

Open House at Men's Dorm Highlights Parents Day

FIRST WING of men's residence newly erected on South Campus

Parents To Be Guests At Activities, Oct. 18

Parents of Marian students will be the first public tourists of the month-old men's residence wing, as part of the Parents' Day program, Sunday, Oct. 18.

Facing north, into the South Campus, this three-story structure of tan, Norman type brick, in modern architectural style, has been constructed and made ready for occupancy in less than six months after groundbreaking, Mar. 30.

A 30-ft. asphalt driveway provides access from 30th Street.

Residence director's office and suite, the reception room, the mail room with individual lock boxes are on the first floor. Upper floors are entirely devoted to student rooms.

Eighty-inch beds are supplied with hotel quality mattresses. Chest-type desks, with matching wardrobes and book cases, are of hardwood faced with walnut grain plastic laminate.

Four basic color schemes in bedspreads and tack boards carry out a Grecian warrior theme in the draw draperies.

Recreation lounge, laundry facilities and mechanical installations are in the basement.

Electrical heating is of the convector type, supplied with automatic re-set thermostat.

Signal and communications system includes a buzzer at each student desk.

Tours are also scheduled for both north and south campuses at large.

Mass at 10 a.m. will begin the activities of the day and a buffet brunch will follow.

Mary Johnson, president of the Student Board, will open the 2 p.m. assembly in the auditorium. Monsignor Francis J. Reine, college president, and Mr. Frank Mivec, president of the Parents

Administration, Faculty Welcome Twelve New Members to Staff

Administration and faculty have added 12 new members this fall.

Sister Maragret John, a former mathematics teacher at Our Lady of Angels and Seccina high schools, is Marian's new bursar. She received her B.S. from Marian and her M.S. in education from Butler University. Sister Mary Esther, former bursar and college treasurer, now acts as full-time treasurer.

Miss Patricia Jeffers is admissions officer, a new administrative post this year. An employee in the registrar's office since her graduation from Marian in 1959, she has spent summers in graduate study in theology at Ottawa University, Canada.

Sister M. Laurita, former principal of St. Mary Academy, is director of secondary education. A graduate of Mt. Mercy College, Pittsburg, she holds an M.S.S. from the University of Cincinnati, and has done graduate work in education at Butler University.

She has assumed department responsibilities previously held by Sister M. Hortense, now principal of Rex Mundi High School, Evansville.

Miss Emilie C. Murray, a Marian graduate, has joined the English department faculty. A Ph.D. candidate in Comparative Literature at Vanderbilt University, she was the recipient of a two-year NDEA fellowship, the first teaching assistantship in Humanities ever awarded by Vanderbilt, and a research fellowship.

Father George W. Elford, instructor in theology, is a graduate of St. Meinrad Seminary and is completing his master's work at Butler University. Father Elford has taught at Chatard and Seccina Memorial high schools and is now an assistant pastor at Holy Trinity.

Father Bernard Head, assisting in the theology department, has an M.A. and S.T.L. from Catholic University, an M.S. from Butler, and an M.A. from Notre Dame. He continues to teach at the Latin School where he formerly served as full time instructor.

Also a part-time instructor is Mr. Donald Herring, who is teaching newswriting. Mr. Herring was graduated from Butler with a journalism degree and is assistant city editor for The Indianapolis Star.

Mrs. Margaret Reisler, who has

Enrollment Figures Reach Record High

The presence of 348 freshmen has created a lively atmosphere on Marian's campus. This year's freshman class, as well as the total enrollment, 942, is the largest so far in the college's history.

Seniors this year total 130 members, 57 men and 73 women. Juniors number 112, 46 men and 66 women; the sophomores 144, 52 men and 92 women. There are 112 freshmen men and 236 women, including 51 nurses from St. Vincent Hospital. Special, evening and Saturday students, 53 strong, and 55 at the Oldenburg branch of the college complete the roster.

