Rocklage appointed to new executive position

by Stacey Nicholas

Sr. Norma Rocklage, OSF, has been appointed as the Director of Mission Effectiveness, a new executive position, Marian College President Louis C. Gatto announced. Gatto said that the position overlaps in its concern for the administration, mission, and church relations of Marian College. "It is a position that is going to evolve," Gatto added. Similar positions exist at other Catholic institutions that are sponsored by religious congregations.

"The Director of Mission Effectiveness is envisioned as the second-in-command. She is the contact person when the President is gone," Gatto stated. Sr. Norma continued by saying that the "position is principally the liaison between the college and the congregation." Sr. Norma will also be working on the Strategic Planning Committee, the Facilities Committee, and with other executive offices coordinating projects. She believes that it is her job to make sure that everybody is heard, even if they do not get their way.

It will be the responsibility of the Mission Director to "integrate the goals of the congregation with those of the college on all levels." Above all Sr. Norma will be the liaison between the Sisters of Saint Francis and Marian College. Her concerns in the other aspects of the job stem from this duty.

Gatto notes that the other responsibility of the Mission Director is to act as a "catalyst in the Catholic community. She will interact with other Archdiocesan agencies to explore the needs that Marian College could fulfill in Catholic ministry and Catholic education." Sr. Norma feels that the position will no doubt be ecumenical in its nature as well as Catholic focused.

menical in its nature as well as Catholic focused.

Sr. Norma is settling back into the pace of Marian College. "I've been gone since 1974 and I'm really excited in what I see here with the student body's positive attitude and enthusiasm." She served as Academic Dean from 1970-1974 and taught Greek and Latin and acted as Assistant to the Academic Dean from 1968-1970.

Sr. Norma concluded the interview by stating, "I am really happy to be back at Marian. This position is key to a strong future for Marian as we work for a greater collaborative effort with the Sisters of Saint Francis and the other lay people of Marian College."

New faces on campus

by Dallice Hesselgrave

This semester at Marian, we have quite a few new faces in faculty and staff.

Mr. Andrew Smith is now teaching CS110 as a full-time instructor in the Computer Science department. He graduated from Purdue in 1984 and went on to get his MBA at Butler, which he finished this past summer. Currently, he is also teaching and consulting at Butler. Smith says of his class so far, "I think this is the start of a very good semester."

Ms. Sheri Robinson is new to the education department as a part-time instructor. She works at Meridian Hills co-operative nursery school teaching three and four-year-olds. On Wednesday night she teaches Language Arts for Preschoolers here at Marian. Robinson received her B.A. at DePauw and then her B.S. at Butler.

Mr. Eugene Sego earned his B.S. at Marian, went on to I.U. and is currently working on his dissertation when he is not teaching his night class, Latin American History. He believes that Marian has been "terrific, both when I was here and now" and says that he has stayed in touch (please see NEW FACES, continued on page 4)

Letters to the Editor

Nursing graduation

The 1989 Spring Graduation for the Associate Degree in Nursing program is just around the corner. The official date is Sunday, May 14th, which is also Mother's Day. This is a time that has been worked hard for and will be very special to all those involved.

Sarah Barnes and I need volunteers to help with the planning of this special time. To do this we have formed a graduation committee. We need four or more ADN students to help make our graduation an event to remember.

We will be deciding on the type of uniform to be worn, floral design, and program organization. This committee will also plan the pinning ceremony and the reception that follows at the Allison Mansion. The pinning ceremony is tentatively planned for Friday, May 12th. The approximate time is 6 p.m. and the reception that follows usually starts at 8 p.m., ending at 10 p.m. Make plans soon for these special dates.

We realize that time is in short supply but we need your help. If you would like to get involved, please let one of your class officers or student representatives know. Come join us, it'll be fun!

-- Barb Freeman

Christmas Carol

The December 8, 1988 issue of The Carbon included a review of A Christmas Carol by Tina Kunkler. I found this review very offensive. A Christmas Carol was a very fine play and should not have been so harshly criticized by Miss Kunkler. Who does she think she is trying to tell Dr. Edgcombe that he should not have cast certain people? Miss Kunkler thought that the children came away confused and "less than entertained." Dickens' A Christmas Carol was written for an adult audience, so naturally we didn't get as big of a response from the kids as we did from the adults - but they still enjoyed the show.

I suggest that in the future instead of reviewing theatre productions, you interview several people working on the production and publish a promotional article in an issue before the play.

