

Act Now → DON'T BE FOUND A WITHOUT JOB

A few Marian graduates of last year have not found satisfactory employment. This means that these young men and women have not found jobs after looking for a position for six months after graduation.

Placement offers help

Seniors are being urged by the Placement Office to take action now so that they do not find themselves in a similar position. There are steps that seniors can take to enhance their possibilities of finding the job they want. The Placement Office is equipped to advise seniors as to the type of tools and basic information that can function in the finding of the position they want. Services available are explained below.

The PLACEMENT SERVICES HANDBOOK provides information that will help design a resume and make initial contacts with employers. It also provides suggestions about appropriate interview behavior and what kind of contacts to make with an employer after being interviewed.

In addition to a resume, all students seeking positions in the business, industry or government areas, should develop a credentials file. This includes the basic information that employers want to see on a candidate. Letters of reference are an important part of the file since they are considered a very useful means of evaluating a candidate for a job. The blank forms needed to construct this file are available in the Placement Center.

Prospects are outlined

The OCCUPATIONAL OUTLOOK HANDBOOK (1972-73 edition) and the OCCUPATIONAL OUTLOOK QUARTERLY are the most widely used sources for information about professions. A publication entitled INDIANA MANPOWER TRENDS (1967-1975) provides local data in these areas. All three of these sources are available in the Placement Center.

A listing and thorough description of opportunities with the U. S. government is also available in the Placement Center. The application forms and information on the Federal Service Entrance Examination can also be secured.

The COLLEGE PLACEMENT ANNUAL is a source which lists hundreds of employers by major and geographic location. It describes each company and lists the name of the personnel director.

The cubicle adjacent to the Counseling Offices and the Financial Aid Office in the SAC building will be used as the center for placement activities. All of the materials mentioned above are available in this center.

Discussions planned

We have made arrangements for Bill Hawkins (who works in the Placement Office at Indiana University) to conduct a program that seniors find most helpful in their job-seeking efforts. Some of the topics are Planning Your Career, What the Jobs Are, Where the Jobs Are, Organizing Your Job Campaign and The Job Interview. This will take place on Friday afternoons. The program will be divided into several sessions. Interested seniors should contact Mrs. Masten, Ext. 262.

We have sent letters to over 140 employers throughout the state. As a result, a number of employers have indicated that they have openings. Other companies have called due to our contacts with them last year. A listing of all of the job opportunities that we are aware of is available in the Placement Center.

The most useful service that is available is the individual conference. Any senior wondering who to contact for a job, how to contact them, what goes into a credentials file, how to design a resume, what to include in a letter of application, should feel free to contact John Van Hoose (Ext. 262) or Fred Brames (Ext. 250).

All that is necessary for the forces of evil to win in the world is for enough good men to do nothing.

RULING BY SUPREME COURT ON ABORTION

The Supreme Court yesterday ruled that abortion during the first three months of pregnancy is a matter to be decided between a woman and her physician.

The court further stated that

Cheerleader captain, Trish Baumer, tried to spark our Knights on to a victory during one of the time-outs at last Saturday's game against Thomas More of Covington, Kentucky. The cheerleaders sported their new uniforms for the first time.

The cheerleaders, aided by Booster Club members, will be selling buttons to help pay for the new uniforms.

AFROTC - INITIATED AT MARIAN -

Marian College and Butler University have signed an agreement to offer the Butler AFROTC program to Marian College students.

The signing came after determining that there was no serious student or faculty opposition to the inclusion of this arrangement into the Marian curriculum. Students who participate in the Butler AFROTC program will take the AFROTC courses on the Butler campus. Enrollment, credit, and tuition procedures will be maintained under the Marian administration.

The new arrangement goes in effect February 1, 1973 and is initially available to freshmen and sophomores. Interested students may obtain information about the AFROTC program, its benefits, and enrollment procedures from Captain Pickens who will be available outside the auditorium from 11:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. on January 24, 25, 26 or by calling 542-2620.

