WOMEN FINISH SEASON 26-13

by Stephen Tweddell

November 6-7, the Lady Knights played in the District 21 Volleyball Tournament at IUPUI.

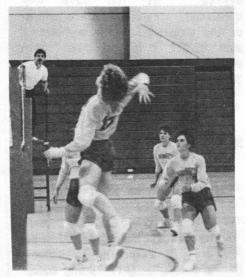

In the first game, the Knights made quick work of Tri-State. In two games the scores were 15-9 and 15-12. Top players for Marian were Terrill Reed and Amy Beckman with six kills apiece. In the assists department, Kellie Via turned in 12 and Melissa Brisco contributed four. Julie Herbstrith had three blocks and Reed had four blocks.

Saturday morning, Marlan faced IUPUI. They lost in two games, 11-15 and 11-15. Reed had nine kills and Beckman had eight. Tina Meyers and Sharon Effinger had two and one kills, respectively. Again, Via was Marlan's top player in assists with 16. Brisco added three assists of her own. Reed had three blocks and Herbstrith contributed two blocks.

In the third game of the tourney, the team played Huntington. They beat them by the scores of 15-11, 12-15 and 15-9. Reed, 13 kills and eight blocks, and Beckman, 11 kills, led Marian to victory. Via had another superb setting game as she recorded 20 assists.

The Ladies then faced Tri-State for a second time. Tri-State avenged Friday's loss with three wins, 10-15, 15-8 and 2-15. Again Marian was led by Reed with six kills and two blocks, and Beckman with 13 kills. Effinger had five blocks. Via added 17 assists and Brisco had seven.

THEFT ON THE RISE

by Lucy Griner

Tension is rising on campus as ten cars were broken into early on the morning of Wednesday, Nov. 4. The robberies occurred in the back parking lot at Doyle Hall. Marian College Police Department speculated that there were four or five people involved in the thefts.

The ten car owners suffered various damages from broken windows to stolen stereos and other valuables. The alleged larsonists attempted to hot-wire the car of freshman Stacy Williams. It appears that they used a coathanger to unlock the car, and once inside damaged the steering column and the gears. Williams commented, "Security is always writing tickets and not around when something like this happens."

According to the Indianapolis Police Department there is little hope that the items will be recovered. Sophomore Steve Keenan is considering having an alarm system put into his car to help solve the problem. When asked how he felt, Keenan said, "Very upset, because there is nothing I could do about it, nothing." Keenan also believes that Marian College needs more lights in the parking lot to decrease the incidents of break-ins.

MCPD will now be patrolling all of the school parking areas a minimum of once an hour in an attempt to cut down the vandalism and theft.

$30,700 CONTRIBUTED

by Jenna Morrow

The Alumni Department raised a record-breaking $30,700 in their Annual Alumni Phon-a-thon. Volunteer students called alumni Oct. 19 to 28, asking for donations to the annual fund. Some individual pledges were as much as a $500.

The annual fund is a fund which the college uses as it sees flt. It is usually used to pay teachers' salaries, electric bills, and maintenance.

Mrs. Gantner, head of Alumni Relations, was "very pleased" with the outcome. She stated that "the students worked very hard, and can't wait until next year to break this year's record."

LISLE: ACTIVE IN COMMUNITY

by Elizabeth Edwards

Alan Lisle, Director of College Relations, has recently been re-elected chairman of the board for the Indiana State Chapter of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society and has also been named Arbitrator of the Month by the Central Indiana Better Business Bureau.

In an interview with Lisle about his positions, he explained what the organizations do for the people of Indiana as well as his own roles.

The Indiana Multiple Sclerosis Society is responsible for delivering patients' services to the victims and their families at St. Vincent's. They educate the public and raise funds in Indiana for operating expenses and research. The funds are given in grants to doctors and scientists nationwide.

Lisle, who has been on the board for three years and chairman

NEW ART TEACHER

by Beth Peter

Ann Lee of Iowa is the new Art History professor at Marian, taking on some of Forrest Brandon's classes, who recently passed away. She is teaching American Art, Art and Mass Media, and the Art section of Humanities.

She studied Bacteriology at Creighton University, a Jesuit school in Nebraska. Later, she received a B.A. degree in Art History at Herron here in Indianapolis. Currently, Lee is a Master's candidate at IUPUI, studying architecture and concentrating on Art Patronage in 19th Century Indiana.

For the past 19 years, Lee has worked as a "Docent" at the Indianapolis Museum of Art (IMA). She leads high school groups on tours through the museum and has worked on the Lilly Pavilion decorative arts. There are requirements for volunteer workers and a two year training period in order to become a Docent. According to Lee, IMA has a good docent program.

Lee has four children, two girls and two boys. Kathleen, her oldest, is working on her Master's degree in Florida. David is at IU. Both Anne-Marie and John are in High School.

Coming to Marian at practically mid-semester was difficult for her, since there were many things happening all at once, but "things have settled down," says Lee. She likes the students and atmosphere at Marian and basically is happy to be here.

in 1986 and 1987, gives his approval to policies established by the Board, which oversees the organization.

To raise funds, the organization sets up programs such as Rent-A-Gent, a bachelors auction. Last year this auction raised $30,000 and this year, refined, it raised $50,000. The other events that run are the well-known (McGruff) Read-A-Thon and the Murder on the Roof.

