

Executive Candidates State Platform

The Phoenix learned last night that eligibility of some of the Student Board candidates is in question by the Student Services Office. A notice was put upon the bulletin board yesterday afternoon by the Student Services announcing the eligible candidates and extending nominations until tomorrow. According to Vice-President Bain Farris, the extension of nominations had not been considered by the election committee. He saw Dean Pille yesterday and said that the notice should be taken down. It was and consequently there has been no official word on which candidates are eligible.

Four candidates seem to be in jeopardy because their acume is not the required 2.5. One of these candidates has a 2.4, another flunked out of Marian three years ago; since he has returned he has received a 3.00, 2.5 and 2.4

Informed sources also said another candidate's eligibility is in question because she is not going to be on campus for classes. She is in medical technology and will be at St. Vincent's Hospital during the day and living in an apartment.

1. Failure to solicit student opinion on the major issues before action is taken.

I propose a referendum to the student body of the major issues such as the sit-in of the chapel.

2. Failure to make known on a wider scale the proceedings and minutes of Student Board meetings.

I propose posting minutes of Student Board meetings the following day and making all Student Board meetings open.

3. Failure to adhere to the Constitution and by-laws.

I propose either adherence to the Constitution and by-laws as they now stand or a revision of the Constitution and by-laws making them more updated and effective.

Whether you agree or disagree with what I say, I urge you all to vote and make your opinion and your voice known.

by my exposure to four of its members, it has become clear to me that this opportunity will be welcomed by the Trustees; they want to know what is going on. They are willing to ask for and seek out student opinion.

I would like to suggest that the Carbon be returned to its original function, as an organ of the Student Board. In this way, the reports of Student Board meetings would be spread among all the students and they in return could write their opinions. All issues concerning an action or a decision could be discussed before, during, and after that action or decision takes place.

If I am elected Vice-President of the Student Association I will do my best in securing better communication between the students, faculty, administrators, Board of Trustees and the Student Board.

Tom Hanrahan, Vice-President

As a member of the Student Board of 1969-70 and a candidate for the office of Vice-President in the upcoming election I feel it is my obligation to express to you, the members of the Marian College Student Association, the course I plan to follow if elected.

The Vice-President acts for the president in his absence and assists in all administrative work. He shall act as Parliamentarian for the Executive Board. He shall also act as liaison between the Executive Board and all Non-Academic Committees except Student Services. In addition, the Vice-President shall chair the Legislative and Constitutional Revision Committee, and the Publications Board. He shall be a

Sara Greubel, Vice-President

As a candidate for the Vice-Presidency of the Marian College Student Association I would like to present a few of my views.

I would like to express a desire for better communication between the Student Board and administrators and between the Student Board and the students it represents. Our channels of communication have been set up by Student Services. The channels exist and we students must learn to use them properly instead of trying to set up new ways of communication.

I am very much in favor of having student and faculty members on the Board of Trustees. However, the students will not have forced this decision upon the Board of Trustees. Judging

MH Takes Community Action

Sophomores Gene Bourke and Becky Raibley represented all Indiana College Mental Health units Thursday in a skit at the Indianapolis Hilton. Given for institutional study committees of the Mental Health Association in Indiana, the skit stressed dehumanization of patients in mental hospitals: Curtains, flowers, and mirrors were presented as 'trivia' which are very significant in a patient's recovery.

The prime work of the study committees will be the humanization of patients. The committees will visit Indiana's mental hospitals for physical and fire inspection, talk with the superintendents, meet with the staffs and present facts to state legislators. They hope to accumulate information concerning state institutions in need of improvement and to cooperate with Gov. Whitcomb's Institutional Visiting Committee about conditions which need attention.

Project: Easter Basket

Mental Health Club (MANA-SA) extends special thanks to members, Clare Hall residents, and the Sophomore Class for their contributions. Candy for 42 baskets has been purchased and was delivered to the children's ward at Central State Hospital Monday.

'The Sea' is the theme for this year's Junior-Senior prom.

