

JOB CONFERENCE

On Tuesday Feb. 7, 1984, Marian College will co-host a Public Service Job Conference to be held at the Second Presbyterian Church, 7700 North Meridian St. in Indianapolis. The Conference will offer an excellent opportunity for students to gain insight into some of the more prominent public service organizations in Central Indiana. A panel, comprised of representatives from the City of Indianapolis, the State of Indiana, and the Federal Government will address the topic: How to Search for a Government Position.

The Conference will run all day (9 am. to 4 pm.), and students are welcome to attend all or part of the day's program. No registration is necessary and students can bring a brown bag lunch if they desire.

A few of the organizations to be represented are the Children's Bureau of Indianapolis Inc., the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the Dept. of Metropolitan Development, and Indiana Sports Corporation.

For more information contact Dave Roberts or check the Carbon Office door.

MC CONFRONTING A NEW ISSUE Rachel Helmen & Janet Padgett

In a recent off-campus incident, three Marian College resident students were arrested and accused of criminal activities.

This situation has prompted several questions about MC's policies and procedures dealing with students and crime.

According to the Code of Student Rights and Responsibilities, Section 5, PROSCRIBED CONDUCT, Article C:

Violation of Civil, State, or Federal Statutes:

"Students are citizens of several communities--city, county, state and nation, as well as the College. Certain types of misconduct may subject a student to the concurrent jurisdiction of and the imposition of sanctions by, both the College and civil authorities."

As a community unto itself, MC has a responsibility to all of its members. College policy has, in the past, been to deal with those offenses committed by students, not of a violent nature, "in-house," including minor offenses committed off campus. The attention generated from this incident, however, has made such "in-house" action impossible.

Concerning incidents of a more serious nature, the college must look at the students involved in the incident itself, at the student body as a whole, and at how the incident reflects on MC as a community and as an institution.

Our own disciplinary body-- the College Judicial Panel-- must first deal with the question of whether or not it will be necessary for them to take action. The issues which must be faced are primarily the rights of the individuals involved; the seriousness of the offense; and the effect on the school, on the individuals and on the safety of the student body--both physically and as a community.

A decision for a meeting of the panel in regard to the recent incident involving MC students has not been reached. A meeting of panel members met yesterday to decide whether or not to take action.

The alternatives available depend on whether or not the panel decides to meet. If the panel deems this necessary, it could convene either prior to civil action, concurrently with civil action, or following civil action.

The administration recognizes "the sensitive nature of these issues," said Judicial Panel Chairman Joe Ryan, for students as individuals as well as the student body as a whole. Reflecting this concern Controller Ryan stressed that "We are talking about people."

It is stated in the Judicial Handbook that their "basic philosophy is one of educational discipline." This includes "helping the student take responsibility for his behavior." Dean Woodman recognizes the disciplinary aspect as well as concern for the student. "While one of the related concerns is discipline," said Woodman, "we are also concerned with the welfare of the students."

Incidents of this nature are commonplace on other campus', but are being dealt with for the first time at MC. The recent incident has forced a confrontation with some sensitive issues and, in so doing, the administration, the judicial panel, and the Marian community as a whole, are being forced to answer questions previously unfamiliar to our particular community.

CHB PLANS TO REVAMP BASEMENT

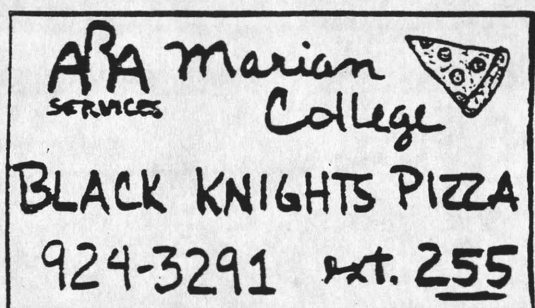

The prospect of venturing down into the Clare Hall basement could receive a variety of reactions ranging from the semi-amused "Are you kidding?" to the mildly-terrified "Are you crazy?!?" Yet steeped in the kind of inviting atmosphere seldom found outside of the Munster home, Clare Hall's basement is now the target of renovative efforts headed by the Clare Hall Board.

Their plan is to turn the large basement room into a recreational/study/lounge area. Although nothing has been officially proposed, those things being considered include lowering the ceiling, installing fluorescent light fixtures, painting the walls and floor, and purchasing new furniture.

The Board is limited to a budget of approx. $1,000. Committees to clean up and paint, however, would eliminate maintenance costs, and donations of any kind will likewise be sought.

As all plans must first be submitted for approval to Colonel Ryan, Marian College Controller, no definite date has yet been set for work to begin.