The Indianapolis Catholic schools have sent 141 new faces to Marian: Cathedral 31; Ladywood 2; Latin School 1, Sacred Heart 25; St. Agnes 29; St. Mary's 12; and Seccina 41. The city's public schools are responsible for 15: North Central 5; Ben Davis, Shortridge, Arsenal Technical, Pike, and Arlington each sent 1; and George Washington and Broad Ripple each sent 2.

One-hundred six freshmen come from other Indiana Catholic and public schools. Next to Indiana,

Meredith Willson Gives "Musicalecture" Program

Meredith Willson and his wife, Rini, will bring their many-sided talents to Marian College, 8:15 p.m., Oct. 17 for the annual Program of Distinction.

Noted for his musical comedy hits, "The Music Man," "The Unsinkable Molly Brown," and his most recent hit, "Here's Love," Mr. Willson has also appeared as the star of his own summer TV series, and written marches, anthems, and musical scores for films.

Rini, an accomplished concert singer, adds the sparkle of her lively personality to the humorous philosophy of her husband.

The two combine to present a "musicalecture," a refreshing mixture of humor, comment and Mr. Willson's music.

This is the second performance at Marian for the Willsons, who appeared in 1961 for the Program of Distinction, sponsored annually by the Parents and Friends Organization and the Indianapolis chapter of Marian Alumni.

PROGRAM OF DISTINCTION features Meredith and Rini Willson.

Series Presents Faculty, Guests

The Adult Education Division is presenting six different lecture series this fall. These eight week, non-credit courses are offered Tuesday and Thursday evenings from Oct. 1 to Nov. 24.

The three Tuesday series are conducted by Marian faculty. "The New Mathematics" by Sister Florence Marie, which explains the kind of mathematics now being taught, supplements the series given last spring with independent material.

Sister Clarence Marie pilots "Books and Authors," analyzing the works of writers, such as Robert Frost and C. S. Lewis.

Father Charles A. Frazee, after 12 months in the Middle East, treats "Countries of the East Mediterranean," discussing current problems of Greece, Turkey, Cyprus, Israel, and the Arab nations.

Thursdays, Father Albert Ajamie, pastor of Holy Angels parish, conducts "Mass Commentator Training Course." This course prepares lay men to lead the congregation in participation at Mass.

"The Christian Man in the Modern World" presents a different guest speaker each week. Coming

Dutch Mime Featured at Nov. 5 Convocation

Frans Reynders, Dutch-born mime, will appear at a convocation Nov. 5. Mr. Reynders is a talented interpreter of pantomime, an art which throws the entire burden of expression on use of body and face.

In addition to performing, Mr. Reynders does free-lance scenic and costume designing and lighting direction for theater, television, and motion pictures.

Since 1959, Mr. Reynders has performed under the auspices of the Art Program of the Association of American Colleges, and has since visited campuses and universities all over the nation. Because most of his program encores are on-the-spot improvisations, the audience will have the opportunity to suggest different subjects. (Picture on page 5)

In Memoriam

An automobile accident on Cold Springs Road, Indianapolis, Sept. 27, took the life of Dolores Niehaus, Marian College freshman from Cincinnati.

Although the school year had barely begun, many of us, freshmen and upperclassmen alike, feel as though we knew her well. Through her animated actions and warm, lively manner, she stood out in the crowd of unfamiliar faces.

The third eldest of seven children, Dolores was an active member of the Mathematics Club and Science Club at Seton High School. Her major academic interests were history, English, and mathematics, in which she intended to major at Marian. She was home-room president of her freshman class, and city-wide treasurer of Students for Decent Styles. Her free time preferences were dancing, tennis, ice-skating, and swimming.

A special tribute at the funeral Mass, St. Teresa's Church, Cincinnati, was the presence of Monsignor Reine, president, in the sanctuary and singing by 17 Marian men.

Faculty members and students who could not attend funeral services joined together in offering a Solemn Requiem Mass in the college chapel.

Dolores Niehaus

Open Letter to Students

I would like to take this opportunity, on behalf of myself and the entire Student Board, to welcome all of you students back to Marian.