A touch of Rod McKuen will be evident when entering the Latvian Community Center, 1008 W. 64th on Apr. 25 at 9 p.m. Music will be provided by the Blue Knights from Rensselaer, Indiana. Committees for favors, invitations, tickets, queen's election, and decorations have been formed. President David Albano has been urging more involvement of the juniors in this project. Any junior who would like to be on a committee should contact any class officer. (Now is the time to make plans to go, upperclassmen!)

MARIAN COLLEGE

Donald Bruns, President

My platform, for the office of Student Board President, is not one of promises but one of trust and understanding. I feel that if the Student Board members and the administrators of the school can show trust and understanding for each other then more will be accomplished for the student body as a whole and for the college likewise. If there is a problem between the two of them the facts for either side can be argued and a conclusion drawn which will be beneficial to the entire school.

I cannot promise the students of Marian that I will do 'this' or 'that' until I find out just what the students want and need. To do this I suggest 'gripe sessions' where students can come to the Student Board office and present their arguments to the officers. This way we will be able to solve the little problems as they arise and not let them build up. From the Student Board office we would then proceed to the proper administrator to solve these problems which, in the past, have been taken to people who were not in charge of those specific areas.

If any major decisions involving the entire student body arise, I plan to take a poll of the students after presenting them with all of the facts and then, and only then, to act accordingly.

Some proposals I wish to make are:

1. Re-evaluation of clubs on the Marian Campus and the money appropriated to them.

2. Class representatives running for the Student Board at the same time as the officers of the Student Board.

3. Weekly meetings with Dr. Guzzetta.

4. Gripe-ins and polls taken regularly.

James Herbe, President

In the two years I have been associated with student government here at Marian, as Freshman class president and Sophomore representative to the Student Board, the main criticism has been the lack of, or inability to communicate. This communication gap includes student-student, student-administration, student-faculty, and student-Board of Trustees problems, as well as faculty problems in these same areas. While personality clashes sometimes aggravate the situation, the real problem lies in the lack of a structural voice for the students. At present times, the four class reps have a scheduled meeting with four Trustees before their May meeting (and possibly on a permanent basis); but the need for a student representative with debating power on the Board of Trustees and the Faculty Council seems to me a necessity to insure that something like the Pedtke situation not develop again.

Secondly, our own constitution, presently under revision by a Constitutional Revision Committee, needs to be updated to include clauses concerning impeachment proceedings against officers, board appointments, payment of officers, the addition of NABS (National Association for Black Students) representative, as well as a final approval by the Board of Trustees to insure its 'efficacy.'

Finally, students must become aware of what the Student Board does and how it functions. The posting of the minutes (now done on occasions) and the continuance of the Board Reports in the Phoenix are integral parts of this communication; and, if possible, I would like to see the Board meetings held on Tuesday or Thursday afternoons so that more students might be able to attend. Many of these issues are already under consideration by this year's board, but they must not be allowed to die in committees and if I am elected, I will try to see that they are not.

Stephen Swercheck, President

During the past few weeks it has become evident that Student Board leadership is not what it should be. The Student Board has lost the confidence of a large part of the student body. In putting forth their 'requests' they overlooked one important element: the support of the student body. It is to remedy this situation that I am running for the presidency of the Student Board.

I believe my major qualification for this position is my desire and willingness to work with the students, the other board members, and the administration of Marian College towards the attainment of a more effective student government. I am now president of the Chess Club, chairman of the Educational Committee of Action, a Resident Assistant at Doyle Hall, and a writer for the Phoenix. All these positions require the same initiative required of the Student Board President.

The present Student Board has committed three serious errors:

News In Brief

'Celebration' Cast Selected

Cast members for 'Celebration,' a musical allegory in which there is a ritual battle between winter and summer, have been chosen. Main characters are Daniel Kernan, Daniel Holbrook, Roger Newman and Lynn Howard. Several other students are members of the chorus. Jack O'Hara is director.

Sr. Norma Awarded Fellowship

Sr. Norma Rocklage has been awarded a fellowship in the Academic Administration Internship Program which is sponsored by the American Council on Education.