The Carbon, a source of news and information as well as an open forum for the Marian College Campus community, is not an official publication of Marian College and does not necessarily reflect the views of the college administration, faculty, or editors. Readers are invited to submit timely and relevant letters of opinion to the editors. Such letters should not exceed 150 words and must include the author's name and phone number. For verification purposes the letter must also be dated and signed. Telephone numbers will not be published nor will anonymous letters be published. Letters may be edited for clarity and brevity. Editors have authority to reject any letter they feel to be potentially libelous, obscene, inflammatory, or in poor taste. Ordinarily such letters should aim to address issues, clarify events, promote understanding, or clearly identify what is going on in an event, issue, or scene. No guest editorials will be accepted unless explicitly solicited by the editors. Unsolicited pieces will be treated as letters to the editor. Letters to the editors must be turned in to the Carbon's mailbox in the faculty mail room by 12:00 noon, Monday, the week they are to run.

Senior profile

by Tina M. Kunkler

Number 13, unlucky for most people, is Amy Beckham's lucky charm. She has worn it for the past four years playing both volleyball and basketball. Her gold "# 13" charm necklace and "XIII" license plate number are symbols of her fascination with the number.

The senior Physical Education major and English minor organizes her time with a date book for all her appointments. Chris Leary described her good friend as clean and neat, but "fun to be around and she makes people laugh." Though she finds little time between classes and sports, Beckham claims to act spontaneously, like throwing a party with her teammates after a game.

A Merrillville native, Beckham has played volleyball for four years, basketball for four years, and softball for one year. Her team and personal recognitions include the Franklin All-Tourney Team in Basketball, and All-District for three years, All-Conference for two years, and USAA Scholastic All-American in volleyball. She is also a member of MCAPHERD. She enjoys running, softball, and tennis during the summer.

Beckham chose Marian for its reputation as an academic institution, "A good education was my first priority." In fact, the athlete visited the school only once to watch a girls' basketball game before registering. A true athlete, according to Leary, Beckham offers this advice to underclass athletes: Keep priorities straight, be able to budget time, and be organized.

With a future in coaching, Beckham has applied for a teaching assistanceship at IUPUI. If accepted, she would teach classes while working towards a masters degree in Physical Education field.

Her second option is to teach high school physical education and English while coaching basketball, volleyball, or tennis in Central or Northern Indiana. Her goal is to be teaching and coaching at a major university within 25 years.

Marian student nurse organization formed

by Brian Easterday

Nursing students at Marian College have formed the new Marian College Student Nurses Association. The purpose of MCSNA is to incorporate all nursing students, including the ASN, BSN completion, and the BSN students.

MCSNA is now seeking membership into the National Student Nurses Association (NSNA), a national organization that prepares student nurses for careers as RN's. They do this by influencing the education process or promoting involvement in community affairs and activities. Some of the benefits offered to students are scholarships and review courses for the state board examinations.

Some of the the benefits for Marian are that it will unite nursing students, give them a chance to vent the frustrations of becoming a nurse, and gain outside contacts. This club replaces the BSNA that existed before the current BSN program.

Officers are: Elizabeth Fischero -- president; Michelle Probst -- vice president; Jennifer Dawson -- treasurer; Mary Jo Cunningham -- secretary; Marilyn Jefferson -- advisor.

The January meeting is scheduled for Thursday, January 26, at 7:30 p.m. in St. Francis Hall.

Presidential search survey

The search for a new college president is on! The Presidential Search and Screen Committee has been formulated and consists of the following: K. Clay Smith, Sally Beckman, Dean Alvin S. Bynum, Matthew LaGrange, Denis R. Kelly, Sr. Adele Zahn, James McKean, Tim Akin, Bain J. Farris, Fr. Francis Bryan, Denise Brennan Finney, Sr. Julie Hampel, Paul G. Pitz, Judge Gerald Zore, and Sr. Annata Holohan.

Smith, chairman of the committee requests from the Marian community information concerning names of potential candidates and names of others who might recommend candidates.

The Carbon would appreciate input from the student body concerning ideas about what you would like to see in the next president.

1. What do you see as the most important characteristics in a college president?

2. What do you see as the most critical issues facing the college? How would you see the president as confronting some of those issues?

Please return this questionnaire to the Carbon mailbox in the faculty mail room.

with the history department.