As the freshmen may remember, I referred in an earlier letter to one basic objective of the Student Board—that of making college life a growing experience and a well-rounded proposition. Well, I would like to reiterate to all the students of Marian this same objective. Now, to me, this can be done only by creating at Marian an atmosphere that will stimulate intellectual, social and spiritual growth. In order to do this we must be aware of your needs, and the only way that we will ever really recognize your needs is if you tell us.

I would like to say, too, that the Student Board needs you to be interested in it—just as the Board will be interested in you and your needs. My hope is that as many people as possible will co-operate with the Student Board in making 1964 a year of great growth for Marian.

Election—A Battle For Men's Minds

In about three weeks the American people will go to the polls to cast their ballot for the candidate of their choice. Perhaps, in some instances, it will be the candidate of their prejudice.

The importance of the individual vote cannot be overemphasized. It is a power yielded from a struggle against tyranny, promulgated to a people unknowing of actual oppression, and yet fearing its ever pervading reaches. This tyranny is of a new and different kind than that of the colonials who stood behind the walls of Concord. We have the threat of ideological dominance—a battle for men's minds.

This issue has entered into the current campaign. With each party accusing the other of Communism, the citizens have no idea whom to trust, or whether there is anyone to trust, thus breeding a certain uncertainty.

However, the voter, directed by his conscience, must emerge and must voice his opinion. He has the power to suppress suppression. Responsible citizenship yields responsible leadership for responsible government. —m. b.

Invitation

With this issue, the Phoenix begins its 28th year of publication and circulation. Geared to the student body, it carries news and features for the information and entertainment of its readers. More important, it is a vehicle for student opinion. Therefore, The Phoenix invites student letters and contributions with the intent of printing them — space permitting. (Note: No unsigned articles acknowledged.) The Editors

Revised Orientation Program, Initiation Welcome Freshmen

A revised orientation program in conjunction with the annual initiation familiarized this year's freshmen with college life and welcomed them to Marian.

After studying former procedures, members of the Student Board launched an expanded orientation program. It began in the summer with letters to incoming freshmen from upperclassmen and five days of preregistration and tours. The first week of school activities for the freshmen opened on Sunday afternoon with a session conducted by the Board members. That evening the freshmen were honored with a buffet dinner followed by a hootenany. Highlights during the week included an administration tea introducing members of the faculty and initiation.

Climaxing the initiation week was the Beanie Bounce at which freshmen became full-fledged members of the student body during a unique awards ceremony.

With few exceptions, the freshmen enjoyed the new program and feel that it was successful in incorporating them into the student body and in helping them to adjust to the daily routine.

Barb Brown: The initiation and Beanie Bounce were, in my opinion, greatly successful. The hard work of the officers and committee was clearly evident throughout the program.

Paula Peterfeso: I classify the Freshmen Orientation as a very helpful "get-acquainted" and introductory program. This year's orientation was handled extremely well, contrasted with the possibilities of other orientations. The freshmen class as a whole did not resent their odd duties but realized their purpose as helping us feel a part of Marian College. I think, though, that if the orientation were a few days shorter, it would have been better. The last few days were beginning to drag on both freshmen and sophomores. I would also criticize certain sophomores (but very few in number) for carrying their tricks too far. Constant picking at freshmen by one certain individual creates ill-feeling if not just a personal dislike for the person. This was not the object of the orientation, I am sure.

The Friday night program was wonderful!

Kathy Donahue: I thought the orientation program was a great success. It appeared to be very well planned and did accomplish, for me at least, its purpose of getting freshmen acquainted with all phases of Marian life. The initiation was very clever.

David Walker: The orientation program, in my opinion, was excellent. The activities, such as the mixers and the picnic, gave everyone a chance to make new acquaintances and to just have a great time. Everyone here is so friendly that I feel like I have known them all my life.

Tempus Fugit—

School is now a month old. Behind us lie the welcome-back convocations and orientations with their barrage of speeches. Ahead, there are eight months of long and tedious study awaiting our efforts.

Being that four weeks into the school year, undoubtedly there are a few who are behind already. Maybe there are some unfortunates who haven't yet started. Then there might be a few who are a "chapter or two ahead."