Briefly, the AFROTC program is open to both men and women and is oriented toward students interested in becoming pilots or navigators. The basic benefits are:

- Full tuition scholarships, including books and a $100/mo allowance.
- Guaranteed $100/mo allowance for all juniors and seniors.
- Free flying lessons to private pilots license for pilot candidates.
- Guaranteed job at graduation

DINNER HELD

The Marian College Home Economics Club hosted a dinner meeting for the 1972-73, 1973-74 state officers of the Indiana State Home Economics Association-student section last Saturday, January 20th from 4:30 - 7:30 p.m.

The club will also be hosting an initiation dinner tomorrow at 6:00 p.m. for new members. Mrs. Fred Brames is scheduled to be the guest speaker.

medical abortions, those deemed necessary to preserve the health of the mother, are permissible up to the end of the sixth month.

The ruling of the high court invalidates the laws concerning abortion in every state of the union. States have power to interfere only during the second three months of pregnancy when a medical decision is necessary in the decision to abort.

This ruling, then, gives American women the right to a legal, medical abortion during the first six months of her pregnancy.

HOST-HOSTESS GROUP TO MEET THURSDAY

An information session will be held Thursday, January 25, from 10:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. in the Red Room across from the cafeteria to acquaint students with the newly formed Marian College Host-Hostess group.

The members of the 1973 Sweetheart's Ball court were announced last evening.

Senior candidates are Peggy Lauer and Barb Campbell. The juniors are Kathy Gagen and Cathy Curran; Tracie Martin and Trish Baumer, sophomores; and Alonda Wells and Mary Lou Mitchell, freshmen.

These eight girls were chosen from a list of nominees selected last week. The other girls nominated were: Ruth Mauer, Jeanne Eliason, Mary Stockrahm, Nancy Perkins, Helene Mullan, Jeanne Hellman, Barb Forman, Chris McMillen, Margie Bauer, Jane Bruns, Anne Monnot, Carol Jones, Elaine Ellis, and Kathy McMillen.

The queen will be crowned at the Sweetheart's Ball on February 10 by last year's queen, Barb Moll.

I'D LIKE TO GRIPE....

Kathy

If you see me walking around campus and I don't have the happiest of smiles on my face, there's a reason. There are a few things I'm disgusted with that don't look any better to me even after I put on my rose-colored glasses -- and sometimes they look worse.

Trying to buy my books somewhere other than "The Bookstore", I find that Marian College book lists are confined to the Marian College bookstore. That bothers me. It's not at all fair that they should have such a monopoly on our business. It's un-American!

I could even accept the situation with a 'grin and bear it' attitude and a mock-up of an explanation about the college needing money -- if "The Bookstore" had an adequate supply of the necessary texts. It too often comes down to beating the other guy to "The Bookstore" to get the last book available. If he beats you, you get a line about the indicated number of students in the class (according to pre-registration) is smaller than the number now taking it and 'We just didn't order that many books.' You are told they'll have to be ordered from the publisher. From last semester's experience, you could go through three-quarters of the semester without a book! And who wants to pay for a book you'll only get a few weeks' use out of when it does come in? Is it so much to ask that our book lists be sent to at least one other book dealer in the city?

If this were the only thing bothering me, you could see me smile whenever it happened to slip my mind. But when "The Bookstore" is forgotten, I have a few other things to complain about.

The spirit of free expression is truly encouraged at this school. To begin with, the four student publications shared only one phone -- now they share none. Carrier pigeons don't like cold weather, and none of us know Morse code so a telegraph line is out. It's very ironic to me that we're unable to get to a phone to communicate, but lately nearly anyone is able to enter our offices through a door we are not permitted a key to.

We lock the door behind us when we leave, only to find it open the next day. -- And none of our staff has entered or left the room in the meantime! We're expected to be responsible for the equipment we use, but obviously evil spirits are working against us. Maybe we should padlock the door, like the Theatre Department padlocked the door to our phone ----- excuse me, their phone.....now.

While I'm getting things off my chest, I may as well take this opportunity to thank whoever pulled the fire alarm Saturday night. I'm sure the fire department is almost equally grateful to be gotten out of bed for your little prank.

