BETTER LATE THAN NEVER??
If you're wondering why the CARBON looks just a little bit funny this week (two covers?) , take a closer look. You'll find last week's missing issue has arrived!!! As a result of last week's blizzard, CARBON publication was detained until this past Wednesday and with the interest of avoiding confusion, the CARBON editors decided to distribute both issues at once. I'm sure that most readers will find letters of interest in the delayed issue as well as a bit of information about what they COULD have been doing last week!! Well, better luck next week!!

TO THE MASSES'...

The blizzard has passed, but mounds and drifts of snow are ugly reminders of that storm. However, that was all a week ago and people have dug out and are again returning to their normal daily routine. Marian College had difficulty obtaining men and equipment to dig out and I do appreciate that the roads on campus are fairly decent. But you shouldn't pat yourself on the back too soon, Marian College dear, because you rather rudely left a huge snow drift lie in front of a major exit from the parking lot on the west side of Clare Hall, by the gym. As a motorist, I was extremely angered by the fact that although my car was not covered with snow, it was blocked into the parking lot by a huge snow drift and other less fortunate cars. I was finally able to get out of that trap late Sunday night, after discovering the identity of the owner of the car blocking my exit. Since then, I notice many other cars have relocated to other areas, some of which are "illegal" parking spaces. The snow drift in front of the parking lot must be moved prior to anyone who uses their car's returning to it. Are we to rip off cafeteria trays and very bravely dig at the snow ourselves? I paid a parking fee at the beginning of school which should have covered this snow removal. So — the snow won't move on its own (I've already asked it to and it refused!) so why doesn't Marian College spend a little time doing it. I promise that removing the show will make a lot of girls much happier. THANKS!!!!

LENT', 1978

Feb. 8 marks the beginning of the season of Lent-- a time for us to get in tune with ourselves as persons who have offended God and others by what we have done or have neglected to do. As a sign that we are all sinners in need of God's forgiveness, we can join together at the All School Mass on Wed. at 11:15 to receive ashes on our foreheads. There will also be baskets at the church entrance where you can place contributions for the poor and hungry. The Catholic Church asks all its members to abstain (eat no meat) on Ash Wednesday and all the Fridays of Lent as a sacrifice to Christ who died for our sins on Good Friday. All those over 21 years of age are also asked to fast (eat only one full meal and two small meals) on Ash Wednesday and Good Friday.

CAMPUS MINISTRY

TRY THE PEACE CORPS OR VISTA!!!

If you are looking for a viable alternative to the 9 to 5 rat race after you graduate, a look at the PEACE CORPS or VISTA could benefit you. Mr. Fred Mastny, a former PEACE CORPS volunteer, will be holding interviews for both the PEACE CORPS and VISTA on February 17th from 8:30a.m. to 4:30p.m.

The PEACE CORPS considers applicants for two years of volunteer work in developing nations overseas. Teaching, Business co-ops, construction work, and the health fields are just a few of the areas that the CORPS volunteers can utilize their degrees and skills! An international outlook or interest in another culture would make the PEACE CORPS your "other option to consider."

On the other hand, if fighting the "red tape" and bureaucracy in this country is more your liking, you might investigate VISTA. The VISTA program entails one year of work with the rural and urban poor in the U.S. and concentrates on community oriented services and organizations

These include work in Day Care Centers, special education and on Indian Reservations among others.

Both the PEACE CORPS and VISTA are looking for graduates of all majors. Applications can be picked up in the Student Services office. See Merle Tebbe to sign up for an interview with Mr. Mastny. Interviews will be held on an one-to-one basis. Be sure to bring your application with you!

FROM THE STUDENT SERVICES OFFICE

The recent tragic slayings at Florida State University and dormitory fire at Providence College prompts me to admonish all of our on-campus students to review College policies and procedures that are designed to protect life and property. In case you were unaware, two Florida State University coeds died in the early hours last January 15th. One of them had been raped; both had been beaten and strangled by an unknown assailant who entered a sorority house through an unlocked door. Two other female students who lived in an apartment six blocks away from the sorority house also were beaten.

At Providence College in Rhode Island, a tragic fire that broke out in a 300 student female dormitory on December 13th took the lives of seven coeds and hospitalized three others. Initial reports on the cause of the fire were inconclusive. One theory attributed the fire to a faulty "Gooseneck" lamp that ignited a Christmas decoration; the other to the use of a hair dryer inside a closet by two students who had participated in a snowball fight and who were trying to get the dampness out of their clothes.

The most alarming thing about these two tragic and horrifying events is the realization that they probably could have been prevented through the use of a few simple precautionary measures. The security system at Florida State, for example, has long been a model of that suggested by the International Association of College and University Security Directors. The "system" features around-the-clock patrol of campus buildings, an escort service after dark for female students, stationing of guards in campus residence complexes, a recent re-keying of doors to all residence halls, regular talks by security specialists around campus, etc. At Providence College, the Providence fire marshal declared that the dormitory met all fire code requirements and had been inspected just prior to the beginning of the school year. In addition, the fire alarm system was fully functioning, the dormitory was constructed of brick and concrete, room doors had an hour and a half fire rating and the University had spent $250,000 in the last four years on fire safety measures.

The point of all this is that there is no fire proof building nor is there any "system" that can guarantee absolute security without your cooperation and the use of proper safety and security measures. In other words YOU are the only one who can insure your own personal safety and security by following the procedures published by the College in the Student Handbook, Residence Life (pgs. 12, 13, and 14), and Commuter Life (pgs. 3 and 4). Of particular concern at the moment are such things as students who leave dormitory entrances propped open at night, students who neglect to lock their doors at night or when they leave their room, unauthorized electrical appliances and/or over-loaded wall outlets, the inappropriate use of extension cords, unnecessary accumulation of trash and litter...etc. Well, the list could go on. Please, take a few minutes to review these safety and security precautions. It may save your life.

CARBON SUPPLEMENT

FEB. 3, 1978

VOL. 42 - No. 17

HELP THE HUNGRY

Are you willing to help feed the hungry? You can by:

- 1) eating only soup at lunch on Ash Wednesday (SAGA will contribute the savings on the cost of your lunch to BREAD FOR THE WORLD, an organization which helps feed the poor);
- 2) writing your name or cafeteria number on the form below and placing it in the box on Clare Hall desk by noon on Monday;
- 3) giving your number to the checker at the right of the cafeteria door when you go through the line on Wednesday at lunch time.

You will be joining a city-wide program ASH WEDNESDAY FAST FOR HUNGRY NEIGHBORS sponsored by the Church Federation of Greater Indianapolis. These slips (stating your intention to fast) will be carried up in the Offertory procession of the Mass on Ash Wednesday.