These, my friends, are the wise ones. They know the importance of time and how to budget it well. It is one of the riddles of the ages whose answer we wish we could disclose, but we'll have to find it first.

Time is a very relative thing; man's whole life is measured by it and geared to it. For some it seems too short; for some it's not short enough; for some it's an eternity.

No matter what its length, it's how much we put into it. As Napoleon said, "The reason I beat the Austrians was that they didn't know the value of five minutes."

—m. b.

FYI

FOR YOUR INFORMATION

As many of the upperclassmen have probably discovered by now, there have been numerous changes in the location of various offices in the administration building. Contrary to prevalent opinion, such changes were effected not for the purpose of creating confusion and causing delay, but rather for the purpose of creating a more logical order in the grouping of offices; e.g., all faculty members of the history department have their offices in Room 212. New home of the English department is Room 211; languages offices are located in 210.

The seminar room has been moved from 212 to 314; business administration office from 301 to 308. Room 301 is now the private student conference room.

The faculty committee room is located opposite Monsignor Doyle's office near the chapel entrance, in Room 102.

F Y I

By way of explanation to the freshmen (and to one certain new part-time instructor who finds Marian's and Park School's conflicting systems of bells confusing), if you hear a series of bell-like tones and it is not time for class to begin or for class to end, and if no one jumps up and begins gathering his possessions and shrieking "Fire!" and if it's not time for the Good Humor truck, then chances are that you are hearing the rather complex teacher-calling system, "Auto-Call." Through this system, each faculty member is assigned a signal composed of bell tones arranged in a distinct pattern of . . . tones . . . and . . . intervals and . . . well, anyway, don't worry about it. It's not for you.

F Y I

A separate Admissions Office has been set up in Clare Hall, in the small parlor to the left of Mrs. Schied's office. There Miss Jeffers is in charge of the handling of all applications from incoming students, all college information correspondence, and all student records.

F Y I

Another welcome addition is that of the new mailing room located between the Perc and the bookstore. Here Sister John LaSalle is in charge of weighing and stamping outgoing mail and packages.

The mail processing having been delegated to its own special room, new partitioning now divides the Business Office into treasurer and bursar's offices.

Reduced Rates

Clowes Memorial Hall, Butler University, has extended its third terrace student area privileges to students of Marian at the student price. It would be open to Marian students for purchase one week prior to the performance date; and of course subject to ticket availability. Proper ID will be necessary.

Men Move Into New Residence

In 1954, Marian College officially accepted male students for the first time. This year, a decade later, the Marian campus first accepted male residents. The establishing of the Men's Dorm marks the greatest step to date in Marian's development since the school became coeducational. From now on, the men of Marian will have to take a great deal of interest in campus affairs.

The Men's Residence Hall, as yet unnamed, is a trim, three-story building with spacious rooms and modern facilities. Single and double rooms, for a capacity of seventy-five residents, are furnished with a bed, desk, bookcase, wardrobe, and tack-board for each student. The resident lounge, when completely furnished, will have vending machines, a piano, a television, and a pool table. Another lounge is reserved for visitors.

Of the 59 students staying in the dorm this year, 42 are freshmen. Upperclassmen include: 4 sophomores, 5 juniors, and 8 seniors.

Geographically, Indiana has the largest representation with 34; Illinois 6, Ohio 4, Pennsylvania 3, New Jersey 2, New York 2, and Massachusetts, Kentucky, Kansas, Delaware, Florida, Michigan, Missouri, and Minnesota each 1.

The government of the dorm is under the Dorm Board, composed of 6 residents. The present members were appointed by the dean of men to draw up a constitution and govern until an election of permanent board members can be held.

The men's residence is a new venture for all concerned. For the freshmen, it is one phase of the unfamiliar college routine. For upperclassmen, it is a change from the greater freedom in off-campus living. And for the director of the dorm, it is the organization of a new body on campus in a new building. By working together, all those interested can form this latest campus innovation smoothly and effectively into an integral part of Marian College.

Marian Co-sponsors CARavan of Music

The Serendipity Singers and the George Shearing Quintet will perform at the Murat Theater, Oct. 27, 8:30 p.m.