News Briefs

CONFLICT- A U.S. Marine was killed during a day long series of clashes in Lebanon. In three battles against Shilite Muslim militiamen, U.S. fire reportedly killed a nine year old girl and two other civilians. Three marines and two children were among 29 reported wounded.

ECONOMY- Women working full time were paid about 2/3rds as much as male counterparts in 1983, the Bureau of Labor Statistics said. Average weekly earnings reported by men totaled $393, women made $260. For management positions and specialty jobs, the comparable figures were $551 and $370.

- Interest-rate swings are apt to widen next month when banks and thrifts must change the way they calculate reserve needs, bankers say. The new contemporaneous reserve accounting is meant to tighten FED control over the money supply.

SHORTS . .

- President Reagan has decided to run for re-election.
- Michael Jackson has been released from the hospital after suffering multiple burns received during a commercial shooting.

ART EXHIBIT

Mary Clouse will be presenting her Sr. Art Exhibit in the Marian College Library beginning on Sunday, February 5, with a reception in the faculty lounge (off the basement auditorium) from 2:00-4:00p.m.

Including such work as paintings, drawings, ceramics, sculptures, and various crafts, the purpose of the exhibit is to "show-off" the work Mary has completed while studying in Marian's Art. Dept. Personally, Mary feels most at ease in the area of drawing.

Graduating in May, Mary will have her major in Art with a concentration in Interior Design and Education. Her future plans are to work residentially as an Interior Designer. Presently, Mary is working at Kuper & Associates Interior Space Planning, fulfilling her Senior Practicum.

PHONE CONTRACT

As most of you know, for the past several months Marian has been shopping for a new telephone system. Well, we have finally chosen the new AT&T Dimension 600. It is a modern, flexible telecommunication system which should fill all of the college's telephone needs for a long time to come.

The system has been ordered and is being manufactured now. It should be completed and ready for delivery sometime in the middle of May. User training is scheduled for later in May and, barring any unforeseen circumstances, the new phones should be ready for use on June 15. Questions about the phones may be directed to Rich Rosenfeld, ext. 203, who has been appointed manager of the new system.

SHIRT SALE

MCAHPER is selling Marian College long-sleeve T-shirts. The shirts are only $7.00 and would be nice to wear to basketball games to show your spirit! They will be on sale at basketball games and in the cafe until they're gone.

T.A.G. Notes

T.A.G. is sponsoring a theatre rebate. Go see any play in town, present your ticket stub to Lisa Fritz X420 or Sean Johnson and get 1/2 of your money back. Rebate limit per ticket is $6.00. Rebate is limited to theatrical performances only. Check the COMING ATTRACTIONS column for what's playing where. Go out and support area theatre. ENJOY YOURSELVES!! If any questions call Lisa Fritz.

STUDENTS HIT THE ROAD

Cotton Patch Gospels, a musical play based on the gospels of Matthew and John is being performed at Ransberg Auditorium, Esch Hall, Indiana Central University (ICU) on Feb. 10, 11, 17, and 18 at 8:00 pm. and the 12 and 19 at 3:00 pm.

This successful off-Broadway play, based on the book by Clarence Jordan and written into the musical by Tom Kay and Russel Treyz, portrays Jesus and his message in the modern-day setting of Gainsville, GA.

The music and lyrics written by Harry Chapin are what interested Mike Holper in the play. Mike, a Junior Accounting Major here at Marian will be acting the part of Jesus in ICU's performance.

When asked about the play's importance, Mike referred to a quote by Clarence Jordan, "The purpose of Cotton Patch is to have the onlooker participate in the life of Christ as the early Christians would have,... as the fast-breaking news of the day, and not mostly history."

Dan Johnson, a Freshman Nursing Major will also be in the play performing multiple roles and the part of Matthew.

Directed by Dr. Richard Williams and Musical Director Sue Conway, the company includes a double-cast of twelve members and five musician ensemble which alternates evening performances.

This Spring following the production at ICU, the company will tour various cities in Indiana on the weekends. Starting Aug. 4, Mike will be leaving for a three week tour enroute to California, offering nineteen performances to the public.

MARTIAN SET

Parent's day was victorious for the J.V., Women's, and Varsity Basketball teams. The J.V. started the day out with a 71-63 victory over I.U. Kokomo.

Janis Blome hit a shot with 4 seconds left in the Women's game to put them up by one. A missed shot by Indiana Tech at the buzzer, gave the Lady Knights a 75-74 victory. This was the first time the women have beaten Tech in 4 years!!!!