Mr. Arthur Logsdan is teaching part-time here, as well as at Butler. He is working for the Business department where he teaches Public Relations. When Logsdan is not teaching, he works in Hendricks County as a lawyer. He received his Bachelor's degree from Butler and graduated from I.U. Law School in 1987.

Monday, Jan. 23 was Mrs. Susann Kirkhoff's first day of work as the new records secretary in the Admissions Office. She graduated from Marian College, where her sons, Jeff and Mark now attend.

Lighter side

by Michael Rinard

What did you do with a whole month out of school, or better yet, how did you spend your Christmas Break?

Some people traveled to distant isles, some went home for Christmas and returned early, and some never left. Did you know that some people don't really have homes to visit?

And speaking of people who don't have homes to visit, perhaps it was the homeless people who held up the Office of Business at Camp "M" on Thursday, December 29th. Now, the report that has circulated Camp "M" is that the Main Tainence crew was responsible for the unauthorized withdrawal of funds. (Were they also responsible for the bank folding in California?) It seems that the money was just brought back from the bank, when seven ski-masked individuals decided they wanted to buy a house for the winter and they needed money quickly.

A gun was pointed at the counselor and he was told, "Your money or your life!" In a true Jack Benny response, he said, "Well! Give me a couple of minutes to think about it!" Too bad we don't have Jack Benny's vault in the basement of Camp "M" Hall.

At last report, no one was injured in the ordeal, but the Office of Business door now has a new peep hole and a new dead-bolt lock on it.

What's that old saying, oh yeah, "Nothing like locking the barn doors after the horses have escaped!"

Review

by Stacey Nicholas

U2's Rattle and Hum, the soundtrack to the movie by the same name, should be played as loud as the listener can stand in order to get the full effect of U2's music.

Side one opens with U2's rendition of the Beatles' hit "Helter Skelter" and moves effortlessly into "Van Diemer's Land." "We fought for justice and not for gain/ and the magistrate sent us away.../ when an honest man can earn an honest wage." The message of world injustice that fills many of U2's songs is evident.

The best three songs on side one include "Still Haven't Found What I'm Looking For," "Pride (In the Name of Love)," and "Silver and Gold." The audience participation in "Pride" shows that clearly it is their favorite song.

"Silver and Gold" has Bono singing against South Africa's racial policy of Apartheid. "I am somebody.../ Yes, captains and kings in the slave ships' hold.../ They came to collect/ Silver and gold.../ Men who lost faith in the peace makers of the West/ While they argue and fail to support men like Bishop Tutu..."

Side two is filled with more of U2's own work. There are tributes to John Lennon, Billie Holiday, and a recording of Jimi Hendrix playing "The Star Spangled Banner."

The strongest song on side two most definitely is "When Love Comes to Town." B. B. King joins Bono in the chorus of this quick tempo song. The powerful beat hammers through the lyrics "Maybe I was wrong to ever let you down/ But I did what I did before love came to town." It is a song of love's ability to transform a person. "I was there when they crucified my Lord/ I held the scabbard when the soldier drew his sword/ I threw the dice when they pierced his side/ But I've seen love conquers the great divide."

Rattle and Hum is the movie of the Joshua Tree Tour. The songs flow and the tape is harmonized. Each song has a definite theme, but the diversity and beauty of U2's music is not drowned out by it. Rattle and Hum another classic from U2.

Ernstes holds senior recital

by Matthew A. Boas

Brian Ernstes, a music major at Marian, held his senior recital on January 21 at Stokely Mansion. Many people attended, including Marian College students, members of the faculty, and Brian's family and friends.

The first half of the recital consisted of music from the Baroque and Romantic periods. In the second half, Brian performed a duet with Sally McGuffy, a soprano. The next three songs were from the Classical period. As a finale, Brian sang a 1920's ragtime song called "Hard Hearted Hannah." This fun, up-beat song ended the evening on a high note.

Overall, the recital ran very smoothly. Brian put on a superb performance that was enjoyed by all who attended.

Carbon staff changes leadership

Kunkler elected by staff

by Kimberly Blair

At the end of last semester the Carbon held a staff selection. Tina Kunkler was elected editor.

Kunkler attended Perry Central High School before attending Marian. She is a sophomore majoring in English. Kunkler has been on the staff of the Carbon since the fall of 1987 and associate editor one semester.

Besides her participation in the Carbon, she is also involved in the Chorale, Campus Ministry, and is on the Library Committee.

Kunkler has many ideas for the Carbon. The ideas are long range so that there will be slow changes taking place.