Marian College is co-sponsoring the program, entitled "The Lively Ones", in conjunction with FORD CARavan of Music.

Ford, long noted for its encouragement of education, is giving Marian a percentage of every ticket sold. The proceeds will be used for the Men's Residence Hall.

Three residents of the new dormitory, Jim Fehlinger, Edward Dhondt, and Bill Cronin were given "Mustang" Fords to drive to assist in the publicity promotion.

Prices for admission are $2.00, $2.75, and $3.75. Tickets may be obtained at the Claypool Ticket Agency and the Development Office on campus.

Six Marian Alumni Receive JC Awards

The 1965 edition of "Outstanding Young Men of America" will include six Marian College graduates. Sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, this annual biographical compilation gives recognition to young men between the ages of 21 and 36 who have attained outstanding distinction in one or more fields of endeavor.

Selected by a 13 man National Board of Editors are: Cornelius S. Howe, a representative of Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company; Joseph R. Turk, an instructor in Russian language at Marian College; and Capt. Dan McCarthy, a medical doctor serving with the United States Army in Germany.

Other Marian men so honored were: Richard F. Delaney of the Mead-Johnson Company, Evansville; Lawrence J. Hammerstein, Jr., director of public relations, St. Mary's Hospital, Evansville; and Donald H. Winandy, registrar and director of admission, Lewis College, Lockport, Ill.

Enrollment

from Xavier University, Cincinnati, and Mr. James Commons, a graduate of Notre Dame with a B.S. in Commerce.

Mr. Samuel Rhinesmith, who holds an M.A. from Butler, is organizing instrumental ensembles in preparation for a possible concert band and drum-and-bugle corps.

Jim King, freshman, settles down to concentrated study in the peaceful solitude of his room. The room offers study sanctum as well as resident accommodation.

Mail call is a time of turbulent indifference as depicted by Jim Fehlinger, counselor, as he casually sorts the mail. On the other hand, (see picture) Maury Bubb exemplifies a case of indifferent turbulence as he grabs vainly for his letter.

No matter what they say, it is not totally a man's world, as Richard "Kelly" Chambers, freshman, would say confronting one of the intricacies of housekeeping.

Ed Dhont, senior, and Ron Comeau, sophomore, investigate the wiring in hopes of accelerating the completion of the dorm buzzer signal system, which will summon a resident in the event of a phone call or a visitor.

Governor's Award Names Mrs. Scott Leading Student

Mrs. Gloria Scott, faculty member of Marian's biology department, was honored Sept. 23 by Gov. Mathew E. Welsh as Indiana's most outstanding female Negro student.

The governor's award, presented at a one-day conference on civil rights at the Indiana World War Memorial, was based on academic achievement, personal qualities, and leadership potential.

Mrs. Scott, on study leave last year, is a candidate for the doctorate in higher education at Indiana University.

Mrs. Snellenburg Assumes Position of Residence Director

The opening of the men's dorm on South Campus this year occasioned the establishment of a new office—that of Men's Residence Director. The office is held by Mrs. Helen Snellenburg.

Mrs. Snellenburg is a native Hoosier, whose early home was near Crawfordsville. She attended Indiana University from 1922 to 1926. Then she taught in the Crawfordsville elementary school system for several years.

After moving to Indianapolis in 1941, she worked as an insurance underwriter for Mutual Benefit Life. She held for a short time the office of Junior Red Cross Director for Marion County. From 1958 to 1963, she was Assistant Manager and Counseling Coordinator for Planned College Financing. For six months prior to her coming to Marian, she was residence director at the local YWCA.

Mrs. Snellenburg has two children, a son in Cincinnati and a daughter in Indianapolis, and three grandchildren.

Mrs. Snellenburg

New Faculty

(Continued from page 1) had her own radio program and for three years appeared on television programs, is teaching Speech and Oral Interpretation. Mrs. Reisler received her B.A. degree from Brenau College, Ga., and has done graduate work in speech and drama at Butler. Active in the local Civic Theatre, she has twice received the Best Actress award.