The program, according to Sr. Norma, involves becoming acquainted with the functions and the problems of academic administration. She will not be teaching any classes next year in order to be free to work for short periods of time in various administrative offices such as Development and Student Services. The program requires a paper to be submitted in April, 1971 dealing with her findings.

Activism and Demonstration

Very obviously the number of candidates for the positions of president and vice-president of the Student Association has been affected by the student activism of the last two weeks. This activism, though unappreciated by most of the Indianapolis news media, is characterized by its non-violence. Perhaps an evaluation of the demonstrations will prove their worth.

The demonstrations brought the news media in to Marian. Good or bad, it was only the news media which prompted the Board of Trustees to respond to students. Some of the Trustees met with the Student Board last Tuesday and agreed to set up a committee of four students and two Trustees to acquaint the Board with student problems.

After the demonstrations, Dr. Guzzetta was prompted to act definitively on these three points:

- 1) A committee of faculty and students to become a fourth recommendation on tenure for teachers.
- 2) Student representatives on the Faculty Council with at least debating power.
- 3) Black faculty, administrators, and members of the Board of Trustees.

The problem of William Pedtke's tenure still remains. The Trustees seem adamant about not reopening the case even though the charges against Pedtke, if not obviously unjust and trumped-up are at least questionable. The probationary contract given Pedtke is an undeniable mistake (even if life is a series of compromises).

Voters Must Register

by Carl Zapfe

This year's Indiana primary election, to be held May 5, will mark the first time many Marian students have had the opportunity to vote in a city or state election. The primary, as the name implies, is a preliminary run-off among candidates of the same political party. On primary day the voter first chooses his party, and then the candidates whom he wishes to represent his party in the fall general election.

There are several qualifications for voting in the primary, the first and most important of which is that you must be 21 years old on or before Nov. 3, the date of the fall election. You must have resided in the state of Indiana for six months, in your township for 60 days, and in your precinct for 30 days. Finally it is necessary to be registered in order to vote in the primary.

If you voted in the last general election you are already registered to vote in the primary and need not register again. If you did not vote in the last election you must register with your precinct committeeman, a registration officer, or with the voter registration office downtown in the basement of the City-County Building. When you register you are given a voter registration card to show on primary day. The deadline for registering to vote in the May 5 primary is midnight, April 6.

Students whose legal residence is not in Marion County have a choice of where to vote. They can vote by absentee ballot in which they are a legal resident or, if they meet the residence requirements outlined above, they can declare residency and vote here. It is illegal, however, to vote at both places. Students from other states should note that their state's primary is probably held on a date other than May 5, as primary laws are not uniform throughout the country.

Racism Argument Invalid

In response to John Mahoney's editorial on 'Institutional Racism,' (Carbon, 3/20/70), I would like to challenge the validity of his accusations.

- 1) We do have Black faculty. Sr. Francesca Thompson is on a two-year sabbatical, but will return in 1971.
- 2) We do not have Black administrators, or more Black teachers, for a very vital reason: there are not enough Blacks in education to serve all institutions wanting them.
- a) The 1964 Civil Rights Act actually discouraged Blacks from entering the education field because Black leaders had been teachers and principals at all-Black schools. When the schools integrated, many Blacks were 'flushed out' of the Southern school systems, thus discouraging aspirant teachers and principals. (See NEA Task Force report, School & Society, 12/69). Note: MC is not responsible for the 1964 Civil Rights Act.
- b) I am sure Mr. Mahoney is aware of the trend toward Black separatism. According to the Journal of Higher Education, (12/69), 'Campus blacks appear to advocate separatism in order to lay the foundations for eventual equality.' With separatism has come a rise in the population of Black institutions, and within the past five years Black administrators and teachers have become strongly committed to Black institutions, despite loss in salary. Furthermore, Black institutions are possessive. The issue becomes whether we will allow Black institutions to become strong, or split them by lowering their level of teachers and administrators.
- c) Large institutions are the Black administrator's choice after Black institutions, because they are more integrated all the way through, and their pay and prestige are more appealing.
- d) We do not want the hiring of Blacks to look like tokenism. A Black should be hired because he is qualified, and not because he is Black. In an orderly way, fully qualified and willing Blacks will be hired. If 'competence' (a popular word this year) were ignored, the Black students as well as the white would be humiliated by the outcome of their demand.