The varsity game seemed like an instant replay of the Women's game. Mike McKenzie hit a bucket with 4 seconds left in overtime, which gave the Knights a - victory over Indiana Tech.

The women hosted St. Joe on Tues. and upped their record to 8-6 with a 68-60 victory. They took on Earlham Thurs. but the results were not available at press time.

The men traveled to I.U. Southeast on Wed. Tomorrow the women host St. Francis at 1:00 and the men take on Purdue Cal. at 3:00. Come over to the gym and cheer the teams on!! GOODLUCK KNIGHTS

Set 'em up and Spike 'em down was the strategy for many of the teams last Sun. as women's volleyball action got underway. The evening began with SENIORITIS defeating SPIKED PUNCH and the KOOL-AID-KIDS defeating MCFU'S.

Then came in the Amazons! With the LITE SPIKERS and their high offensive strategy being demonstrated by a spectacular ace spike from Paula "Poo" Frounfelker to wrap-up the match against PRETTY SCAREY. And with the PYT'S and WCC'S fighting it out "in the land of the giants" with the PYT'S capturing the victory.

In the final match of the evening, the DUFERS defeated TP'ers despite their duffiness. Good job Jane F. and Sally L.!

In other Intraumural play, the Men's basketball games are underway, but the results of those games were unavailable at press time. Sorry. We'll update you on all play next week. (ed. note - From one co-editor to the other, congratulations on a superb Parent's Day - you outdid yourself Jac!!)

GRAD CHANGES

The proposed changes in the Academic Grad. requirements are certainly needed and may be well overdue. However, before these proposed changes are implemented, a few very important factors need careful re-consideration.

First of all, in order to fully cover and adequately absorb all of the important information contained in Humanities, it is vital that the course hours remain as they are and not be lowered to three credit hrs.

Secondly, the proposal to lower the Eng. requirements clearly contradicts one of the committees goals set forth as a guideline in preparing the new requirements. The goal hopes to help students "improve skills of reasoning, critical thinking, and communication." English skills are not only important in attaining these goals, but crucial. One semester of English Composition is simply not enough to accomplish learning the skills needed and required of the college graduate.

One possible plan for adding an English requirement would be to offer it on the basis of "choice." That is, offer three or four different English courses that students may choose from to fulfill the requirement.

Overall, the proposed changes seem to be a positive step in the right direction. Hopefully, before these changes are implemented, more consideration will be given to these two factors as well as to the student's needs, desires and ultimate scholastic achievements.

"Success is a result not a goal."
That was the idea behind Career Day which was held last Thursday, Jan. 26.

There were 18 alumni visiting, taking the time to come and talk to Marian students who are interested in their futures. Unfortunately for the most part they wasted their time. It wouldn't be honest or fair to say that no one showed up, some people did, but not enough to justify the time and effort of those who planned Career Day. Not enough to justify the valuable time our alumni put aside for us. Can it be true that Marian students don't think about their future?

ALCOHOL? AT MARIAN? NO?

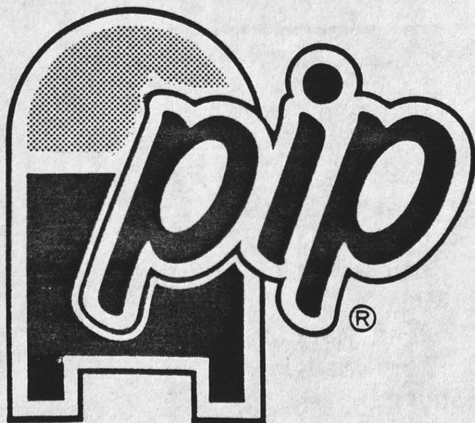

by John L. Weeks

Standing there with my over-flowing waste basket in one hand and holding the garbage chute door open with the other hand, I stared at a Stroh's box and two empty bottles of Seagram's 7 jamming the opening. I put my waste basket down and shoved the offensive containers down so that I might be able to empty my waste basket, which I did.

As I strolled back to my room, the thought dawned on me. Why were there alcoholic beverage containers in the garbage chute? Isn't this a "dry" campus? The thought that such a cardinal dogma might have been violated, offended every principle which I stand for. It violated my sacred belief in the true sense of man's innate goodness. To say the least I was disgusted.

The very next day, as I was walking toward Clare Hall for breakfast and looking forward to an enriching day of classes, I noticed more of the truly offensive containers littered across campus. This offended me even further! The anger which had betrothed the previous evening returned with a vengeance. The very thought of my peers and classmates frolic-ing around campus in some sort of inebriated celebration sent my sensitive blood pressure through the roof!

I will definitely have to talk to someone about this before I suffer absolute heart failure!