Mr. Charles E. Haines, art director at Crosley Broadcasting Company, is teaching art appreciation. Mr. Haines received his B.A. and master's degrees both in Fine Arts and Art History from Indiana University. Before entering TV, he was a free-lance commercial artist.

Dave Jonta Breaks Security; Invades Beatles' Motel Room

Editor's note: This event occurred during the short visit of the Beatles in Indianapolis, for their appearance at the State Fair, Sept. 5.

by David Jonta, '66

Reproduced by permission of The Indianapolis Star.

I broke the Beatles' "security". The challenge wasn't so much seeing the Beatles as seeing if I could get into the lair of the most publicized group in the history of show business.

Three buddies and I, having mentally mapped the logical one-night Beatles' residence here yesterday, sped to the Speedway Motel.

Not being touched by Beatlemania, our original mission was to observe the screaming horde and perhaps chuckle a little.

But, despite our aloofness, we found it difficult to sit in the relatively isolated (save for 26 police cars) parking lot at the motel at 1 a.m. and be passive spectators at the biggest attraction ever.

When the Beatles were whisked in by police and brought to a screaming halt before the motel, my buddies and I found ourselves jostling among the crowd with no less fervor than they. Along with 50 or 75 others, we got our first big treat, we walked with the Beatles into the motel.

But you could only go so far. When the police stopped us at the bottom of the stairway, we either had to watch from afar or test the security.

We decided to test the security. It took but little time for me to notice that the stairway leading to the second floor had been left lightly guarded after the Beatles' passes. We went up.

On the second floor we went quite unnoticed, even when I peaked around the corner and stubbed my toe on a serving tray which held napkins, a dish and glasses.

We all had the same idea at the same time.

Egged on by my buddies, I balanced the tray on my hand and confidently accosted an English traveling companion of the famed visitors.

"Did they order something?" he inquired, puzzled.

"Of course they did," I retorted.

He opened the door, oblivious to the vigorous yells of the motel manager from below "Don't let him in, don't let him in!"

The crowd, now watching from the parking lot, yelled encouragement. My friends shouted: "You did it, boy, you did it!"

My ego bolstered, I shuffled into the room and gazed around in triumph.

Only the Beatles weren't there!

It was the room of the singers' staff. The Beatles were next door.

Still pleased however, I popped from the room and waved at the crowd below.

Not so pleased, I was promptly apprehended by the gendarmes.

They let me go—after a while. A good while.

Fellowships Available For Graduate Study

Outstanding opportunities for fellowships and other financial aid toward graduate study are available to Marian students. Three of these, which have November deadlines, are the Woodrow Wilson and Danforth fellowships, and the Fulbright-Hayes scholarship. Other scholarships and grants may be secured through specific departments.

Wilson fellowships are available to men and women interested in college teaching as a career. They include tuition, room and board, and books at the college of the student's choice for one year.

Danforth fellowships, formerly awarded only to men, are now open to members of both sexes interested in college teaching. While candidates for the Wilson fellowship may be nominated by any instructor, candidates for Danforth must be nominated by Monsignor Doyle, campus representative.

Fulbright-Hayes scholarships for study abroad are available to any student interested in graduate work, regardless of vocation.

For all three grants, one must make application in the senior year. It is expected that the applicant have better than average grades and intend to enter graduate school the following fall.

This year, applications for the Wilson and Danforth fellowships must be made by Nov. 1, and for the Fulbright by Nov. 15.

It is also important that the student take his graduate record examinations early so that they may be submitted along with his application. For further information, contact Monsignor Doyle.

FRIENDS at last, after two weeks of initiations, sophomores and freshmen co-operate to burn beanies at Beanie Bounce, Sept. 25.

21 Foreign Students Broaden American Colleagues' Horizons

Twelve countries of both hemispheres are represented at Marian by twenty-one foreign men and women. While their national backgrounds add dimension to the education of Marian's American students, they feel that they too are being enriched by contact with the United States.

Mary Rose Lei, freshman sociology major from Hong Kong, feels "American ways are very different but the instructors and students have been very kind."