- e) If this were an affluent institution, we could afford to 'stockpile' Black personnel until openings arose. But we must wait for openings, and we all agree, as recent controversy shows, that we do not want qualified persons to lose their positions unjustly.
 - 3) The Board of Trustees is willing to broaden its base, and has already added a Jew and two Protestants to its number. The problem is not to find qualified Blacks, for there are many, but to find Blacks who want to serve on the Board. Board positions are time-consuming and often expensive, especially at a private institution.
 - 4) It is true that we have no Blacks 'involved in direction of non-academics employees' (which I take to mean maintenance.) As a matter of fact, we only have one directive position. It is filled by a white, but
 - a) the senior bookkeeper is Black
 - b) one of the more highly paid maintenance men is Black
 - c) one of three security guards is Black
 - d) in food service, many Blacks have directive positions (i.e. production supervisor, head chef)
 - 5) It is true that there are no Black counselors. But when was the last time Mr. Mahoney saw a white counselor? It seems that there is a shortage in this service as a whole. Mr. Fields and Mr. Van Hoos will be counselors next semester, thus strengthening the service. When a Black counselor is available, the administration will be open to him. However, there are only 45 Blacks here, and we must build up where the numbers are first.
 - 6) Whites have communicated little understanding of the problems, but often, so have Blacks. I doubt that either side can deny a certain degree of emotionalism and social pressure producing conformity of thought.
- This is not the first instance in which the Carbon has failed to research its facts. On this note I rest my case.

Student Board Candidates.....

Is Awareness Radical?

by John Dorsey

In the cool of the morning sun, it will become quite easy to forget and put aside the issues that brought our campus to a boil a week and a half ago. It might be assumed that the turmoil was the result of the radical militants within our midst and they shouldn't be rewarded for their audacity.

I think careful examination of these so-called radical militants will reveal that they are neither radical nor militant. Marian College does not exist in a vacuum. Students are aware of this turmoil and frustration besetting other academic institutions throughout our country. The concerned students of Marian turned to these examples to look for means only after they were completely frustrated by lines of communication on their own campus. What did they choose to vent their frustration? The most peaceful, the most constructive and the most non-violent methods any campus has seen. The cause was not pre-fabricated, only the methods were calculated. The spirit of sensitivity, reason, and open discussion at every juncture was a shining example of democracy at work. The students knew that they could not violate the very thing they were trying to preserve, and they did not.

To call them militant and volatile, blankets the long series of frustrations they had felt dating back to October. One need look no further than the other side of Marian's campus where, frustrated by the immediate situation, several boys took up arms and threatened violence to vent their frustrations. Contrast this with the constructive requests of the students concerned about academic freedom and they are indeed reasonable and rational and worthy of your immediate attention.

Letter

An editorial in the Mar. 10, 1970, Phoenix asked some questions about the convocation series for this academic year.

As has been customary, the Program Committee for 1968-1969 scheduled the convocations for the 1969-1970 academic year. This committee of five faculty members and two students with Sr. Francesca as chairman had a budget of $3700. Following a student survey, the committee scheduled two major speakers, Julian Bond for $1250 in October and Pierre Salinger for $1500 in March. These contracts were signed last April—before the 1969-1970 committee was appointed. Fees for Michael Novak in September, Sidney Callahan in November, and the December Christmas program plus the operational expenses comprise the remainder of the budget.

In February Pierre Salinger cancelled his contract with Marian College. With the $1500 allocated for the Salinger appearance, the 1969-1970 Program Committee decided to schedule a number of programs for the remainder of the semester. On March 10 the last of the contracts was signed for the following programs:

- March 19: Gylan Kain, Black poet and dramatist.
- April 16: Cantor Robert Zalkin, musical recital.
- April 23: Indiana University Percussion Ensemble.
- April 30: Shano Sato - two appearances: Demonstration of Classical Japanese Dance, and Demonstration of Japanese Flower Arranging.
- May 14: Rabbi Sidney Steiman, 'Operation Israel.'