Kunkler says that "everyone on campus should be able to pick up the paper and see three things of interest to them in the Carbon."

She would like to see more students involved in the Carbon. There are other things involved in the Carbon besides writing articles to get the paper ready for printing.

Kunkler's appointment of editor is to be made official by the College Publications Board. Other staff changes are as follows: Associate Editors - Corrine Wickens, Dallice Hesselgrave, and Michael Rinard; Business Manager - Stacey Nicholas; and Photo Editor - Ross England.

Nicholas surrenders position

by R. Craig

There were days when we felt like killing her. She was dashing here and there, hounding us all to do our jobs, giving orders up and down like a modern Captain Blye. She drove us half crazy - writers, compositors, photographers, editors, salespeople, and especially the advisors. Pity the obstacle that blocked her path. She was publishing her newspaper, and no matter how often we reminded her that it wasn't her newspaper, and reminded ourselves the same thing, for the past year the Carbon has in fact been Stacey's newspaper.

As she leaves the editor's chair, we are all very much aware how much the Carbon has benefited by being Stacey's paper this year, of how very successful an editor she was, in part because she felt so strongly about the newspaper.

Under her hand the Carbon flourished because she was determined and aggressive, able to push when necessary and take the pressure for doing so. She was willing to pump hour upon hour of her amazing energy into the Carbon, and she made it grow in size, in circulation, in quality, in ad revenue. She made the difficult transition to typeset format. She made the Carbon do what a student newspaper should do, provide a voice for students, raise questions, demand action. She provided the most accessible communication medium on the campus, and made the Carbon a voice to reckon with. And she never missed an edition in her term.

Readers take a newspaper for granted, as probably they should. No one stops to ask who planned the paper, recruited the staff, assigned the writing and editing, took the pictures, developed them, set the type, sold the ads, pasted up the camera copy, folded the final pages, carried them to the racks. No one stops to ask where the typesetting equipment came from, the cameras, the dark room work, the paper, the supplies, who is selling ads, sending tear sheets, collecting revenues. No one stops to count the hours a student editor puts into each edition of the paper.

With Stacey, there was somehow always enough enthusiasm and drive to get all those things done. She was instrumental in our purchase of PageMaker and a laser printer; she broke the ground that led to on-campus photo screening; she kept the paper in the black financially by selling the ads herself. And she wrote and wrote and wrote to fill in for reporters who missed their deadlines.

There were those who felt she was sometimes too aggressive or too impatient. Getting things done sometimes meant pushing on people. But without her dedication and energy, the Carbon could not have made these giant strides. She was truly a building editor.

We're glad now we didn't kill her.

Thank you, Stacey. It was a job well done.

Knights score conference victory over Wildcats

by Jeff Redenbaugh

The Knights opened Mid-Central Conference play by travelling to Marion to take on the Indiana Wesleyan Wildcats. The Knights came out with a victory by the score of 86-69. The Knights were led in scoring by Mark Roberts with 22 points followed by Rick Russell with 16 points.

In the next conference game the Knights once again hit the road to play the Foresters of Huntington College. In that game the Knights came out the victors by the score of 94-63. In the game the Knights were led in scoring by Russell with 27 points followed by Roberts with 16 points.

The Knights came home to play the Grace Lancers in the next game where they were once again victorious by the score of 100-82. The Knights over-powered the Lancers down the stretch with a monstrous slam dunk by Roberts which put the game away. In the game the Knights were led in scoring by Russell with 29 points followed by Roberts with 24 points.

Coach John Grimes said, "The Knights played well in the three games and I was pleased with their play."

Coming up, the Knights travel to Marion to play the Bethel Pilots who are also undefeated in the conference. At the Tuesday, January 24, game, Russell can become the all time leading scorer in Marian's history. He needs 16 points to break the record.

Men's b-ball update

by Jeff Redenbaugh

The semester break didn't start so well at the Taylor-Ivanhoe Classic as the Knights dropped a pair of close games to Anderson University and Union College of Kentucky. The score of the Anderson game was 78-76 on a last second shot missed by Mark Kirkhoff. In that game the Knights were led in scoring by Rick Russell with 24 points.

The next day the Knights played in the consolation game against Union College where the Knights fell to the Bulldogs by the score of 76-74. Russell attempted a last second three-pointer but the ball went in and out as the buzzer sounded. The Knights were led in scoring by Russell with 22 points.

The next week, the Knights came home and broke out of their mini losing streak with an impressive win over the IU of