This year there are seven other new foreign students on campus: Hiroko Kawase and Chieko Ishii, Japan; Trung Nguyen, South Vietnam; Sister Adalaide, India; Mable Hernandez, Cuba; Peter Leiba, Trinidad; and Anne Wood, Republic of Panama.

Dietetic Interns Conclude Course

Four graduates of 1963 have recently completed their year of dietetic internship at hospitals approved by the American Dietetic Association. Mrs. Norma (Payne) Richardson was chosen as the outstanding dietetic intern at Good Samaritan Hospital, Cincinnati, by members of the staff and fellow interns. She received the annual Sister Romuald Merit Award in recognition.

Keeping Up

Let's Swing

by Mary Ann Drew

Hey, Marianites, now that the freshmen are into the swing of college life, they'll see how the rest of us swing into fashions for fall.

"Let's Swing", and the succeeding fashion news columns are going to keep us up on what's swinging, with previews of the new looks, highlights of the present styles, fads, and fashions, and tips on how to take advantage of them on ANY budget. We'll discuss the latest in coats, dresses, hair care and styles, make up, boots, shoes, accessories—you name it.

Everything swings this season, and we'll have to move fast to keep up with it.

Dances are no longer patterned steps, or spine splitting gyrations. They're a combination of swinging movements that show off the new, loose, casual hair-dos and fall fashions to their best advantage. Sure, skirts are still short, but they're not tight. They fit to flatter any figure with a graceful freeness that swings.

And girls, our crowning glory is truly that this '64-'65 season. Long or short, hair is clean and shinning, free and swinging. (100-300 strokes a night with a stiff natural bristle brush and a good double sudsing shampoo—as often as necessary—keeps it that way.

Not only are clothes and hair styles freer, so are the fashion minded individuals who want to stay that way — INDIVIDUAL!! There's such a wealth of swinging things to choose from, let's exercise our freedom of choice this election year, and each create a look of her own, a flair, a personal style.

Let's discuss this aspect of fashion in another issue. We'll get the fella's likes and dislikes, too, and their suggestions for a more feminine, a more attractive and a more swinging you!!!

We would also appreciate your ideas, girls, your suggestions, your comments and your criticisms.

Let's hear it Marian, and Let's SWING.

Visiting UN Representative Describes Birth Pangs of Emerging Territories

"Communists are far more active in the United States than they are in Africa", declared Mr. Godfrey K. J. Amachree, noted diplomat of the United Nations Secretariat, during a speech delivered at Marian, Thursday morning, Oct. 8.

Mr. Amachree is the Under Secretary of the U N Department of Trusteeship for Non-Self Governing Nations. He formerly occupied the post of Nigerian Minister of Justice and Solicitor General of the Federation of Nigeria.

Focusing his speech on the problems of de-colonization, Mr. Amachree traced the history of the non-independent nations since the founding of the U.N. From 1945 to 1955, no nations gained sovereignty. But in the following four years twenty-six countries became self-governing. As of 1964, only sixteen territories under U.N. jurisdiction are lacking autonomy.

Criticisms of new African nations were given special attention. Instead of being trouble-makers, Mr. Amachree insisted that African countries only protest when a threat to liberty is involved. The charge of Communist infiltration of Africa was also dismissed.

"I know of no Communist government in Africa," said Mr. Amachree. "I don't even know of a Communist party."

Mr. Godfrey Amachree

Jockeys Display Talent In Victory Over Bears

by Jim Nalley

The fall semester at Marian brings with it studies, hayrides, parties, and intramural football. With the season only two weeks old, Sunday, Oct. 4, saw what might have been the climax of the entire season. The Bears, who boasted of size, power, and depth, were picked by many as the team to unseat the defending champions, the Jockeys. But the speedy champs were functioning like a well-oiled machine and routed the Bears 26-6.

Other games that day saw the Lump-Lumps crunch the Studz 33-7, leaving the Lump-Lumps as the leading challengers. The Minuah-Mixers, a very able freshman team, were victorious over their

Red Cross Honors Faculty Members

Honored by the Indianapolis Red Cross Chapter for their labors in welfare, health and safety were Sister M. Adelaide, O.S.F., and Mr. Cleon Reynolds.

