés winning.

The Nads could lock up a playoff spot if they won against the MFIC and they went right to it with Matern making it 6-0 Nads. But the dauntless MFIC showed their guts with a Kuzmitz-to-Ketter TD strike and it was all knotted up at 6-6.

When Jerry Disque added to the Nads' score, it set up a do-or-die situation for the mighty MFIC, but alas, it was not to be, because although Hayward scored a touchdown, the extra point was no good. Final score: 13-12 Nads.

In the final game, the gung-ho-hum Bootstraps forfeited to the hard-headed Harvey Wallbangers.

INTRAMURAL VOLLEYBALL—Sheila Deaton warms up before competition starts in the Clare Hall gym.

Girls are wrapping up

After four weeks of competitive volleyball playing, women's intramural volleyball has started to show some placement in team standings. Due to the great interest of the sport, 17 teams participated this year causing the formation of two leagues.

Now with one week remaining in regular play, the top two teams of each league get ready for the playoffs. Since there are two leagues this year, playoffs will be different from the past.

After regulation play, the No. 1 team of League A will play the No. 2 team of League B, and the No. 1 team of League B will play the No. 2 team of League A. The winners of those matches will then meet for the championship.

Charles Gallagher speaks on campus

Charles F. Gallagher of the American Universities Field Staff (AUFS) will lecture on campus Monday, November 11, at 10:30 a.m. in Room 251.

Sponsored by the Non-Western Studies Committee and the Sociology Department, Mr. Gallagher will speak on "The Relationship of Traditional Culture to Political and Economic Development."

An expert on Islamic affairs and on Japanese society, Mr. Gallagher currently serves as director of studies of the AUFS and consultant on international relations to the University of Hawaii.

Faculty and students are invited.

DORK BOWL: Yesterday an historic occasion occurred as the MFIC [2-3-1] played the Hops [2-4], with the winner receiving the first team Dork Award.

Knights to meet 'Athletes in action'

BY MEL ARNOLD

Before the Nov. 16 opening date, the basketball team will play a practice game in preparation to the 1974-75 season. On Sunday, Nov. 3, at 7:30 p.m. in Clare Hall Gym, the Knights will take on the highly-regarded Athletes in Action team. This is a team made up of ex-college stars and few ex-pros. They are very big, very strong and very good.

An admission fee of 50 cents will be charged to help the team on its New Orleans trip. Please attend and back the Knights.

Then during Homecoming Week, they'll be a Meet-the-Knights Night. This is where you, the student, will meet each player. The team will play a short scrimmage game to end the evening. It is scheduled for Wednesday, Nov. 6, at 7 p.m.

Finally, the team opens up its season at the Naval Armory against St. Francis College. It should now be noted that St. Francis is no longer the "Pansy" of the District. They now have scholarship money, a new coach and five new ballplayers. Coach Schilling says a 6-7 junior college transfer and three other new ballplayers plus the new and talented coach has moved St. Francis from one of the easier teams to one of the more difficult games on the Knights' schedule.

DORK AWARD

This week's Dork goes to Kenny Aust, who in trying to roll up the score, attempted to get one last play off . . . which he did, and which went for a touchdown . . . and which he was very proud of . . . until he saw that upfield was a penalty, which cancelled the TD and the remaining time.