The incident did bring a question to my mind. Why do we never have fire drills in Marian Hall? From the placement of stairways and the large number of people in it at certain times, it could be quite a tragic scene if a fire did start there. A lot of the day students don't even know what the fire alarm sounds like!

I feel a lot better now that I've put down some of what's bothering me. I decided not to include my views on Mr. Nixon and his war because I wanted to devote my space to things that I might be able to get something constructive done about.

What's going on here? by Bob Morse

A monster is among us. It has a secure hold on many people already. There is a peculiar paradox surrounding this monster. Everyone has seen it, but few have offered resistance. Quite the contrary. This demon with long antennae, this alien complete with loathsome dials and tubes is welcome everywhere! Yes, this monster has extraordinary control over humans. In fact, people have been known to sit and stare zombie-like at it for hours on end.

I remember an assignment in grade school. The teacher drew two columns on the blackboard. One was labeled necessities, the other luxuries. After a flurry of hand raising, only one item remained for deliberation. At last it was agreed that TV was a necessity.

I hope, perhaps fruitlessly, that TV has not reached necessity status. I always thought that necessities were of a biological nature. I would like to assume it is not biologically necessary or even healthy to sit immersed for hours in front of a machine. Someone might argue that it is essential within the framework of our society. I feel this argument is dangerous. It is as dangerous as proclaiming the law to be right simply because it is the law. In both cases we are putting society above the individual. If we would be severely hampered by the absence of this machine, that did not exist thirty-five years ago, wouldn't that suggest that some of our freedom has been drained?

So what's wrong with T.V.? Well, nothing really. I feel that too much emphasis is placed on it to the point where it becomes potentially dangerous. It has made football a religion. Pretty soon we will have to wish people a Merry Christmas, Happy New Year and a Soothing Super Sunday. Perhaps this is alright. Perhaps not. I feel things are out of hand when people threaten Howard Cosell's life for not showing enough Miami Dolphin highlights during the halftime of a game. The danger is that of T.V. becoming the reality rather than being recognized as fantasy.

Yes, it is clear that the TV syndrome only afflicts humans. My dog had the right idea. When he was young a dog show came on the tube. He got excited, and kept looking in back of the TV. After a while, however, he caught on.

Never again did he pay attention to it, no matter who Lassie was saving or what dog food was being advertised. He didn't have the time, he wanted the real thing.

In closing, I'd just like to say that nothing is wrong with TV. It is just a matter of recognizing that we turn it on, it doesn't turn us on.

Due to technical difficulties — most of the headlines are by Mark O'Connor.

Letter

December 20, 1972

Dear Dr. Gatto:

As spokesman for the young men confined at the Indiana Youth Center I wish to express our appreciation to the young ladies of Marian College who attended the Christmas parties sponsored by PACE (Public Action in Correctional Effort) last Wednesday and Thursday.

The interest, friendliness and enthusiasm of these attractive girls contributed greatly to the success of the parties. The fact that they would give of their time and energy to talk to young men, whose self-esteem has been somewhat shattered by present circumstances, certainly improved morale and spirit.

Marian College may well be proud of such representatives entering into community affairs to help those less fortunate than themselves.

Yours truly,
W.C. Elsbury

ZIP TRIP SURVEY

A Marian College Zip Trip program is being planned by the Student Activities Office during the spring semester of 1973. The intended purpose of this program is to provide the students with the opportunity to attend a wide variety of programs throughout the city. The tentative schedule is listed below. All students and faculty members are invited to indicate which trips they would be interested in participating in and to include any ideas for additional trips.

Zip Trips survey forms should be returned to Linda Kolb in the office of Student Services in the Student Activities Center on or before Wednesday, January 24, 1973, so that the spring program can be confirmed. The results of this survey will appear in this week's CARBON.

$100 a month for a few good men in college.

The U.S. Marine Corps Platoon Leaders Class offers an undergraduate a convenient way to work towards both a diploma and a Marine Corps commission.

PLC members attend only summer training sessions, so there's no interference with their academic, athletic, and social life.

Members who become eligible may apply for a monthly stipend of $100 every month of the school year. That's $900 dollars a year, with a maximum of $2700 during a college program.

PLC-Law:
If you're going to law school.