The annual Red Cross awards banquet, Sept. 29, stressed the years of service given by these two Marian faculty members.

Sister M. Adelaide has served the Red Cross for 16 years as faculty moderator of the Red Cross Chapter.

Ten years' service has been donated by Coach Reynolds as instructor in first aid.

Physical Education Minor Added to Teacher Program

by Sue Charbonneau

Marian's physical education department has introduced a physical education minor to the school curriculum which will begin with the 1964-65 school year. Coach Cleon Reynolds feels that the opportunity for this teaching license, not previously available, will attract students to the college who would have gone elsewhere to seek the license.

Mrs. Thelma Clarke, women's athletic director, sees the new minor as an aid to students on the education program who find themselves requested to teach physical education when they apply for a teaching appointment. She also mentioned the growing demand by parochial schools for physical education instructors.

In speaking of the type of stu-

WRA Schedules Sporting Events

Marian's inter-collegiate women's sporting events were scheduled at an annual meeting of the Athletic and Recreational Federation of Indiana College Women at a Speedway Motel luncheon Sunday, Sept. 20. Ball State College acted as host for the affair. Peggy Mader, WARA president, Mrs. Clark, sponsor, and Ricky Augspols represented Marian College.

Three tennis matches are planned for October: Indiana Central, Oct. 17, there; Indiana State, Oct. 24, here; and Ball State, Oct. 31, there.

Eight basketball games and six volley ball games are scheduled for the winter months.

Frosh, Lettermen Eye Hopeful Hardwood Season

The Marian Knights face the 1964-65 season with three of last year's starters, a string of promising frosh, and the hope of bettering last season's 9-15 record. Graduation accounted for the loss of one starter, forward Pat Sabelhaus who sported a 12.1 points per game average last season. Separate auto mishaps claimed another starter, and a promising

An athletic conference of Midwestern Catholic colleges is almost a reality. Athletic directors met Sunday, Sept. 13, to discuss the possibility of such a league, and all seemed enthusiastic. Colleges represented were: Marian; Aquinas College, Grand Rapids; Dominican College, Racine, Wis.; and St. Francis, Fort Wayne. St. Procopius, Lisle, Ill. has expressed interest, but could not be represented in last month's meeting.

The coming of a conference could be the vitamin that Marian's sports has needed. More men will be encouraged to go out for sports, if helping to bring home a conference trophy is possible. Since two of the schools are regulars on our basketball schedule, we would only need to add two games.

Other advantages of the Midwest Catholic College Athletic Conference are:

- 1) All schools have approximately the same enrollments.
- 2) Athletic scheduling would be simplified.
- 3) Game officials would be responsible to the league, not the home team.

If it materializes, the conference will hold one cross-country meet in the fall. Each team will play four conference basketball games—two home and two away. In the spring, a golf, tennis, track and field, and basketball conference meet will be held on one weekend.

Another meeting of the coaches and athletic directors is scheduled for this month. We should know soon if the MCCAC will be a reality during the 1965-66 school year. With luck, we may even see track and tennis meets this Spring.

Mike Noone

Noone Serves As Ass't Coach

Mike Noone, former star basketball player here at Marian, returns this year as assistant coach of that sport. He replaces Father Pat Smith, who is on leave for doctoral studies. Noone set nine records during his college career; four are still unmatched.

His remaining records are: total season points (561), season average (24.5), career total (1,375) and total points in a game lost (32). Another mark, season free throw attempts (190), was tied last season by Chuck Federle.

Mike, a member of the class of 1962, graduated with a B.S. in chemistry. He is employed at Eli Lilly & Co. on whose basketball team he played last year in the AAU industrial league.

Varsity-Alumni Game

The annual Varsity-Alumni basketball game will be held this year on Veterans' Day, Nov. 11, at 7:30 p.m. The aging graduates will be pitted against a predominantly freshman group of varsity members, in the yearly elbow-to-rib contest.

Since the regular season games are free, this is the team's primary fund-raising venture.