Lisle was named arbitrator of the month for his work in helping the Better Business Bureau mediate disputes between consumers and business. The bureau asks for volunteers from the community to arbitrate these disputes. For example, Lisle and William Woodman, Dean of Student Services, handle automobile disputes. After both people sign consent forms for arbitration, Liste listens to each side, inspects the automobile as a consumer would, adjourns the meeting, and then submits a finding by which the parties in the dispute must abide. Liste commented that an arbitrator is like a Judge.

Lisle sees his work in these organizations or in any organization as community service. He strongly feels that everyone should contribute or volunteer, even if it means that the work is done during a lunch hour or non-working hours.

PETA: ANIMAL LIBERATION DEBATE

by Chris Beals

Every second three animals die because of research in United States laboratories. organization. People for the Ethical Treatment of Animals (PETA), the nation's fastest growing organization, is opposed to experimentation on animals. PETA's 200.000 members work with students across the U.S.

They are active in trying to get schools to change their dissections and vivisections to a computerized lab simulated program. On campuses, they are also sponsoring demonstrations. and they produce a newsletter to inform the general public.

Currently PETA has released an album, Animal Liberation. efforts of this album started with Dan Matthews, who lined up artists such as Howard Jones, Shriekback. Luc Van Acker, the Coulerfield, the Residents, the Red Hot Chili Peppers, and Nina Hagen with Lene Lovich. The album starts off with its theme. "Animals are not ours to eat, wear, or experiment on." Although this album may contain only musicians from the new music scene, the message is a strong one. This album confronts the issues of vivisection, the fur industry, the meat industry and hunting. All of the rock stars on this album -- along with other well known acts such as Paul McCartney, Annie Lennox, Tears for Fears, Madness, Thompson Twins, and Sting -- believe in practicing vegetarian diets. Matthews, the organizer of the album, believes that if everyone reduced or eliminated meat there would be more grain to feed the world's population.

Vegetarianism has a special link to the anti-vivisection movement: a vegetarian does not get the diseases for which many animal experiments are conducted. When 1.5 million Americans die from heart disease every year as a direct result of consumption of red meat. it is time to step back and consider your diet.

The way the group discovers animal experiments to investigate is this: someone participating in an experiment calls out to PETA for help. PETA has found that even the most heartless researchers feel compassion at some point. Among the better known cases is that of the 15 Silver Spring monkeys who were used in the Institute for Behavioral Research in Maryland. Their spinal cords were operated on to render one arm useless. While the monkeys were clinging to the cage, lab assistants would poke and beat them to see how long it would take for them to defend themselves. The monkeys would end up falling to the floor crying. The screams usually get to someone ... that is. if the animals' vocal cords are left. In most labs vocal boxes are cut out so their cries cannot be heard.

PETA has been around for seven years and plans to continue until cruelty to animals ends. If you want any information, contact PETA; Box 42516; Washington. D.C. 20015.

MEN WARM-UP FOR OPENER

by Stephen Tweddell

When the Marian Knights' basketball team takes the court on November 14 at St. Francis College, Knights' fans should look forward to an exciting season.

The Knights return with four starters from last year's 14-12 team. Sophomore Rick Russell, last year's leading scorer, Junior Scott Fleming, and Seniors Steve Leonard and David Back should provide the nucleus for this season's team. Veterans Mark DeHart and Steve Simmons will also be returning.

In addition, the team has a good crop of freshmen in Rob Kirchoff, Ed Ertel, John Jones, Jeff McClaskey, Matt Mitchell, and Brad Keinsley. Rounding out the 1987-1988 roster are freshmen Eric Zolman, Steve Merry, Jim Ervin, and Jeff Burke.

Head Coach John Grimes enters his 12th season at the helm of the Knights. He says that the returning players are the foundation on which the team's season will be built.

This year is very special, since the team begins their first year of conference play as a of the Mid-Central member Conference. Ten of the twentyeight games this year are conference games. Grimes remarks, "We have played these teams all along, but earlier in the year. Now we can use our early non-conference games to prepare ourselves for the first conference match against Huntington on January 16."

In addition to conference play, the team is also looking forward to the tournaments and to the game with IUPUI at Market Square Arena.

Carbon meetings are held each Monday evening, 8:00 p.m., in the Student Board Conference Room, on the first floor of Clare Hall. Everyone is welcome.

FOOTBALL UPDATE

by Tina M. Kunkler

Last Sunday's Intramural Flag Football games resulted in an upset and a few outstanding plays. Here are the answers to the most asked questions on campus.

Upset of the "weak" goes to the Three Main Maulers who defeated Lagnaf. The team of the week is the Pit-s, which they are. Jim "Plato" Poole had the CPR play of the week with his 50 yard touchdown and near collapse.

The Scavenger Hunt teams are Williams' and Bessler's. They are still looking for victories, or the games are looking for them, which ever comes first, according to Coach Mike Henderson.

The Mis-Named team of the week is the Bomb Squad who has not bombed yet after their second effort.

A late entry, last minute qualifier is Joseph's who is still looking for players. Where is the Mustang Lounge when we need you?

The Hang-Over Tournament this Sunday following the Homecoming Dance Saturday night should be interesting. The question will not be "What is the score?" but "Did they score?"