The 1969-1970 Program Committee recommended to the Faculty Council on Mar. 10, 1970 that the Program Committee for the next academic year be appointed early in the spring semester and that it be charged with planning and executing the convocation programs for the following academic year. The Faculty Council unanimously approved this suggestion.

The 1970-1971 Program Committee will be appointed very soon. This group will appreciate suggestions from students and faculty about convocation programs for the next academic year.

REHEARSING FOR 'POOR RICHARD' in the SAC are Pete O'Connell as Richard and Ed Frerman as Sidney. Shari Rathz is director of the play which runs Apr. 17-19. 'Poor Richard' is a comedy by Jean Kerr in which a British poet comes to America only to find that his newly acquired secretary has decided to marry him. Other cast members are Jane Schroeder, Dennis Weber, and Tina Peck.

Alumna Returns To MC

A special visitor on campus this week was Sr. Marian Kodama, S.S.N.D., a 1955 alumna of Marian College. Sr. Marian, a native of Gifu, Japan, is on a three-week vacation in the United States. The trip was given to her as a Christmas present from a friend.

She was a sociology major, and assisted an Australian missionary in visitation, social work and interpreting for five years after her graduation. In 1960 she entered the convent, choosing the name 'Marian' in memory of her experiences and friends at the college. Since 1962, Sr. Marian has been on the faculty of Notre Dame High School in Kyoto. She teaches religion, ethics, and English, and is dean of students.

Sister has been here since Mar. 15, and has visited college friends, roommates, and teachers. A highlight of her stay was the 1955 Class Reunion held in the administration building Saturday. She will also visit her motherhouse in St. Louis, and return to Japan on Apr. 4.

When asked about the changes at Marian since 1955, Sister commented enthusiastically, 'Marian has really progressed!' She cited as examples the enrollment, which has more than doubled, and the acquisition of buildings and land. She was particularly surprised at the slacks worn by women to class, and the beards worn by the men. But she admitted that these trends are developing throughout the United States and Japan as well.

Candidates Report

Dennis Du Bois, Treasurer

In my capacity as treasurer, I plan to continue the accounting system initiated by Mark Fedders and have the Student Board records audited, along with the financial records of Marian. I fully realize that my job as treasurer will be subordinate to my position as a voting member of the Executive Board. In view of the issues of this year at Marian, I find my most pressing task will be to listen to both sides of an issue and then take a positive stand.

Paul Sturm, Vice-President

I have a sincere desire to become your Vice-President of the Student Board and believe that I am very qualified to fill such a position. This belief comes from a soul searching effort on my part, and on the part of others, of the conditions existing at Marian. The fact that I have the ability to get people to come together and work things out, and since this is one of the major responsibilities of your Vice-President, strengthens this belief. I also have a full realization of the duties and the responsibilities of such a position, and know that I can do the job and do it well.

The objectives towards which I will strive can be summed up mainly under the heading of 'bettering communication.' I propose to do this first of all by building a basic trust into people at Marian, students, faculty and administrators alike, and to aid in the construction of respect for the personal dignity of each and every person. After this a liaison can begin to unite people to work for a better Marian, and not let such an ideal die as it has in the past through a misunderstanding of purpose. This problem of misunderstanding can be alleviated by keeping students and all other interested peoples informed of all points of information essential to total knowledge of the activities in and about the college. The purpose of all this is to advance the academic principles of Marian, and to make the college experience more meaningful for the student in pursuit of truth.

Paul A. Sturm

Claudia Zuchowski, Vice-President

It is my hope as I run for the office of vice-president of the Student Board to become part of an organization that will be more representative of student interests and opinions. I feel that it is the responsibility of the Student Board to seek out the opinion of the student body and to carefully regard such opinion in the Board's decision-making processes.