The PLC program does not preclude you from attending law school. In fact, there's a special PLC program that encourages and rewards you for it. If you're a member of the PLC program and achieve a score of 450 or better on your Law School Admission Test and you're accepted at an accredited law school, you may qualify. You'll be commissioned when you graduate from college, and you will be deferred from active duty for the three years you are in law school. While in law school you'll be promoted on schedule, and following graduation, you will be assigned to active duty, to serve as a Marine lawyer following completion of a military justice school program.

SOCIAL PRO'S

BREAK RECORD

Mourning After led by Mike Bazely's and "Long Name" Langenbrunner's combined effort of 37 points, defeated the Social Pros by a 44-30 score. Steve Bickley seems to have rediscovered his ability to swish the nets, but his 14-point effort was in a losing cause. The Social Pros did, however, break a record by committing 23 fouls, surpassing the old mark of 16 also held by them.

REBELS END MARIAN WINNING STREAK

Rebels and Knights battle for possession of the ball in Saturday's game. The Knights lost the game and also their chances for extending their streak to five wins.

After ripping off a four-game winning streak during Christmas vacation, Marian's hard luck Knights fell to a sharp shooting Thomas More squad by a 94-75 count.

Marian, playing at somewhat less than full strength, battled courageously to make it close for the first half, but were buried by an avalanche of Rebel points shortly after intermission that all but sealed their doom.

Spurred on by an energetic and extremely vocal crowd that gathered to witness what was supposed to be a Thomas More romp, the blue and gold rode the hot shooting of Rick Ebinger and Stan Benge to charge into contention in the first half. But a bit of less-than-super free throw shooting did in whatever chance at victory the Knights seemed to have.

Ed Schilling, coach of the Cold Spring Road-based Knights, had his boys really up for this one, but every time it got close, the Rebels put on a spurt to move away.

Mr. Schilling, who wheeled and dealt out four straight before Saturday, tried several combinations in an effort to get a blend of board strength and good shooting, but a Knight victory just wasn't meant to be. One thing can be said though, although Marian was beaten they weren't outhustled.

Ebinger, playing one of his best games of the year, led the scoring parade with 19. Bill Smith and Benge joined Rick in double digits with 12 and 10 respectively.

Ebinger, Smith, and Joe Wade each grabbed 10 caroms to lead that department, and amazing John Springman continued to pace the assist makers with 6.

The game wasn't all that bad for Marian, particularly from the standpoint of the outstanding hustle displayed by all who participated.

The Knights play at Huntington on Wednesday. Try to be here, and back a winner.

W.I.B. GOING STRONG IN SECOND WEEK

Women's Intramural Basketball resumed full force Monday night with the senior-composed Sex-tet taking a commanding win over the Ball Bouncers. The Family Plus One won by forfeit over the Daughters of Shaft and the Amazons did likewise over the Snatches. Displaying effective teamwork, the Comedy of Errors successfully defeated GAA, and in the final bout, the Beaver Shooters pulled through a tight game to surpass Double Shot 10-8.

In Wednesday night's battles, Double Shot came back to the winning side by easily outshooting the Amazons. The Beaver Shooters also had an easy game defeating the Family Plus One, while the Ball Bouncers chalked up a victory over the Comedy of Errors. The Sex-tet maintained their undefeated record by downing GAA and the Daughters of Shaft drew their first win over the Snatches.

Dave Jongleux in a rare scoring role paced his team with 19 points as Golden Nails took a 60-47 victory from the hands of the Dry Heaves despite an excellent effort of 25 points by Ken Ollier. Mark Simko, having an exceptionally good day from the field, netted one basket in ten attempts.

Rick Martin kept pace with scoring leaders, netting 17 points and helping MFIC edge past the aggressive Rim Shots 54-52. Jim Kilps collected 9 field goals for 18 points, but Mark Mauer's sloppy, lazy play just kept the team from cashing in on a victory. SCRUDDY PLAYER OF THE WEEK

Mark Fisher, who even though his team won, did everything possible to change that, which included: bad passes, double dribbles, travelling, three seconds, bad shots, and easy shots that were missed.