As I advocate closer associa-

Spangled Star Shrouded

by Ellen Dugan

The Star-Spangled production by the Marian College Theatre was shrouded by an occasional cloud cover of dropped lines, dropped props and rather limp story line.

Despite these drawbacks the production did manage some high points. Margaret Foltz was delightful as Sophie, the former Olympic swimmer, who endures the harassment of Norman, an eccentric magazine writer played by 'R' Lane. Her southern accent was foolproof and her poise was impeccable.

Lane and Dan Kernen, who portrayed the magazine editor of 'Fallout' magazine, were effectively contrasting. Lane's 'Little bay' interpretation brought deserving applause. It was, however, hard to believe that anyone attempts to 'remedy a sick society' in such a passive way.

Opening night jitters perplexed Kernen. His smug, confident air as the executive was broken each time his overanxiousness ran into the next line. Still he deserves much credit for handling an extensive role.

Undoubtedly, first night difficulties with broken tables and knocked over props was remedied for later performance. A rather disappointing number of patrons attended Friday night.

Senior Barb Bates' direction of 'Star-Spangled Girl' deserves recognition.

tion with the student body, so do I advocate correct and, hopefully, friendly relationship with the Administration. If we, the students are, first, to preserve and, second, to expand our participation in college affairs, it is best accomplished if an atmosphere of mutual respect exists between the student body and the Administration. I feel that my background and experience can help me to establish and maintain such an atmosphere.

This experience includes participation in a number of campus activities: women's sports, varsity and intramural; member-vised for the purpose of securing more efficient and more effective student government.

4. I would suggest that the Student Board be more communicative of its action. This might be accomplished by prompt posting of the minutes of Board meetings on the bulletin board in Marian Hall.

I ask all the students to become familiar with the candidates and their ideas, to carefully consider these ideas, and to vote on April 10 for a Board to represent you.

ship on the Phoenix staff; Marian delegate to the I.U. United Nations' Conference; and executive positions as a past president of WARA and current secretary of ACTION.

I have a few ideas to offer which indicate some things that I hope the Board can accomplish in the upcoming year:

1. I would like to see the Student Board work toward sponsoring more academic activities on campus, such as speakers or seminars. In some cases, such activity might be sponsored in conjunction with the college.

2. I would also desire for the Student Board to sponsor more social activity on campus.

3. I would propose that the Constitution and By-Laws be re-

Terry Seibert, Secretary

I would like to announce my candidacy for Student Board Secretary for the 1970-71 school year. My reasons for running are as follow:

1. I would like to see change within the 'establishment,' such as the elimination of outdated rules and regulations, but achieve them by working within the administrative framework, not from without.

2. By such a process, see Student participation in the efficient and fair running of Marian increase.

3. See the restoration of the 'lost' atmosphere of community and fellowship here at Marian.

4. Show the Indianapolis community, as well as the college, that as leaders of tomorrow, we are capable and willing to carry the duties, while also using the freedoms and privileges that come with self-government reasonably.

5. To promote a democratic atmosphere within and without the Student Board.

My credentials include:

1. Two courses in Political Science—American Government and International Relations.

2. A major concentration in History—21 hours as of next fall.

3. Experience in organization—President of Action and a delegate to the model United Nations Conference held at I.U. this March.

4. An extreme interest in the direction Marian will take in the next few years.

5. A desire to help make this change in a student-oriented direction.

I ask for your support in this election, and feel capable of carrying the responsibility if you desire to elect me as your representative.

Martha Scheper, Secretary

I feel that this year's Student Board has made some steps toward a better Marian College. I am running for secretary of next year's Board because I would like to see the changes that were initiated this year carried out and would like to be a part of this.

Among the things that I would like to see established next year are better communication between the Student Board and students and between Student Board and administration. Through better communications I would hope to learn and express the opinions of other students about Board matters.

The secretary of the Student Board is a member of the executive board. This entails more than the regular Student Board meeting each week. There are Student Services committee meetings and executive board meetings. I will have time for these and the other duties this office requires.

I will go into more detail about my platform at the Student Board Candidate Coffee Hour.

Thomas Hanrahan, Vice-President

member of the Budget Committee.

Article II, Sec. 2

Constitution M.C.

Student Government

I feel that my qualifications and experience are sufficient enough to give me a basic understanding of this position. I have been a member of the Publications staff for two years, R.E.A.C.T. coordinator for two years, N.S.A. coordinator for one year, member of the Constitutional Revision Committee, Faculty-Student Administrative Committee to the Board of Trustees, and a delegate to the N.S.A. Congress at El Paso, Texas.

If elected to this position I plan to:

1. Cut the expense of the Marian College Yearbook from $5,000 to $3600 by affiliating ourselves to a new publisher.

2. Recommend to the Student Board that we conduct additional monthly meetings in the auditorium on various topics including the role and structure of student government, academic freedom, racism, etc., so that we shall be able to keep open lines of communication with the student body.

3. Recommend that the Student Government continue to involve itself in the affairs of this campus so that we may transform this into a true community.

4. Propose a plan to restructure the present disciplinary committee of Student Services by the formation of a Judiciary Branch of the Student Government and the passage of the 'Joint Statement on Student Rights and Freedoms' guaranteeing due process. I have already forwarded a copy of this statement to the Board of Trustees at their request.

5. Recommend to Student Services a needed change in the image of the dormitory directors and resident assistants by restating their purpose as counselors rather than disciplinarians.

6. Recommend to the Student Government a proposal to create a new position on the Board, that of National Association of Black Students Representative, to act as a liaison to the national office, and to be elected by his/her constituents in U.B.I.

7. Pursue the present position taken by the Student Board in attempting to seat three students on the Faculty Council, and the formation of a lesson committee between the Student Board and the Board of Trustees.

Marian Hosts AIDE

Guests on campus last weekend were teachers and psychologists for the American Institute for Developmental Education. Professional leader of the conference, Dr. Dolores Storey, is psychologist at West Shore Mental Health Clinic in Muskegon. Her topic was 'Understanding, Evaluating, and Educating Children with Perceptual Handicaps.' Sr. Claire Whalen was Institute Dean.

Boats Float After Easter

According to one gloveman, 'Our pitchers are ready. Hitting-wise and defensive-wise, we could use a little more work. We have only been outside six times, we've practiced with the bat, but none of it was solid work.'

The ballmen have been working on defense in the gym, but it's obviously not like playing out on the turf. The big pitching men on the team are Mike Brunette, Joe Greenwell, Mike Mills and Ed Weischadel. Mike Eimer, Tony Formuto, and Dick Wilhelm are expected to make a good showing behind the bat.

Marian doesn't offer moonlight swims in Lake Marian, but this spring, boat rides will be available on Saturdays and Sundays. This is another of the projects of the Biology Club.

The club has acquired two row boats to be rented out at $.50 a half hour. If the program goes well, other boats or perhaps a canoe will be purchased. The times at which the boats would be available also depend upon students' acceptance.

CROUCHING for the ball is varsity volley baller Jo Ann Neumann, as Joyce Leugers and Martine Boehlein assist.

Chess Game of Kings

by Stephen Swercheck

Chess for centuries had been a game of kings and scholars. It wasn't until this century that chess became a game for the people. It is not a simple game, but neither is it difficult. The rules are few and they make sense. Once they are mastered the game itself becomes one of simplicity: you versus your opponent.

In the last column I described the pieces. To finish that description: to the left of the king are a second bishop, knight, and rook. This makes a total of one king, one queen, two bishops, two knights, and two rooks. In front of these are eight pawns. The pawns move forward only one square at a time (the first move can cover two squares) and capture diagonally left or right. Each player is therefore equally matched with 16 pieces, each in opposite positions.

A few basic rules are now in order. First, the black queen must be on a black square and the white queen must be on a white square at the start. Secondly, the king may never place himself in check or under attack. If he is under attack, check is called and the king must be protected. Here is that central objective of the game, to place the king in check in such a manner that escape or evasion is impossible and therefore: 'checkmate.'
